SOUTHERN BRANCH, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
los Angeles, ćalif.

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2007 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

CASES AND OPINIONS

INTERNATIONAL LATV.

CASES ANI OPINIONS

INTERNATIONAL LAW．

 ANI VARIOUS PORNT＇（OF EN（iLISH LAW CONNE＇TED）THEREWITH．COLLECTED ANI DIWESTED FROM

EN（iLISIU AND FORED（iN REPOR＇S．

 oltIER solROEN．
WITH

NOTES CONTAININ：THE VIEWS OF THE TEXT－WRITER ON THE TOPICS RFFERRED TO，SUPPLEAENTARY CASES，TREATLES，AND STATETEN．

P\R＇I II．W\R． PSR＇T II．NELTRRILI＇Y．

BY
 of the textersity of miniy．nen solth walis． LON゙ルON゙:
 ぎam まublishers，

Ties publication of the present volume has been greatly delayed owing to the uncertaintre that prevailed with respect to the ratification by (ireat Britain of the Declaration of London and the International Prize Court Convention. For if it had bren found practicable, haring regard to the larger national intorests involved, to accept those Conventions and to effect the necessary changes in the domestic law, one of the results would certainly have been to free the law on many of the topics included in this rolume, of much of its present complexity and uncertainty. But inasmuch as there appeared to be no prospect of an immerliate settlement of this question, and in view. 100. of the probalility that the rules embodied in the Declaration of London will in any case have to be taken connt of in the naval wars of the future ( $a$, it was thought adrisable to procesed to publication without further delar, even at the cost of presenting the subject-matter, at many points, in a form fir less concise and in trems lose conclusive than might otherwise have been possible.

Thesestmaticenotes which, with the Exarsus practically form a comnected treatise, after the example of Volume [. -have neressarily been retained in the present volume. These a-has already the previons conceptions that hat takenplame in the intwnatmal sratem in the period immediatn! premplase the phlliation of original purpose and seope of the work: bint it was thought, nerertheless to be admissible as a tomporary wedient designed to meet an exceptional situation.

It is in relation to matters dealt with in the presert rolume that convention has made it- greatust imroad on the cu-tomary law. The effect of this has been to displace os weakon the authority of many of the earlier cases and to rember it necessary or desirable to replace these often br casc and controverves which hare not bren the subject of judicial or: indeed, of any dutinitive settlement. Nevertheless, wen wheh cares pores- a reptain ralue, either as showing the trend of modern practice. os as ierealing new situations or problems and -uggeting ew at why rate eliciting a careful consideration of the priniple- apprepriate to their solution.

The -ubject of Maritime Lnternational Law han 1menn halt with in som detail. I translation of the text of such of the Hague Conventions as touch on subject- doalt with in the prewnt volume, as well as of the Declaration of London, has been inchuded in the Appendix; where, too, will be found a Table of Ratifications and Adhesion- which carrim thme down to the latwe pratimble date.
 of the Parliamentary Library, Syduey. for his frimbly -erviens in reading the proots and preparing an Index.

I' C.
 JIIf...f: 3, 1913.

TABLE OF CONTENTN．

PAR＇T II．－WAR．
THE（＇OMMENCEMENT OF WAR．

PAGE
CONTROVERSY BETWIEN REESIA ANJ）JIIAN， 1904 ..... 1 AMrENDED NOTE ..... 6
ii TME：H．ITE A心 FRUM HTHIH THE LEG．AL EFFECTS OF HAに HILL ATTAC＇II．
THE＂ELTKA ANN＂ ..... b
Appenden Note ..... 10
Genelial Notrs：
The Rekation or State of Wrar ..... 11
The Place of Wrar in the International sivon ..... 12
The Latws of War． ..... 14 Wiar in its Relation to Individuals ： i＇The traditional View ..... 15
ii The newer View ..... 16 ［］${ }^{\text {－Commenmement of Wil ：}}$
i The Question of Suthorization ..... 17ii）The Question of Prior Sutice：1．Undex the Customatry Litw$\%$（2）The Fiffert of the Haxue Couvention ．．．．．．．＇ГIIE ENENIV（HADACTEL＇（）F YERSONS．
（i N．1TM） 1 ITTV．
SPAKENFUKtif B．ANXATYNE ..... I9）
－1PPEンDET NOTE． ..... 21
ii $11 / 1 / 1 / 1 \mathrm{i} . \mathrm{i}$.
THE $\cdot$ HiJRM（）NY＂ ..... 2．
APYENDEI N＇OTE ． ..... ：3
（ifnliral NuTEs：
 ..... － $1 ;$
 ..... 27
 ..... 29

ENFMY TERRITORY．

PAGR
TH：＂（：FRASIMO＂ ..... 30
Arpesden Note ..... 32
Gentral Notes：
Enemy Territery ..... 31
THE EFFEC＇I OF WAR（NN THEATIEN．
THE 心川川IETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL $\because$ ，NEW TAVEN ..... 3.5
Appenned Note． ..... 35
THE CASE OF THE RUSSO－DUTCH LOAN， 18.94 ..... 38
Aptexded Note ..... 41
Genfeal Notfs：
The Effect of Wiar on Treaties：
（i）Opirion ..... 40
（ii Prartice ..... 41
The Pale of Ahogation，and its Excentions ..... 42
The Effoct of War on the Financial Engragemente of State ..... 44
THE EFFECT OF WAR ON LAW—FORMS OF WAR－LAW．
MARAIS $\because$ THEG．O．（OMMANDING THE LENES OF COMMUNI－ （ATION AND TIIE A．－G．OF CAPE COLONY ..... 45
Arpended N゙ote． ..... 47
Grabral Notes：
Thes Eftect of Wiar on the Lesal Right－and Relationso of Individuals ..... 49
Kinds of Law appleot in Wiar ..... 49
Martial Law in the Home Territury ..... ．5）
Martial Law as applied bs an Invader． ..... 50
Ther Law－and Customs of Wiar． ..... ．）！ ENEMY PERSONS AND PROPERTY FOUNI WITHIN THE TERIRTORY oF A BELLIGERENT AFTER THE OTT－ BIEAK（）F WAR．
BROWN $r$ ．THE（NITED STATE ..... $\therefore 2$
Appeniet Note ..... 34
WOLFF ．OXHOLM ..... 36
Apremeed Note ..... 37
Gifilial Notes
Enomy Peran－fonnd within the Territery of a Belliqerent： i）The Right of Witladrawal ..... 5.
if The Right to Romain ..... is Encmy Pronntr： i Publi．l＇ponerty ..... 64
ii Priath I＇ronery of lmatdiate（at in Wrar ..... 6）
iii Private Property of ather kital ..... f） 1

THE EFFECT OF WAR ON COMDERCLAL RELATIONS.

(1) Suspension.
PAGE
JINSON $r$. DRIEFONTEIN CONSOLIDATED MINES, LTD. ..... 62
Appended Note ..... (河)
(2) Abrogation.
(a) As in Lid of Einemy.
FURTADO (ROGERS ..... 64
Afyended Note ..... 64
b. As Lurapmble of Sigevenaion.
GRISWOLD $\because$. WADDINGTON ..... 69
Arpended Note ..... 70
c) As involcing Inerling. with the linemy.
ESPOSITO ¿. BOWDEN ..... 72
Arpendel Nott: ..... 74 (ii stBSEQURNT TRANSAGTONT: TRADLVG HTH THE ENEMY.
THE "HOOP" ..... 74
Appended Note. ..... 76

(1) Between Eniaifes not dividel) by tife Line of Wali.
KERsIIAW $r$. KELSEY ..... is Aprended Note ..... 4
(丷) Licevile Trade.
USPARICHA $c$. NOBLE ..... su
Arpendeil Note ..... 81
; Prisonims' Conhmers.
ANTORNE, MOREIEAD ..... 42
Appentel) Note ..... s3
1 Ransom Contranto
RICORI) $\because$. TBETTENHAN ..... 43
Appendeil Note ..... 44
General Notes:
The Eftect of War on Commew ial Intormano. ..... 4.5
 ..... 4.5
Ib, bts. ..... -i Numotiable Instrunurnts ..... i Contract of Aftreirlitmont ..... $\therefore$

THE EFFECT OF WAR ON COMMFRCTAL RELATIONS—contd．

（ienfral Notrs runtimme？ PAGE
Contracts of Insurance ..... ss
Contracts of Agency ..... $\delta 8$
Coutracts of Partnership ..... 89
Interest－in Commercial Conperatims aml（＇omphaies． ..... 89
Effert of W ar on ruits by Alion Enemies ..... 90 Tradine through the metinm of the Nentral Flay． ..... 90 to Rfecent Conventions．
The（irnwth of a Law of Lam Wirfiare ..... ： 1
The Sonrce of Existine Rules ..... 9：3
The Effect and Value of the Hantue Rexulation－ ..... （1．）
The Doxtrine of $\cdot$ Militatry Neecesity ..... ！15
The Qualifiontiom of Berligerent＝ ..... （11）
I＇rohilited Methods of W゙arfare：
（i Grucurally ..... ！！ ii Prohibited Weapons ..... （促
iii Bombardment aurl Devartation ..... ！ 4 spies and their Treatment ..... （19） Nom－hontile Intercomme between Berligerent－：
i，Gener：t Character and Comdition－ ..... 1（11） ii F＇lacrs of Truce，D＇asoports． ..... 1111） iii Suspurninns of Arms，Fraces and Armiotion ..... $101)$ is Capitulatioms and Sumenters ..... 101
Ho－tare ..... 111！
The Treatment of the Wommered ame Siek： i，Tmler the Gustomary Law ..... 1112 ii The（renera Conventions l＞öt，and the ぶuplennmtary Cunvention． lacis ..... 10．＇；
（iii The Genterat（onvention of 19106 ..... 1114
Yrisomels uf Wiar ..... 10.5
Military Authority oxer Hostile Temitary ：

Non－Ocrenpied Territers ..... 110
Oerupied Territory：The scope of（）erupation ..... 112
The Lecral Effert－of Occupation ..... 145
1．The litrht to（xiserm ..... lo9
$\because$ The（＇unitrol of thet Inhaibitant ..... ！＋！！
；The T－e of the Peonures of the Comatry a）＇The seiرuro of Property ..... 110
b）The（inllection of Taxes ..... 111
（．The Levy of Contributions and Requisitions ..... i 11
Vinlations of the Laws and C＇ustoms of Wiar and their Kemetly ..... 112
W：ar Crimes ..... 114 in Remist（＇onventions．
 ..... 114
 ..... ！15
 ..... 11.7
 ..... 117
 ..... $11!$
 ..... $11!!$
 ..... 121
NATAL FORCES：（\＆UALIFIEI）CRUISERS－CONTERSION of MERCIANT VESSELS．PAGF：
（ONTROVERSY BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN ANI）RESSIA WITH LEESP＇ECT TO THE＂PETERBLTRG＂AND THE ＂SMOLEASK＂ ..... 124
Appexded Note ..... 127
（ilemeraf Notes：
（2ualified Belligerents in Maritine War ..... 127
Rickular Naval Forces． ..... 125
Privateres ..... 128
The Eulistment of Privately Ownet Vessels ..... 199
The Mague Convention relative to the Conversion of Merchant Ships uto Warship： ..... 131
THE RIGHT OF MARITLME CAPTURE．
IHE＂THALIA＂ ..... 132
Appendei Note ..... 134
Genfral Notes：
The Capture of Private Property at Sua ..... 134The surgested Exemption of I＇rivate l＇roperty at Sea from Capture： i Opinion anI Practice ..... 13.5
ii）The Question of its Dusirability，from an TuternationalStandpoint136
（iii）The Policy and Attitude of Great Britain ..... 185
THE ENEMY CHARA（＂TER OF VESNELA．
THE＂「ROW ELI／ABETH1＂ ..... 140
Appanem Note． ..... 141
Cemeral Notes：What are Enemy Vesalk142
TRANSFERE＇ $\mathrm{T} O$ TIIE NELTRAL FLAG．
THE＂．ARIEL＂ ..... 144
Ampifed Nute． ..... 147 ENEMY（i（1O1）S． i IENERATIV．
THE：•SAN JかNE NOIMNO＂ ..... $14!$

T11E＂ANNG（ATHARIN． ..... 1.3
 Tただにないにリ．
THE ••PHENLA． ..... 1.5
frmenth Note ..... 1.56

WNRMY GOODS--continued.

TIIE " SALLY ..... 157
Applended Note. ..... 158
(v) TRANSFERS MAME IN TRANSITU.
THE "VROW MARGARETHA" ..... 158
Appended Note. ..... 159
OUTSTANDIN(i INTEREST'S LN ENEMY VESSELS OR GOODS
THE "TOBAGO" ..... 160
Appenied Note ..... 161
Genelal Notes :
The Enemy Character of Goods Generally ..... 162
The Effect of Art. is of the Declaration of London on other Tests applied under the British Practice ..... $160^{\circ}$
Transfers in transitu ..... 163
The Lien of an Unpaid Vendor ..... $16 ;$
RESTRICTIONS ON MARITIME CAPTURE.
 OF $\|^{\prime} A R$.
THE "BLENA VENTLRA" ..... 164
Appendet Note. ..... 166
Gexeral Notes:
The Position of Enemy Merchant Vessels on the Outbreak of War:(i) Under the Customary Law106
ii. The Hagne Convention, No. of of 1907 ..... $14 \%$

1) ('oastal Fishing Boats ant Vessels engagkid in Scientific Miscions.
'THE " PAQUETE IIABANA" AND 'THE "LOLA " ..... $16: 1$
Aiprander Notf: ..... 169
2) ('antel Shus.
THE: "DALF.JIF'170
(8) Ilownat Simps.
THIE " AliYOL ..... 171
Arpentar Nota: ..... 172
Gfakerl Notws:
Fixceptions to tho I ioght of Maritime Capture ..... $17:$
 ..... 173
Pontal Correrpornlance ..... 171

CAP'TURE ANI) I'S' IN('IDENTS.

> i, what (oxstitotes a balil colderes:
PAGE
RHE " EDW.ARD INH MARY" ..... 17
Arpented Note. ..... 176

rILE: • FELICITY" ..... 17
Apreviel Note. ..... 1s0

THE "OSTSEE" ..... 180
Aurended Note. ..... 183 (ifeneral Notes:
Who may make Capture. ..... 154
Powers in relation to Capture ..... 184
Visit and searel ..... 184
Courses open to Captor :
(i) Sending in for Adjudication ..... 18.5
ii) Destruction ..... 186
(iii) Ransom ..... 187
The Liabilities of Captor: ..... 187
THE NATURE AND lUNOTHON OF l'RIZE COURTS.
THE "FOX" ..... 188
Appentifi Notis ..... 189
ifenfral Nutes:
The Nature and Fometions of Prize Conrts. ..... 191
Their statas ina Intemational Law ..... 192
The Local sitmation of the (imert. ..... 192
'The hooral sitnation of the l'ria'. ..... 192
 ..... 193
The Intermational Prize Court:
i Why needed ..... 144
(ii) The Haque Comvention "relative to the Entablishment of an Intemational Prize Conrt' ..... 194
iii, The Jurisdiation of the Intematimal l'rise C'ourt ..... 195
iv) Ry whom lromedines naty be instituted ..... 196
v The Law tolu applicl ..... 196
vi The Cinatitation of the Cond ..... 197
vii Procedure ..... 195
PRIZE: ANI BoorY.

THE - ELCRBE ..... 199
Ampanti Nots: ..... 201

ANHERKJN , MAlGF ..... 2n?
Ampanta Not: ..... 214

PliI／E AND BOOTY－contimed．

$$
\text { P. } 1 \mathrm{GE}
$$

THE＂FL．ID OYEN＂． ..... －20．7
Appended Note． ..... 297

THE CASE OI THE＂EMILY ST．PIERRE＂， ..... 297
Ajpended Note ..... $\because 09$
（feNERAL Notes：
Prize aurl Bunty．meucrally． ..... －201！！
Ther 「itle to＂Pooty＂＇ ..... －210The Title to＂Prize＂
i Tudev the Fiarlite Liaw ..... 210
（ii＇The J［otlem Prartice ..... $\because 11$ RECAPTIRE ANH SALVAGE．

TIIE＂CEYLON゙＂， ..... 212
Appendel Note ..... $\because 14$

TIIE＂SANTI CRU\％＂ ..... 215
Arpendel Note ..... -17

THI：＂CDRIf）TTA＂ ..... －14
－Ifrejelvely Note ..... 214 Generat Notras：
 ..... 21！
Exintiner Vialiations of I＇ractiof ..... －－！！
 ..... $\because 211$
THE TFRMLNATHN OF W゙．HK．
 ..... －－
 ..... 2．2． 1＇ENEILAL NOTAB：
 ..... －． 5
 ..... $\because-1$
 ..... $-1$ ［－11：※tipulations ..... $2-1$ ..... － 27
－．．＇！
Tirlule of ('mutruts.XV

THEE ".JOHN " ..... 294'StiE
Appendeil Note: ..... $23: 2$
Genfral Notre ..... 2:3:3
Inortile Acte done in Immane of Peame ..... $2: 33$

 ..... $2: 34$
Applendet Note. ..... $2+0$

THE CASE OF COUNT PLATEN-HALLEMLN゙N ..... 212
Appesifed Note ..... $\because 43$
General Notis:
Title by Comquent ..... 24
Sucemion in Casen of Conguest ..... $\because 45$
Qualifications ..... 246
The Effect of Comques on Private Riphts and Laws ..... $\because 48$ postliminium.
THE (CASE OF THE KLECTOR OF HESSE-C'LSSE] ..... 245
Appended Note ..... 25.2
Gexprat Notis :
Postliminium in International Law ..... 2.5
i Its Opration on Drapery ..... 254
(ii) Its Operation on Territory and Sovereignty:
'1 After Oreuration ..... -35
(2 After Tempurary or lartial Conment ..... - .

Apleniel Note ..... 257
 ..... - 25
Appisdef 入ote ..... 2.59

 ..... 260
Ahmani Noth . ..... 21

CLALMS BASED ON WAR－contimued．

> (iii THE 《UEsTHON OF THE U心E JND DESTRじなTHON oF TELRGRAII fAbLES.
page
THE CLALA OF THE BRITISII EASTERN EXTENSION TELE－ （ilidPlI COMIPANY AGIINST THE UNITED STATES （\＆）ぐERNMEEN゙T， 1899 ..... 262
Appexied Note． ..... $\because 63$
iv）（OMPENSATUON TO NEUTRALS EX（\＆RATIA
IHE PROCEEDINGS OE TIH SOITH AFRI＇AN DEPORTATION COMDLISSION ..... 264
Appenied Note ． ..... 266
（iemfiral Notes：
The Poxition of Neatrals in relation to a Belligerent Invader ..... 266
The Position of Neutrals in relation to the Tervitorial Power ..... 267
The Property of Nom－Resident Nontrals；the Right of Angary ..... 268
The Case of Land and Submarine Telegraphs ..... 269
NATLONAL LNDEMNITY FOR WAR LOSSES．
TIHE WAR LOSSES COMPENSATION COMMISSIONS OF THE CAPE COLONY ..... $\because 7$
Apervoed Notis ..... 272
（ienfral Notes：
National Compensation for War Losses ..... ごッ
Roliof of Inlabitants of Compuered Territory ..... 273
I＇AR＇T ILI．－NEUTRALIT＇V．
THE RELATION OF NEUTRALITY
（GNTROVERSY BETWEEN RUNSIA ANも JAPAN WITH RES＇ECT ＇TO THE：NELTRALATY OF KOREA IN 1901 ..... 27
Apriedeh Note ..... 274
（igafral Notes
The Relation of Nentrality ..... －くけ
Gralations an！Kimk of Nentality． ..... －3（）
The Rimhte of Neutral Stetes ..... 2 s 1
The Dutio of Nentmalstates ..... ゼッ゙ン
Thar Riohns and hiabilitiou of Nomand Trale ..... 2s；
Comemtion relatiog to Nentrality ..... 234

THE C．NE OF THE，＂KOWSHHN゙，＂ ..... 24
Applamb Notw． ..... シヶ7
（ixpmal Notio：The Suc－tion of Notice tu Nentralk？？ NEUTRAL＇TERRITORY．（i）ITN NNVIOLAMILITY．
page
THE＂＇TWEE GEBROEDER＂ ..... 288
Aprended Note ..... 290
（ii）クl゙Tl Kis／．W＇ll）によT THERETO
THE CASE OF THE＂GFNFRAL ARMSTRONG＂， ..... ． 292
Arpended Note ..... 294
 ABしくだい。
THE CLNE（OF＂RYESIIITELNI＂ ..... 29.5
Appraded Note． ..... $\cdot 997$
General Notes：
The Inviolability of Neutral Territory ..... $-98$
The Hague Cunventions：
（i）No．is of $1: 07$ ..... 299
（ii）No． 13 of 1907 ..... 300
UUTIES OF NEUTRAI STATES．
（i）A BSTENTVON
CONTTROVERSY BETWEEN DENMARK AN゙D SWEDEN， 1788 ..... ． $30 \%$
Appended Note ..... 302
THE CISE OF THE SWEDISII WAFSHII＇心，1825． ..... 3103
Aprenden Note． ..... 304
（ieneral Notes ：
Acts which a Nentral State must itself abstain from doing ..... 30.7
ii J＇lにばにNTMUN．

CONTROVERSY WITI RESPECT TO THE ACTHON OF M．GENET．17！3s：306
duplenden Note ..... ： （fexeral Notes ：＇The Enlistment of F＇orer in Nentral＇1ervitury：30！

 ..... 316
Aprlivimen 大otm ..... 311
（ienfleal Notes：Hustila Fxpeditioms：12
 ..... ；：
－－lum in Antat Tervors ..... 314

J)UTTES OF NEUTRAL STATES-contimed.

:3) Tife U'se of Neltral Territory as a Base of Operations.
PAGE
CONTROYEISY BETWEEN FRANCE AND JAPAN WITII RJSPEC'T TO 'THE USH' OF FRENCH POJTS AN] WATERS HY THE RESSIAN FLEDT. ..... 31.5
Aprenifed Note ..... 317
(ieneral Notes:
'Thu. Uso of Nentral Territory as a Base uf Operations:
i) In Lind Warfare ..... 315
ii) In sta Warfare ..... 319
4. The Construction and Eutipment of Yessels of War in Neutral Territory.
TIF GENEVA ARBITRATION AND IWAID ..... $2: 0$
Arpandei Note. ..... 3:3\%
Geveral Notes:
The Construction or Fittiner Out of Tesscls of War in NeutralTerritory :
i T'lıe Larlier Law ..... :33 (ii 'The Formation of a New Usage ..... 313
iii. 'The Exinting Latw ..... : 44
Presumbtion aftaching to Thifferent Clasees of Vescels .....  34.5
The Aucruentation of Foree of Belligerent Wirnhips ..... $\therefore 46$
The Jntr of Neutral- ats recrarls the Enforcement of there. Retrictions. ..... 317
The Effint of the Lwhe of a Commiswion to at 「asel Illecrally Fitted Out. ..... $\because 17$
THE TREATMENT of BELLIGERENT WARSHIPS IN NELTRAL POITS.

"HIE (ASE OF THE . TCSCAROMA" AND THE "NASHIILLE" ..... :3
Aphevimil Note. ..... :3! !- Difenhel N゙ote.3.51

3.1
 ..... $3 \div 1$

THE: ('ASEOF THE • LJN. ..... (i.i) 1
\HfNhet Note ..... :3. 1

AHENIED Niti
THE TREATMENT（OF BELLIGERENT WARSHIPS IN NETTIRAL POliTN－contimued．

THE（＇ASE OF TIHE＂TISCADOOSA＂ ..... P．IGF，
Appevden Notz： ..... 399
（tentrial Notes：
The Amission of Belliserent Warships into Neutral Ports ..... ． 360 Limitation on Numbers ..... 360
Duration of Stay ..... 361
Time and Order of Departure ..... 362
Supplies of Coal and Provisions ..... 302
The Execution of Repairs ..... 363
The lecoption of Prizes in Nentral Ports ..... 363
Ponalty for Infringement of Neutral Rewulations： ..... 364
LOANE TO AND VOLUNTAIRY ACBACRIPTIONS IN AID OF RELLItERENTN．
AN OPINION OF THE LAW OFFICERA OF TILE CROWN，1823 ..... 365
Appended Note ..... －3if
Grinfhal Notes：
Lamans by Noutral Indivihuals to lielligracht States ..... 367
（rifts and Volnntary Contribntions ..... 364 NATIONAI NEUTRALITY LAWS．
i CRIEAT BlilTUN．
RE（：．．ADENON ANl）OTHERS ..... 36
1：1almed Note． ..... ：31

 ..... 23
－Arfinmen Note． ..... 37 diEx！red，Votus：
 ..... ：Sn
 ..... ふ心1

1H1：－ $11 \mathrm{ELH} \mathrm{N}^{\prime \prime}$い？ ..... ：3ム：

 ..... こ～1

- い!
Aい;
い,
THE CARRIAGE OF NEUTRAL GOODS IN ENEMY SHIPs．PagE
THE＇FORTUNA＂ ..... 357
Appexded Note． ..... 388
THE CARRLAGE OF ENEMY GOODS IN NEUTRAL SHIPs．
DARBY $r$ ．THE BRIG＂ERSTERN＂ ..... 390
Appended Note． ..... 391
Gexeral Notes：
The Carriage of Neutral Goods in Enemy Ships，and Enemy Goods in Neutral Ships：
（i）The Earlier Usage ..... $3!1$
（ii）The Declaration of Paris ..... 393
Questions that may arise under the existing Law ..... 393 BLOCKADE．
i GOTERVVIG IRINCIPLES．
THE＂FRANCLSKA＂ ..... 391
Appended Note． ..... $4(1)$
（ii）BREAはH（）F BLOH゙イHE．
THE＂FREDERICK MOLKE＂ ..... 419.1
Appended लote． ..... 4111

THE＂PANAGHIA RHOMB．${ }^{\text {•＂．}}$ ..... 112
Appenteit Nore ..... 4］ 4
General Nutes：
The Law of Blow kinde mader the Declaration of Londnn ..... 411
The soope of blockade ..... 415
Ewential to the Validity of Blockade ..... 11.5
The Declamation of Blockade ..... 415
Notiticatims Required ..... 416
Iroof or Preamption of Notice ..... 417
The Lomel Limits of Capture ..... 11
The Dortrine of Continuons Voyage in relation to blowkale ..... $41!$
The Lialility of the Carso ..... $41!$

CONTRADANT）OF WTAL：
(i) (i FAVZIMALIL
THE：＊PETERHOFF＂ ..... 421
Appended Note． ..... 423
Tiuble uf Contents.xxi
CONTRABANI OF WAl--continued.

PIGE
THE "JON(iE MARG. IRETHA ..... 12.5 Ippended Notr: ..... 12(

THEE "IMINA" ..... 127
Appended Note. ..... 428

CHE " NEL"TRALITET " ..... 430
Appended Note. ..... 431

CONTROYERAY IN 190& BETWEEN RISSLA, AND IRREAT BRITALA AND THE L'NITED STATES ..... 432
Aprendpi Notf. ..... 436
General Notr:s :
Custraband under the Customary Law ..... 438
The Decharation of London: its Treatment of Contraband in General . ..... $+39$
i) Absolute Coutraband:
(1) Object: ..... 440
(2) Destination and Pront ..... 441
ii) Conditional Contrabaud :
(1) Object: .....  441
(2) Ilestination and Pronf ..... 422
(iii Non-Contraband .....  443
The Limits of Capture ..... - 144
The Question of Notice ..... 444
The Peualty for Carrying Contraband ..... - 445
The Seizure of Contraband ..... 445
The Export of Contrabanl ..... 446

UNNl:UTRAI sERVICE.

THE "OROZRMBO" ..... 447
Arpenime Note. ..... 449

1) Dispatcimes.
THF •• AT.1もANTA ..... 4.50
SiHElumi Note. ..... 451

［NNEUTRAL SERTICE－continued．

> (2) Messages and Sigialis.
PAGE
THE CASE OF THE＂HAIMLN＊， ..... 451
Appended Note． ..... 4is
iii ENLISTMENT IV THE LIVZMY SERIVIF：
THE CASE OF THE＂QUANG－N゙AM＇ ..... 453
Appented Note． ..... 454
THE SEIZURE OF ENEMY PERSONS ON NEUTRAL TESSELS．
THE CASE OF THE＂TRENT＂ ..... 4.55
Appended Note ..... 456
General Notes：
Unineutral and Hoortile Service ..... 46
（i）Cnueutral Service ..... 45
（ii）Hostile Service ..... 15）
The Seizure on Šutral Vesels of P＇eronn belongine to the EnemyForces45ヶ
Questions arising in connection with the Tee of Wireles Telegraphy． ..... 4.9
THE CARRYING UN゙ BY NELTTAALOF A TlADE （LOCED）TU THEM IN PEACE．
THE •• IMMANCEJ，＂ ..... 4160
Appended Note ..... $15-2$
Genzial Note：：

THI：＂WILLIAM＂456
Afirnefei Notf． ..... $+157$

 ..... $415!$
 ..... 171

 ..... 172
Alfecthei Note ..... 47！
THE DOCTRINE OF CONTLNUOUS VOYAGES-contimued.page CONTROVERSY BETWEEN (iRREAT BRITAIN ANH (:ERMANY WETL RESPECT TO THE "BUNIESRATH" ANI) OTHER VESSELS ..... 473 Arperded Note ..... 47.
General Notes:
The Doctrine of Contimuns Voyagen as applied to-
(i) Irolibited Trade ..... 47
(ii) Blockade ..... 475
iii) Contraband ..... $47 \%$
VISIT AND SEARCH-CONVOY.
THE "MARIA" ..... 478
Appended Note. ..... 480
Generar Notes:
The Right of Visit and search .....  45.3
The Right of Convoy ..... 484
C'ompensation for Wrongful Sazure ..... 45
The bestraction of Nentral Prizes:
(i) Under the Customary Law ..... 48.5 ..... 486
ii Under the Declaration of London
ii Under the Declaration of London
The Destruction of Contraband Carge ..... 487
(p)

LIST OF TIIE PRLNCIPAL WORKS REFERRED 'To, otIIER TIIAN REP(oRTS ANI OFFICLAL DOCUMENTS.

```
" American and English Encyclopeedia of Law " (2nd ed.).
Inson, Sir W. R. : " Law and Custom of the Constitution'" (1907 and 1904 .
Anmenire den P' Institut de Imoit Intrometiomerl.
Asakawa, K.: "Th" Russo-Japanese Conflict-its Causes and Issues " 19904 .
Atherley-Jones, L. 1.: "Commerce in War" (1907).
Barclay, T.: " Problems of International Law and Diplomacy " (1907. .
—— "Th.' Turcu-Italian War" (1907).
Baty, Th.: "International Law in South Afriea " (1900).
- " International Law" (1909).
Beak, it. B.: " The Aftermath of War" (1906).
Beramid, M. : "Britisli Neutrality during the American Civil War" 1500.
Bentwich, N.: "The Declaration of London" (1911).
Blachstone: "Commentaries" the ed.).
Bluntsculf. J. C.: "Das Moderne Völkerrecht der Civilisirten Staaten" " (1878).
Bordwell, P.: "The Law of TVar" (1908).
Broom, IH.: "Constitutional Law" (1885).
Calvo, C.: "Le I)roit International" (1857).
Cone, E.: "Commentary upon Littleton." Cowen, T.: " Russo..Japanese War."
Dalloz, V. A. J.: " Jurisprudence Générale."
Dicey, A. V. : "Conflict of Litws," 2nd ed. (1908).
- - "Law of the Constitution," 7thed. (1908).
(irotius, " D) Jurw Belli an Paris."
Hall. W. E.: "A Treatiee on International Law " 1909).
Halleck: " International Law," English edition by Sir Sheraton Baker (189:3.
Heffter, A. W.: " Das Eurnpaishe Valkirrecht der Geqrenwart" (1ss.).
Iffrshey, A. S. : "The International Law and Diplomacy of the Rusin-Japanest War" (1906.
Hiames, A. P.: ". The Hame Peace Conferenes and other Intermanal Conferences \({ }^{(150: 9)}\).
```

```
Homans, T. E.: "The Elements of Jurisprudence " 1910.
    "Laws of War on Lamd" , 190s).
    " Letters upon War and Neutrality."
    ". Manal of Naval Prize Law."
- "Studies in International Law " 1 s?s.
```

1/Uber, " Dite Staatren-'Succession" ( 1898 ).
Hïbser, Marten Yon: "De la Saisie des Batiments Neutres" (17:- a,
" International Law Nituations of the I. S. Naval Coflege for 1901."
Jomini, H.: "Précis de l’Art de la Guere" ' 1836, Joninat of the riociety of Crmparation Lernislution (New Serien.
Kent, J.: "Commentaries on American Law" (187a).
Latifi, A.: "Effects of War on L’roperty" '1909, .
Lawrence, T. J.: "Essays on some disputed questions of Modern International Law " (1885).
__ "Prineiples of Intermational Law" 1900).
——"War and Neutrality in the Far Eist" (190t, Lintley, W. B.: "Company Law " (190").
Maxping, W. O.: "Commentaris on the Law of Nations" (1si.)
"Manual of Military Law " (War Office, 1907).
Martens, Baron Cif. de: "Causes Céebren du Droit des (xens" (1855 - 1861 .
Maurice: " Ilostilities without Demlaration of War" (185:).
Merlin: "Ŕpertoire Universel de "Jurisprudence" (1828.
Moore, J. B.: "Extradition" (18:1).
——" History and Digeet of Intemational Arbitrations" "1845j.
——" A Digest of International Law " (1906.
Nys, E.: "Le l)roit International" (190t—1906).
"Official History of the Russo-Tapanese War," 2nd ed. (1909.
Oprenifim, 1.: "A Treatise on International Law" (1912).
Oriolas, J. L. E.: " Régles Internationalns et Diplematie de la Mer" ${ }^{(1451) .}$
Philimore, Sir R.: "Commentaries upon Internatiomal Law" 1 ss's.
Philinsson, C. : "Effet of War in Contracts" (1909.
"studies in International Law " ( 1889 .
Pistoye et Deviledy: "Traité den Prises Draritimes" (14.is.
Rousseau, J. J.: " Da Contrat hocial."
Scott, J. S.: "Cases on International Law " (1902).
Smitif, F. E., and Sisley, N. W.: "International Latw an interprotad during the Stephen, If. J.: "('onmentaries on the Law of England" 1903').

Taylon, I1.: "Treative on International Law" " (1901, .
Tuıor, (). D.: "A.Selection of Leading Cases on Merentile and Matinn Baw," Brded. 1581

Vattele: "Le Droit des diens."
Westlake, J.: " Intomational Law, " Jart I., Peace 1904) ; P'art II., War 1907 Whamon, F.: "Higen of the Entermatimal Law of the E"nited States" (1847
Wheaton, II.: "Intematimal Law:" Edition by Boyl, A. C. 1nsu . Edition by D:1ma, R. H. 186; Woolsey. T'. F.: "Thtroduction to the Study of Int rnatimal Law" (148n.

Fore.-In case where only onn work of an athor is referred the the work is usually cited by the name of the athor only. Nombere refer to pago mation otherwis indicatat.

＇IABLE OF CASES．

Prime ipul eqnes are in ifalies．
＂Ably，＂The，峧，7
＂Aeteon．＂Thır，180，182，＂219． 486
＂Adonis．＂The， 114
＊Adula，＂＇Lhe，31，40S
Ifrican liohd Recovery（＇o．厄i．Has， 248
＂Alalama，＂Thro，290，30s，321，332． 337，358，359． 371
Alban，11．М．S．， 180
Aeinous $\ell$ ．Nigren，so， 90
＂Mexander，＂The， 414
Alexander $\because$ The Juke of $\|$ ellington． 201
＂Nllanton，＂Thee， 437 Amory $u$ ．Ne Ciceror，as ＂Any Warwick，＂The，12
Ambersen v．Maiten 176，185，202
＂Anwelique，＂The， $2 t$
＊Jiná＂The，ㄹ． 1,161
＂Annib，＂＇The， 186
＂Amin＂（＇utherive＂，＂The，21，1．53．15s ＂Anne．＂The ，291，29．
＂Ann tirwn，＂The，160， 388
Inthon $\because$ ．Fishex， $8 t$
＂Antonial ，ohtanna，＂Ther，20，25
Intoiner 1．Morshred．66．82
＂Apherodite．＂Ther，43s
＂Arabia．＂Ther，485，487
＂Areher，＂＇The，33s
＂Ardova，＂Ther．125
Irethusa，11．M．s．．．17．5
＂Arero＂Ther， 16.5
＂Aremin，＂The，171．2̈7
＂Ariathe．＂The 111
＂A Aiol．＂The 111．115，1 16， 117

＂Inashiwo．＂The，：9．＂ ．．laliold．＂The．2997．：3．．）

 371
＂－Aurora．＂Tha．112，3ヵ，

Biglemolit，$E$ perte ：It bain $\because$ Speedwell，233
＂Baltica，＂The，147
＊Ban Jigh，＂「Thr，3 Lo
banda \＆Kirwer Booty，（ase of．176， 201
＂Barbara，＂The，ㄹ1．5
Barclay $\therefore$ ．Russell，5．5
Barrick $\therefore$ Duba， 90
Bas 1 ．Tingy，12
Batten $r$ ．The（Queen， 117
＂Battlo．＂The， 161
＂Bayan，＂The，452
＂Beaver．＂The， 214
Behrens $v$ ．Rurker，21， 463
$\because$ Belvidere，＂The， 161
Bell c．Reid， 24
$\because$ Benediet，＂Ther，1f7
＊Benito Estenerer．＂Thes，15， 117
Bentzen $r$ ．liowle，3：3，1．56
＂Bermuda，＂The 469，47 4,47 ？
＂Bermom．＂The，2．j
＂Betser．，＂Tha，182，183，193．400． $404,407,410$
＂Bubrick，＂Thor．131
$\because$ Bolletta，＂The，31．33
－holivia，＂The 3T末，376
Boulton $\because$ ．Wobree， 90

Bowden Bros．$r$ ．Tmporial，di．In－ar－ ance（0．， 26
＂Boyne，＂The 402
Brandon $r$ Curlina．6s
－2．Noxhitt．（is，8s，90

Brewster $r$ ．Kitehell， $6^{2}$
Briges r．1＊．．．．s

Prymer $r$ ．Itkins． $46 \%$

＊IPunelessetll．＂The．171．173．17！
Burton f．Pinkurtun，：3才
＂（：ILCHAs，＂The，435．438，442
＂（＇ape of Good Ifope，＂The，177
＂（＇arlos F ＇．Roses，＂The．141．158，161， 162
＂r＇（a，lotte＂．Ther，21s
＂Carolina，＂The， 449,454
＂Caroline，＂The，294，451，455，4． 6
Carson $r$ ．Dunham， 89
＂（＇arthage．＂The， 478
Castrifut＇$\because$ Imric， 193
＂（＇atharina Vlizabeth．＂The， 389
Cesena Sulphur（＇o．ハ．Nicholson，26
＂Cerlon，＂The，212
＂Charlotta，＂The．412
＂Charlotte．＂＂Thar， 423
＂Charlotte（＂arolinc．＂＇Ther，215
＂－－Christine，＂The， 410,411
＂Chamming Betare＂＂The 182
 $3 \times 3$
＂Chesaprake，＂The，291
＂Cheshire．＂＇The． 141

＂（＇hickamatuga，＂＇The．336，338
＊（＂hristopher，＂The，207
＂（＇irceassian，＂Ther，3t，40t，40s， 410
＂Citto，＂The．${ }^{2} 6$
＂Clarence＂Thar．338
（＇larker ）．Norer，s（），90
＂Colmmbia，＂Ther，407，t10

Commodore Stewart＇s（＇ase，20）
＂Conrad．＂The，35s
－－e．Wiples，si
Cook $\because .5$ suiger，235，241，246
Cornu ？．Blatkburne，st ＂（＇osmoprolite＂．「hre，207 of，2 42
＂＇ountess of Liunderdiale．＂The． 193
Crawford $\because$ ．The Willime Jemm， 8.
Cruiser，11．М1．，3！4
＂furlew，＂＇Ther，18t
＂＇vornet．＂＇Гlue，3！2
$\therefore$（＂zalpeviteh，＂＇Ther，357
＂Imifiie．＂Th 170

 32
－Tasbiner W＂ara．＂＂The．101

Damontless．11． 11 ．．11：3 26

＂Der Mohre．＂＇The 186,187
＊Der Ringende Jacob，＂The，131
1）ewing $\because$ ．Pordiardies． 61
＂Diana．＂＇The．． $5.5,353,357,388$
＂Diligentia，＂＇The．176．204．291
100 d．Auchmuty $\quad \therefore$ ．Mulcaster， $2 \pm t$ e．Oliver， 193
（l．Thomas $1 \cdot$ ．Dekham．＂2t4
＂Joolwvek，＂Tho，2．33，288， 476
1） Insurance（ $0 ., 10$
Donaldson $r$ ．Thompson， 31
＂1）ordrecht，＂The， 177
＂Dos Jlermanos，＂Tho， 25 ＊Dree（idmroedres．＂The，1．）
Du Bebloix $r$ ．Waterpark， 87
＂E Eigle，＂The， 467
＂Edward，＂The， 424

＂Fkaterinoskav．＂The．8． 134
＂Elba，＂The， 275

＂Bhiza，＂The， 184
＂Eliza Ama．＂Thle．S．291． 468
Elphinstone $r$ ．Bedreechund． 47
＂Ef Rayo，＂The． 177
＂Blsabe，＂＇Thr， 480
＂Elselir．＂Thor，199． 480
＂Emanuel，＂Ther， 143
＊Emily ぶょ．Pieッチ＂．Thい．20） ＂Endranorlt，＂Tho．ol ＂Endymion，＂「he．17s，17！
＂E，Ei＊！＂．＂The．390，39．3

＂Visex．＂Ther． 467
＂Vxchange，＂The $41 \pm$ ＂Experience，＂The，209
 Lessme． 89
＂F＂akeon，＂Then 143
＂F＂atha，＂The，31，32，2．27
＂Fanny，＂The．38！
＂F̈rlicil！，＂Tlor，177，178，17！，150， 1s6． 156

F゚loming f．Patro，3t
Flimelt $\because$ 内人ott．Sl
$\therefore$ Naters． 87
 334.337
＊F＇oltima，＂＇The．3：
Forto，II．II．s．，1ご

＂F ran \ana Houwina．＂Ther．tif

＂F＇tentiske，＂The＇，394，105，106，407， 408， 418
＂Fran Ilsabe，＂＇Thw，38，tol
 $409,440,411,4 \div 4$
＂Ireeport．＂The， 46 （
＂Freundschaft，＂Ther，2．2，2． 141
＂Friendship，＂＇The， 499
＂Fulton，＂The，3．46

＂（i．acie，＂The，2． 0
＂（risuntlat，＂Ther，37t
（ieipel r．Smith， 406
＂（iencral．＂The，17t，47t
 29．）
＂－Hamiltom，＂The．147， 411

＂（8eorge．＂The，eqs
＂Georgia，＂The，147，33．），338
＂（icorgiana．＂The．2lt
＂Ceresime＂．＂The＂．2．30，56， 403
Gideon $\because$ Menlield． $30 s$
 2.59
＂（tood Christian，＂Ther， 463
Goss $\varepsilon$ ．W＂jtherw，207
＂（xran Para，＂The，192
＂Gray backet，＂Ther．－． 5

＂（trotias，＂Thre．176

＂（inillamme Tedl，＂The．17

＂Haase，＂The． 214
Magedorn $r$ ．Burl 31,32
＂Haim！r！．＂Ther．4．jl，t．j3．tist 11aman $\because$ Kinmston， 8 万
Eamilton $\because$ ，Eat：on，万T
＂Hampton，＂The，161

Harmourt $\quad$（iaillard．．24．
－• Harmmoia，＂Tho．177

＊｜Inattra：as．＂＇Tlu．333
Hanthicld $\cdot$ ．（hiltern． 190

 4112
＂Heniry＂＇TJu＇，21．5
＊Herciles．＂Thor．17i ＂Hermann．＂＇Th ${ }^{\prime \prime}$ ．1．）

＂Dlipaner．＂Thé．14ti
＂1limam，＂＇Tlı＇．11兰

IUntress，＂＇Lhe：213
＂Thurtige Hane．＂The， 412
Hoare $\because$ ．Mllan， 87
llobles $i$ ．Menning， 3 t．j，173
＂Huttinung，＂The，407，f08
Holman $r$ ：Johmson，34．5
＂IIoon＂，＂The＂，66，73，74，81，85，86i，911
＂Hope，＂The，81，412
＂Ida，＂Thé， 161
＂1khona，＂＇The， 486
＂Immamuel，＂Ther，142，155，460，4630． 464
＂ Iminere＂Thes，410，427，428，429，431
＂Indian（＇hiof．＂The＂，24．25
＂Industrie，＂The，141，142， 453
＂International，＂The，37t ＂Invincible，＂＇Ther 207
＂Itata，＂＇I＂ 1 e，312，379
＂James Cook，＂The， 414
＂Jan F＇rederick，＂Jhe， 160
 Crald Mimes，10．15，21，26，62，SO． $88.89,90$
＂Johamma Emilie＂，Tho．55．166．15t
＂－Tholen．＂Tha， 463
＂Jッhn，＂Thre，176，182，183，228，ロコ9． 230，231，232
Johnson r．Jelntos $h_{1}$ ，248
＂Jonge KJascina，＂The ，2．5，15l
 426．43）

$\because$－Piotor．＂Tho．77，412．468．1， $2=$
$\because$－－Tobia心，＂Thr，431
＂．dosejs，＂＇Thゅ， 77
＂．Jo：cphime，＂Ther．I．ss
＂Jılia，＂The．112

＂Kearsage．＂The．e！90．83．3
K゙ommett $\because$ ．（hambers，366，367
Kensington $\%$ Inglis．SI

＊Kいtic．＂Thッ，17ロ

Lat Imistarl 1）Ruts．a！

＂Lat（＂hrinde．＂Tho． 17
＂Sat E＂peranzat．＂Ther． 176
＂－La Flora．＂The， 128
＂Lat（iloire．＂The， 171
＂La Nclanie．＂The，177
＂La Purissima（onception，＂The， 480
＊La Rosine．＂The，171，184
＂．La \ircinic．＂The，2．
Labuan，Case of．261
－Lafarette，＂The． 313
Lamar $r$ ．Micou，s9
Le Bret $\mathfrak{C}$ ．J＇apillun． 90
＂Le mat．＂Thr．35t．35．5

＂Leneade．＂The．150，431． 48.5
Lightfoot $\because$ ．Temnant． 345
Lindo $r$ ．liodner． 201
＊Lisette：＂The，33． 411
＂Lonta．＂The． 169
－Lone．＂The， 209
Lothian 2 ．Mender＊on， 193
＂Louisa，＂＇The， 221
＂Indwig．＂The，359， 394
－J．nna，＂Tlie，182
＊Il itidison．：The．4．5l
．．Madoma del Burso．＂The， 186
．．－－＿delle（iravie，＂The． 77
Maicomaire $\therefore$ Keating，85，H2t，426
．．Malacea．＂＇M1世，12．）．126． 127
－Mancluria．＂Tlu，13t

Hanilla．＂＇The．31．32
＊Manoubal．＂The 4．59

 Mormis． 1.5

 15ッ． 5 ！！
－11：111，s：
－Watrialuat．＂＇That． 1 fi，1ti

＂Warr＂．＂The．20．
$\therefore$－F＇urd．＂Tlu．190．20）209， 219

 （4）

Werollor．＂Thr．Hit

Wonmenth，The， 402
＂Montara，＂＇The，142， 155
Montgomery ひ．L゙．S．， 89
＂Mukiden．＂The，276
Murray $\because$ The Chaming Betsy， 24
＂Nilajd．，＂The， 166
＂Nancy：＂The，406．429．482
＂Ňaniwa．＂The，2n5，286
＂Jashrille，＂The，336．338，345
＂Sayade，＂The，10． 77
Naylor i．Taylor， 396
Necty $r$ ．IIenkel， 33
＂Nerotie on Zeerart．＂The ． 33
＂Neptumus，＂The，Ts．S2，\＆1\％．403， $410,423,431$

＂Seutialitrt，＂The＂．110．130． 131
＂Sew Orleans，＂The， 406
New York Life Insurance Co． 2 ． Davis， 88
New York Life Insurance Co．$\cdot$ ． Statherm．71． 88
Nigel G．M．Co．$\because$ ．Mloade．25．A ＂Nigretia．＂The，161． 449
＂Vordstern．＂The 177
＂Nomwarts．＂The．3s， 39 t
．N゙ovik．＂The．3．す
$\therefore 0$（1：い天，＂The 25，412，472
Orliy ？．Bovill．207
Ogelen $\because$ Folliott．55

＂（）tto ank（）lat．＂＇＇Thr．fll ＂Purtir J川：Bymin．＂．Thu． 1. in ＊Palme．＂Thue． $1 \neq 1$

 the．2．21

 $172.17:$

＂Polly，＂The $20.5,467,465$
＂Pomiona，＂Ther． 193
Portendie（lams，The the

＂P＇ostilion，＂The，－－ 4
Pott：$r$ ．Bell，66，73，77，is ＂Primus，＂The，1t2
－＂Prineresa．＂The 1.5
＂P＇riners Marie，＂The thet ＂Prinz Hanrich，＂The，102．17t
＂Progres＊．＂The，215
＂－Proteretor，＂The 346
Puternats：Hedrar．Mexico，267

＂Reberca．＂The 0.54
＊Reberkatı．＂The．176．14．
＂Recovery．＂The 190
＂Relianere＂The e2 2
Reg．．Dudtey and stephens． 96
－r．Jumesem atur Otheris． 369
－－C．Kivell 199
－a．－in hindoral and（others． 375
＂Rumathore．＂The，1．5
＂Resolution，＂The， 176.1 1s
＂Ratribution，＂The．336． 338
Rex $\because$ ．Hentres．tis
 （0．．3 3n：）
＂Richmond，＂The．te3．429
Ricumat v．Jiettomhan，88
－Ringende Jacon），＂The， 124
－liata．＂The． 131
－R Rul］：．＂The，395，400．10．
Romulns．S．S．，202
＂Row－ia，＂The． 276
linyal lxchange Lsurance Co．，The，毅 Rilu－i：1 and Japan，Controversy be－ ナホッド（1904），1

linys $\because$ ．The Royal Exmange I－sur－ aman Corporation．34，476

```
    (mbwntion).fs0
- Kil\a," Ther, L&亻
```

＊．Santissimat Trinidal，＂＇The．19：3，37s， $38: 3$
＂Sarah Clmistina，＂Tha，427 ＂Selooner Sophie．＂The，－2．
＂scontoman，＂＇The， 438
＂S九木 入ympl，＂The，482，48：3
＂．．Lion，＂＇The，sl
＂serhs（icechwistern，＂The， 117 fommes $r$ ．Hartford Insurance Cin．． 71， 88 Soton $\%$ Low， 383,384
seymoner Bailey，90
$\therefore$＇The London and Provincial Harine Insurance Association， 473
 338．342
Ship linse ハ．T「he I nited States．1sl －Ships taken at（ienoa，＂The＇201 winli＂u！ut Bivilish Possals by the

＂Sir William J＇enl．＂The， 193.291
＂内ivtan，＂＇The，477
šmall $r$ ．Amplkin． 89 234 sureirel！ion then P＇aperefretionen a！the $\therefore$ Goglasie，＂The．1ti

＂Sparkler．＂Tho， 177
＂Spes and lreme．＂＇The， 110 $472,47.5$
＂Staadt limbden＂，＂The， 431
＂Star，＂The ：200
＂Stativa，＂Ther， 219
＂Stephorn Hart．＂The 171.172
＂Stert．＂Tho，112，17：

$\therefore$ surcors．＂．Tlı．10． 160 ）

sutton $\therefore$ Suttom．B 30！？

＂＂I：

Thomprom $\therefore$ Powles． 364
＂Thomyris．＂The， 46 s
＂＊Threet ${ }^{\text {Friends．＂The，} 21.5,378}$
Titonko $\because$ ．The Attorney－（ieneral of Natal，47，45， 49
＂Tobecqo．＂Ther． 160
＂Trende su－tre，＂The，33， 429
＂Trent．＂The＂454．4．5
Triquet $\because$ ．Bath， 190
＂Thewthenen．＂Ther，333．338．355．359
＂Tuscarora．＂Thee 3．ts
＂Treen（ientionelro．＂The．2s8．290
＂．Two Friends．＂The．201．214．215． 219． 221
［．今．．（iuillem，2．5
－－Grommayer， 89
－$\because$ ．The lleteor． 379

——— I：Pelly．10，287，285
－－$\therefore$ P＇ercheman，209，236，24
－r．（2niser？：375
—— $\quad$ Repentigny．229，244
－$\because$ Rice 34
－．．．$\quad$ ．Smith， 241
－$\quad$ ．Trumbull． 379
＂（rania．＂The，2］

Vis Remmmis（aten，th
＂Variar．＂The．27．）． 276
$\because$ Venu－．${ }^{\circ}$ The．21．24．25，76．77． 171
＂\ickshure．＂The，27．5．276
＂Vinitartion＂The．es． 1 12
Tillasequés（ase． 33
Ville de Varsorie． 17
＂－Vrimderhap，＂The．21
＂Vrow Ama Catharina．＂The 1，n． 1．56．290． 388
＂Irour Elizabeth．＂The， 140
＂．－Johanna，＂ 157
＂－Judith．＂Thre，397，400， 403. 407．411． 418
＂－Morymether．＂The．158， 163

Wimperr．E．I．Co．，Q4s
＂Wakingham Packet．＂The．190，21t sions of the（＂up，Colom，27） ．War Onskan．＂The， 219
Ware $\cdot$ ．Jones． 89
－．．．Itylton， 58
＂V＂arre．＂The． 146
＂Washington，＂The．1st
＂We！mart．＂The， 463
．＊－Yan Pillaw．＂ 411
Wells $r$ ．Willians．66，80， 86,90
W＇est Rement（＇ential Crold Miniug r＇o．

Wiborg i．U．S．．312． 313
＊＂Wilhelmsberg．＂The，1sis
＂U＂：llimm．＂The．1s6．464．\＆66
Willison $r$ ．Patterson，66，7T．si
Wolft a．Oxholm．．5．it
 The Indemnity Marinc Mutual Asitisance Co．． 449
＂Yonge Thomas．＂Ther． $4 t{ }^{2}$
＂Josrmite．＂The fof
Yrisarri $\because$ ．（＇lemunt．366， 369
＂Zыmans：。＂The．1ヶ2
Farualtipan Clams．The ese
＂Zamtchue．＂The，35．5

CASES AND OPINIONS

IXTERNATTONAT LAW.

PART II--WAR.

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { !) } 101 \mathrm{IT} 161
\end{aligned}
$$

CONTROVERSY BETWEFY RUUSTA AND JAPAN, I9O4.

[^0]called lease both of Port Arthur and Talienwan ( $b$. In 1900 she had also established herself in the Chinese province of Manchmia, from which, notwithstanding repeated promises, the refused to withdraw: whilst more recently, she had attempted to acquire a foothold in Korea, and now threatened to dominate the northern parts of that country. For these reasons, the relations between the two Powers at the date mentioned were serionsly strained. In July, 1903, Japan, with the object of relicring this tension, opened negotiations with Russia on the subject of the situation in Manchuria and Korea. On the 12th Angust Japan accordingly submitted certain proposals, which involved in substance a mutual engagement to respect the independence and territorial integrity both of China and Korea; the maintenance of the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations; and, subject thereto, a reciprocal recognition of Japan's preponderating interests in Korea. and of Russia's special interests in railway enterprises in Manchuria. On the 3rd October Russia submitted counter-proposals. which, in effect, limited the proposed engagement to Korea. and eren then subject to certain new conditions. as that no part of that territory should be used for strategical purposes. and that a nentral zone should be established; whilst she further required that Japan should recognize Manchuria and its littoral as altogether outside her special sphere. Thereafter rarious other proposals and counter-proposals passed between the partics, although without any agreement being reached. and with such delay on the part of Russia as to ereate some doubt as 10 whether an arrangement. was really desired her her. On the 13 th , Januars Japme made a fourth and final proposal. in which she offered to recoonize Manchuria and its liftoral as outside her sphere of interest, prorided that Russia would undertake to respect the territorial intorrity of China and Manchuria. to recognize all treaty rights in Manduria, and to treat Kiorea and its littoral as outside her ephere of intorest; rejectings howewe, the Ruswian proposal as to the nou-use of Korean territory for strationcal purpors and the e-tablishment of a neutral zonc. Inamurla as this repreented the extreme linit to which Japan was prepared to go in the matter of eoncession, a prompt reply was asked for; but in spite of repeated efforts on the part of M. Kurino, the Japanese Ministor at St. Petersburg, no reply was in fact received until the Jth February (r).

In the meantime, and whilst these negotiations were proceeding, both parties pressed on with their military and naval preparations. Russia, in particular, dispatehed a naval squadron to the East under Admiral Wirenius-passed some 40,000 troops into Manchuria-and made preparations for sending 200,000 more. She also dippatched troops to the Korean frontier, and placed her forees on the Yalu on a war footing; whilst either on or before the ¿nd February her troops are said to have crossed the Yalu, and to have entered Korea ( $d$ ). The Russian fleet also appears to have sailed from Port Arthur on the 3rd Febrnary, and to have cruised off the Japanese coast. On the 1st February, moreover, the Russian authorities at Vladivostock appear to have warned the Japanese commereial agent there that, inasmuch as a state of siege might at any time be proclaimed, he should prepare his countrymen for withdrawal (e).

On the 5th February the Japanese Government, irritated by these delays and oceurences, determined to abandon any further negotiations, and also to serer its diplomatio relations with Ruscia. On the 6th February at 2 p.me, this detemmation was sommunicated by the Japanese Foreign Office fo the Ruswian Minister at Tokio. On the same day. at & p.m., M. Kinino. at st. Potersburg, handed two notes to the linssian Forcign Dinistro Coment Lamsdorff. In one of then M. Kimino amomend that his (ionermment proposed to abandon further negotiations: and that it wond immediately consider what means of solf-dufome mioht be nerded,

[^1]Marge appeare to have been unfommert, the delay havines probably woumed at l'out I Ifluar and not at frall-lation of all there dornuments will ho fionnd in drak:twit :30...3.3!t.
 1!n) 1: Jhe Othaial lli-tory, lst ed.

reservine its right to take "such indeperedent action as it might consider bot to comodidate and defend it- menaend position, as woll an to protect Japan's vested righte and logitinate in-trex-t-" i . In than other he annomed at demite surance of liphomatir mation- !/ . The rupture of diphomatic relations with Ru-ia was notitied by Japan to other Powers on the stla

 Conited statos amba-arlor: whilst the Ras-ian Minister quitted of the Frometh ambat-ador.
 Al et, acting under orders prevously reecised, quitted susobo in compares with a number of tran-port - containing troops; one division of the flowt. under Admiral Tons. promeding io Port Arther. whilst the other, under Rur- - dmital Erin. proceeded

Japamese subjects, was ismed by .Japom: whilst on then same day a similar dedaration, in the form of a proclamation addensend clamations, it will ber ohecrood, consifinted a dectaration in the sought 10 justify the action of the is-uing Power and to imperach circalatid, and aresed an once to wam nemtal state of the outbreak of hotilitice and to brimg mader their notion the emonemtions of the meneretion partios.

The Controversy. Thu ation of Japan in thus commencing howilitics. and her adion in rexard to kinen, wern now made the subject of a fomal indictmont on the part of Russiat and in the controvers which "nsum and party sought to justify its action at the bat of intermational opinion. By a manifuto issued ou denly hrokno oll negotiations tox the furpose of whering "a tions. Amen that she was lemself intent on war: that she had a quantity of widmen beine addumel in prow of then state puhli-trat on the 20th Fentuatry in the of hostilitice $n$. This reply was made public through the press on the 3rd March 0,

Although thi- controversy is not one that admitted of ans judicial or definitive settlement, it serves, perhaps for that very reason, to illustrate generally the position occupied by the law of war in the intermational system. Some part of the controtersy; it will be seen, turned on the question of the justice or injustice of the war: but with this question international law does not, so far, concern itself, merely taking motice of the existence of a state of war as the basis of a new set of relations which will then arise both as between the belligerent states themselves. and between each of them and neutral States. More particularly it serves to illustrate the conditions under which lostilities might be commenced under the customary law: the date as from which the legal effects of war will accrue; and finally, the question of the neutrality of territory belonging to a third Power, the control of which was one of the object of the war, although the lat of these questions is left wer for later consiteration ( $p$ ).

The ruestion whether Japan was justified in opening hostilities in the circumstances described, without a prior declaration of war, must be judged, of course, by the customary law of nations, and not by the present conventional rules 4 . The views of the text writers on this subject differ greatly. Some insist on the necessity of a prior declaration. or, at any rate, of specific notice directly addressed by an intending belligerent to his foe; others, whilst requiring prior notice, vet regard a proclamation or manifesto-not necessarily addressed to the enemy State-as sufficient: whilst others again regard both declaration and notice as unnecerary, treating those usually isenerd in practice as intended for the information rather of subjects or mentrals than of the enemy ir. International practice on the subject has also variod. Down to the sixtenth empmry it appears to have been asual to notify an intendel war h, latters of defiance and later by heralds: but this practice naturally fell iuto that from 1700 to 18.0 there are only 10 intitances in which war was precedod hy a formal declaration: whilet there are no luon than 107 inntances in which it was commeneed withent decharation (s). In the later wars of the nimetemth ernture, indee. We wote a tendence to eevert to the eartime practice of bening a formal declara-351-354.
(o) I-akawa, 3.51.
(11) Thr facts and i-auc in selation to the ruestion of the violation of Korean nentrality ap discu*ied at f. 274 it seg.
(q) Thu rule now embodied in the not declaratory of the customary law, but merely lay down a romenient practice for future mbervance.
(, (1) Wall. 370 37s.
(. Maurice, Ilostilitios without Dem claration of War (1s8:3), 4: The Nome-

tion prior to the commencement of hostitities（ $t$ ：But in 190 the newer practice had eertainly not reached a stage at which it could be said thave hecome ohligatory of to have displaced what had bern the predominant practice of stater for nearly three renturies（a）． Hence we may take it that under the customary law，as it obtained in 190t，there wa－no obligation on an intending belligerent to issue a formal declaration or notice to his foe before commencing hostili－ ties：and that Japan therefore hroke no law in emmeneing hostilities in the circumstances previonsly described．At the same time，the rule that war may legitimately be begun without mior declaration or notice．don not imply that cither party would be justified in taking the other umanares．＂An attack，＂says Professor Westlake，＂which nothing had forestadowed，woukd be infanons，and third Powers would probahly join in resenting and opposing it＂$x^{x}$ ．Hence even mader the custonary law－which on this point still remains in fore－ mot atack may lawfully made mone friendly relations have been terminated in suflicient time，and under such eiremmstances．as to quard againt all reasonahle danger of surprise（y）．But even so， it would still appear that the charge of surprive and treachery made againd Japan was unfounded：for the reason that the war arose only after the failute of a long reries of negotiations，that both parties hat for some time past been hurying on their preparations， and that both must have regarded an outhreak of war as prob－ able，it mot inevitable．On the 6th Fehmary，morever，the Japanes（inverment，in severing diplomatic relations with Russia， had expresty reserved its right＂to take such independent action as it might con－ider best to consolidate and defend its menaced pori－ tion＂：amd this wamine had heen given some two days hefore the attack on Port Arthur，which，although not the starting－point of the war，comstmed the chiel factor in the Ruswan chate of eachery and smprise．

With repect to the actual date at which the war may be said to have commenced．as state of war will arion eithom unin it fomal declaration of war，whether unilateral or bilateral：on by some act of tore then he one paty agatet the othe with intent of war：
 if the other meede to treat it is as eane of wate：The question

[^2][^3]"xist in fact, flem the state or melation of war will arian with all its attendant can-equmbes, no matter what irreqularity on tepanlt on eitherside may hare attended its eommonement ill. Applying these prineiples to the case in hanil, it reems elear that the mere sererance of diplomatic relations by Japan on the (ith Fobruary dirl not in itself amomit. to war. for the rasan that sum a proceding is frequently resorted to in times of tension or erave mismaderstanding wibhout Aor again diat the mererailing of the Japancee flem feom basebo on the moming of the Gith Felematy monstitute war of, wen thongh there waz buw at dear intent fo opern hastilities, for tho peason that a one party to the wher. Jonee the atomal rommemetmont of the war would appeap to dati from the eapture by the Japanese of the

(ii) TIIE i) it'
 BRE! IG:EREATA.

THE "ELIZA ANN."

[^4][^5] this dam was rejomed, and both ships and wargos were rondemmed. on the erromed that a state of ware with all it- attomemt and Sweden.

Judgment. Sir IV. seott, in his judement-altor aceording mission of and subject to the regonsibility of the ferritorial Power procended to deal with the ghe tion whether sweden was that tha comblet of swerdon towards (irat Britain had for some time past beren ot an unfriendly "haramere that the had axtaded (iveat Britain had then owepied Hanere. Wheremon sweden had isometadedatation of war. But Bhamud as this dedaration was 1t aromed. howner. perfert! dear that: it wan mitany the ! as at state of war on that atemont. For war might wiot wat without at phamum ly the other. ()n the ammary it am:al to -hw the war uxiand

possession and had not been disturbed. The claim therefore failed both in respect of the neutrality of sweden and the nentrality of the place of capture.

The main question here was whether, at the time of the capture, sweden could be said to be at war with Great Britain and the udinary incident- of war to attach, haring regard to the fact that the declaration of war was unilateral only. A similar question was raised at the Hagne Conference of 1907. but appears th have leen feft unanswered(a). In the case of the Eliza Ame it was hed that a declaration of war. eren though milateral. sufficed (1) 心ablish a state of war between the parties, with all its attendant consequences including the right of capturing enemy property within the ternitorial watere of either belligerent $b$. And the reasoning adopted shows this to he equally applicable in a case where the war originates, not in a dectaration. but in some act of fore done by one party with intent of war, even thongh by the municipal law of either state some particular authority alone may have power 10 dectare war beforehand: for, at bottom, war is a question of fact, and once it exists in fact then all its legal incidents will attach, irrespective of the legality of its rommencement if. Nor is this rule affected. in ite results, and as betwem the belligerents thenselves. be the provisions of the Hagne Convention. Xo. $\boldsymbol{3}$ of 1907 (d) On the othes hand. the mere imminener of war will not produce this rewult. sin in Janson. r. Driefontein fonsolideted fiot dines (1902. A. (. 48t), it was pointed out that "no amome of stained the subjerte of either counter in their commereial or other transactions: for the reasm that the law recognized a wate of peace and imminener of war will justife sonm precantion or telare on the fart of subjem- of either of the Powers athectent and mas thm- intiently affect theiremmercial relatims. sus in the rase of the Tentonke

253). Is to the meaning of the exprpaion * foreiorn stato at war with any framoly state "* fontaimed in tles upon proveded to Dover for enquiry, by which time war had actually broken out. In these circumstances it was held by the Priny Council that, althongh the ship could in fact have emtered Dunkirk as required by the charterer on the 16 th July, yet the taking of a reasumable time for enduiry was legitimate; and that, inasmuch as the subsequent ontbreak of war hat relieved the owners of the ship from the obligations of the charter in this regard, the consignees of the aren were not entitled to danages for non-delivery at Junkirk

Genbril Nomes. -The Relation or state of 11 ar.-Lnternational war is a tontest, carried on by anmed force, either between states, or between a state and some commmnity or body which is treated as a State for the purpose of the conduct of hostilities. International War dilfers from other kinds of war in that it has the effect of setting up a new relation in law hoth as between the belligerents themselves and as between each of then and other states. As between the belligerents, the state of ware, although a departure from normal relations: is. neverthelesis. a tate of regulated violeneé in which the conduct of hostilities is governed by certain principles and rules, which rest in patt on chston and in part on convention, and which are sanctioned in the last resort by the action of international society, howerof morrtain that may be in its operation ( $g$ ) As between the belligerents and neutral states, the new relation is also governed - and here, perhatjes, more eilectually by principles and rules which have a similar hasis and an added sanction. But cases of purely eivil strife, or hostiliten earifed on againt filibusters or pirates. of contests with the batharous or semi-babbarons commanities nut possessing the requisite of statehood $(h)$ establish no such relation, and dos not mbictly insolve an appliation of the rules that govern international war; even though hamanity of regard for international opinion of the fear of retaliation maty direate their whservance (i). In cate of civil war. inteed, where the diremmstances are such as to aflent the intoresth of other states in a manner similar to international Wat: and where the war is Waterd medther side by a commo-
 On wat ancomling to extablisherd mer, a reengnition of belliperency is, as wh hate sedn. Wenally amonded (fir. And the asemmption by

```
    1," s!口 (ul. i. | |.
    M, l/il!. &s.
    i) I* to their applimation in (aser of " in*urrmotion," * roln,llion." am|
" "ivil watr." umber the l niter] statm
```

and. an to beligerent fowere exporan in rivil wat, Wheaton (lataa . 374.11 . (\%) Sire wol. i. lifis.
(1) Is to the asomption of a rieht be the lexitimate gememment to close prots within it turritory. which are dha- 3m,

 haim, ii, (5, : :3_I

 374. :1.

(131リ" ularim. ii. Tij.

 l:'mul. wis- monatiod.

$\qquad$

 - : Fu1. i. ill
and the consequent odiun that attaches to a distmbance of the peace that recourse to them will become more truly obligatory as time proceds．The restrictions imposed by custom or convention on the methods of conducting war will be considered hereafter（b）

The Law of II ir．－An ideal code of war would need．amongst other thing：－（1）to define the just causes of war；（2）to allix penalties for unjust war；and（3）to regulate the inception，the conduct，and the fermination of war，as well as its effect on the legal relations hoth of belligerents and neutrals．（1）With respect to the first of these subjects，international law does not even attempt to define the just causes of war（c）．Some writers indeed purport to set finth the grounds on which war may justly be entered on（d）；but such attempts have no direct value（e），both because the alleged causes of war are frequently not real causes（ $f$ ），and also heranse the real rauses of war are commonly either too complex to be bronght within the range，of tho overwhelming to be brought under the control of legal rules $(g)$ ． Nevertheless，the IIague Convention，No． 3 of 1907 （ $h$ ），requires that a declaration of war shall embody a statement of reasons for the war $(i)$ ；with the object no doubt，of bringing both national and international opinion to bear on intending belli－ gerents in restraint of mujust wars（ $k$ ）．（2）As to the af－ fising of penalties for unjust war，intomational law，apart from its inability to define or decide questions of justice or injustice in regard to war，has，as we have seen，no machinery for this purpose（ $l$ ）．
3）But，so far as relates to the actual monduct of war．The sules of international law are now both comprehensive and failly miform． opening of hostilities，the（qualifications of combstants．ithe means and instrunents of war，the treatment of prisoners，the care of the sick and ihe wounded，the right and duties ineident to military necupation， and the termination of war．And．il we take into asenut weent．
（1）Sie 1 ．！91，infin；and on the sul）－ ject urmerally，llall．pt．i．©．3．and 11 atlaks，ii．：3
（c）Except．of course，in so far as this may be involved in the ruuncia－ tion of intrmational rielits and duties．
（d）Sier Taylor．fol：Walleck，i． 185；11 onlay； 181.
（e）Athoumh if thome were any general agrecment．they might perhajes possers an indirect value，as atiding in the formation of mational and inter－ national $\quad$ ypinion．and．in this way． imponins some intornal and extermal cherk on wans that did not comborm to theip rulus．
（f）Wirs ：thparently offornior atre
 tion：at where one foner is formed to －irike in ender to prownt al hostile：

Power from complatiner proparatinas that would ensure ite orepthrow．
（！1）Hall，181：Oppenhemin，ii，it ct som．
（1i）Jicfill：1． 18.
（i）In the ease of a conditional de－ claration it appears to be assumed that the conditions themselves will ade－ quately reveal the reasons for the war．
（k）The report，howerer，wounizes that the real reasons will oftern not be wiven：hat apparently resurds the whligation of makine a formal state－ ment of romon＊．raverially whre such rations are ill－foundel or ant of pro－ portion to the erpavity of the war，as likely to opomate in pest maint of hasty

（1）バィрі＂：1． 13.

Consentions（ $m$ ），the sume observation applies to the relations that arise between the belligerents on the one hand and nentral States and their subjects on the other（ $n$ ）．

Ifar in its reletion to Individuals：（i．）The traditional Viens． The extent to which war may affect individuals who are identified with either belligerent really depends on usage and convention，and not on legal fleory．Nerertheless，before passing from the theoretical aspects of the law of war，we need to advert briefly to certain theories that have been formmated with respect （1）the position of the individual in a war between states． One of these，which may be said to represent the traditional view． finds its best．expression（o）in an opinion of Vattel，which was recently quoted with approval in Janson v．Driefontein Consolidated． Mines（1902，A．（．at 493）：＂Quand le conducteur de l＇état，le souve－ ruin，déclare la guepre ì un autre soucerain，on entend que la mation entière déclare la querre à une autre nation．C＇ar le souverain ．．． agit au nom te la société entiere，et les nations nont affaire，les unes aux uutres．yui en corps．dans．leur qualité de nutions．Ces deux nations sont done onnemies；et tous les sujets de l＇une sont ennemis de tous les sujets de l＇autre＂（p）．The same view is also reflected in the American decisions（q）．This theory，whilst recognizing that war is primarily a relation between State and State，yet recognizes also that in this，as in other external relations，the individual is necessarily identified with his State，alike in interest and responsibility；and， hence，that when war break：out between two Stater，the consequences of that relation are not confined to their Covernments or armed forces， but extend aloo to their individual members；with the result that the subjects of each become the enemies of the other，even though the consequences of such emmity have now heen retiered of mach of their former severity（ $r$ ）．This view also acerds with the existine patace in war；under which all perens residout in belligerent temitory are subject mot only to the risk indident to military operatime（s），Jut： aloo in matrithtions．requisitions，and contertion pemations $(t)$ ．as and the captare of their propery on the seathe．Nor is it in any waty inmonstent with those mitigations in the conduct of war，under which intividnals，as rombatants．ate spared all moneres－ sary suffering，and，as non－combatante，are spared both in person and property so lar the the eximencies of war will permit，on with the

[^6]```
tho pas*age in qutestion is conrectly ッぼ园.
```

```
    (i) 1l:ll, fil: but som aluo Hist-lake, ii. Sら.
    (*) Is int the (:ase wif lombuarkmoms.
```

```
    (1)/"+い.N.110,t=%%
```

porsib] axterion of these mitigations in the future; for such alleriatorn -are really danere in the incidents of the relation and not in the relatiun itsolt
, ii., The newer Vien.--Another theory of war in it: retation to the imbividual was propounded by Ronstan in his ronirut social. Here it is said--. Lat !nere "iest done point une reletion dhomme it hommue. muis une relution détat id étut. danse laquelle les puiticulis's mental principle of international law: althonem for the mont patt intwatio. would he to sever the indivilual from his state in all that

|  |  |
| :---: | :---: |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
| \% in 1-1 |  |
|  |  |
| , liat. b, | Ihalam War me Laxal. 12. |
| Thars iman the luzimal abin- | (i) H:11. (iat. |

tion that the stat", an diothe: from it taken plane in the usagen of wat be attributed w this theory for that amelomation really began before it wa- formmated, and has since extended equally to combatants and non-combatantio ( $f$ )

The (ommencemont of War: (i.) The (fuestion of A Alhorization. - With respert to the due authorization of war, all that international law is concerned with is that war should le initiated by some authority representing the State, in order that the fact may be duly ascertained and binding on the mation resorting to it. In municipal law the right to declare wat is rommonly vested in some pattientar aththority (g): bat the want of format dedaration hy the preveribed anthority will not preclude the existence of a state of war it hovilitios with intont. of war have been actually entered on hy either party. The requirements of the Hague ('onvention. No. 3 of 1907 , with respert to format notice will, howerer, for the most part, obviate arr donhtio that might of herwise arise on this point in the future.
(ii.) The (Unestion of I'rior Nolice: (a) L'mer the C'ustomary Lau-

In wien of the fact that the conventional lat does not esver all possible contingencies in relation to the conmmement of war, the rules of the rusiomary law have not altogether lost their appliration. Our previons surver of the practice of States on this subject sugesto the following conclusions: (1) that moter the customary law (13) formal dectaration ar specific: notice combl he requated as in-di-pensable to the opening of hostilities, although it was usmal for befligerent- either before that oreurence on shortly aftewards io issue a protamationammondig the fact of warand cometimes giving reasons for it (h): hat (2) that whether a fomal anclaration was irwed or not and whether it was iswed heforen after the commencement of wat, wo stat, wa- jutifiol in uponing hotilition aganst another state unlow frimulis relatione hat heren everen at such time sugereeded, an between the greal bouly of avilized stater. hy the provions of the Hague (bmrention. Nu. i3 of 1907: hat the semend - ill momane uperative.

1.) The Effect of the Ingue ('omrentions. The 'onvention' "relating the the pafif sotfenem of international di-pmes." No. 1 anm of variou-mothom of amicaldo -etthment. surh as arbitration,

[^7]C.I.L.
mediation，and grood oflices，before having recoure to war＇．The nature and effect of the e methods have already been discus．ed（ $k$ ）． A mone specifio ohligation is now imposed by the Convention＂re－ lating to the opening of hostilities，＂No． 3 of 1907 ．This Convention 1，recognizes that as between the contracting Powers hostilities ounht not to commence without prerions and explicit notioe．in the form of either a declaration of war．stating the gromito on wheh it in bated．or an ultimatum，containing a conditional domatation of war（Ar，1）：and（2）provide that the exi－tenes of a state of war should aloo le notified to neutral Powers without delay．and shall not take effect in regard to them montil after the receipt of a motification． which may．howerer，be given ly telegrajh，although neutral Powers camme plead the absence of notitication in a case where it is estab－ lisherd berond question that they were in fact aware of the state of war Att． 2 ）．The former provision applies only to case of war hetneen Powners that are parties to the consention：but the latter applew wher either of the helligerent－and any neutral Power are partios thereto（Art．：3）．Art．1．it will he obsorvel whilst repuibing an abolute of conditional declaration．dons not interpore any interval hotween the declaration and the commencement of hostilities（l）． Ina－much as there is nothing in the aetual terms of the Contention 10 pewant the derlaration and attack from being delivered simul－ taneonly．it would seon that on this point the Convention must be read sulject to the earlier rule．which forbits treachere and sur－ prion mi．Art．＂merely convert－a requirement previnu－ly resting on contory and comvenience into a legal obligation（ $n$ ．The main valur of the＇onvention lies in the fact that it will serve in eases whene it aphies and is observed，to mark clearly the fact and date of the outhreak of war．and especially the date as from which neutral dutios and liabilities will be deemed to arerue．At the same time． the sienatories do not plelge themedres abonlutely wadran from hotilities without a prion dectaration．hat morely reeogmize that a－between them hovilities＂ought no to momuenee＂without pre－ vion＊and mequiveral warning ob．The whed，mo drubt．was in wder to pepel－ome hostile proparation wevemem，oremrine wher at a plame where commmencation with the war－demaring anthority

 Both in thi and in any other ate where anco of form are reated to with intont of wat．lout without dochatatom．a state of war will ＂b－ue．and the menal incidmen of war will attach in the same way

[^8]
（m）バッバ＂，1．1ヶ．

（o）In the Enerlish official trans－ lation，howerer，this is rendered＂must nut commencr．＂

Wortako．ii．24，26i7．
as under the earlier customary law (q). Nor do the provisions of the Convention apply where acts of force in the nature of reprisals or pacifie blockade are resorted to, whether as methods of constraint short of war, or as measures of international police $(r)$; ahthongh if the shate sought to be coereed should eleet to treat such acts as a cause of war, it wouk seem to be incmmbent on it to issue a declaration of war ( $s$ ). The Convention applies to all cases of war between States, whether sovereign or semi-sovereign, as well as to the accession of a new belligerent; but not, of course, to eases of civil war, which do not come within the range of international rules until there has been a recognition of belligereney $(t)$. The Convention was signed by 12 States, and has so far heen ratified or adhered to by 17 statest, including (ireat Britain and a majority of the greater Powers (u). Its rednirements, so lar as they extend, will probahly be observed in future wars between civilized states. But their ineflectiveness as a safeguad atrainst precipitancy in the making of war in a rase where ather Power is intent on hostilitios, is illustrated by the arents that attended the opening of the Tureo-Italian war of 1911. ( $)_{n}$ this occacion the Ltalian (foyermment, after making -rme how of romplaint as regath grievances alleged to have heres sudiered at the hand of Twrey, respatched ou the e6th septomber hy cipher telegram an mhimatum to the Torkish Covermment. with ef hours grace irom the (late of presentation. This was prerented at Constantinople on the morning of the geth September. I meply was immediately despatchel hy the Ottoman Government. Lut was pronomeed to be masatisfactory. In the result a declaration of war was iswed by Italy on the geth septemher, and delivered to the Ottoman Govermment on the same day: whilst a notification of tho existence of a state of war was simultaneously iswed to other Pownes (x). Despite the limits imposed hy "nstom and convention. the openime of lontilities still appeats to he matinly a question of dratroy.

© NATIONIITTY.

SPARENBURGH $r$. BANNATYNE.

Case. Durines war betwern (imeal britain and Holland, the

This is itt orxey bo fia the dater ut this subjert, see an artield hy Prof. Wiいtake. I. (2. R. xxv. 12.: Ipril.

$190!$.
$\therefore 1.11$.
$\therefore$ A. Trble . Spl. Xiv.
Hosqilitios commenored at ontre
 - 1 .t my. : alud for the text of the 1+ularation- lo9 ct sery.
captured by the British, whilst serving as a sailor in a Dutch frigate, and sent to St. Helena. At that place he was by ordrr of the governor put on board the "Caledonia," a British merchant vessel then in want of hands, and served as a saitor on board her during the royage to England. On arrival in England he was handed over to the commissary of prisoners and held as a prisoner of war. He subsequently brought an action for wages due to him in respect of his service on the "Caledonia." To this it was objected that he was an ahien enemy and could not sue whilst in confinement on a contract entered into as a prisone of war. It was held. however, that, inasmuch as the plaintiff was a natural born subject of a State in amity with (ireat Britain. and as his character as enemy was founded only on a service which had since come to an end, he was not to be regarded as an alien enemr, and that he could we on a contract entered into by him, even though he war still held as a prisoner of war.

Judgment. ${ }^{-}$In his judgment, Eyre, ('.. ., pointed out that the plaintifi was bs hirth and natural allegiance a neutral; but that. having been captured whilst serving on board a pulblic vessel of the enemy, ho must be eonsidered an alien enomy quoad such hostility. Is soon, however, as such a person berame free from the enemy service the character of enem would be purced. If. then, the Crown had not thourht dit to hold the plaintiff as prisoner of war, he would have been considered not as ath rnemy but as the subjea of a state in anity with this rountr: Thu difficulty arose from the fare of his havine bem detainel as a prisoner of war. But he wat so detainma, not in comernumere of having the permanent chararter of memy but as having joined in ath act of hotilits. The formere charater arose fiom ther fate of a pereral bemer in allecrianee of the state at war with us: and the alleriame heing pemanent. the harater wat permanent. I capture of the frisente on whill how was aml hi- tomporaty

character of alien enemy ceased and determined with the authority under which he acted.

An alien enemy, in English law, means, generally, an alien who belongs to a country which is at war with Great Britain. In dealing with this question, however, the judgment in Sparenburgh v. Banmutye draw a distinction between a permanent enemy character and a temporary or adventitious one. The former is stated to depend on allegiance; this being the form in which English law expresses its coneeption of nationality (a). According to this principle, every person in allegiance to the encmy State is deemed prima facie to have an enemy character: whilst everyone in allegiance to a nentral state is deemed primâ facie to have a neutral character. From this it would seem that the English law, in determining enemy character, starts equally with the continental systems from the standpoint of nationality (b). And although for many purposes " nationality " as a test of cnemy character in war has, as we shall see, now been displaced by "domieile," there are still cases in which it remains operative. So, if on the outhreak of war it were found necessary for military rearons to expel alien enemies from British territory-a measure still permissible, although now unlikely to be resorted to the test of nationality would still be applied: whilst it would aloo apply, under the municipal law, to cases where a British subject, sven though domiciled elsewhere, was found in arms against his native country (c). And this primary test of enemy or nentral character, although liable to be suspended by other tests, is always lialle to revert whom the latter cease to apply. A temporary or adrentitions enemy character. on the other hand. will attach to persons who are bound io the enemy state ly some particular hom of asconiation. whether loal or peramal. This will include (1) persons who are fonme in the military maval werve of the memy (d): 'O persoms who are fomb arring on hoad exemprate veach of the mems. subject mow. howerer. to the allerialions provided hes the Hague ('onvention. No, 11 of $1907(0)$ : $: 31$ proms who are pmeaged in the enemy mavigation. or itantion with the enomy be the grant similar primiplos are reengnied hy tho Smerican (omerte: atthough

```
    (4) See rol. i. 50, 172.
    (h) I- to differmees in the uriteria of matinnality, see itcol. 172.
    (a) Jom, ish.
```

```
s(prri).
    (1.) li, Fr'%. P. 27.
```

The ho-tile dhatacter will ahso affect with liability other veseche helonging to the sum perion that have no mational rhapacter impresard on at 16 a ).

 The Societl for the Pronpration of

Some of thene gromods of ememy character or comection, including domicile. which is the most important. will be considered in connection with the case next following (i). whilst others will come again under review in connection with the sulject of enemy property ( $k$ ).

(ii DOMICILE

THE "HARMONY."

[1800: 2 C. Rob. 322.]
Case. - In this case the question was as to the liability of certain property which had been eaptured at seri during the war between (ireat Britain and France: and this again turned on the hostile or non-hostile character of the owner. From the eridenen it appeared that the orner, Murrar, was a partner in a house of trade in New York, and that he had gone to France in $179 t$ as super-cargo of a ressel on behalf of his firm. there to dispose of the ("arge). Notwithstanding the special whracter of this miginal purpose. he continued to reside in Franer, save for a brief risit to 1 merim in 179.5 - 6 , acting on behalf of his tirm in the reseciving and disposing of eargoes: and. although at the time of the first hearing " . his recidence in Franer had not lasted for a year, set the widener of letters and documents all went to show an intention to form a permanent residence there. This was srenothened by the fact that he lad thereafter continued to reside there until the date of the present proceedines. On these facts it was held that Murray had acyuired a French domicile. and herner an enems character for the purposes of the war: and that the property was therefore liable to condemnation.

Judgment. Sir W. Soott. in hin judement, observed that the the liospet v. Wherfor (2 (iall. 10.5): The Friembarmif (& Wheat. I(1.)) : The Intomin Inturuni" ( 1 Wheat. 1.59) : and

(if) The claim in the present case had heow reserved for further proof in respeet of Murray interest.
conld be laid down gramelly. one was that time eonstituted the grand ingredient in determining domicile. In most cases it was conclusion. It was not unfrempently said that if a person ramm to a country only for a special purpose, that should not fix a demieile. But that statement must not be taken without some gradification, or withont some regard to the time which surh a purpose might occupy. For. if the purpose was of a kind that might or did actually detain the person for a great length of time. then a general residenee might arow upon the special purpose. After such a long residence the plea of an original special purpose could not avail: and it must be inferred that other purpuses had intruded on the original design, and had thus impressed on the party the charactes of the comntry in which he resided. If a man came into a belligerent country at or before the beginning of a war, it was only remsonable not to bind him too soon to an acquired character: but if he continued to reside during a good part of the war, and contributed by parment of tases and other means to the strength of that country, then he eould not be allowed to plead his special purpore against the rights of hostility. There must be a time whith would stop surh a plea, eren though it could not be lixed "print. The question of domiefie in fact, must be cousidered in relation both to time and orerupation, with a great preponderance on the article of time.

For dertain purperes. stob as the determination of the liathe Prmme phatactor of the owner. the entomemant of the rules prohbhitus trate with the emems. and the exchason of alien Patmios foom rights of sult. the Briti-h and dmerican fourts have lomes -ince atoped the to-t of dmancile $b$ b). The natme ami
 The domicile here contomplated in however. almos invariably a domicile for eommereial purpoes, for the reaton that it is commonly only in maxe of tarto that tho question of the lialibity of property to maritime éaptore ariow sueh a tomicile is therefore frequents

(b) A. to how this came to invad the earlier primuple. sen Twis, ii. o9s nt ang. In Finerlish law the transition

[^9]persom. eren though a subjet of some other state, is deemed to he so far identifind with the state in which he revides and trades as to share ins national chanater, whether as belligerent or neutal, in time of war. At the same time similar consequences will attach to the ordinary "eivil domicile" in cates where the facts are such as to admit of their application (d).

The more imporant applications of the prinejple of domicile. in this comection, are shortly a follows: (i.) All persons domiciled in the enemy country are, for the purpoes above memioned, treated as having an enemy character so long as such domicile continues, and this even thong ther may hationality be neurala or eren British nubjects. As regard nemtrals, if a nentral, after the commencement of the war, continues 10 reside in the enemy country for the purposes of trade, he is considered as adhering the enems, and as disqualified from claming as a neutral (e). As regard, British subjects. the same mole is applied. with the result that such persons. if they rontinue resident in the enemy countryater the ontheak of war if), will be treated as hostite as far acelates to their trade. Hence their ship and property on the seas will be liable to capture. whilst they themsotye will be incapable of suing in the national Courts durge the war: although they will not otherwise forfet their national character. or incor any further penalty, mone they engage in actual hostilitios agamst their own enuntre (g). (ii.) Conserely, all perons domicited in nemral. or British. or allied teritory are regarded at having a meutral or friendly charater. as the cave may if domicile: in a mentral combtry. will he free fom the divalilities of the anomy danacter an far as concems property comected with their domicile: whith British subjede, if similarly sesident, will be free to sugage in tade with the enmer in on a a this is open to neu-tral-(i). And the same rule will apply where enemy subjects are domiciled in briti-h toritory. it they are allowed to memain: although in such cast. like all other pereons dunieftel there. they will be delared whilw end domicile enntimues fom ongenger in trade with their native ammer the Where a peroon helome 10 one of those
(d) Is tos how far there is any substantial distinction between these forms of domicite see vol. i. 2108 et or "war dominde." which is used by -ome witers, subh as ler, horat lim formention". iii. 1.51. and Wiatlaks. lnt. Lam. ii. . SO. is probably mom appropriato.
(r.) Thr fi,". sumkas: sin :はい

 The : !i, "h the rald was :apliond to the race of :1 fersom trakling in the nomy montal chatry Is to the position of 11.): Th, Jostilime (llay a Mariott, 24:5).

 (ranch, at 120
 wheluter Mimes (1902. 1. (' 184).
commmitio previnusly dewribed as "extra-tertorial." his domicile will bre that of the shate umder whoe juristiction he has placed himsalf(l). (iii.) But an "rnemy chatacter" which is hased on donicile is rewgized as being merely provisomal and tomporary and may therefore bee aroided ly prot of ahamdument. It, therefore on the cutbreak of war a person rowdent in the enems country. whether her minin a Briti-h subject or neutral, takes in orod faith antive - fop to tranifer himself to anobleremery, he will divest him-proof will lew the party alloging the change (n': ahbowgh - whel an abandommen will be more readily infered when the wange is from an arguired domide to a domicile of origin than where the case domiciled in the come country, if would appore that when war has bokem ons. he witl not le able to divest himelf of an enemp character

Where a prown in domicited in a matral comatre, but hat a homse of fate or an interest in a honse of tratd in the enemy sombtry. he will ata for dermed to have an onemy charater: although in this ast only as megards such property as may be connected with the enemy homes. his other propery being deemed to have a neutral character $(q)$. On the other hand, where a person, whon in domiciled in the enemy comerr. has a honse of trade or an interest in a house of trade in a noutral comter. his interent will le treated atemeny property. on the eround that an enemy domicile imparts a seneral emomy rharacter which will affect all his property cmbarked in trade ( $r$ ). If, in such cases. the property taken helongs to a prartnership. it will he presumed to be dividel proportionately
(1) See rol. i. 249: Wheaton 1)ana), 418.
(ii) The I'iniluntion (1 ('. Rob. 1): (.) ('. Roh. (10): The (iesowime (11 How. t7). In the (ative of The Iroms (s) (ranch. 253). inderel. it wat held by the supreme conet of the Inited station that the properety nt an Imerican citizen who was domi"iled in the emome contutre was lialle th 'apture and combmonation. Wen thourh it had bom shipped before the dectaration of war: : althomeh Marwhall. ('.l., disented from this virw. holding that a citizen in sumb a case must he presumed to intend to withdraw. and hould thorelore be allowed a reamomahle time to do en. The latter view appears to in confirmed by the Juchet (.) Wall. at :3TM), and in Amory v. IIcliregui (15) Johnson, 24: Srott. 501): as well a* he the Enclish derisions: of. Vien li. Y. ('n. v. Homice (1901, : K. 13. S19).

(,1) Th, lirimone 1 ('. Rols. 102).
 12): and as to prool' of abandonment, wol. i. 2ll.
(/1) l.t V゙imimin (.) (*. Rob. 98): and tow Hemmemes (2 Wheat. 76).
(9) Ther . Ion!er hlumisen (.) ('. Rob). at 3ive): The Poillourl (3) ('. Rel). at 10.5).
 1.5: Wheaton, contmang this with the previou* rule, regards the distinctinu as unreasonable: hut Dama justifies it. remarding ead as indememdont of the other: see Wheaton (1man). 119. anti n. 161.
between the partner:, and the share attributable to the partner who has enemy character will be liable to condemmation ( $t$ ).

With respect to corporations: the domicile of a corporation is the place which is considered by law to be the centre of its atfans, irrespective of the nationality or residence of its members. In the care of a trading corporation, this is morstood to be its principal place of business; the place, that is, at which it has its rentral office and chief management (u). This centre of alministration and control will generally. although not necessarily, be the place at which the corporation is incorporated or registered: but it will often not be identical with the placo at which itw inrlustrial operations are carried on $(x)$.

Cexerar Notes. Einemy Churucter.- Ender the earlier srotem. on the outheak of war between two sorereigns. all those in allerviance to one became "enemies" of those in allegianes to the other. Nor was there orioinally any distinction of deoree recornized in the attribution of cnomy character. But with the recomition of the distinction hotween combatant- and non-combatants. and with the lape of thanotion of personal hostility bet ween those who are legally percom- in diffornt degrees. ant with diffrent conspqumes. At the frembt time (i.t an " emmay character" in the semse of "active"enmity attarher to all percons. whether suhjects or not, who are emmelled in the ammal forces of the enems, or who otherwive asist him in the condur of hostilitie-: such persons heing suligect to all those forms wh Vinlenç, promitted in war. at well at to -nch emmonerial and civil di-abilitim a may attach to tho "enemy character" either sememally frovided in effect hy the Hague C'onsention. No. 万ol 1907, Art. 17, be treatal more sererely than wenld ha the sul, ject of the other terth-still in an atere seme may he satid to attach to all pershts. Whather

```
\. (`.f\:. at jul : Th, comerty im,
```

```
|`hartere(こ(iall. 10.)).
```

``` domionded in ons (muntera are oftom deemed to la. resident in some other conatre. Whew they vary on bu-inu.
```

[^10]disabilities incident the hat chamerer, ahhowoh not oherwise exposed (0) violener. Lt is. howerm, provided ly the hagne (omvemtion, No. is of 1907. Ari. 18, that the remberm hy a mental to a helligerem of services in the mater of polies and eivil administration shall not have the effect of confering an enemy chatacter in the sense just teseribed (z); and, further, that the fmashing of supplies or loans hy a nental to one belligerent shall not have that effect. provided that the nentral does not live in and that the supplies don not proread from the territory belonging 10 or occupied by the other befligerent (a). In the sant gaterory also, we may clase seamen who are fomm on enemy merchant vewehs: such persons, aven thomghentral he nationatity. having formery leen liathe to arrest and detention during the wal by rearon of their titness for nse on buard warshipe or transportio of the memy; ahhough this is new -nbjed to the alleriation provided ly the Lagne Convention. No. 11 of 1907 . Arts. j--8 (b). (iii.) Finally, an "enemy character," in a merely pasive sense. is atributed to all persons who are deemed to be identifed as byationaty aremding to one view, on by domicile acembing to another with the cmemy riate. for the purposes of the war: -nch persons heing sulded during the conthmance of the war 10 mertain eivil or commercial di-abilities. which ratr, howerer, in diflerent sy-tems: and their property on the sea berig also thable th matitime cature muleo protected by the nemtral flag. But in the detemination of "enemy obarater" in this lat sente. there is a manked difference bet ween the primephow followed he different States (1) group. of states: some adopting for this purpere the criturion of nationality, whilst others adopt that of domicile, ahthough mot in wither tase to the exclusion of certain miner or subordinate tests. Beform proseding to em-ider this. however. it is de-irable to notice that all permis resting or coming within the sphere of belligerent operathon- ares sulject to the ordinary incidents of war, in so far as thaw affect mon-tombatants. At the Haque Conference, $19 n=$, it was indeol proposed to confer special privileges on persons of neutral nationality whomioh find themestre in this porition. ly exempting. then from reduivition- for servies having a direct hearing on the warde well as from contributions, and from the destrution of their preperty -ave in cato of necerity and on cometition of imdemnity: hat in the result mo agreement on the subjer wa- arrived ates.
 desibable. The Final Ace imbert, muleotion a rene that the Power-

[^11]originally depended on allegiances，and that an outhreak of war between two sovereigns served to establish a retation of lexal if not perconal enmity befween all who respectively owed allegiance 1．0 than．Shbseduenty 1 wo changes appear to have taken place． One of these，which has alrealy leen refermed to，was the recognition of varying dogrees in the attribution of the enemy eharacter，and a mitigation of its ronsegrences in its minor forms（d）．The othme wac that＂allegiance＂reased ion be the sole or even the main test of memy chatacter in war，ant eame to be replaced by＂domidile：＂this change bomg aftributahbe io tho grathal stomethening of the terri－ forial primeiplo and the incrasingrecognion of irado fand comberon as sources of strength in war．F＇or some time，at any fate．the new princjplo appears to have been wry generally aceppted（e）． But at the begimning of the loth eentury and under the in－ flacnce of theories inspised ly the Frensly Revohotion，yet anothor shange took place．This originated in France，where the＇onseil des Prises，in 1801，formally discarded the test of domicile for that of nationality；holding that a person must be deemed to retain the character of the State of which he was a national，irrespective of his place of residence，unless and until such national character had been lost or renounced $(f)$ ．The principle thus anunciated by the French Courts apprars to have been subsequently followod and adopted in nost other Enropean comntris（ $g$ ）：with the result that Continont t］ opinion and pratice reverted，although in an altered form and freed now from the ofl trammels of allegiance，to the personal as distinct from the local test of anemy eonnecion．Meanwhile tho enmes of Great laritain amd the I nited States were engaged in claborating flo doctrime of domicile：to which fost both these States have neer sinc． contiumed to adbere．Sto there awose a notable diveroene alike of view and of praction as to the tron eriteriom of enemy character．（hat the one hand．（ifeat Britain and the Initod States，and more recent？ Japan（ $h$ ），dulopt＂domisile＂as the main 1 est of enemy＂haracter in war：with the result that persons donsiciled in the enemy eountry ater non－hastile charactor，irrespective in eithor case of what their nation－ ality may le．On the other hand．most Firmpean（i）and othor Siates adont＂mationality＂as the masu test of enemy eharacter in war：with their mentral eharacter exfor thomeh domicited in the enomy terri－ tory（ $F_{\text {O }}$ ．At the same time meither of these primeiples is exclusivols ond hamed．（ipeat Britain and the Jhited Statos．whilat erenerally

\[

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { 1) N゙ルバル.1. } 26 .
\end{aligned}
$$
\]

> iii. $\mid 51 \mathrm{pt}$ keq.
> (f) /hirl. 152 - 153.
> (!) liat S'pain and Hollaml still follow the principle of domicile in detremining the question of enemy

[^12]arexpting the tes of domicile, are nevertheless fored to revert to that of mationality in cates where domicile would deally be inat)plicable (l). On the vider hand. the states which ordinarily athere 10 the teat of mationality are forcel, when they come to deal with the incident of war on land, to recognize liability as depending on residence or domicile. The proposal which was made at the Hagne Conference of 1907 to eonfer a precial status on neutrals residing in belligerent territory, represents an attempt to carry the Emopean theory to its logical conclusion: but the proposal was, as wo have sene, ultimately rejected ( $n$ ). Nor was it found possible to reach any agreement on this suliject on the nevasion of the Naval Conferener of 1908 !. The Declaration of London, Art. 57, indeed. provides that the noutal or onemy chatacter of a vessel shath be deter-the present uncertainty (o). But with respect to groods. Ait. is merely provides that the nemtral or enemy rhararter of goode fomed character of the owner: thas leaving open the (question as to how that character is to be determined ( $\mu$ ) . Hence the contlict between the rival primeples of mationality and domicile is likely to eombime until seftled by some new Convention or ly the Lnternational Prize (inirt.

Wh\%" " Domicile" is preferable. Some contrast ha- aheady been datwn befween these competing principles in the domain of civil staths (q). Here we are conecrned with them only as tests of enemy chatacter" in war. and mainly fon the purposes of matitime (apture and reatrictions on tradeir). In this regatd whe neets to remember that one of the chiof alms of war is to weaken the enemy: reson'es. by wippling his trate and subling at its instrmmentalitien. su far as this mat comsis with the riohts of neutrats. From this standpoint "nationality " as a test of enomy chataster is based on what is no doubt a tratitional but at the same time often an illnory bond of assofiation (s). In attibnting an enemy character to enemy nationals who reside and trade in neutral States, it strikes nentral state: whilst in freatime an "mon-hnstile" nembal who reside and earry on trade ju the momy state. it exompte from the operation of war an instmmentality which mbst meressarily

```
((1) T,|im, F', 14:3
```

```
(g) SM vol. i. シlO.
```

in war, nationalits, and for oftor-

(a) Iml mone. indand. whinh is almemds lowine ite lobld. eren as a test of politi(al statlos: sme mol. i. 147, at at

It treats at "ememie. " all persons who even though nentral in paint of mationality set reside and carry on trade in the enemy state. lim the reason that such persons are subject to its control and comribme to its resoures: and this, mereorer. in rixthe of a pusition which the have voluntarily assumed, and are at liberty to renounce (t). it refuses to treat as "enemies" persons who, exem though memy mationals, reside and carry on trade in a neutral state. for the reason that they are subject to the control of and identified in interes with the nentral state rather than with the eneme (u). Eren as regard liahility to the incidents of land warfare, the test of re-idence or domicile is eminently reasonable; for, even though it matr be true that neutrals residing in the belligerent State have no interest in the quarrel, yet the liability in such rases is one which attaches ratione loci and not ratione personce, whilst in voluntarily taking up their residence in the belligerent country neutrals must be deemed to have accepted all risks reasonably iucident thereto ( $x$ ). To apply any other test would in fact the to discriminate unfairly against resident nationals.

ENEMY TERRITORY.

THE "GERASIMO."

18.57: 11 Moo. P. (.. 88.]

Case.] During the Crimean war, the "(irusimo," a ship under Wallachian colours, with a cargo of corn, belonging to owners resident at Calatz in Moldavia, was captured by the British when roming out of the Sulina mouth of the Danube, then in a state of blockade. At the time of the shipment of the cargo the Russianheld possession of Mohdavia and Wallachia; although such holding was with the arowed intention of not changing the national character or incorporating the comntry with Russia. In the Court of Admiralty a sentonce of condemnation was pronounced on the ground that the territory in question was in possession of the memer, and that all persons resident and carreing on trade throw appear to lie a sutficient andwer to the ahjection that thr priaciple of domi"ile is "atitivial" or " anomatoms." ()thers stimmatise it ats "harbarous." although it is diflioult to sor on what arounde the rival principle we mationality can "laim any special sanctity.
(11) Is to the alleged diffirulty in ascertaining and applying domicile. soce wol. i. IT8 ref shy., and as to possible rlitiondtios that mar arise in the case whore torritory chaneres hand duriner w:ar. p. 33. infor.
(r) Še rol. i. 20)
must be regarded as ememies with respeet to such trade. The owners of the eargo thereupon appeated to the Prixy Council; where it was hedd, rexersing the decision of the Court below: that the national character of the owners had not been changed by the Russian oceupation, and that restitution must therefore be awarded with costs and damages against the captors.

Judgment. $\perp$ In the judgment of the Privy (iouncil, which was delivered by the Rt. Hon. Tr. Pemberton Leigh, the first question leall with was. whether the owners of the cargo were, in regard to that claim. to be considered as alien enemies. As to this it was laid down that the national charanter of a trader was determined for the purposes of the trade by the national character of the place where it was carried on. If war broke out. a foreign merchant had a reasonable time allowed him for transferting himself and his property to another country. Tf he did not avail himself of the opportunity, then he was to be treated, for the purposes of the trade as a subject of the Power under whose dominion he carried it on, and, of course, as an cnems of those with whom that Power was at war. Is to the cireumstances necessary to convert a friendly or neutral territory into enemy territory, it was not sultieient that the ferritory in question shond be oceupied by a hostile force and subjected during its ocerupation to the control of a hostile Power, unkess it was either be resesion on "onquest or some other means, permanomtly or temporarily ineoporated with and made part of the dominions of the innater al.

The rute that the mational waracter of a place was mot changend thy the fact that it was in the possemsion and fontrol of a hostate the courts of common law "c) : and the distinetion betwen a hostile onedpation and pensession rlothed with a hegal rioht he mesion be Lord stowntl in the man of The Bollefter 1 Edれ, に1. Thate and wher authorities somed to astablish the properition that the [^13]mere possession of a territory by an enemy's force did not of itself necessarily convert the territory so oceupied into hostile territory or its inhabitants into enemies. In the present case, having regard to the circumstances under which the occupation of Moldavia by Russia had been undertaken, continued, and ultimately hrought to an end, it seemed impossible to hold that Moldaria ever beeame a part of the dominions or its inhahitants subjects of Russia; for, otherwise, at what period could foreigners be said to have had notice of the charge of dominion, or an opportunity of changing their domicile, as required by the decision in the case of the F(tmá suprit). Nor had any act been done by the British (iovernment to change the national character of the provinces in relation to (ireat Britain.

With respecet to the question whether the ressel had not been guilty of a breach of blockade by coming out when the mouths of the Danube were in a state of notified blockade, it was laid down in effect, that inasmuch as the object of the blockade as officially -tatect was to prevent the import of prorisions for the use of the Russian forces. and inasmuch as Russia on her part had forbidden their export. the export in the present case was really in furtherance of the objects of the allies, and could not. having regard to these circumstances and the terms of the notification. be regarded as a breach of hockadd or as involving the vessel in liability to capture.

From this derision, as well at from other authoritice vefered 10 in the jumment, the view of the Englith Comme appearto be (1) That at temporary ocenpation of friendty or Britinh hersiwoy low cheny will not impart an chemy character to the temitn?
 bable to matime apmere of expme them to thme rivil and commerefal diabilities that attath to the eneme eha-

[^14]to carriage of contraband and trading with the chemey, it would
 were destined having heren meanwhile oerenped hy British foress will have the affert of atodine the offence; for the reatoll that in either cate it is exsemial to sumb that the gonds shoold ber baken whilst on a destination low the enemy's use ( $g$ ) . And the amme ruke would probably be applied in easos of blockade (h). But where territory hat been conquered and delinitely appoptiated, then both the roil and its imhabitats will be deemed, for all proposer, 10 ar:-

In so far at these pule imply that the permanent matimal eharacter of a place and its imhabitants camot be altered by military uecupations. or by anything short of defintive concues or wesion, they are quite in acoorl with established prineiples (he and are equaly reiatil to recombize that exen a temporary oreupation and control of home of fromdy fervory by an enemy will warant its beiner treated as hastile for commeretal as well as belligerent purposes, they Nor are they in areord with the Ameriman derisions on this suhgert The exigencies of war reguire that all formon's whith is under the antual eontrol of the memy shonk besulijerfet to the same restrictions tho latey have become persomally hostile. hat heamos hy their cited with appowsal in the Engli-h tex:-bonki ín). whilet fully 1 (: Rob. $100^{7}$ : afthomeh tha last af!nar- really for torm on the rule that whon a rosel salls on at roxater in a 111.

(f) Sice 11. K. 12 , , w \%.: allul that a reime rommitted hy a Fromelyman in beritory bormerine to station

 (1゙01. 心.10! -
( 1, ) |latl, itt?
(, , 11all, i)
(a) Titylar. bit
during war between that country and Great Britain been occupied by the latter, must be regarded as British and hence as enemy territory for atl the purposes of the war theu proceeding between (ireat Britain and the United States; and that the produce of estates onned there, even by a person resident in a neutral country, must, if still remaining in the hands of the owners of the soil, be treated as enemy propery and ac liable to mphere on the sea by the Linited Stato ( $p_{1}$. If an memy oremation of national or fremdy territory conters a howile chatacter, it woud seem to follow that a hational or friemdly ompation of ememy teritory must tree it from its enemy कharater. Xevertheres it was held in the case of The Circussian (2 Wall. 1;3) that the (apture and ocenpation by the Luted States foren of the eity and port of Now (ornans, which they had previonsly hedd moter howkale, did not have the affer of suspating its enems character or of teminating the blockale; and hence that a British resel which haul entered the port after the occmpation was still liable to condemmation $(q)$. This decision, however, afterwards becamo the subjert of a claim before the British and American Claims Commission, which made awards in favour of the claimants to the extent (f) S22.5,000 (r).

Gbarm. Nopse- Emem! Territory. - The question of what constitutes enomy territory is important. first, as determining the range of military and naval operations, and the legality of hostile (ap)tures, in so far at least as these are forbidden within nentral terions and waters. For this purpose enemy territory will include-(1) territory owned hw the enemy State, incluting all forritorial waters and attendant areas, as ateretainet be the prin-or held in uafruct by the encmy State, or included within the limits of its colomial protectorates $1 /$ ) : ( 8 ) territory ocmpiod and administered by the enemy State either permanently or for an indeffinte perion, even though the nominal onveremonty may remain in ( 11 ) See Srott, 59s; and Wheaton (bana), 121, 1 . The same rule has al-o berem applied in the ("nstoms caser; soott, (6.5), where it was hekl that an American port then orempiad hy the Siritish was to be regamed as British treritory for ('instoms purpeses, and homen that eronts imported during that time wew mot liahla to Smorican duty was hod mot to apply to grouls imforteral into flar laitind States from Wexidan territory, then in orcupation by the Luited States' forees, so as to exempt such goods from duties payable thereon as coming from a formign country.

(q) The reasom assigned was that the surrounding districte still pemained hostile and the orecupation subjeret to tho vicisitulos of war.
(f) See Moom, Int. . Ind. iv. 3911; lese the demaion was approved and followed in The $1 / l_{1 / \prime \prime}(176 \quad 1.8$. 3(3) ; : जre intion p. f0s.
(s) See wol. i. 105 of seq.
(t) Ibid. 112.
some other power (u); (4) territory held by the enemy State jointly with any other Power, provided the actual control and exercise of authority are rested in the former $(x)$; and, finally, (5) territory which, although otherwise friendly, has been temporarily occupied by, and is under the present control of, the enemy (y). In the sccond place, both in the British and other systems which adopt the criterion of domicile as a test of enemy character in war, the question of what constitutes nemy territory is, as we have seon, important as determining the commercial disabilities of persons domiciled there and the liability of their property to maritime capture. The nature of the rules applied in this connection have already been sufliciently indicated (z).

> THE EFFECT OF WAR ON TREATIES AND OTHER ENGAGEMENTG OF THE BELLIGERENTA.

THE SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL IN FOREIGN PARTS $r$. THE TOWN OF NEW HAVEN AND WHEELER.

[1823: 8 Wheat. 464.]
Case. The plaintiff Socicty was a British corporation, established by royal charter in 1702 for promoting certain religious ohject. In 1761 the Governor of New Hampshire had granted 10 the inhabhitant of that province a certain tract of land, which "as to he incorporated into a fown under the name of New Hasen, and to be divided into sixty-dight hases. of which one wan ermated to the plaintifi Societs. The tract in question was -ubsecuently divided amongst the grantees, and a portion assigued io the Sotiety. In 1791, after the Lmerican Revolution, the Legislature of the State of Vermont pased an Aet purporting to confiscate these and other lands gramed to the society, in favour of the townships in wheh ther wore mopectively sitmatel, and

SMel. i. 5.5. 11.5
 (10) the -ubjen Erneratly: (OpenInim. ii. s.5 in sor

So. tow, contrahand da-atuad line

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { : har anemy is to be rexarded an havine }
\end{aligned}
$$

af Lomdon, Irt- :30, 3.5: and p. 111 ,
i,...
further anthorizing the selectmen of each township to recover such lands and to lease them for school purposes. In 1800, by virtue of this law, the selectmen of New Haven exeruted a perpetual lease of a part of the Societys lands to the defendant Wheeler, who therempon entered on the lands and thereafter held posserssion of them: the socies having apparents made no attempt to assert its title until the commencenent of the presemt. proceedings.

By Art. 6 of the troaty of peace madn in 1783 between (rreat Britan and the Lnited States, it was provided, in reffect, that no comfiscation shoukt be made or proseention rommenced against. any person for having taken part in the war, and that no person should on that aeromet sulfer any loss or damage in person, liberty or propery: By Art. © of another treaty made in 1794 between the same parties, it was further provided that Briti-h subjectwho held lands in the United states shonld continue to hold the same areording to the nature of their requetive cotates and titles: and that with rexpect to such lands and all legal remodies ineident thereto neither they nor their heirs or assigns shond bre pegarded as aliens' $a$. $\ln 181{ }^{\circ}$, however, war again hrok out between the parties to these treaties; the war having been terminated by the 'lreaty of (ihent in 1814. The present suit was an action of "germment hought by the somety agamat theeder in respen of the lands lawed to him. It was originall! beremet in tho Veramont Cirenit Court: but the judere of that Cont beiner divided in opinions the guration was eertitiod. in the form the sumene: Conrt for ite opinion. It the harine it was contended intre alies on bedalf of the defendant. 1 that the Soricte, benge a foreign moporation, wa- incapable of holdinge land in Vommont and that it righto were not therefore peotected by the tratim of 17.as and 179日: '2, that. won if they were (ipeat lbritain and the Conited Statos was to put an mol to Howe

proment case contained no such reservation. The Court, howerer, by a majority, held that these objections rould not be sustaned, and that on the special verdict judgment must be entered for the plaintifl Society.

Judgment.] The opinion of the Court was delivered by Washington, J. In effect, it was held (1) that the capacity of private persons being British subjects, or of corporations ereated by the British Crown, to hold lands or other property in the United States, was not affected by the Revolution; ( $\dot{\sim}$ ) that the terms of Art. 6 of the Theaty of 178:3, which were unqualified and which purported to protect the rights of all persons on either side from forfeiture or confiscation by reason of any part which they might have taken in the war, extended to protect property of corporations "qually with that of natural persons: (3) that the title of the Society as thus protected, and as coufirmed by the Art. 9 of the Treaty of 1694 , conld not be forteited by any intermediate A.t of the Legislature of Vermont or other procecting for defect of alionage; and (4) that even if such treaties had been terminated, as was alleged, by the subsequent war of 1812 , and eren if the rights thereunder had not been revived by the Treaty of 1814 , this would not divest rights of propert. which had been alreadyacpuired moder them, any more than the repeal of a municipal baw would affere right. that had atready rested during its existencer. Now was the Court inctined to admit the doetrine which experesty or impliedty revived on the return of peate. Whaterer might be the latitude of doctrime lat down be writers on the law of mations, dealing with the subjo in eremeral toms, it was war womld pat an cond to them. But wher treatios contrmplatel a Permamont aramemment of twritorial or matmal righte -or were meant 10 prowide low the mont of war it would be agatnat every primeiphe of just interpetation 10 hold them extinguished he wat'. If sum were the law. then the 'Treaty of 1is:3, which hand fixed tha limit of the United statos and anknowdend therid independence. would be gone: and the struggle for both would have to be hegun again. The Court was therefore of opinion, that treatiox etipulating for permanent righto and gemeral arrangements. and proforing to alm at perpetuity. or to deal with the case of war ats well as of peater. did not cense on the orecurremen of war, but wew at most only suspender whilst it laveded and that such treation unless they were waiwed by the parties, or unters new and repuguant stipulations were made. revived in theit operat tion at the return of peare.

Diredly. this caw decilen that. from the prom of view of the Amerian Conts. private rights which have been acquired or continmed by treaty will not be tive-ted by subsennent war betwen the parties. Incidentally, it also emborlies a judicial declaration of the principe that treaties stipulating for promant right. or purporting to be perpetual, or contemplating a state of war, do not ceare on the occurrence of war. but are at int-t -n-pended whil- it lat-, and revive on the restoration of peace in default of bion-ly -nh-india botwen the belligerents are put an whe tw by war untw- mpandy metrel (e). The question whether at traty or stipulation wa intrudend to -t: up, a "permanent chate of thinge" must be judgend in the light of the herme of the reaty or sipulation. and the chenmstan"o of sath particular care. The montmerey alrealy dearibed. which arow hetween (ireat Britain and the Linted states alter the wat of 1812 ar 10 whether certain concessions mate to the later umber the previous treaty of $178: 3$ had or had not been aherogated

THE CASE OF THE RUSSO-DUTCH LOAN, 1854

[^15]a rentain loan which hand heen madn by Holland to Russia during the war. B : Commonton of the l9th Mas. 1815. embodying the tome of this artangemment it was agred between the contracting partion 11 . that the payments on the part of (ireat Britain shond wat and determine if the possonpass or be sexesen lrom the dominion of the King of the Netherlands: but that the whigation ol paymut should not be interrupted by the omtherak of war betwern any of the there contracting parties. On tho subserumbtratation of Belgium from Holland in 1s:3, (ireat Britain, concoiving that orn though released by the letier of the Convention she was still bound in equity to adhere to the chgagamont. combluded on the loth Norember, 18:31, anew Convention with Ruscia. wherely after reciting that the objent of the carlien (omention was, on the one hamd, to afford (ireat Britain al ertaramtere that libsia wond on all questions concening Belgimm itentify her polier with what (ireat Britain demed best for the mantemaner of the batane of power in Europe: and, on the other, 10 semen to Rassia the payment be (imat Britain of a pertion of how dobt to Holland (ireat Britain engaged, subject to the manemt of the British Parliament, to contime the parment- stipmatan in the Consention matil the debt had heren fully higmidatent.

The issue as raised in Parliament. ()n thr authrak of war between (ireat Britain and Ruwia in lait. a motion was made in Parlament to tho when that (ireat lisitain shoulal remonere her obligation to make an! lurther parmont. (on the eromm that

The farlim (imstation, it will be ceon, ammaned an exprose -tifulatom that performatore sould not be imtrrupted by war. It is mow major-ally reatenized that the whigatome of tratime

```
*- ther ri-ult .it tha w.a!
    , 11:11. 1:32
```

        , 1,i,... p. 1.i.
        i, 'rirlam. Nib!

new di-pmition math on the emeln-ion wi peata (i). Bencath this wotr ( $j$ ).

 elfort of war is to ahousto all treatios which are not in the nature that treation have bem athonatmat, and on the se-tomation of peane to |  | Ha1]. 3 \%! | 1111-10\% |  |

| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  |  |  |  |
| (i) |  |  |  |
| ( $1:$ : | lhill. iii. 74:3 - |  |  |
| (l) | lall, 3na, $\times$ \% |  | -1.. sul. i. 311. 3t1. | nation (p).

 in prantite. it is pobably safer to asomme it to be the gemaral rule, that tratin phovinsly -ubsisting between the belligerents are abromatol hos wat: aml wideave it to the parties to revive them either "xprels or implially on har reeteration of peace if they think fit.

 of tifles Bot this will wot apply tor rioht whioh cleaty dobt aml motain wint kind- uf prom tained in the treaty ot latis froworre brent Britain and Kowia. which proviled that the paymernt of intereet an

(1: Sine wol. i. 133. 1.53.

again mat be suspended by the oremrenere of war ( $x$ ) ; but for the rees, they will retain their validity, and their operation will revive on the restoration of peace without express renewal unless positively rescinded (!) But where war is resorted to as a means of compelling the fultilnent of a treaty, and especially where it arises out of a dispute as to the meaning of a treaty, it would seem that the freaty mat he demmed to have been anmulled by the war, unless revived hy express stipulation (z). (2) With respect to treaties to whish wher Powers that the helligerents are partim. these will not, in gremeral, be allerted hy the oubreak of war bet ween particular signatories. hot will continme himling as regurds other Powers, and will revive eren as betwern the behiperents themselves when the war romes to an emul. So the oreal law-making treaties, previously relerred to (a), remain maflerded by war between the parties (b). And even where sum treatios are subject to dennmation, it is frequently stipulaterl that they hall remain obligatory for a fear from the time at whink the notice of demmenation is given: which would ortinarily sere ${ }^{\text {w }}$ prevent then from heing denouned in antieipation of war $(c)$. The ereat international settlements ( $d$ ) are also unallected by war betwern partionar signaturies: and even if the war should arise urer wone matter contained in the treaty it would seem-in so fiar as the mattor 'an be said to he governed by legal rules-that no new arramoment an strienly be made withont the consent of the other signatories, ahhoush this is frequently disregarded in practice (e). Novertheless, where a treaty of this character imposes obligations of an active kind, it is recogrized that the discharge of surh obligutions may be temporarily suspended by the existence of a state of war hetween the parties or some of the fact that an abice futthment of the freaty obligation- mioht be ineonsistont with the requirement: of solt-preservathen as re-(o: Is where the muni-ipal baw or policy predtude- amemy whomes from availing themselves of sach right- durine the continnane of war.
 Turkey inued a motitiontion that Italiani subjects worled bul lumere for entitled to tho bernetit of the apitulation*. which, in the rimbuntame and bern warmatable, at :any man. durime ther enotimanmer of the war.

 preatution of expro.. remmal is - - m.

(:) Mall. 39:3.
(i1) Sire rol. i. 111 .
(b) Dlany of the comsuminn- tramed intonded to apry ta : -tate ill war:

(e) Sise the (inneva l'onvention, 1906, Irt. 33.
(d) sime rol. i. 11.
(6) Wh the "ondlasion of the Rasen-Turki-h war in 1878 the re-settlement of the sariou- iswas under earlier -aflement of lisis was submitted to the Comerowe of Berlim. which was attombed he all the partien to the Prably of Paris, lo.sti. haly takiner the flace if sumlinia: - wor. i. 12. But the : amesation of Pownia and Iter\%- abromation of the Alemera- Comen-gramb the P'umer imblumb in the wat. surls. for cexample, wonld lave Eategry of the ()thonam Empire to which she was a paty under hhair ver matum dopendent on a monimuance of friendly relations.

 W゙: (f)
 - Heatroment may exit rither with other states, or with individuals

 "ithom a remadiation of the deht or a serpuestration of prineipal or in-

-hall in "Went uf war hore arguret mated indiviluml havine emblidomen in eat h paired wh atronmet of matimat dillor-

 (1) Wrotrals, actan=t whom the pleat uf principal erodinor womld，in visw of the same considerations，not be aflected be the outheak of war beamen the debtor state and one or there woukd w－wally be ath axpress stipulation against any ammalment of the ohligation ha wat．hat eren in dramath of this the tremd of modern practice：／apporas to sammion the viow that suth an mately，would be jusifich in suspending payment of interest ar pria－ vented by the limatial strain imposind by phe wat from fulfilme

THE EFFECTS (OF H AR ON L.H: FORMS OF

$$
11.1 R-L .1 H
$$

MARAIS $\because$ ．THE GENERAL OFFICER COMMANDING THE LINES OF COMMUNICATION，AND THE ATTORNEY． GENERAL OF CAPE COLONY：lir purteD．F．MARAIS．

[^16]of matial law promionsly ismed. Ho was thereupon momen to military "prations: hat both were whthin the area of the proclamation of matial law in pursuanen of which the requlations that all persone manling in Cape Colomy, who. in distriets where martial law prevailed, were found actively in arms against the King. or incited othors to take up arms, or actively aided tho enemy, or committed acts endangering the safety of His Majestrs forcrs or subjects. would on arrest be tried br a military 1 wurt, and on muvition be liahle to certain penalties: and, further. that any yerson reasonably suspected of any such offence would be liable to be arrested without warrant, and to be rent out. "f the diel rict. or to be dealt with hr a military Court. On the "th Shember. Marais, who was still in custody. presented a Intition for roben to the Supreme Conrt of Cape Colons. on the aromud that his armat and detention were illegal. This petition was rafnom on the gromml that matial law had been prodaimed: that the (imat conld but inquire inte the beensity of the proHanation: and that inamuth as the prisomer was in the cmstody Judgment. In the jultement of the Judicial (ommitter, whim that whan ant of war worn in ghation the military tribmak

the petitioner. the onlt one whith was suswptible of argument was that whith athered that inamum as the eivil (ourts were still open the wathisherd pule an the the axdmeso amthority of mattial baw dial mot apply. But in the present (aste theme was sulficient widence that war was in lact rageng. Mart ial haw had been prodaimed hoth in the districe in whith Marais had been arrested, and in that to whinh hard harn remowed. With respect to the existene of a stato of war and the eonsergent legality of martial law, the farl that the wit fourts wern sitting for some purgose was not wombluan that war was mot raginge. It had been that a municipal ("ome hat mo juricdiction to mdindiate on a seizure of property made in time wf wir. And no doubt exar existed that whom war admally promiled. the ordimary (ourts had no juristiction one the ation of the military anthoritios. Cases of ditheulty might arise as whe wher there was a state of wall or not: but whell the lan of war wa- wathished there was jurisdiction over militars ation.
 baw. vet server to illw-ate the efterte of war wemerally on the ordinary lan and on the ondinaty leagal righte of imdivituats. whether persons and propme. whi hare mot "momiomble in a state of "premanation of marial haw" The Then finmem in Marais" (ave decide in mine it hat what a sath of wat abmatly peraik. the grmation of the methany haw will he domened to ho sumpended la mantial law in all that relates to the war: (2) that

| Soe llammal of Military Lam |
| :---: |
|  |
|  |
| lusidity oi' mastial lan dome mut |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
| froblamation is. in italf. unly a mot |

tic:ation of the existrmere ot surh astate: of thiner and of the fact that the exopromittol by flo dommon law : *

 -triv law hut tor which it is propend 14 uhtain a parliammentary imfontity.

 and (is) that undor the bimeli-h syem the test of the lemality of matial las and of promedimg theremater in mot whether the rivil sufar wr hase tomeded ondy on the appliation of matial law in the home state and h the terntorial Power. But a matial haw.

 !n'wnatimal "pinion

 - M-y

|  |  |
| :---: | :---: |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  | 11). 11

111

 111.". 117:3. 111 ill. 11 .... 1.
(i) Vad smatims ahon for the fourpore of pmovidin! ampunation to
 (:
 (agne (oblony in 1900 and latne: and in Xatal in 1900. 1901, and 19045.
of "martial law" and what may be ailled "military law;" meaning thereby that special hom of mos which earh state provides for the governance of its ammed forese ( 1 . But "military law" hat nu intermational significam", exept in su far as, between the rignatories of the Hagur ('mmemtion, No. $t$ of 1907 . it is required to conform to the regulations amexed to that Convention (m).

Geveral Notes. The Effect of Har on the Legal Rights and Relations of Indicieduls. - The outhreak of war affects not only the legal relations of states. but in sume measure also the legal righto and relations of indivifuals. Its more important effects, in this comection, are as follows:- (1) It suppembs, in all that pertains to the conduct of hostilities and subject to the limitations impored by custom and convention, the operation of the ordinary law and the applicaney of rights themender, in favour of certain forms of war law. (2) It was fomerly held to confer, and ahthough now restricted be policy and usage it still conters in ase of nececity a right on the part of a belligeremt to expel from teritory hetonging to or occupied by him both enmy suljects and onthers whow presence he may deen inimical to his safey ( $n$ ) (3) It was formerly held 10 confer, and, within the limits desmibed hereafter. it still confers. on each belligerent a riglat to sequestrato or contisate certain kind of enemy property found within his teritory (t) It conter- a right of capture over enemy properts found on the sea amb mot protected by the neutral flas: and aton wer nentral property embarked in undertaking whide a hopligernt is entitled to restrain.
 varies greatly in differnit syatems. ley a pontilition of commer fat interconser between the subjento of the remertive belligerent: which again involves wher a - Hopromion or an athogation of existing obligations, as well ats an intordintion of subsequent deatinge no already touched on: wheme will be considemed hereater. For the moment we are only comerned with the afforn of wat in suapenting.
 foms of what. in defalt of a mot appropriate tem, we may call war law.

Fimls of Lam apulied in Wir.--The conduct of war between two or more states, and the exreptimal ennlitions to which it gives rive.
 firs place, the member of the armed foress on oither side are suhtfect to their own military law: ahtmoth hi- appliok aton in time of
(1) Sice Manual of Military Law. 1

( $\quad$ I.L.
 Sir. 14 of 1907. Irt. 20.

 wf [":

 "ithe: in the honn teritory a between the teritorial Power and the fant $\cdots$. aml whith impun conditions and restriction- 10 which :meln hatial lan and military law are required to conform.

Mntinl Lom in. the Home Tewitory.-Martial law, despite the namí. i- not - tictly a form of law, but an extra-legal state or conditmat maler which the or linary law amb ordinary rights are replacerl, - fiat a- public defence are ne-sity may require, by the action of Whinamion aml rexularity. it- arministration is usnally deputed

 "i fathlal law the thomt of which have alorearly been described. Whtal law in thi- apow i- mainly a matter of immatipal concern.

 -

[^17]law, in thi sense, hats bean described as being " neither more nor less than the will of the general who commands the army "(i); the mere presence of an insading army mommting to notice that it will be brought into force. Nevertheless, a commander who enforees martial law unght, sin in powihle, th lay down distinctly the regulations under and limits within which it will be carried out; whilst all pmishments inflicted therecunder ought to be inflicted only after enuquiry and sentence by a military court. Such requlations mut in their details neecestanty depent largely on local conditions and needs, and especially on whether the territory in yut-ion is under actual occupation or uot. But in any case they must not conflict with the latwi and urases of war. as aceertained ber custom and convention. Sulject to these conditions, martial law of this kind will apply equally to all frersons found within its range, irrespertive of their mationality (s). The exercion of such martial authority will come to an end on the temination of hostilities ( $t$ ).

The Lanes and Customs of Whar.-The laws and customs of war comprise a bodr of rules originating in custom, but now for the mont part embodied in international conventions (ii). These purport to requlate the conduct of war both he land and sea. As regards land watare, ther prescribe the qualifations of belligerents, regulate the methots of conducting hotilities, preswibe rule as to the treatment of prisoners of war and the sick and whmode requlate the seizure of property and the treatment of the civil population, define the rights and recponsibilities incilent to militury occupation, and regulate also the non-hostile relations of the helligerents. As regards sea warfare, ther cover much the same ground, hasing regard to the different conditions inmoleal: athomoh in this vase with much greater attention to the richts and duties of nentrals. inth these brunches of the laws of war will eome under consideration hereafter $(x)$.
(iq) This was said lyy tik Duke of Wellineton in the Homen of lame: … !tansard, 3ral suras. (xy (al): ated Holland. Way on Laml. It.
*) lut as to the diphomeriw umbts of neutral lowers, she wil. i. .3m: and - to the proition of neut al whinat in tuhtion to the invalur, wol. i. 2lt, and

(f) (hat the subject menemally, see Ho!tand. Wirr on: Limd, 11-16.
$l$ ? 1 ?

ENEMY PERSONS AND PROPERTY FOUND WITHIN THE TERRTTORT OF A BELLIGERENT AFTER THE OLTBRE. $1 /$ OF WAR.   BROWN $\because$. THE UNITED STATES.

   BROWN $\because$. THE UNITED STATES.}

```
|1s14: 8 Cranch. 110: Scott, 486.]
```

Case. This was a suit relating to a cargo of timber belonging to Britioh subjects, which had been originally shipped on board an Incrican ressel for transport from the United States to Encland. The departure of the ressel was first delayed by an embargo, and next by the outbreak of war between Great Britain and the Cnited States ' $a$. Thereafter the timber was unloaded and deposited in a narigable creek ( $b$. under the eustody of the owner of the ressel. Subsequently the agents of the owners of the timber purported to sell it to the plaintiff. who was an - Amerian atizen; but proceedings were taken by the United Status authorities at the instance of the owners of the ressel, to procure its condemnation as enemy property found within the jurisuction of the Linted states after the commeneement of hostilitics. and hence as liable to condemmation as prize of war. In lhe I)itrict (ourt rondemnation was refused; on appeal to the "irmit Court this iutguent was reversed; whilst on appeal to the - 'igmon ('ond it was hald that the property was not in the cir(onmetanem liafle to contionation, and a decree of restitution was acordingly mate.

Judgment. In the fulement of the (ourt ". whim was dulivem! ly Mamball. (..J.: the matrial puestion was stated to be whether the timher. and arominge that the property in it had
 as frize of war. 'Th mo hing nothing either in the eircumstaner

^18 From which. however, a mino rity of the Court. ineludine stury . I diseunted.
of the case or in the local situation of the timber to distinguish this from any other British property found on land after the commencement of hostilities, the question would be treated as governed by the same general rule.

With respect to the power to seize such property, it was conceded that war gare to the Sorereign full right to take the persons, and to confiscate the property of the enemy, wherever found. The mitigations of this rigid rule which the humane policy of modern times had introduced in practice might affect the exercise of this right but could not impair the right itsolf ( $d$ ). Hener, if the sovereign authority chose to bring that rule into operation, then the judicial department must give effect to it; but until that will was so expressed the Courts had no power to condemn. The questions to be decided. then, were: (1) Could enemy property found on land at the commencement of hostilities be seized and condemned as a necessary consequence of a declaration of war? (D) If not, was there, in the present case, any legislative . Ict that authorized such seizure and condemnation?

With respect to the effect of a declaration of war, the now universal practice of forbearing to seize debts and credits and the recognition of their revival on the restoration of peace seemed to show that war did not in itself work a confiseation, but merely conferred a right of confiscation. Betwern debts contracted on the faith of the territorial law anl proprty acquired in trade on the faith of the same law ther did not appear to be any rational distinetion. Such mitigations in praction. howewer, did not affect the esential yuestion, when her the declaration of war itself caused enemy property within the juristiction to rest in the Sovereign without more: or whether it merely gase a right of confiseation, the exercise of which depmuled on som further manifestation of the national will. After a mencw of the principal whiters on the jus belli. the Con't anm to the som lusion that the modern rule was that tancible propets holonging to an anems and found in the comitre at the wommerment of war ought not to be immediately conliseatiol. Ahmat arery commerial treaty moreores. contained stipulations fon the richle to witheraw such property.

[^19]This apmeaned to he incompatible with the idea that war in itself rested such property in the belligurent government. Hence. it might be emsidered as the opinion of all who had written on the jow belli that. ahthomgh war gate a right to confiscate, it did not in itself operate as a conliscation of the property of an enemy.

Procerding then to consider the matter from the point of view of the Constitution of the linited states, it was pointed out that in expounding that Constitution a construction ought not lightly to be admithet. which would give to the outbreak of war an efiect in the Laited states which it would not have elsewhere, or which would fetter the (fovernment in applying to the eneme the same rule that ho applied to citizens of the United States. Both the provision- of the Constitution and other laws bearing on the subject appeared to be in conformity with the general rate previously indicated. The question of confiscation, then, was one to be detwmind by lewishate department, which could modify the law at will, rather than by the executive and the judiciarr. which had 10) follow the law ans was: and in the present case there was no Act whith went to show that Congress had. in fact. directed the (ondination of enems property found within the jurisdiction at the: commentement of the war.

Directly, thi wat derilo- now than that enemy propery tomen on land within whe [niend states after the euthereak of wat amme low condemmed without a tegi-hative enacment antho-rizins- -mh confination : and that the mere act of the Leorisdemally. mu doubt. it was ruled (1) that. aterorting to the law of batima a- immpreted hy the Comp the matheak of war between at anty rate as requrle personc havine men military or other status -pecially comanetime them with the war hy at lome entree of but which in anty case couhl mot he vinhated without entaiting ment of modern time ${ }^{*}$ : as a right. in fact. Which does non entur by the soreseign athotity and dewiged to meet some propptimat situation (i).

The Enotish law on this subjoe appeas in the main-and motwithetanding some coniliot of athomity and some -percial enatmenteretionary puwey in the matter womlal mole! the Briti-l| -r-tom

 B, frı.
(4) It any ratto as interpmotal hs reprival.

(i) š, l’hill. iii. 1: !1).

Inttor mun Wit abl dintralits.

[^20]"xaphimal a- In In thin- form the Briti-h-American view will nut, a we -hall -re. he formal to differ greatly in its practical faults from the nominally more liberal view adopted by European jurist= ("): private property enjoying under but systems a virtual immunity from confiscation.

WOLFF r. OXHOLM.

```
M17: % \1. & 4. 92.]
```

Case. The plaintiff was a naturalized British subject. resident and carrying on business in England in partnership with others. The defendant, a Danish subject resident in Denmark, was in 1-10). indebted to the former in the sum of 2.101l. is. Sd. I -nit to recover the debt was afterwards instituted in Denmark; the proceedings being conducted in the name of an assignee of the batintifl. ant the defendant also instituting a cross suit. In 1505. whilst these suits were pearling: war broke ont between (i seat Britain and Demark. In August, Baht, an ordinance good- money and money worth. of or belonging to English perms whop mandrel to transmit an areoment of the debts dur io British -heats. of whateomer nature and lo bay the whole of man anoles into the Danish treasury. mulder pain the an ion.

[^21], Nothotrh this wis bot till 1412. and then at a rate of exchange much blown that resent at the time of pratwent.

Judgment. In the juldment. which was delivered by Lord Ellentorough. (G.J., it was peintwh out that the Danish ordinance stood single and alome: and that it was not supportod by any precedent nor adoped as an example in any other state. The ordinance itself did not appear to have bern followed up by any measure of compulxion: and although the ('ommissioner had notice of the debt as early as $180 \%$ the moner was not paid until $181 \cdot$. On a review of the older athorities it appeared that the right of confiscating debts contemded for on the authority of Vattel was not recognized by (irotius and was altogether impugned ber Pulfendorf and other writers: that such confiscation was not general at any time; and that no instance of it, except the ordinance in question, was to be found for more than a century. Under these circumstances, the julgment of the Court would be prement of mischicf to future times if it did not dectare that the ordinance and payment under it furnished no defence to the present action, cither in themselves or by aid of the proeecdings in the Danish Court. The part ins wont to that Court expecting justice under the existing law. and were not bound by the quashing of their suit in conseppeme of a subacquent ordinance. Which was not conformable to the wean of mations, and which mether they nor the present Court were bound to regrard.

This decision reve herally on the erround that the contionation a volation of the haw of mations: and that the pmomedings founded theren in the Janith ('ant- were mot theremere binding is ('anch. 110 ant and the wi-h apperad that the Conte maty, Martin's N. Carolime Rep. 83: Sont. 181, where the view is taken that the lecriskative exoneration of a debtor in such a fac wnly has tha, effert of destreying the beal remedy for the dubt, lut does not affect the debt iteclf, which may, when rircumstaners allow. low still sued for and enforced in for(ign contr:

(h) Wintlake, ii. 44.
erroneous, $f:=$ that the ronclu-iuns deduced from the writing- of the phali-i- are not, in tart, warmatahle: and that the high autho-uf Whish if in upised that if the car were ow present itself further - lownoter that it wat wrong to penalize a foreigner for due wal atmally pail. amd was pat mader eompulsion and withomt enmal pmpmory louml within the jurisdirtion. cren though thes the Fharli-l Jaw sill remgnize- an ultimate rimht of confiscation gramm wi !rineiple dehte me intancihle projerty shoukl lee ex-th reframot tho male that. © forr. ohtatins in English law: whilst it-an oppormmity "f exterding in law to other forms of private popmaty of an imment character that immunty from eonfi-cation whin ther vintually enjoy in practice.

 the - uhber- of whe helligerent who were fomm within the temitory of the whet. wh at ator the omtheak of war. Were liahle to -rizure gave rice to an intematmal waye. whim in time berame an obli-lished itaeli in the (e) mate of the 1 sith contury (m). By virtue of of the other un the omberak of war were allowed to depart freoly within a perion samballs suflion for the arrangement of their may still he taken abomater if in thoer (anes where the later and (ii.) The Risht tw hemein. Abenty in the lsthentury however,

[^22]

 Thi was at tiest pombaty rather manatel than conmeded. abthough (ipal law ow, In the inmeand intoremme of mulern lifo and

(om) - Mlthourh treation sili ront timed, "probably for the ake of areater sedurity: or summins witla vinw to an entarammat of the riaht.
(ia) As tu per-ons !xdmainge to the divilual- moturning for military -r.

 sam:ant this.

 dram:

Tavłor. 16i: Weotlakr, ii. 12
(1) I in the whiolial dw•larationmeal big the liriti-h dovermment aheröt wit wat with l"ratmo amd Apain maturtisule: raformal to in Taylar.

1. h,y :t frats ai T-4.5. man? hotworn! lipat liritaita ami the lanital で!
 17!! .

In the w:ar wi luit. la:-ian in limeat liritain amd Pranow. In then W:11. af 1-herome whimator: whilt in any ave it is subject to qualification where the expulion of enemy subjects. whether as individuals or an a class. is deemed nemesary from the standpoint of public policy If military necesity. Where enemy subjects are allowed to remain, it would seem to follow that they are free from those civil disabilitipe which commonly attach to alien enemies under the municipal law (u): althongh they are subject to such regulations, including regitration, as may be prescribed in that behalf, and to the same reatriction as reguls trading with the enemy as may attach to other Enemy Property-- i. Public I'roperty.--Property belonging to the unemy ritae, which a belligerent find within his jurisdiction at of atter the mutheak of war. and which is not protected by some sperial immunity $x$, iv liable to seizure. So public resels. arms, monition of war and smplies, railway plant and the like together with money aur realizahle securities. belonging to the enemy State, may he lawlully ofizel. Land is ravely the sulject of ownership by a foreign state, save perhaps for diphomatic and consular residences whin wonld in any wate he exempt: hut if land were so owned, then it womld ahon appear to he equally hable to apprepriation (y.

ii. P'rirate Property of lmmediate lae in IFar.-Property Whonging to enemy -uhject which in of a kind likely to he of fimnediate use in war, and which is found within the jurisdiction at on atter the outheak of hostilities is also liable to seizure: ahbough, on the analogy of the rule now governing the treatment of -imilar property in lustile territore it seems that the seizure would mow be -uhfect in an ohligation of rectitution or indemmity for the retmon of pearen). Thi right would also extend to at first allowed to remain in Prance or long as they furnished no er ruand tow womplaint, ahthonsh for new adtanions express fermision was reGuired: whilat. walserguently. all enemy - bhgentr were requised to withdraw IE, the the department of the seine. thi- porandine beine jutifiod be mili-
 (a) the cutherak uf war with birwes.

 rath war of 1-! "Sprocky anthoriatel t" fomain in the Initul stathe. : Athomeh ahmoni-hed
 In the somath Afriman war of Is䗉.
 tran the thritarion uf the twor raula-

East, although allowed to remain in other parts; but Russian subjects were allowed to remain in Japan on condition of recistration.
(ui) Athough this is not altogether dear in Engrish law: see p. 90. infin.
(i.) See p. 24, sum, ; and. :n the -ubject ernerally. Mall. 357 , t siry, and Westlake, ii. 41 et soy.
(v) Šubl! as delte due hy unt state an to (other caser of immmaty. I' 111, quation of dedote. ithil. El: :athourh the right of aprenpriation womd met. it is conerisod. ajply where al billiarerent was mopely in military orrapation: as to which. sw Hall, H1., + $\cdots \neq$ and Phill. iii. -17.

$$
\text { Lin H. R. . } 3 \text { : and Latifi. } 11
$$

enemy merchan: vasish where ronstruction indiated that they were intented to he comberted inte ships of war (a).
(iii.) Priate Propert!! of other Kimds. The treatment of other kinds of enemy property that may be found in a like simation hat been the subject of different urager at different times, and is still the subject of a marked ditterence of opinion. Looking, first. to the practice of state one may probably say that down to the 16 th century all private property of whatever Kind having an eneny character and found by a belligerent within his own territory was subject to confiscation. After this, however, we notice a gradual relasation of the earlier practice, dictated, no doubt, by a perception of common interent. As regaris land, sequestration was gradually substituted for contisation: whilst as requals moveable property. the practice of contixation wat ereatly mitigated, tirst, by the bestowal on enemy subjects, either by treaty or municipal law, of a right of withdrawal, which was invariably coupled with a right to remove or dispoe of their property, and next, ly the formation of a usage to that effect apart irom treaty. Nevertheless, down to the and of the 18th century intan ee of the emationtion of mover able property, ocon in a varinty of cate not ceserel hy meaty b But as the more theral prati:e of allowing enemy suljecte to remain during gond hehavione grew in atrengh, this necescarily farmend an immmity from intermone whith their menery wh the parm of -uch as remained: whilet a like immmity cond satedy be refura! to non-residents, whe wern las a sume of danger than resident enemios ic). So ultimately all private properts, not being of : noxious kind. cane to enjoy a rirtual inmmity from contiecation:

 vessels fomm in a behligerent port at the contheak of war remained when the Danish (invermment issued the ondinances alrealy reforme to. sequestrating and ultimately montiantine the properte of British subjects foum in bommak: a pmonentinge hownerr. which was reall?

[^23]

 Thi- in the viow wommonly atoped le mo- Eumpean writers. But 11 |monent. a* hoing implicitly suhjer to such qualifications as -nhion in -uth qualifications as may he imposed by the require-the wher view, ware althmerth it dowe not of iteolf work a confiscation

 Thi may low ald io moment gromatly the Anglo-tmeriean riew, IWon as at mater of munipat late and as an interpretation of interatre in oxeptional mate. The difference in eliect, then. between hra two riew- does not appear to be very great. One recornizes - xampion a whigatury save in canes of necesity or emereency:

 - moral polim of exmption. In their practical application each womblymaty sathetin the confiscation of private property in

> THE EFFE'T OF THR ON OOMLERCILI RELATIONS.
i, ENISTR(: TRANEACTIONS.

JANSON r. DRIEFONTEIN CONSOLIDATED MINES, LTD.
1902: . ${ }^{(3.154 .}$

It was format. wh thernimon
 - 小.
 -. \amaton ct...... Thie womld have 4!. !atith tacumbunt: … Parl.

[^24]

 was seized during its tmanst hey then (iownmome of the south Ifrican Romblic. It wandmition that at the time of the seizure War was imminent: and that on the 1hth October war in fact. broke out betwen (ipent. Britain and the Repuhlic. Sulsequently, hut before the war hat come to an end, the empany wommened an action on the poliey: the defment having agred not to set up) the phas of atimemen, which would otherwine hase debarred the combant from -uing in a Pritish Come during the war ' $a$. The adton was mighalle hemeht hefore Mathew. J . 1900. ? Q. B. $335!$. who hath that thw defendant was liable: and this decision was allimmi he the ('ume of Aperal 1991.2 K. B. 419. On appeal to the Homen of Lomeds it was held that inasmuch as the insuranew hat hean offown and the lose incurvel before madn in contemplation of war. :mb in ordor to ase the grold in -upport of the war.

 inamuch as the polios in quation wan memed into and the bos to the fact that an alien enemy could not sue thereon during the war in the Court: of cither countr?'; but the rights under it were unaftected. and when the war was over the remedy in the Courts of either country was restored. The carlier writers on international law used to contend that a publie declaration of war was esential: liut this was not the existing riew. At the same time it was essemtial that the hostility should be the aet of the nation which made the war. No amount of "strained relations" would affect the subjects of cither country in their commercial relations or other transactions. Trading with the "King's enemies" was, of course, illegal; and so was an undertaking by contruet to indemnify" "the King's enemies " against loss inflicted by the King's forces; but the words "King's enemies" were an essential clement in the proposition, and to substitute the words " aliens who might become the King's enemies " would be to introduce an altogether new prineiple. Moreover, even if it were now competent to a Court to consider the question whether a contract such as the present was contrary to public policy, it would seem that the answer should be in the negative. To hold that such contract were affected by the mere imminence of war would be to preseribe a test, which would he at once difficult in its application and extremel! harmful in its consequences on the free commercial intercourse between nations.

Lord Dater, in his judgment, said that three rules had been entablished under the common law. The first was that the Finge: subjents muld not trade with an alien enemy without the King: lienner. Erery contract made in violation of this principle was wid. and somels which were the subject of such a contract wern liathe th contismation. The secome was a corollare of the first. hut

 1han anm of hiv lowne ant woukd, theretome be detrimemtal to

the prome daiminge on the police wan a nemtal on al Britioh subject，so long as tha insuran＂was on hathalf of an ation＂nemy． The third rula was that il a low ham taken plame bofore the com－ surance was susperfed during the continname of war，but revived on the restoration of peate．In the present case．this third rule would have constituted a defenee to the present artion：but it had been wated by agrerment．Ite had some donht as to whether it was competent to the parite to take this rourser for the reason that the objection b：was hard on womberations of puldic polies， and the（onerts would therefore be Fonend to take notiee of the companys inahility to ctu．But peace having now horn estah－ lished，Lae did not desite to make thio peint a aremend of jutement． As regards each of then ruts．howerer．the time when the rute came into operation was the artalal combenement of howilitios． The attempt to extend therir operation to a（ase where wat had not occurred．but was mosty imminome，appearal to be wholly unsupported by anthority．Suchan extmeion would tend to intwr ference with lawful contrats and commeremal pursuits．Nor could the（ourts well deride a gumion an top whe the war was imminent or not． where，anomest other thing－it wa－laid hwo ：hat ome of the imme－ लカセーロy． tions and the qumetion of tradn dumi－ cila are：aloy tou had an in the inlontent ut Land lindity：

1．21：
That i－．dwininilnd in the

The more impmant applimions of thic sule in English Jaw are －hmely them：i i．（＇matratson other tramsartions duly entered into bume flw war bumem bersum who，whaterer their mationality， are divided bo the line of ware are in general，merely smpended during the wits as requals the right 10 performance and the right

1）if has anme to tha aid of the remy e）ore（2）if they camot be carmid ont withom involvang some dealing with the enemy if）；
 （ii．On the whem haml．tramamions which are entered intu after the （whmmenement of the war：and hetween persons divided by the line of war whether in the hather of tradine renture proper（i）or （antrath of ans whor kind the are in gemeral illegal and wid： ＂hial－t the samm＂invalidity will attarh to eontracts whith，even thongh mon matn with alien enemies，are yet in furtherance of such illegal trate of interourso（l）．Bat the rate prohibiting commercial inter－ （an）－e will mot apply where the transaction in question is entered into botweon perions who．although otherwise enemies，are not in fand divided les the line of wan（ $m$ ）．Nor does it apply to transac－ tions which are－pecially privilened or excepted：such ar licensed nonde and rontracts imedental thereto（n）．or contracts for necer－ －10my（o）．

With rapert to existinge tranactions and relations．the primary

 Homir lowat ofthe and．in－trin law，as 10 all rights of suit thereon，
 1：3 Vé．T1，where an applieation was made on helaif of eertain

```
i i?).
```

```
1., (i)+).
```

```
i丁,
```

```
(1) Pulis v. larll (imfi=, p. 7T).
```

```
(1) Pulis v. larll (imfi=, p. 7T).
```

```
p.こ心
```

```
p.こ心
```

```
1. Sll
```

```
1. Sll
```

```
1. :2.
```

```
1. :2.
```

> 2) Abrogition.
> a) As in Lire of Enemy.

FURTADO r. ROGERS.

1802: 3 Bos. A P'. 191.]
Case.] In 179: an insurance was offected by the plaintilf with the defendant, as representing an English company, on a French vessel, the "Petronelli," on a vorage firm Bayome to Martinique. In 1793 war broke out between (ireat Britain and France, in the course of which Martinique. With all the shipping in its ports, including the "Petronclli," was caphured by the British, and the ressel condemned as enemy property. After the conclusion of the war the plaintiff brought an artion to perorer the amount of the insurance on the ressel. In the result, it was held that such a contract was at common law abrogated hewar, on the ground that it involsed an indemnity to an enemy owner for the capture of his property by the State of the insurow, which was in onsistent with the very objects of the war.

Judgment.] In the judgment of the ('ourt of C'ommon Pleas. which was delisered by Lord Ahanloy. ('.) ., it was pointed ont that it was not compeotent to is sulbiet to moter into a "ontrast. 10 do unything which wonld he derrimental to the internets of his
 a if it had been expensty forbidem be lat of larliament. It was admitted that if a man montramel to do a thinge which was afterwards prohibited hy Aet of Parlimmont, he was not bound by his contract ' $t$ '. (On the sam primethe. whem hostilities hroke wat betwern the comity of the in-mer ame that of the asement.

fromonere: "and a part of a pasage from Valin, who. referring to the previons English practice of permitting such insurances. said that " the conserumen was that one part of the nation restored to us hy the effect of insurance what the other took from us by the rights of war." Hence the Courl was of opmion that the insurance of enems property was illeqal at common law: and. if this were so. then the fact of the contract haring been entered into prior to the war would be of no avail. for the reason that it was cyually injurious to the interests of the country. If such a contrat were uphed. a foreigner might, prior to the war. insure arain-t all risk of the war. And eren though the indemmity might only be paid after the war. ret the enems would be little injured he capture for which he was sure at some time or other. to beremid by the underwriter. Such contracts were therefore illegal for the same reason that commercial intercourse with the themy was illegal berane ther were inconsistent with the rery oljent- of war. Hence. if aritish subject insurd aominst. captures, the law would infor an exeption as regards British capture: whilst. if he expressly insured against such captures. the contrant would the roid at) inctio.

 doult. Wan -rt at mest Jy the prexent decision. Which makes it clear that subh in-ntancers: whenesver entered into. are roid as contrary (1) fublic pulicy, h. Aml the sume principle would apply to other montact- or fran-aminns that trmil to the assistance or fle aid of

```
1'. I: 2:'
    `, li, i.. \. \, i,.. `'rim!:
```

pratitere with respert to matamane. Philhipon, Effect of W゙aron ('ontract -7-1 :
 (i.50).

b) As Incafable of Suspension.

GRISWOLD $v$. WADDINGTON.

[1b18; 16 .Johnson's Rep. 438 ; Seott, 504.]
Case. Prior to the outbrak of war between (ireat Britain and the United States. in 181: , a commereial partnership had subsisted between Joshaa Waddington, an American "itizen residing in New lork, and Henry Waddington, a British subject residing in London. During the war eertain busimess transactions oceured butween Joshat Waddington and N. L. © (i. (iriswold. After the war procededings were taken by the later to recover a balanes of account alleged to be dhe to them in respeet of these transactions, for which it was sought to make Homy Waddington, the Englisl partner, liable. In the ('ourt below judgment passed for the defendant: and on appeal to the (ourt of Errors, this judgment was allimed on the gromed that the partnership between Johlaa and Hemry Waddington had beem dissolved by war.

Judgment.] In giving judgment, Kint, ('l., pointed out that the dectaration of war of itself worked a disolution of all commer"ial partnerships cxisting at the time hetween British subjects and Inerican citizens: and further that hy dealing with either party a private enotract biadine upon the other. Than hamed judge

 natum and when of commowial partnexhige. it was entrary continue after the pratic- had been interdicted from all communication with each other, and placed in a state of absolute hortility to each other. for there could no longer be that unity of interest or that lawful common aim which was essential to partnership. 'The commerce carricd on by one partner must. in a maritime war, neces-arily contribute to the resources and efforts of hi- country: and. in such circumstances, to allow the other partner to drats arerenue trom operations subversive of his own country - interests. wouk result in a complete confounding of the obligations arising from the law of partnership and the law of war. Nor could the prartnersip be abridged during the war to business that was harmless. without destroring it. Equally littlo could it be deemed to continue in a quiescent state during. the war. on the term- of each partner not sharing in the profits made by the carrine on of a commerce that was hostile to his country: for that misht mean that one might be called on to share in lowe without harine in protits. which would be incompatible with partner-hip. Each partner was, indeed, entitled to contract and bind the firm: but, as against this, each wa- also entitled to check and wontrol suth action on the part of the other. But if a partner:hip were allowed to continue in war as between hostile associates this control would be gone. Moreorer, each partner being diabled hy the war from dicharging his duty: or a part of his-dut: it would seem that such a disability, whether under 1.he rivil or the Engli-h law. had the effect of dissolving the relation. Is regards notice in the present case the declaration of war was in itself the most authentic and monitory notice, and no other was required. The partnership, moreover, having been une disobleml by the war, could no longer be the foundation of any right of ation, except as to matters arining before the war.

 the pattion at" disithel hy the line of wat aml all eommomed intor-

 the joim borinw attar the war at har precer point at whith it general ofled of war on rommareial intereomser, held that ina-mand athtority. ant ina-bund as in that partionlar wat a perected date for rity, the partmeship) then in quesion conld inot be desmed to have heren diswotral prion to that date, and was therefore subsisting at the fime of the transaction which formed the sulsject-mattor of the suit. Even when a partnarhip is dicalsed hy wat, it wohld seem that, on the retum of peare, an alon fartner may pecower the value of his share in the partareship as at the date at which it wadissolved (a).

The same principle is orpally applicable to other contracts
 *oume of eorrespondence hetwern persme domiciled in the conntrien of tho respertive beltigerenti. In Seu Vorl: Life Insweance Co. v.
 insulance lad heen duly patal motil the omthrak of the civil wat: hat in conseguence of that erent atul of the paries being divided he the ibsurane a strict athorenme to tho stipulatel times of patment mu-t that the policy therefore came to an emb ob the tirat default. At to the outbreak of war and mot. to ans lantt of tho a-sured. the

 to the furcha-w for any parment previnuty matare (on the see imfor, abd labliti, oi:

 mians previonsly jail. suhjor to a deduction for thix value wi the insurather unjoyed whilst the poticy was in

$$
\text { . Ścontt. is } 11 .
$$

IS Sutt. ilti. H.
(1) Sin Ihillipson, biffoct of Wrar on ('untrater. J. Whit serg.

ESPOSITO : BOWDEN

14.57: 27 1. J. Q. B. 17: 7 E. & B. 763.1

Case. In las frion to the ountmak of war botwem (ireat Britaname Rus-a a chartm-party had beon contered into betwern the plainilf. who was a Neapelitan shipowner, and the defendant. "how was a Briti-h memont, wheroly it wat agreed that the of whent, an bremerided he the defendant, on certain terms as to Britain amd Rosia. the dumbant refued to perform his agreemont. In an action submann! lomeht he the plaintiff for subject: that after the making of the charter-parts. Jut before Hhe thip hat arrimed at Odwa and before the dofondam hat prented a rarge war was dertared bey (ipeat Britain aquinst proshle for the thimatant to fultil the ehartm-party withont datmone. The phantill, in his mpls. whed om the fact that the into the briti-h dominom- and British subjents to trade with all wac illegal. In spitu of some previous douthts on the sulyeet, the rases had further established that it was illegal for a subjewt, in fime of wat and without lieener, to heiner from the enemys port after the eommenmement of hostilities. wen though not appearing the imhabitants of an emomy eonntry was tading with the enoms. The forer of a derdatation of war was equivatent 10 an . Det. of -xept by the lieener of the Gown. This was founded on the jus belli. which Lord Coke (\%o. litt. 11, b hact stated to br a part of tho kaw of Enchand.

Withereseret to the contomtion that the defombant might have remained and trated in the rembtre altor the outherak of wat would heromo memins $\quad 1$, it womld be altosether incyuitable to dealing with the enens. the charterer could maintain no action against the shipowner: and the shipowner ought not. therefore, to bow withenl to sus the chartmer. Just as the plaintiff would betwen Ramia and his country, oo the defendant was absolved from providing a (argen on war beaking out between Russia and (ireat britain. Nor could the contract in such a case be deemed to be merely smopented by a war the end of which could not ber foremen. Thn more convenient course was to regard both parties a- abookrat and an heing at liberty to make new arrangements.

 Rusian purnmit

Thu matrat in thi wase it will be oberved. was not between chemiter. hut betwent a British subject and a heutral: but,
 of mu-interomme. amb coukd mot conveniontly to cither party be to illu-tate the maturs and sope of the rule of non-intereourse. fomblime thi- vale on the jus belli. whioh itwelf constitntes pant of the common law. :mat matime it at ate of international. rather than of mumbinal. law obe. It was also heht that the application of Commilic.

THE EAEAIY.  THE " HOOP."

17!9: 1 (. Hob. 19t5: Tudur. L. C. in Mercantile Law, 921.」 Case. During wir hetworl (iteat Britain and Holland. the Homp, at meutral vearl, shipped at Rotterdann a (atreo of merWhamlion on aremut of eeptain British suljects. and thereafter proambind on at loyam nominally to Bergen. but really to a British pert. Ih ihn (mare" of the vopage she was captured by a british War rainhal on the erount that the chamants. Who had previonsly

$17!$
(') $\sqrt{\prime \prime}$ been engraged in an extension trade with Holland, had, after the irruption of the French into Holland, but before the present war with Holland itself, obtaince sperial Orders in Council permitting them to continue their trade; whilst, after the present war, thes had been informed by the Commissioners of Customs at Clasgow that no further Orders were necessary. In viow of this, they had caused the goods to be shipped at Rotterdam on their aecount; documenting them ostensibly for Bergen in order to aroid the enemy's eruisers. Under these circumstances it was urged that their claim was entitled to great indulgence. Despite these facts. howerer, a decrec of condemmation was pronomed.

Judgment. Sir W. Sott, in giving judgment, stated that by a general rule in the maritimo jurisprudence in this country all trading with the publie cnems, save hy permission of the Sorereign. was forbidden. And this was not a principle peculiar to the law of this country, but was pronounced by Byakershock, notwithstanding some occasional and particular relaxations. to be a universal principle of law; and it did in fact appear to be a prineiple followed in most of the countries of Europe. In this country the Sovereign alone had the power of relaxing it by permitting such commercial intercourse. There might he occasions on which such an intereourse wouk be highl? expedient: but it was for the state alone and not for individuals, to determine this. No principle ought to be held more sacred than that such intercourse could not subsist on an! other footing than the direet permission of the state. Otherwise great public inconvenience might ensue; whilst theme was but lithe incomenience in requiring merehants, in such a situation, for cary on tradn if neressary: under the conwol of the (iovernment. Ther was, moreorer, another principle of a les public nature hut equally wencral in its reception, which forban thi - we of communication as fundamentally incomsisent wihh tha relation hetween two countrion at war. That wa- the thtal inability. on the part of subject- of one country to sutain an! antran by way of appeal to the tribunal of the othere In the latw ol almon every eommer the chanacter of alich cmeme carriad with it a diabhitity we.

of our own count？applied thin prineiphe with great rigour： and it＂an emplatly remoned in sur own Courte of fle law （1）Bations．Buat a tatn of thinge in which contracts could ［＂Mn then amd similat erounds，it had become an astablished ruhe of the（＇ourt hat trating with the memer，except undwe
 After an whation revin of the anthorition the lommender that it hat bomb rigeinly mentored in the constrution of redaxations exon when eranted by or mader the athority of alliw in wato on the－mpeostion that it was founded on a univeral principhe which state allied in war had argeht to apply mutually

 （1）－i゙\％ッハー。

 vilon it ：\％ 4 ，

coming from or proceding to the enemy (d); and, in the latter case, whether the hastidn destimation is immediate or ultimate (e). But the rule will mot apply when the tranding is carried on in the interent of the national forese (f). Nor will it apply where there has been a senuine tranter to a meutal owner, even though the property nltimatoly como from or is proceding to, an enems (g). Nor, fimally, will it apply th a mere wish or intention to trade. in a case where the illomalits of the deatimatom is changed he eiremstances of the war ( $h$ ).

As regarth shipe. under the same rule any venel behonging th a neutra! pert will mot be liable merely berame the earon or some part of it is intonded he the shippers and without the mgnizanee countre (j).

Apart from trading bentures. momener. all contract or other transactions entered inth after the wan between persons reopectively rewidemt in British and ememy teritory are treated as illegal and during war between (ireat Pritain and France a Frend ditzen had drawn on the delemdants. Whan were British subjents. certain bills of exchange. which were endored th the plamiff. a Britioh subjerd revident in Frane and subsernently acepted be the dofordants it wan held that mo ateron womld lie on the bills. even thomeh Arongly after the restoration of peate.

A similar invalidi!y will attards themtrats and fransactionWhich. exem though net themelsen emered into with alien memin

 anemy rapture

The rule agant tratine whth the parme in alon applime to -uht jercto of an ally in war. wh the ex,mmel that there is an implied whi-

```
    (i.) Lixan thmumh they mayy low
```

```
(% [ioh. 1!%)
(!1) /,.i,".!'.!!!.
```

I'riハ Law. Irti 41 - 17.

Whe eremad that the prexumption of an intention to trade with the empons ariviner fremer the fant of the dife

Delaturat bay but datimet for the.

1/tereatel.
to do ansthing injminne to the rommon canse (the): nor would a diapenalime hy the allied liovermment. even in favour of its own
 - oncmited 10 hy Cireat Britain or unkes the mading was of a kind that womble motrejuliee the ammon operations (l).

It the sime time the British rule against trading with the enemy is. as wo hall see alloviated in practice (1) by the fact that the Sormopn has a rioht to mitigate the strict consequences of war in this repert hy Grdere in (ouncil. which would be operative as an instrution th the haval fores and so binding on the Prize Courts (m): and ( 2 ) ly the reognition of a right to trade through the molimof of montrak so long as there is a genuine transfer (o, the latter (n).

iii) EXCEPTED TRANSACTIONS.

1. Betwery Exentea cot Difided by the Line of War.

KERSHAW $c$. KELSEY.

[1868: 100 Mass. 561.]

Case. $1_{11} 1864$, during the - Inerican civil war, the plaintiff. "ho was a citizen of and resident in Mississippi, leased to the小efondant. Who was a citizen of Massachusetts although at the time pesidno in Mississippi, a cotton plantation situated in the lattor Niatr. on certain terms and conditions, including the purWhas he the defondant of eretain corn then on the plantation. The W.f.mental went into pmonssion of the land, had the benclit of the wan, and path the linst instalment of rent. Ite also planted and wnd dis] wot themater weapt for a shoct interval retum to the in Xi-siappi. Wes whom it was lownarded to the defomdant. Itwe the war the patintill -n"el Pow the rent and the ralue of the antimental view of the dortrine of mon-intarcour*

corn. The defondant peaded that the transaction, having been made daring the divit wat and betwen persons etanding in at hostile relation to wah oflam, was illegal and woid, both on the principles ol. intornational law and under an . Aet and proclamation that forbal all interonnst with than states in mollion. It was held. howemer, he the sumeme (ome of Massadhesetts that neither the tease nor the calde eontravened wher the law of nations or the publice Auts of the laitm states (iovernment: and that the plaintiff was thereform mitad to meder.

Judgment. In dutisering judement, (iras, J.. stated as the result of an exhanstion minw of the primipal anthoritios, both English and Amerimath that the law of mations, as judicially deelared, no doubt prohibited all imereomee betwern atizens of the two belligerent: whill was inemsistent with the state of war between the two combtrie: induling asers kind of trading or commercial dealing. Whether by tramemision of money or goods or ordme for the delimer of whtere betwere the two countries directly or imbirectly, or thromgh the intervention of third persons or partnersipe or he contracts in any form involving such transmission, of by inamanes upen thate with or be the "nemy. But the prohibition had not been arried berond this, at any rate by jutidial decision: and berond this. therefore, the Court was not disposed 10 wn. (exmematly at a time when the mision which was penhbitm be international law was on betwern the two conntrion wat. Ta alion forms rating in international or maniaja! lan. Nou was it any objowtion that the rebed territors where hoth partin wert al the time. Nor was there ans agremment for the tramsmision of money or goods, or for communimantarmes the line dividing the belligerents. The -uberpent forwardinge of the cotton hy the defendant's son might have bend unlanful: hat that cond mod affect the validity of the agrembint-comtaind in the lave.

 When a ereditor, althoneh a subjuef of the enemy, remained in the "ombtry of the dehtom on hal an atemt there throughout the war.

 "rn ra-ifont in the temiturs of the -ane lefligerent. and as regards tran-ation- heriminge and enting there. "An alien enemr" it wat -aid. "residine in this muntry may contrict and sut like a cition" "'". Ame with thin vinn the Engelish law appears in the main. to atree. so in Wrllse ". Willimes (1 Ld. Raym. 282) in an antion on a bund-in which tho derendant pleaded that the fhantill wa an ation en"me who had conte to England sime valco (anmlucto. aml thr phantifl replied that at the time of the

 whw was here in protection could ate on his bend or contrate aldhough
 -wne ambenity to the matrary bo. it wonld seem that the plea of vary on business in Beiti-h teritory (c).

$$
\because \text { Lomaril Trade. }
$$

USPARICHA $\because$ NOBLE.

1511: 13 Fate, 332.|
Case. Durine war howen (ifeat Britain on the one hand and amald tut =:". duremer the war.

```
```

```
~-,!t, i!ij. i.
```

(aptured hy the Frenely and andemmed. The preant action was (11) a polies of insmamer. Hhe ralidity of which formed on the legality of the trate. Th the rexalt it was hed that the difert of therefore eond, and that fudgment must pass for the phantill.

Judgment. Lamel Ellonhoromgh, in eiving judgment. laid down that the legat rexuld of the lieman was that the eommerer must. be regarded as lequlized for atl purposes necessary to its due and effectual prowertion, for the benelit cither of the party himsedf or of his eoremondent. abroad. wen though residing in the person and ally branch of remmeree from the disabilities and liabilities arising ont of a state of war' and its licensp for such a purpose ought to remive the most liberal construction. For the purposes of the license, the person licensed ought to beregarded as an adoptel Britioh subpert, and the trade an a British trade.

A licene in it widest mene is a permit oramed by a belligerent authorizing the doing of sumething otherwise interdicted be war. The type of license most familiar to the Courts is a license to trade; althongh whe liwnow are now how frepuent than formerty. A a trade with a partionar plate on in partiontar articlos: whik rovage of far the impmation or mpertation of particnlat of the state, either genemally or in regard to partioular conmothities. from the retramts otherwise imposed by the wat (e) A seremal licener can ouly be isued by the supreme anthority; but a special liennem may be isum wither be the supreme anthority, or hey a maral on military oflieer acting whin the limite of hix particular command id!. A liemme if dnly issued, and if its terms are complied with, serves to leomlion all tramsactinn necessary to the due prosecmion of the traldo whith is liemsed. and alon to reliere the peron or persoms in when banm it is granted fron the disabitition

(h) Thene thme are. howewne, usw in different ennes by diflement writere:
 S.141: Mallerk. ii. 314.

[^25]A license issmed ly one belligerent does not, of course, bind the oher: and may even confer on the holder in relation to the latter an creme chamater that would not otherwise attach to him. The grant of licanse by one of two en-belligerents is subject to the con-ent of the where of at any rate. In the condition that the trade licensed shall exthusely iswed ly (ipeat Britain during the Napoleonic wars, and a comiviterable body of a-e law grew up in respect of them ( $g$ ) ;
 military me mad momatinn, and the law in relation to them is no Jonsen :o improtant as it mice was $(h)$.

(3) P'risoners' Contracts.

ANTOINE 2. MORSHEAD.

[1815; 6 Taunt. 237.]
Case. This was an action on certain bills of exchange which had heen drawn on the defendant br his father, who was a British sulniect detained as a prisoner in France during the war between that rountry and (ireat Britain. The bills were made payable to other Briti-h subjecto, likewise letained as prisoners in France; hat had been indowed by then to the plaintiff, who was a banker at Vordun :mi a French subject: and had tinally been aceepted les the defendant. I verdict having been found for the plaintiff, a rule nisi was moved for on behnlf of the defendant, on the gromed that the contract had heen made during war with an alien whoms. and wa- thomfore not merely onepented by the war but altogether roid. In the result, however. it was held that the action was maintainable.

Judgment. (ilhb. ('.J.. in wiving judement, pointed ut that of an ation moms. hun of: a hill of wehame drawn by one subject

[^26]two former being detained an prisoners in France. In the circumstances he thought that the drawer might legally draw such a bill as being necessary for his sulsistence. After the bill had been drawn the pasen had no doubt intorsed it to the plaintill, who was an alien chemy. Bat how was the original drawee to avail himself of the hill exmpt he negotiating it, and to whom conld he negotiate it exopt to the inhabitanto of the comntry in which he was: The generat primeiples dedncible l'rom the enses cited for the defendants with reped ton fontracts with atien enemies were not altogether applimble to the present rase. Hence he was of opinion that the indorement to the plametife convered to him : legal title. on which the King mioh have sued in time of war, and on which-this not having been donc-the plaintiff could sue now that peace had been proclaimed ( $a$ ).

Although the miginal emtrate in this cate was made between British subjects. yet the indorsement to the plaintifi ant the subsequent acceptance by the defendant involved a dealing during war between enemice. The derision mast. therefore be taken forest on the spacial necessitios of prisuners of war; and to be intereded to provide a means wherehy alicn cnemis may supply prisoners' wants, return of peace. It has in fact. beren treated, in Amerimen raves in which it has been dited. a- having this maramer: and as etablishing an exception to the general mbe of non-interemse (b). Prisoners of war detamet in Enghat are also at litery to she in during the warte.

 RICORD BETTENHAM

```
1ins: : Purr. 1734.
```

 the Enerlich shig, "simon" of whidh the defendant wan mostor, was captured by a French privaters．hat released on the defendant siving a ramsom bill for 300 pistole to the plantiff，the com－ mander of the privatect，and leaving Joseph Bell，the mate of the －hip，as hostage．Bell subsemently died in prison，and the uresent action was therenpon bronght on the ransom bill．On behalf of the defendant it was eontended that there was no presedent for such ant ation：that the contract was roid as having been made with an alion enemy ：and that，inasmuth as the ranom bill was not an indepentent contract，the hostage alone was entitled to sue thereon．These objections were．howerer，orerruled，and judg－ nown given for the plantift．The gromuds of the fudgment are not stated in the report：but，presmably，it proceeded on the ground that such contracts were msually held valid amongst other nations．and that the hostage was merely left as collateral security．

The decinion in this case seems to aceord with the practice followed in most，other systems of mmicipal law that recognize ransom con－
 $\because$ Blechtmome（ 2 Done $6+11$ ．where it was held that meither the death of the hestage．ber the rapture of the original captor－ ahthomeh wifton an appromiation of the ransom bill（b）－put an end to the enntract．In Ahthon $v$ ．Fisher（2 Dong．649．n．I indeed，it wa－hed that an ation momy conld not we in person eren on a ramembentract：the proper ernse being to commence a suit in the finst instane againat the ship and goobs．or tailing this agamst the mater in the mame of the hostage（e）．But this view is mow Eenmally repmbated．on the gromed that it the contract is lawful it

[^27][^28]liberty to grant ransom to an enemy vessel, exeept in casers similarls allowed by Order in Conncil (g). In Metsomaire v. Keating (2 Gall. 325 ) the practice of ranson was extended by the United States Courto 10 the case of a neutrab ressel which had been captured by one belligerent on the gremed of earrying contraband to the ofther but released on qiving a ransom bill; story, I. holding that inasmen as the cargo would probably have been liable to condemmation the ordinary rutes of tansom must he deemed to apply.
 There is still moneh diveremee alike of ophinon and practioe as 10 the effect of war on commercial intereomse between sub)fort of the rederetive bolligerents. Aceording to one view which is commonly, although not miveratly, accepted by European pallicists and followed by Emropean Governments-the rule that war in itwolf involves a prohibition of commercial intercourse no longer obtains, having lapsed with the right of confiscafion: althongh it is recognized that the soveroign anhority may impore such restrictions therem as may be required by political or military meresity (h). Acording wanther view which is commonly, athough again not miverally, acepted hy English and Americall whers, and whith is, as we have seen, also followed by the English and Amerian (omme (i) the mhe that war in trelf involvea general prohibition of interconse as hetween persons rewiling in the tertitorien of the re-pertive belligarent- - whll wath, Whth an a rule of muncipal and imematioma! law $j$ ): althomeh it in here tom recornized that the rule is enhject tor relasation be dhe somereion

 10 allow a emblamane ol emmmereal interemme would and th
 tion: and, timally, that the fact of an onemy perom havine in enemeal no persomo strmal in imdicion exelndes altugethere a state of legal commeren (h).

The equestion of the Eifert of the Ingue lirgulations. 1990. Be law. the righn on righte of antion of the matimate of the adrame

Namat of Naval Prizn Lalw. Art. atis.
(1) Fiven haw. huwner. opinim variw: - wne writer lowdine that al-

 the jullement is 小eremend masil the Jiffor of War on (ontrant. is?,

It hai hawn -uneswand that the timally hemer the Imericate view into party By some this is interpreted to mean that eath betligerent i. in general pohbited from suspending or abrogating. hy rason ui the war. any righto or righte of action of subjects of the other. sueh a constrmetion would. it it conld be sustamed. en far to anmul, as betwen states that have ratified the Conventions the present Angh-Amerian doctrine as to the efled of war on private rights ame whligations: ahhomgh it wonkl still be open 10 a belligeremt to prohihit subequent dealinos. But the clear intention of this prosision is. it is concoded. merely to prohilit a belligeremt comamamer, in the excroas of his military authority over kridory suljer to martial haw form susprading or abrogating right- or riohts of action wh the part of alajecte of the other helligerent. or otherwiodinterferince with porely eivil relatons (\%). That this is su apmens to be -ulliciently indicated by the fact that the artiche forms part of a ('mmention which purpori- to deal only with the embluet of laml wat. and to exelude matitime relations: to which -woll contracts are for the most part incident: that it does not even appear in the man buly of the (onrention bot only in the amexed resulation-: that amoniset these it appears only at the emb of an atider dealing with prohibited method of exnducting ho-tilities; and fimally. that it make no exeeption of transactions that emme to the aide of the enems. ak it inmitatyly wolld if it were intombed to he of seneral application. Nom san it he supponed that an revolutionary a change would hase leen arepped withont protect or reserration on the part ol state wlone o-tahli-hed doctrine were to that extent abrowated $(m)$. On this a-stmption we may therefore pro-Anglu- Anerian doctrine. on some of the more important moreantile

 the line of war

Debte. Welse aldeady subsistince between individuals divided by the lime of war are su-pemted durime the war. beth as rexame the right of attion of the reditor $n$ ) and the duty ot parment on the part of the dohtar. Iny - Heh payment wonly imterd ha illawal if that the atfort of this fromi-i.nt is motaly to torbite a conamathder in the field from attemphtine tor torroriza tha.

inlabitami - wi 'anduy toritory by do-

^29 other finm of sempity for in such a case interest is due not for forbeathe hat he sirnie of the original agreement; although, even in this case. if the agread date for paymen of the principal shond be reached during the war wo luther interest will he due (p). Subject to these reservatimes, the right of the creditor to recover buth principal and interes will wevien on the return of peace $(q)$. Nor, if the dehtor is sued. will it be open to him to set up any plea of limitation, an requds the perion covered by the war; for the reamen that harime that period the right of action is deemed to have been in aherante(r). Dehte contracted during the continuance of war are of conser, irpecoverable (s), save in the case of tramsandion- specially exepted moder the jus belli $(t$.

Vegotieble Instrumenls. Neqotiahle instrment-, and, in particular, bills of exhange and promisomy moter, are governed by similar principles. sulject only to surh qualifications as flow from persons domiciled in the combrios of the rejuedive helligerents. they ate. in the hame of ath abien memy, ineapathe of heing shed on durine the war. hat will revien on the pestoration of peace; althongh no interest womblappare to the recoserable in respect of the period covered be the waren. But if transerred io a nentral, there would appear to the nothing to present the later fom suing and recorering thereon, even during the wats, in hivewn mane ors. If made during the war ther are an we hare cem. illogal in theme inerpion and inapable of legal offect. wern if tran-fored to a nemtal or Britioh coutracts of Itreightment. I matrant of affreightment made a hotiln mation to carh wher. will. if exemone be abrogated hy bowl. & liy. li): /lm,',

```
```

```
.In]%. l0!!9
```

```
1.j0. 1.)2: F%,../1 1.11./1.. 1.j
1:3-t. -6010
    //, ...., \ l'im, if \\:all
```

```
t1:11.1-. 11.3 .1. :3tt: :ant. (1) thu
```

 1:391.

Ibwl. A liv. If: /lomior r. Allen $\because$ llall. 102: seott, 19s).

:3:3)
 1:3! 1

 T(i)

if not made betwern perans wha - ubseruently herome mathies, it. will be atorotated by war, if it involver either the thipenner in in illegal interonmere with the entmies of his robatry(d). such contracts. if made dming the was. hetween peron- orropying a hustile relation weath other, ate illemal and wid.
 "haterer kind. if made heforn war. and the low on whith atroued hefore war. witl merely le -uspended in their legat elfect- i, y the outbreak of war between the Stater of the inswer and the a-rured, he insalid if mate in luthereano of trate with the menns the subject pumbaty 10 a right ont the paty of the a-rume for rea-*

|  |  |
| :---: | :---: |
|  |  |
|  |  |
| 1; - ...j). | $2: 3$ |
|  | $3:$ |
|  |  |
| the wat that tentaption conformed by |  |
|  | St9. i : ynu-timathle in primejple. and |
|  |  |
|  | \TJMas. |
|    |  |
|  |  |
| dur llır rilu. |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |

Eeneral anthority on the agent to bay and sell and enter into other transactions on behalf of the prineipal will, like a partnership, be ahrogated by war (0). But a limited agency, if created before the War. and if it does not involve any comthuance of interconse or the transmision of money or property during the war, might. it seems, lon lawfally continued ( $p$ ).

Contracts of Pertmex ship.... I contract of parimership already suhsibling hetwren persoms who afterwards become enemies, is, as we have mern, abroxated hy war: on the erromme that the disabilities athe restriftions reatod by war are inconsistent with a due exerrice of the righte of a proper discharge of the duties incident to partmer-hip, int that the relation is one which from its very Hatmo is incapable of suspension (q); althongh such almogation would moobahly he subject to a rioht of the alien partmor on the tomination of the war to recoser tho equitable value of his share at the time of tixathliontro.

Interests in ('onmeratel Corperations and Companies. A "orputation is itself a juristic persun, and as such takes its watacter in war, as firmully on hostile. in eremral from its domicile ( $s$ ) , irre-perdive of the mationality of it diredors or shatehoters ( $t$ ). Nevertholes war may prodnce important effects on the legal position of enemy personc having interestin in such associations. In Englich and tmerican law, indeed, this question does not appear anatoes it womld seem (1) hat omsmy directors wonld ipso facto vacate their seato, ahhomoh retamine othowive such rights as belomer (1) encous shareholders; (2) that onems -harehotlers wond retain their hates a properts ahthough hoth their right to reenise dividends aml prohalbly hafir whigation to pay (alls would her eupenderk during tho war $(, r)$. hoth reviving. howrer, on the retmen of peace:

 -32: Sontt. 535)

 the sald and anneryaner ot laml. 'one dutut Mi,ms 190ㄹ. 1. (.at a01).

 diffornot- botworn parther-hip and "r!wation rander the mawning in the lant (an laterly imaplicable. Fon af fulbre examimation of "o the forblem of formin inwotment-in time nf war."

 is doubtalal and mirht let hold to dopend on the rhatamern ot the harinne.
(I) -und part of the prinepat an migh acerve due during the war, "oud brensmond an, hath revivine, howerer: on the restoration of peatelz.

Fiftect o! II (1n on suits loy, Ilien Einamies. - It follows almost necessarily from the rule of mon-interconese that ans action cannot in general la matmainel or continued by or on bethali of an alien who rontmon re-ident in Britioh territery with the liense of the ('rownore 1- th whether it wonld aphly to memy persome who (antiment on the reade withont liemese there apperase to be some that an alimnomy ontinuing to meside in the enuntry, whether with non-inmonomor appar- fom the reasming on which it is founded whenthe dimen in intimet, between abject of the respernise belli-

$1 / 1,1,111111111$.
-5!
1,1
the linh tprit. all vescets ander the neatral flag were permitted to impor grods. Whomsorver helonging, intu any pont (1) plase in the British dominions; and to export goods, not being eontraband. from ans pert or place in the British dominions 10 any port or place in the enemy territory not under blockade: whilst Britioh subject- were also permitted to trate freely, although only in mentral vensels. with the like place (i). In 1860 a similar concession was mada hy (ireat Britatin and France during the war whith China. In 1s9s, agath. Auring the Spanish-American waralthough moder the instructions issmed ler the Cuited States Government ( $k$ ) the cteammer American ressels in any case, and of loreign ressels ratring enal or motrabam, for spanish ports was forbidden it apparas to have been open to nentral resels to carry Amerima of other cargene, not being comtraband or coal, to Spanish port-. Amb thic example will probably be polloned in the wars of the finture. But where gront pats hetwem enemion, it is necessary, in orden to avoid a viohation of the sule of non-intercomse-except of eonse where this has been expresoly pelased that there shond

WITH SPEC'JL REFEREN(EE 'LO RECENT CON-

 VENTIONS.

 baved for the most part on comemtion, hat, like most wher hanches
 $3+4 ; 1$ Spink . Iry. 万.

b.) 111 Marel. In.) 1. Lond ('laremdon -in answor to : aftesion fropored by merelathts intorested in the liussian trader as to whether fonsian froduct broustat oser the frontion and shipped thence by Jixitish of andral vasids would be subijat to soizure and con-fiscation-a-aftre statime that the: grastion turned but on tho phate uf origin or mode of monveramer. hat in the true ownmoship of and interest in the property. wrat on to -aty that if suth froperty wor" - لipperl at mati-

[^30]chement date bark ior a timu anterior 10 intermational law. Gut the matin fat of it appear to hate developed later, as a conernuence of the intituthon of amoling armies and the wowth of a bory of military $\begin{aligned} & \text { matere amd tradition. For a long time the rules of land }\end{aligned}$ dating the f!hh eentory the law of laml warfare attamed eertain form war forbably due to the prowson of miliatre orqanizatom and fointed the way 10 -ome wider agreement with reprect th the eom-

 -

[^31]1- ta thar watik dobl la* the lnotitntu nf thtamational l.aw in this ence rumereded in framiny an acceptable code, in the Cunsention the actual rules beimer eomtained in Regulations ammexed thereto. At Regulation- ammexed, was adopted: revising and replatemg as beween the -ignathore the (onsention and Regrutations of 1899. This Comemtion mat probably he sad. so far as relates to the topies with which it deals and subjeet to the reservations made by particular signatorien. formsitute an anthordative statement of the existing law. It is not. howerer, entirely comprehensive and requites to br smpplemented at many point hy referente dither to other international dets or to the earlier "mstomary law (i). The atoption by hats. in altition to other mhantages. the merit of bringing home to men* minds: the fitet that war is itself a subject for leg口l regulation, and not, as wat thonght in the past. a condition of entire lawlessiness ( $7 \cdot$ ).

The Suchers of Exative Rumes.

The existing law theredore comprise fwo main latotors the conventional or writen law: and the emstomaty or whwitten law. iv The conventional law includes the following international Actos: (1) The Convention "romerming the laws and custom of wat on land." No. 4 of 1907. Which in itself consists onls of nine anticles. hont which has annexed for it body wf regulations, hereatter referred to as the Hagre Regulations, which present the rules of wate in a borm suitable for commonication to -uldier and others not rersed in diplomacy. These Regulations deal with the ghatiticetion of belligerents. the treatment of prisones of war, the method of injurime the enemy, non-hostile relations. ath military anthority ow hemste territory (l. (2) The Combenin wat on lamel." No. is witot. whieh, howorre, only tomehes on tho actuon of belligerent- at errtain points (m). (is) The (ieneva Conrention ot 1900 . Which deals with the treatment of the wonded and siok. as reward armios in the fied. replarine we between it

(1) See 11. (', No. fol 1907. Art. $\because$;

(i) And this won though the fant of war may involy a -ubporion of the erritorial law in mattero relating

-ations. *e Table. App. xiv.
(iil) Sow Arts. 1-1, 19. This Conrention was signed by forty-two Powers. It hak not so far beeni ratified by (ireat liritain. As to ather ratifications. sor Table. App. xiv.
(1.) This Comsention has been ratitimed les twentr-two States, inchuding (ireat britain ealtlonurh under roservation of Art. $23,27,28$, relating to the eivil use of the Geneva Cross; as to which. howeser, see now i\& \& bulbot under fot wrammes (o), but which is now virtually incorporated in the Havae Rewnlations (p). (5) The Hagne Declaration, No. $\because$ "f 1899 , which prohibits the use of asphyxiating grases ( $q$ ). (6) The Hague Declaration, No. B of 1899 , which prohibits the use of expandmer bullets $(r)$ ( $\bar{r}$ ) The Declaration "prohibiting the discharge of projectiles from balloons," which was uriginally framed by the Hague Conference of 1899. and subsequently renewed hy that of $190 \%$ for a period extending to the meeting of the nest Conference; although the abstentions are so mmerous as to render this Declaration of little or no present value (s). All there agreements, with the exception of the last, purport to be binding on the Puwers that aecept them without limit of time: hat they ato all. with the exception of the Decharation of Si. Pelersburw, sulije to demmeiation. after notice: although the denmetiation is only to atlect the noitying Power, and will then only be operative after the lape of one year from the date at which notice is criven ( $t$ ). They apply, moreorey, only as between the contracting parties. and then only if all the belligerents are parties to the Convention (u). In the rarious Acts that pon to make up this ronventional part of the law, there art, as we shall see many omiswions as well as other defects of form and substance $(x)$; but, as time proceeds. it is pobahle that many of these will be consected or remerlied hy new legivlation or the artion of Courts.
iia Noxt there is the customary or mwntern law. the rules uf Which have to be sumeht in those sourcer, and suhgert to there bert. which hate ahman! heon dowerihed (y). This daw still applits both jat cates whith ate wot coverel hy the matentomal law. ant whote that lan or any fatioular provi-ion is not applablate as bueen the
 it. is axpmoly derlated hy the Hatue (omvention. No. f ut 190 . that "purulatims and helliserents remain umder the proteroton and rule uf the primeiples of the law of nations. as they rewh from u-ates [^32]established between rivilized mations, the laws of hmmanity, and the requirments of the public conscience" ( $b$ ). Nor is it to he assumed that the mere absence of specific prohibition as regards any partionlar practice is to be taken as legalizing it (c). From this it will be seen that the eartier customary rules on this subject are far from laving lost their applicability; although it is probable that in this, as in other departments, the conventional or written law will tend to herome more and more predominant, and will ultimately beconte the only recognized standard of belligerent action.

Tue: Emact avis Value of the Hagee Regtationis.

With repect to the LIague Regulations, which now constionte the most imporiant factor in the written law of war. the signatory Powers undertake to iswe instructions to their land forees "in conformity therewith " ( $/$ ) ; whilst the duty of compensation is expressly admitted in cases of viokation (e). In this, as in other Conventions, some of the rules laid down are ambignous or indefinite, whilst others are subject to qualifications that appear to rob them of most of their efficaey. But in the present condition of things. and as regards some of the rules in question, this was probably the price that had to be paid lor apparent unitormity: whikt as regards others, some qualification was probably necessary if ther were to stand the strain of actual war. Dempite these imprefections, the rulew, at a whole, represent a distinct adrance on anything that has preceded them. and will probably serve at ono to render more miform the pracice of war, and in some measure also to mitigate sill further its hardships a* regards indivituals $(f)$.

The kinding foree both of these and ohnor rules is. howerer.
 which is put forwaw he (ierman writers and officially onomenaned 万, Ser L'ramble to |L. (… No. & (f 1907 .

(c) Áuela a derlatation was expressly made by Creat lbritain with respent to No. is of 1907, bot appears to apply generally.
(18) S゙or TT. ( ${ }^{\circ}$. No. 4 of 19117. Lrt. 1: and al-n ficmevat (iunbomion. 19118. Irt. 2Ч.
 Art. : : and. on the que-tion of ropornsibility. p. 11 ? , intion.

 under the earliou (omantiom. las -hown: s.
(or) 'llis is not to he onfoumden
(1) with military necessity in the sense in which that is understood to sanction senerally the destruction of life and limb and property, so far as the objecets of war may repuire, and in so fiar as may be lawful aecording to the laws and usares of war: see "Instrurtions for the fovernment of 1.. A. Armies in the Field: Irts. 14, 1.5: (ited Moore, Direst, vii. 178: or (2) with thow יxpmoreresprations, at rownels attre ntherwias prohibited, Whish arm framontly made hert by ventions. with the abject of provinlene fir rasos of pratotical nexo. ity.
 that ahthourh the recogrized laws and enstoms of war must ordinarily he reppected, yot in exmptional cases, and where their ohervance wondendanere the safety of the army or the attainment of the object of the wat. The limitations which they impone on hostile license may he dismendedthe This view purports to reat on the paramomit
 (0) rule flat are ineonsistent therewith. But althomen seffepre--revation is a fact which has. no doubt, to be reckoned with in estimatiog the affere of all legal rules (i) and although in some stretemit i- for Hai werson formally recognized as a mound of mom-liability. ret this is hy monems universal his. and even where it in sorecorgnized. it scope is bstably defimed, and its exereise limited hy safegratrds which the mmicipal daw preseribes and which the mmicipal ('ourt- 'an oive effer to. 'The docarine of military neorsity on the wher haml. reduces the existing restraintw on hostile lieense -wherh arw the prodnct of centuries of eftort-to the level of mere discrotionary observances, dependent on the view of the local situation entertained hy the uffore in command: whilst it serves to relax the sanctions of the law of war, already too slender, at a time when the temptation to disedrard them is greatest (l). But the doctrine is not generally reweived omtside Germany (mi) and would, if acted on, form a just gronnd for reprials hy any helligerent who might be injuriously atferted he it. as well as for protest or intervention on we part of "ther stato il the eiremmetanes warrated this $(\mathrm{m}$ ).

 *nemito who ato actively belligerent and those who are mot. The immunty and abo herome subject to eporial penalties it they

 The statity of lawlal herligerome attaches to all membere of the (h) Thi- fimd rephesion in the recht.
(1) s.ow sol. i. p. 1tit.
(i.) It is not recournizad, fors intance, under the Enerlish haw as a keral groumd of mon-tiability, althomer offon anculyed in mitisation of punish-
 (11 (2, 1; 1), 273)
(') for : aritial axamination of the reasons on which the doctrine is Founded, see Wertlake, ii. 115 it seq. (mi) It is mopotated by Vinglidand Amerisan writers, amd not gencrally areepted even by those of france and Italy: see Opperilocim, ii. 7a.
(ii) On the whbect erncmatly, sow Westlake, ii. 1t5, 1 siry: Blolland. llar on Land. 12 rt ary.: and (1prenheim. ii. st.
(o) Hall, 5t5 cet sty regular army: to members of the militia and of volunterer corps forming pari of the regular army: and also to other persons who are attached to tho army even in a non-combatant capacity $(p)$. But persons who merely follow an army without being attached to it, can, if captured. only claim to be treated as prisoners of war on production of an oflicial authorization (g) . The question of belligerent qualifications enmmonly arises in relation to the employment of irrequar or gnerilla forces; the levy en masse of the civil population: and the wee of edoured troops. With respect to irregular forces, the Hague Requlations now provide that the quality of lawful belligerento shall attach to members of militia and volunter corps. eren thongh they may not form part of the regular amy, provited that they are under the command of a responsible officer. that thes posses some distinctive mark recognizable at a distance, that the! carry ams openly, and that they observe the laws and customs of war ( $r$ ). This involves the existence of an authorify and an organization sufficient to guard against hostilities being carried on by irresponsible or intermittent combatants, but not necessarily an anthority and an organization that proreed from the central (furermment (s). Nor need the distinctive mark consist of a regular uniform; although it must be a drest-mark chearly distinguishable, and one that camon he assmed or dropped at with, such an a mere hadge or cap ( $t$ ). With respeet to levies en musse, it is now prorided that where the population of a territury that hian not been secupied spontaneonsly take up arms to resist an invader, withont having had time to organize themsedres in acomdance with the abore-mentioned provisims. thes shatl he regarded as helligerents so long as they carr arms openly and re-pect the law and anstoms of war (m). In in far as thes provisions do not apply, the darlier custumary law ex will be demed to be appliahle (y). Hencentings in orenpied territory are still left to the opreation of the eartion law, nater which they are uatatly treated as penal(z). With respect 10 comoned trons, there is no reason why such tronps should not he empleyed an long as they are properly disciphined and commanded by eivilized officersi(u): lat perhaps against satase home (i, II. T. 1.
(1) The word worl is "motiticate 1]. I?.3. 13.
(i) Ti.R. 1.
 formes open to !owal initiation pror

 .113.
(1, Hall, inl.
(1) 11. R. 2.
(ir) In to whiell, wee Hall, in 7 ,", *E't.

(1) So the frendi emplosed furoo in the Franeo-ferman war, 1STO: whilet the Initul States enmolled a nesmon resiment in tho sigmi*h- Smeri(:an war. 1s!s. (\%rat Britait. how-troup: in the Sinuth African war, 1900 (t)
(2) Tar-hor. 17.

 nomm imahemoly d: is refuse quarter or declare that no

 Con mas une belliweront ampel the mationals of the other to take nindive batere of the (imera ('onvention (i).

 -tamme whids are pither explowe or chared with fulmination

 athre (0)
11. IR. 22.
 - ons or the soffer ui a rextard tor capar. "d and or alivo." Foor instances : thi- in the "ontro of wit: with un-

 $\cdot 1$

(l) it a!ty mat" dminer attonk, uniter ware is talken to makn -nobl alterationta as will ruard aramot dr\%phion: sel Holland, Wias on lathd, 1.). As to all allowed us. Ios the Nontmalitr. ou.

1: 11. li. 2:3 fi).

 dividash than to radaer Hhw momberes of ther conmy

iit) Bombardment and I mastation. By the Hague Regulations, a helligerent is now forbidden to bombard or attark, by any means whatsoever, undefended towns, villages, habitations, or buildings ( $p$ ) : a prohibition which would appeas to corer the case of bombardment by projectiles from batloons, irrespective of the Deelaration previonsy mentioned. Before a place is hombarded, moreorer. waming must be given to the local anthorities, exeept in the case ol all asault (q). In sieges and bombardments every precaution must he faken to joure se far as posible huildings devoted to religion. art. sience and charity. historit momments, hospitals and places where the sick and wrounded are collected, so long as they are not used lor military purposes; such places being indicated by special visihle sions notified to tho assalants $(r)$. lillage is, in all cases. forbdiden (x). The legratity of devastation appears to be left-save for the mohibition of the destrmetion of private property except where reguimet hy military necessity ( $t$ - -to the operation of the earlier law, moder which it may only be resorted to in cases where it is either "a necesals concomitant of ordinary military action" or required for the prrpmes of self-prerervation (it). When seneral devastation is resurted to, provision should so far as posible be made for the -afety and maintenance of the population affected $(x)$.

Sipies ind their Trehthevt.

A py is one who, actine madestimely or under false pretences, whtains or seeks to obtain intormation withen the zone of operations wf a belligerent, with the intention of eommuniating it to the enemy. But soldiers who penetrate the lines of an ememy without disouise; or fronty: or hattomists engager in the dolivery of dexpatchen or in mantaining (ommmaisations, cammotawfally be treated as spies (y). It is quite lemitimate to employ spies: hut a spy if canoht. is liable, The offome will. howerer, be puroed it lew sureeds in rejoining his inpmany. Franee, Italy, Ruswia, and Som? dre not partios te this llehamation.

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text {... II. R. 2. } 5 . \\
& \text { 1i. R. 2in. } \\
& \text { 1.: 11. R. } 27 \text {. } \\
& \text { 11. R. 28, 47. } \\
& \text { 11. R2. 2:3 (! ) }
\end{aligned}
$$

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { ls th the use of eromentratimn } \\
& \text { ampe in the south Ifrian war, amb } \\ & \text { anco of rofure in the war in the } \\ & \text { Whilippinws, swn Burlwolt, 1.51, 15.5: }
\end{aligned}
$$

aud. wn the question of conerentration or aviators be treated as spies, comesisthat! with this rerulation, when enarated openty in soruting: sien (openhnim, ii. 197.

( $\because 11$. R. 30 .
(") H. R. 31.
(h, IE to the cata of Majon Indré, sen [hill. iii. 172: : aml. on the cubjut -merally. Hall, 535 , worq.: (1)ppon-

Nun-Ho-tile Intercoursi: between Belligerents.

(i) Ceneral Character and Conditions. The conduct of war under modern ronditions alnost necessarily involves some occasion for intercourse of a mon-hostile chatacter betwern the belligerents. The formand methods of intercourse include: suspensions of arms. truece. armistices, Gupitulations, surenders, and other military conrentions: as well as the arrangement of cartels, the use of flags of truce and the graming of pasports. safe conducts, saferuarls, and licenses (o). All such agreements and the relations to which they give dise, are regardel at heing ulprimue fidei; whils some are also the subjoct of special rules, based eitlier on custom or convention (d).
ii) Flues of Truce, P'usports. - A flage of truce is used when one hellienrent do-ises to enter into communication with the other: the proper -rombol heing a white flag. The other party is not bound to receise the hearer in all wircumstances, an where this would interfere winh hi operation or reveal his position, althourg in such a case it $i-n s m a\}$ to amonnem the refnsal by signal (e). But if onee received. bonld the bearer and his attendants are inviolable; althongh they are - 14 h.a. to all necosary neasures of precaution, and are liablo to forieit their privilego if they abore their position f). A prasoport is

``` -r"i wierfar"
```

```
(f) Hailuth, ii, : \(: 31\).
1i ll. li. B2. 31.
```

[^33]hief officer locally in command, although subject to ratification by - uperior authority, and rerminable on due notice of a refural ( $n$ ). An armistice must be duly notified both to the proper authorities, and to the troops themselves; and all hostilities must cease as from the ime of notification, unless some other time has been agreed on (o). The terms of an armistice, with respect to the continuance of works w fortitications and the question of revictuallings, ought to be specifically agreed upon: but in default of express agreement, eertain conditions are implied by usioge $(p)$. Any serious violation of the anmistice by one party will justify the other in denouncing it, or even in recommencing hostilities without notice ( 4 ) ; but an unanthorized vindation by individuals will only justify a demand for reparation, and, if wittingly committed, a demand for the punishment of the guilty parties $(r)$. If no special time is agreed on lor the duration of the dumstice, either party may terminate it by notice $(s)$.
iv) ('upitulutions and S'urrenders.-A (apitulation is an agreenomt for the surrender of an entire army, a body of troops, or a forfress, upon conditions. Such conditions will necessarily vary accordinse the relative position of the parties: but they must accord with tho rules of military honour; and when once settled they must he sompulously wherved on either site $(t)$. Such an agreement may he ontered iuto be any officer having a separate command; but, if it, chntaincstipulations of an umusmal character, exceeding the authorily of the ottier in question-as where the victor concedes terms more farourable than a surrender "with the honours of war," or where the ranquished rommander agrees that his troops shall not neded to he ratifed either hy fle -worerga anthority or by the com-natuder-in-chioti. ant will he revocahle il such ratification is refused (a). It is an implied romblion that the rapitulating force -lall not destroy any worls. arms, stores. or ammunition in their poscs-ion, after the 'rondusion of the agrement (y). A survender dming an engagement is somsthos indicated by a white flag; but the most effordive token, whother with or without the exhibition of a white flace. concist in the athal having down of arms ( 2 ) .

Hostrefes. If war formerly tho practien to take hostages as a meanc of semuing the lut lulthoment of empaets of war: but this patotion hat now home erommally abamboned. Hostages, however.

```
            H. R. 37: lfallmok, ii. 312:
Hall. .it: iti.
            11. R. 3S.
            11. li. 3!1. IV t! mmpli+.| 1.01%- dition-. s.e |{allemk, ii. 3!1: |l:||.
ifl et sem.
    %, l!. R. t!.
    O11. li. 11: 11 Hall. .j1%
    &) !1. R. 3t.
    & |l. R. 35.
    (a) ilullamd. N`:m (m) 1:amd, 50.
```

(r) Hall, 5 tri-549. Is to the rapitulation of E l Grish, see llall. J48, and llallorel. i. 2-s: and. as to the "apitulation of Vorsailles, ibid. ii. 319 , 11. 2.
(i) Iiolland. Wiar on Tand. o().
(シ) I: to (Hatures arising nut of a failure to appreciate this during the Soutl Ifrisan war, see Baty, Internutional law in south frica, 79 et set?. are still taken to th－ure the prompt paynent of contributions and rephi－itions：or an a guatanter against in－urection or other unlawiul act－in mentuied territon？（a）．But their ure to cover a retwat．or as a protection aquinst leqitimate hotilities．is．in principle at ans rate，illegal．Horazes may not in any case be put to death，and should be treated ar pri－unem of war：althomgh u－ualty subjerted to a more riagone continement $(b)$

Tue Trevtahal of the Wueaded ani Sick．

 uational law．it cane in be remognized that enemies di－abled by womd－or sicknes sught not to be killod or illtreated（\％）．A iurther advance wa＝made when the duty of ministering to the need－of the womber（anme to be materaken by religion：loalion（J）．Jhat it was lone thene thi－cane to he recogizel as a duty incmbent on the bedigeremt themodres．The swedon．unter（instavni Adolphus． were pondaty the first io recognize surh an obligation．but it was erratual tran－fomation of what was oririnally only a distate of Chmanity fint a poritive duty was due to the growth of humane －minmemt．which repobated generally the hamher practive of war that hat hamatize the carlier periond even though they were occa－ sinally rexisod M．But here as in other hanchen of internatimal law．tho mandion wat offected largely hy the aid of treaties and （onseminn－it．Evens when the duty adme to be remenized．how－ it $n$ The wigin of the present－rotem is pretrably trateable to the hmmane impuls ant eflome of a momber of philanthropio imdivinat hand herfor A－the result of thene ethome a remi－

 Ilall，111．Fit：＂ppenhoim．ii．317， ；30．5． qaralal in pratin．．．

 tinata．in lfiti ind lfins．

 and wacampol it war．

nization was probably afforded hy the impormments of syotni wrourhit by the sanitary（ommis－ions aphointed by（ireat lbitain duriner tho（＇rinutan war．and by tha โnital statas dariner that（ivil war．
（7．Sum as W．I）Hmant．of（inmeva，

 iners of the wommed after that battle． athe is perohably one of the fow bomks that hats in inflamment theren world

 1；mivall．－ 1 ．

 （1）X．Muy゙ntar．
members of the stafl. together with their an-istants, should be nent matizal. sulject to the use of some common flag or bandee to ine in:mmationally agreed on. The tirn of theor recommembations bome imat in the extablishment som atferwats in different rombtrine of is rehef of the woumed and siek in time of war; whitet the semond resuhted in the summoning, through the medium of the swiss (iovem-

(ii) The (ienera C'oncention, 186-t, and the supplementery Conrention. 18ks. The (ienesa C'onvemion of $186 \%$, is noteworthy both an a tribute to the hmane spirit of the age that protued it. and as constitutiog the first sele fowands the enclifination of the baw of hand warfare. 'ihe principles which it emboried. athough now rexied and amended. still constitme the fommation of the exibing law. Briefly and in effer-it imperem on bedligerronte a po-itive duty of providing ath nerestary moms for the protection and sumom of the womded and sidk. These, whatever their nationaliys.

 Alt hompitats and ambutanese as welt as all persons emptored in the servie of the wounded and sids. were nefintalized and protected, -ubjee: to their being derignated either by a distinctive flate or baddee ats the case might be, bearing the device of a red arose on a white gronnd: this haring been chasen not as a religion emblem hom way of complinent to siwitzertand (h). Certan mivitoge and immunities were also conferred on sum of the local inhabitants as might affot sureour and shetter the womded on wick. Thi('onsention, alfomgh oriminally ahmete only by sixten lowers.

 framed. - mplementing and mrivine that of latit. and ostonding

 Whanwhite. with the lapse of time the eatier comemtion waplisthed hy at ('onference held at (ieneva in lout, which was attended hy some thirts-resen stater. and which produced the (ienesa Con-Hasue ('unference with respect to maritine war. was "eplaced by the convecpording ('onvention. N'o. 10 of 1907.

iii) The (ieneta 'omention of 1906 . -The more important pro-si-ions of the (ieneva Consention of 1906 may be grouped as follows:

1, 'The womded aml sick on either side are to be respected and "atred for hy the helligerent in whose fuwer they artmally are: ahthmon the Juty is imponed on a ledligerent who is compelled 10 abanton his womden of making, so far as possible, due provision for their nest fomm his own ataifind equipment (l). Nerextheless, warh bolligenent i- patitert. mander it hav been otherwise agreed. to hold any whundet ar sids helonging to the enemy who may he in his puaseion uf the hattlefied must take steps to protect the wounded antl deat against maltreatment and pillage: and most. so far as posible. examine and identify the dead prior to burial $n$ ). Each belligerent i- required to motity to the other the mames and subsequent di-poral or fate of the wounded and sick left in his hands and to return the privato property of thove who may die in). (3) The ascistance of the local inhabitants may he involied for the sucour and musince of the womnded, and special immunties mav he orranted to thone who reatonil (p). (4) Both " mobile metical mits " (q) and fixel wtablishments ${ }^{*}(r)$ are to be respected and protected. subject to their mot heing used for injury to the enemy (s). ©s All pereons "xclusiofy whened in the care of the womited and si k. intluding drafons and (blaplains are to he respected and protected fo. l'eronos so whedeet ammot. if taken, be helil as prienners of war: althomeh they may hereguired to discharge their functions so lomg as may he hersiary receiving, if members of the remular staff. the pay unal

1) Irt. 1.
$\ldots$ Irt. 2.
Irt.3.
Irt. 1.
1.t. 5.

 pitals, whethere actually mesable or atooll or at a lasio.

if they fall into the hands of the memy, may be appropriated, but may not. ienemeally ha diverted fo wther nses: that mintiriel of theld low-pitals may alon be tempomaly wed for the samb purpose: whilst the mutroirt of rohuntary abd wnderties is subjert to reguisition: sefe Iets. 14-16: amblas (1) the treatmont of convors ul exacuation. Irt. 17.
if Irta. 3.
("). Irte. 12. 1?.
( $\because=11 \mathrm{lt} .110$. be anthmisen buth be that belligerent and by their own (invernment; and their mames mast, be notified to the other helligerent ! f). (fi) By way of (ompliment toswitzerland the devie of a red cross on a white Eromad is retaned as the emblem and distinetive sign of the medical moployed in that surviee. and alos to be hoisted, as a flag, over all its wiablishments mader ronditions preseribed by the ('onvention (a); whilst it is tombden to employ that particular device, ejther in peace or war, for ans other purpose $(b)$. The signatory Powers untertake to i-sue the necessary instruetions to their military fores with respect (1) ther reguirements of the Conrention; and to bring then to the knowloder of the "ivil popmation (e). They further madratake to ahlopt all neessary measmes for presenting either pillage or the maltreatment of the wommed or sick, and for punishing the improper nn of the Red C'rosis flag and armlet by persons not entitled to its protertion $(d)$. The Conference also put on record a desire that difterner- arising as the the interpretation of the Consention shoukd, if ca-ns and wromstanes permitted, he submitted to the Permanent ('ont (e). This ('onvention, it will he seen, marks a distinet advance. hoth in lorn and substanes, on the earlier Convention of $186 t$. It prowide- lon the poticine of the hatteriedd, the identitandon of the dearl, and the reconghtion of Tolmatary Aid sorictios: whilst it is atoo, iti ite ionlminal part. more in hamons with modern military - onditions-(f) Prosenern or Wir.

 aro at liherty oretain all their presomal lelomeings, with the oxepp-

(11) Irt. 11.
( $\because$ ) Tris. 18, 19. Tursey, howtwer, proposes to contimu the bas of thre Red Cresechit, whilst undertakiner to reseret the inviolability of the lind (rons.
(1) Irt* : 0 (2).
i) Srt. ©:3. The denire was to tur&s a babed or trade mark. direat ? ritain. whil:t approviner the prinif - umbly provions of Irt-. 27 :and 24 aftont io it under tho munioipal haw.

 ther futhre nise of than (mbltan of the bidun: saving the right of propric--or who resisterad hetwe the lat to 1ha passiner thereof.

( 1 ) Art. 2t
, Irts. 2才. 2s.
( ) sue the fimal protomol of the 'onvontion: hat limat livitain and dapan did mot ancopt this: sere an artich by 1'rot'. Ilolland, F'artmightly Reriau', ( $f$ It has already beon ratidied by twonty-one States, including all the ereat Powers, with the exteption of फramow: whilst it would appear. by virtme of Irt. 21 of the Rewrulations ambered tot the ('onvorition. No. 4 of 1907. to be bindiner on all the siernatorise of that Combention, irrespertive of ita speritie adoption, althoush this iv not muivrosally almitted: sue ilollaml. War on Land, $2-$ : and. wnmrally, Jordwell, 181 et seq.

(s) Ind not of the captor.
(h) 1 I. R. 4.
bunnd, if questioned, to dectare his true name and rank (i). This are to be interned in a town. fortress, camp or other place; bum must.
 quires lí. 'Phey mast be mantatiod by the (isvermment of the "apitor, amble in dofant of sperial asperment between the belligerents.

 hat their atiks mast not be excosive or emmeetad with the opera-fion- wh the war. Thes may ako be anthorized to work lor pubtie horlis. prisate paramis. or on their own acooumt, receiving pay cat- hloir maning are to be applied as improving their position, whils any halance after delneting the cost of their mantenance, will he pravalo to them on their release $(\mathrm{m})$. Officers are to receive pay at the rates in fore in the captor's army this amonnt being repar - 10 the miliary laws in fore in the capores sate. For insubordination. wewh. we emspiracy (o) they are liahk to pumishment of surd dinciplinary treanment; whilst a prisoner who succerds in escaping i- mot liak to pomishment if eaptured anew (pt. They may lue redeaceal on parole if the laws of their own comatry sametion this. such release camot be fored on a prisoner; but if aceepied both he and his (forermmont are bound to a serupulons observance of the merasment : and, on default, the former will, il retaken, forfeit all right to he ferated as a prisoner of war amd may atso be tried before the military (ourts (q). When persons whof follow an amy withont helonging io it such as mewspaper eorrespontents. sutlers, and rantrartors. ate raphored. they are, if detained al ath, entitled to he treated a- prisoners of wat. subject to their posecsing a corlifieate from the military anthoritios of the army which they were acompany - fommb on the hattedonk or loft by prisoners who have thed on bext

```
(:) 11. R.!.
(/:) 11. R. ;
(/ ll. li. T.
(im) 11. R. (i,
(|, I|. R. 17.
```

```
Britinh military atutlumtims on this
```

```
fit; li=
```

(11) II. R. K.
(g) 11. 1:. 10. 11, 1:.
(i) il. li, 13.
(s) II. R. 14. I: to thar workiner of this bureath, mothre the entrexpond-

 111111 No
(t. H. R. 15.

The ordinary charges on letters or parcels intended for prisume

 Fssued by the military anthority ( $x$ ). After the conchanan of peace sible (! ! : sate as regarde thowe who are detained for debte, mommen law erimes, and as some contond whome aganst discipline (a) regulated be eartelelal: commisanice being appointed on cither side to - mervise their exemtion (わ).

Matitary Amthority ones Howthe 'Tbremors

 Terriory. The rishts and datios of a ledtoment invador wer the hosila formory and its inhahitants vary oreatly acoordine to his, pusibon. Mere invasion withont oerapation monfers on him only rights owor persons and property within his reath. But if the invasion is followed by oferpation. he then acepuies a territorial stathe which exen thongli mbly temposary and forovisomal in charatoreconters on him an addilional power and anthority fomether with certain incodental datios: these rishts and dutios lowing the sulaject of sperial rules. which are now emborded in the Lacone Regulations (o). Fimally, if the oerpation is followed hy antorest and ammexation. then the insader will herome invented with tho rights of someredent thilerent alepatment of the law of wat (d).

 pootered agatmat sodiation and rapine. Family homomer, tha lives of individuals and privato pornerty, ats woll as religione comviction-

(ii) 11. R. 16.
(r) 11, R. 1 s .
 not :pply to pricomer whon had her romer subjerote oi the eaptor state b. anmexation.
(2) Westlake. ii. 67. In 1s71 (6armany rlamed and exereised the rioht dieriplinary offorme watil they had fultillad their sontemeses but on the condusion of the Ruso-Japanese war no such claim appears to have been madde. In principio it would arm that the right of detention womes to an cond, at any pate as regards mare disciplinary offences. with the termination of the war. As to war Mimes. ser 11. 111, iniow.

(h) Is to the usuat terms of exchange and as to controversies that have arisen in rolation thereto. sote 11:31, 40 s.
 althoush this swelinn really indub stme rexulations that atphy anally th " now-or upiod " territury.

(f) II. R. 46 .
(f) Hi. R. 17.
(g) II. R. 23. pas. 2
nesans of detence ( $h$ ). For the rest, however, the inhabitants of the insaded territory will he subject to all risks incident to the conduct of hostilities. The seizure of property by the invader, whether as the property of the memy State, or as being required for military une. is subject to similar rules to those which apply in the case of "ecupied" territory (i).
(1entied Tervitory: The seope of Occupution. Under the Hague Rewnations tortitory will be deemed to be "oceupied" only when it is actually placed moder the authority of the invader; and the consocuenes of ocrupation will only apply where such authority is that "necupation." if it is to carry ile rights which attach to it under. the law of war, mus be supported be a fores sufficient to maintain the anthority of the oempant (l); and that it will terminate at the point at which that foren ceases to be effective. Hence, a belligerent cannot chaim th mereise the rights of an occupant merely by proclamingery tory to be in wempation: nor wan he extend the limite tion of adjumg heritory where his anthority is not in fact allective $(\mathrm{m})$. Aets done antside these limite, aren though ohtherwise within the eompetenee of a belligerent, may be amolled on his withdrawal $n$ : whilst, in so fan as they are incapable of lowing ammalled, they would atiord a good gromed for a cham for compensation, which. having regard to the terms of the Hague ('mbentions. would not appear to be affected by the canclusion of peatere(o).

The legal efferts of orrmpation. There has bern much variation of thener and pradiee as regarde the elfecte of military one upation on the rights and dutime of the ownant ( $p$ ). But it is new gencrally recognized as confering on the owempat only a temperary or provisonal status, which has the effert of suspenting the autherity of the legitimate (eovermment within the sphere of operppation, and of inveting the occurant with ertain powers and responsibilities. which rest in part on military newsity and in part on the abeyance for the time being of all other anthonity ( $q$ ). These are shomly: (1) a right, whinh is howerer attended by a correlative duty, to provide for the

1.) If. R. it. (ientathy, Rusita.
 umber reservation of this Irtielo: sem Holiand, Il:ar on batd, sis. Is tor the 2(i.), f s.ry.

 more stahbe position buine woresarily

(1) . . to the analogr of howdade, ※以 (1) 106, infin.
(in) Hatl, 178.
(o) Is to that ammbment of atots Alowe in rxome of the rixhti of wetor

(o) Is where taxtes hatl beral (o) foepod outvider the limits al atemal
 1r1. : 3 .
(11) Hall. 16i3, 1655. 169).
(1) Il:1ll, 16i3: Kaltili, 18.
country so far as military needs may require. and subject to the ronditions and limitations mentioned below ( $r$ ).
(1) The right to goverth. The authority of the legitimate (invernment pases. temporarily into the hands of the oceupant. The latter, howerr, is expressly forbidden to exact any oath of alleqiance from the popmlation of the occupied temitory (s). He is also required to takir all steps in his power to establish and ensure so far as possible public oreler and safety, whilst respecting, unless absolutely prevented, the laws ahready in force ( $t$ ). In effect, this means that in all mattors affecting the safety of the army of occupation and the -ncers of its operations, the teritorial law is liable to be replaced hy martial law. in the sense and subject to the conditions previousty dearibed (u): although in other matters the territorial law, and especially that part of it which affects the civil relations of the iuhabitants to eadh other, ought not to be interfered with $i x$ ). In the matter of judicature, also. a helligerent in oceupation may, su far as military nede require replace the ordinary conrta by military conrta and prosedure: hut in other respecto he should allow the former to continnt their functions, and may not even require then to exercise their functions in his name (!/). In the matter of artministration. $\therefore$ apreme control necessarily pasies to the ocenjant. athongh he is reguired to conduct it, so far as possible. on the same lines as before, and when practicahle theough the ageney of such of the local offecial-a- are wilting 10 remain. From such ufficials the ocempant may oxaet a limited oath of obodience, an, for example, not to use thest powers to his detriment: but he camot require them to exereise their power in his name. or require them to do acts that conflict with their duty to their own country ( $\sim$ ).
(2) The montrol. of the imbubitants. - Althomeh the oceupation of enemy tervitory confers on the occupant a right of supreme control. this, resting as it does on awom force. does not carry any duty of obedience on the part of the inhabitants except such as may be dictatad by prodence (it) In the exprese of this power the occupant commonty treats all acto of hostility agaimet himeolf as ponishabld. Acts already forbddon to non-combatants by flon laws of war. such as the killing or womding of his soldiops, the destruction

(i) /nirin. P. 111 .
(.) |I. R. 4.).
(1) 11. R. 43.

This is prohably thr momange

(y. . lis to a mispute on this -ubingot athd an appropriata mothod of sulation. -ッ |lall, 171 : and Oprernlı2in, ii. $\because 11$.
 pulitical ofticiak and railway and tela-draw of their own aerord or are sus pended by the oceupant. Is to the different elases of officials and theis oblimations: in this respect. see Bordwell, 307 it wit.

(0i) Sombe writers indent, assom : legal duty of obedienes on the part wf the inhabitant: apart from the form. whill mompels this: whilst otherelimit this th such ato of the or-mpunt aare directed to the maintemane of bublir ordar: an liordwidl, 300.
 the pend ly of death. Uther acte, such i2s spying on the oreupant, mislarling hiv fonps, ox wiving information to the enemy, even ahla. The inhablank ot districts in which such ohtene are commithad, momestri, maty he held collectively responsible: although Thi- is 110 sub ject to the restriction impoed by the Hague Regulafuns. Which powide in eliect, that no genoral penaly, pecmiary "r utherwise. -hall he inflicted on the population at lare for acts home la imlividuals. (xatpt on actual or presmmptive evidence of knombrige or emmivaneat The use of hostaces on trains. in "rdar te jreven train-wreckine by the inhabitants of occupiel teri+ur i- in principhe permio-ihla althoush generally repohated ans litita likely to promer efficacious in praticele. But if the inhabifants rise in insurection. Whether in laree or small borlies. they : annot chain to bee treatod as lecritimate combatants (d): although - hir wonld not apply to a case where the occupation was in fact - hown to he ineffertive (p). All arms and munitions of war axe made an affenos. Leaving the toritury to join the forces of the meny may alsu be fomblden, ami is wen punished. althongh im-$\therefore$ anl inhaljitants. The services of the latter nay alwo be regni--itimod $f$ : although it is forbidden, as well in occupied as in monwirnerl territory, to compel them to take part in operations, or to ix, intmmation, against their own conntry $(g)$.
3) The use of the resources of the country: (a) The seivure of formoly.-Tmmovalle property belonging to the enemy State inthding pullic buildings, forests and agricultural underakings, may (4) taknor poscesion if: athough the weenpent, in such a ease. wit n!y In demed to acquire a usufruct, and must administer the profor quiated. tomethor vith depots of arms. means of ransport, fond ami supplies, and such other property as may bo of u-e for

```
        1...-3._年. 4.5.
```

```
        a:- alal is: ti&, Sumath Itriom war, if 11. 1.j1
            1. '1"Y. worldI in mom momapienl
        H,\cdots!: - त||, \:, :.
```

```
        ノ.7%...1!. 1!!
            <...11. 111--
```

not to impair it subetanes: see II. R.
55: and Just. Intitutme ii. 1 .

pear to include only delte whim rempire for thair exartion no more than the froduction of the instrument of inthatmanese: for the oreruyant has.
- (o) far. in right he virtur of -uceression, and homen richt todo any art which is proment to the rembliter state.

the control of the ompapat: and ilrotnot to impair it subetanes soe H. R. 5.5: and Just. Institutnc, ii. 1.

par to include only domete whird rempire for thair exartion no more than the frextuction of the instrument of inthtatnese: for the orerurant has.

 i: prommal to the romblesi state.

 Pivan propert: whilat the seizme destmetion, or intontional injury of historical momuments or works of art or science, is expresty torbiddra/b. As rezarts private poperty, all foms of pillacat are fommally pohhbited mo: aml it is expmesty provided that prisate Property shall not he embiscated ( $n$ ). This apparent immunity is, inter mivaty personc at woll as any appliances for the transport of phry in sumal, if mist, if sill in esse, le restored on the restoration "f prame: whily in any ras an indemmity mast be paid in respect of w peace to detmmine lys which party the indemnity shatl be paid (q). In whdition th this, privater property is suljoce to eomnibutions and reguisitons. and to penaties imposed by military may aho sizo amd wan motral property fomporarily found within his jmisthetion: although -uh jeet to at duty of restitution. if that ber powiber after the nowl tor it has rememb. and, in any cave subject to the prament of a prown intemmity is

(h) Ther aflection of theres. The Haque Requlations, whilst not
 ?reomizt the pratice of dullos so: anl, on this assmoption, provide 1hat if the ocrupant wollerts taxts, dues and tolls." imposed for the
 "i' awesment and incid nere freriously in foree, and shall also defray the rapenese of administration to the same oxtent as the leotimate (Govermment was houml follo(1)
(6) The lw? of contrimulions and ropulicitions. Contributions are pament: in money. over and above the ordinary taxes, levied hy a helligerent on the inhalitants on on localities within his control. - uch (ontributions may mow ho impozed mly for the needs of the

A 11. R. 53. ind is, indeod, mad" penal;
!I. IS . its.
(1) 11. R. 47.
) 11. R. 16.

1. to which. aty 1) 1:3! A..1/w.

The ratewt of thic appore to he rily the subject of maritime capture.
 and within their reach, under the ronditions preseribed by the present article: see Bordwell, 32-.
(9) 11 R. 53.

(f) Thas by implimation axclumine his right to leiy rates imposed by loca: 1 Authoritios: sise Holland. War on Land. it: Westlake, ii. 94.
(ii) 11 R .48 .
army. or to meet the expenses of administration, and not for the mere purpore of enriching the invader $(x)$. They can only be levied moder a writem ordar and on the responsibility of the Commander-in-(hidef: they mus be lesied as far as possible, in accordance with Whe rules af asesement and incidence previously in force: and for exey contribution a perejpt must be given (y). The last condifion. howerer, dones not carry a right to indemnity, whether against the belligerent invader or the territorial Power; althongh reimhurement in frequenily mate by the later with a view to equalizing the lowes war. Renpisitions are demands made on the inhabitants (ur on localition, chther for articles. such as food, chothing or instrumemte of transport : or for serviecs, such as thase required of habouress and drivers or those involved in the working of the railways, postand telegraphs $(z)$. Requisitions may be made on the anthority of the C'ommander in the lorality occupied: but they can only be made for articles or services needed by the army of occupation: and must not he out of proportion to the resonrees of the country, or such as th involse the inhalitants in an obligation to take part in "military" operations against their own comntry (a). It is expressly provided that supplies in kind must, so far as possible, be paid for in cash. and that in defant of this a receipt must be given and paynent made. as soon as possible ( $b$ ). This regulation, it will be seen, althonglı it expresses the desirability of paying for supplies in cash. doe not impose any specific obligation to do so. It is, howerer, generall? politic on the part of the belligerent to pay for supplies in cash. beanse it produces a more ready compliane with requisitions: whilst he can generally indemnify himself for the parment be lerving at emmilation on the district at large. If this is not done. then the question of payment ought strictly to be arranged for by the teraty of peace. Demands for contributions, and also for requisitions of ans magnitude, are nenally addressed to the local anthorities. who aro requied to apportion the lery amongst the inhabitants and to se that the drmand is complied with. Compliane is smetimes enformend inter wlits. bes the taking of hostages (f).
 Reatedy.
 ment as whow hatilitio ame commened withont dur moter, or som

```
11. II. f!!. I. tい thr masparing has of lhis rieft bx har (idrmathe
```

``` fase -trictly than II. R. ti relation on
```

[^34]untawful method of warfare such as privatecting, is resurted tw: or hy a belligerent commander or the foree mader his comtod, as where
 viduals, cither withont official sanction, or in ciremestanes where moticial sanction will sultice to exempt the individual wrong-ther, as where parole is broken or assassination atempter. By the lagne Comvention, No. 4 af 190 . Art. 3 , it is provided that a belligerent who violates the regulations shall, if the eave demamb, be liable to make rompensation; and also that each belligerent shat be responsible for all atto committed by persons foming part of armed forces (d). Bun these provisions, although valuable ats attesting the whigatury character of the regulations. previde no machimery wherehe the obligation mas be wione effect to. As reqade violations by a helligerent (iovermem, a remedy may in centain ciremetances be fomm in at reond tor reprisals (e), but in a case where reprisats would mot appls or asail. relief can only be sought in protest and bey appeal the the judgment of eivilized state-1f). The efficuce of -nch an appeat, as at dement, is eren now not ineonsiderable. and will probably grow in strength as time procecd, both on accome of the incrating fear of nempal distarome and for the reason that in st far as the rulow of war are now embedied in consention all signanmies have a common interest in ensming their observance. As regards riotations hey a belligerent commander or the fores moder his conten, pronest may be mate either to the commander himeolf, or to the belligerem (roverment: whilst in detault of satis-These consist in athe of retaliation - not nemesarily similar in chabacter to the act- complained of - which are exercised either aquans persmo otherwise immoent as where prisoners of war are put to death: or agains property, as where village or howes are destreved on acemon of offences commited in or hear them. But repriats san in general only be authorized he the commander-in-Chief: and shonde only le rewomb to after carefnl inguiry into and on clay proof of the violations emplated of and in cases where no other redpese is obwheht to be pumithed he the bedigerent to whas fores the offender pmished are subsumently (apmed and an be identifed, they mat

[^35]war in 1904, although in that $1: 1.4$ probably unfoumbed: ser p. .s. .....
(1/) $i=$ to the possible pmolislmmet sere (tpernlam. ii, 3lt.
(h) llolland, IV:ar on Tatmel. Al:

$114 \quad l^{\prime \prime}$ ess unel 1 pimions on International Lau'.

the pumished her the helligerent argrieved. In the matter of punishment, the fact of such illegal acts haring been done by official orders will not in general suffice to exempt individuals who are shown to hase heen implicated therein: unless. indeed, the act was collective and its illegality not sufficiently obrious to be capable of being appreciated by individual soldiers ( $k$ ).

Wir Crimes.

The term "war crimes" is rommonly applied to acts done by individuals or boulies of individuals, which, whether legitimate or not a- atc of watr. will expore those who do them. if captured, tぃ punidnnent. av distinct from mere detention. These include

1) atct of war committel by mathorized persons, as where non-"ombatant- engage in lostilities or the inhabitants of occupied territury riee in insurrection : (2) acts forbidden by the laws of war, whether committed by combatants or mon-combatants. such as assas--ination. maraudins. and treachery in cases where the laws of war imply good faith: and (?) acts not forbidden by the laws of war, but made penal hy rearon of the menace which they involve, such a- espionage attempta to indure desertion or betrayal, and the intantional misouiding of troops (b). When punishment, other than rapital. has been inflirted for such offences. it would seem that it is strictly not racatml hy the restoration of peace ( $m$ ).

WITH sPECIAL REFERENCE TO RECENT ('ONVEXTlONS.

Thie Acope of Maritime Wirfare.

[^36]this kind. and alvo althomeh in this asas impropery wforme eommitterd by the inhal)itante actint an army an wornation. On the subjeret of ${ }^{\circ}$ war (") ()ppertheim, ij. 27).
 Westalke. ii. 90.
although the conduct of war by land and sea is groverned in some respects by similar rules ( $u$ ), yet the latter possesses certain distinctive features, which are attributable. in part, to the different conditions under which it is waged; in part, to the retention of the right of capturing private property: and in part also to the fact that neutral interests are here more largely and directly involved than in war on land. These form the subject of special rules, which may be said to constitute the maritime portion of the law of war.

Tife Development of a Laif of Maritiaif Wirfare.

The development of a law of maritime warfare resembles, in its seneral outline, that of the law of war on land. But there are also certain notable differences. In the first place the emergence of definite customs regulating belligerent action on the sea began much earlier: for the germ of these customs is to be found in those bodies of maritime usage which-long before the rise of international law and in deference to the influence and cosmopolitan connections of the merchant clas- established themselves in different parts of Europe, and were even recognized as having the force of law, as then understool, irrespective of national boundaries (b). In the second place, the cuntoms of maritime war, although they did not escape the attention or the influence of the text writers, were developed more largely them any other branch of international law by the action of the Courts, and eopecially by the Prize ('ourts which were established at a comparatively carly period in different comntries for the purpose of deciding on the ralidity of maritime captures. Finalle, in the various cutoms relating to maritime war, and experially in those that touch an the relations of belligerents to neutrals, we notice an even greater divergence in the practice of States or groups of states than in those affecting land warfare: for which reasou the task of establishing. uniform rules he way of eonsention was atended be greater difficulty: and had. indeed. prion to the Indaration of London. achiered a maller measure of sucersici. It will, however. be convenient, at the present stage, to exclude from our consideration those parts of the law of maritime war which are especially con erned with the relations wi belligeremt* and nemtrals, as heing more appropriate to the subject of neutrality.

The Áotrese ofe the: Evictivi Law.
The rules governing the conduct of war he sea alon omprise a wrimen and an moritten element. The former comsiste of mates nuw ombulied in rarions international ('mpentions and Declarations. Whila the latter consists of rules that still rest on entiom and mari-

I, fick. p. 116.

ls to these maly maritime

[^37]time tralition．There are，however，some rules derived from each of these sources which apply equally to warfare on sea and land．So， the Dedaration of＇t．Pelersharg， 1868 （ $d$ ）and the Hagne Declara－ tions（e）are applicabo wo both kinds of warlare．Again，there aro rules such in these prohibiting aseasination．pos－oning and the relnal of ghartor，and those regnlating the treatment of war on land but which atill apply in their customary forn to wardare hy ea（f）．Wibl reaped to the written element，this comprise the following intermational Acto and Conventions：（1）The Declaration of Paris．18．jts．which，although manly concorned with the relation－ between befligerents and nentrals（ $g$ ）．yet alfecte aloo the relation－ of the helligerente themetves，in so far as it deals with the ：uhject of privatering（h）（2）The Hagne Convention＇re－ lative of the status of enemy merrhan ships at the ont－ hreak of hostilitime．＂No fo of 1907．which exempts from captme． moder extain monditions．chemy vessels in or on their way th the perte of a betligerent on the oubreak of war（i）（3）The Hacue fonvention＂relative to the conversion of merchant shipe into wathins，＂No． 7 of 1906 （li）．（f）The lhage Convention＂rolative 10 the laving of antomatic：whmarine contat mine－＂No． 8 of $1907(1)$ ． （5）The Hague（onsemtion＂reapectine bembardment hy naval fore in timen war．＂No． 9 ，of 1907 （m）．（6）The Hagen（＇mbention＂for lime war．＂No． 10 of $1907(m)$ ，wihh which we may gromp ：mimn
（1）ぶ＂ノ゙ル，J．94．
（r）So fur as they apply at all：see

（f）The comberitional rules which of was，alfhomeh mot strietly applicable th thaser maptured on the semp，at any rater matil there are landed．would probaloly ber whewed throughout，in －．．far as flar situation aldmitam． a）In so fiar at dealy with hhmembe and the immunity of mentral grave in mentral－hipe． （h）Thin berlatation has now bemo ：arental hy all matime Powere of Stata in tha wivil wan of 1sfil atml in the Spani－h－\mminat war of ls！心 iní＂．

（i）This han beren sierned bey all the
 with the rexplich of the fatum riar ratione：and hat buw lyan rati－ fied by Great Britain：see Tabs． App，xir．

（k）This has been signed by all the Powers represemmed．with the ex－ ception of the Chited States，（hisam and three minor Powers：and hats now been ratifiod by Great Britain：ww． Table．Appe xir．
（1）This hat bem sigmed．althomen in some rases with rearmations，l，y all the Powers representend，with thi exreption of Rustia，Spain，Portugral， Sweden．Clima，and twominor Powers： and has now bom ratifion．althoment with reservations．by fireat Britain： sw Table．I Ph xiv．
（im）This hate also brem rigmed bive all the Powere remescinted with the exerption of（＇hima．Spain，and Nica racrua．althomeh ith sombe rases with remerations：and las mow berall ratifid

 the Powere repremented，with thir ex－ mption of Nicaramen：but hy（irmo Britaln umber rexemation of \arts． 16
 －cration with reapert to the inter

Convention relating to hoopital ships," conchoded at the Hagre in 1904, exempting hospital ships in time of war from certain port charges (o). (7) The Hagne ('onvention "relative to certain restrictimsem the exerefe of the right of eapture in matime war," No. 11 of 1907 (p). There are also other Comventions, such as that "relative to the estahbishment of an [nternational Prize ('ont," No. 12 of 1997 , and that "respecting neutral rights and duties in maritime war." No. 1: of 1907 , which, although concerned for the most part with the relations of belligerents and nentrals, yet touch eithor at cortain points or indirectly on the relations between the belligerents themselves. The rules embodied in these fomsentions constitute a body of writen law which may now he taken to be anthoritative, except perhaps as against a few Fowers that have either refinsed to adopt them or have adopted them muder reservation of particnlar prorisions (q). (ii) As regards the "unwiten element," there remain. despite these ('onventions, a large nmmer of topics - some of them of the first importance, such as the question of enemy character for the purposes of maritime capture, ant the question of the phare at wheh merdhant ships may be eonrerted into warships which are still left to the operation of the enstmary law. Indeen, prion to 1907, it may be said that, save for the Dectaration of laris, the relations between belligerents and nentrals as regats the conduct of war by sea were governed almost wholly hernstom $(r)$; althongh it was preriwhy in matters belonging to this branch of law $(s)$ that the practice of states was most divertent. This, however, has. as whall see hereafter, now been rectified in some measure by the Detlaration of London. 1909 (t), in an far ac that may arait.

Bombarmumt by Num. Fordic: Contrabtions, Requistioxs, (Nu) Pillace.

I'mer the chamary lan. form was moh divergence of opinion as to whenles a felligerent, in maval war, might bombard undefended bombardment. Juritis opinion in erneral inctined on the tiew that pretation wi Irt. l2, and not sot tar ratitienl: hy China muder reservation of Srt 2l : and by Turkey and Porsia undmerservation of a riolit to wse the laml (rowont, and the Lion and lied :̈n, respertivoly, in lien of the

 This (omwention has lowen -iened hy all the Powres reppesenterd at the ( himat. Nontemerro, Ni"aragua, and lassci: : and has now leern matifed by Gimalt Pritain: see Table App. xix.

(11) $/$ /ini .
(i) Althmed oftem declareal or momlitied hy particonlar tration.
 tha dererime of tha eontinumad vorate, monogy ummbatral sowice, amd tho alostmetion of mentral prizes.

parpose of anforcing requisitions in kind necessary for the hostile Aleet: and that comtifmtions rould only be exacted after a piace had been imsested or ocempied by a force actually landed (u). But naval opinion and pratice weve for tho most part opposed to these limitations (r). It was in view of this divergonce, and in pursuance of a wish to that effect recorded by the Conference of 1899, that the matter was bronght up for consideration before the Hagne Conference of 1907 ; with the result that an agreement on the sulnject was ntimately reached amd embodied in the Convention" respecting bomhadment by naval forces in time of war," No. 9 of 1907 . In eflect, this ( omsention prohibits senerally the bombardment by naval fores of "modefembed" ports, tomms, villages. dwelling's or huildings: and alon provides that a place shall not be treated as " defended" solely hecanse antomatic submarine contact mines are anchored off the harthour ( $x^{\prime}$ ). Nevertheless, even in the case of umdefended places, hombardment may be resorted to for the purpose of destrosing military works, military or maval establishments, war material. work-hops or plant rapable of hostile use or ships of war in harbour if the local anthorities after the notice fail to destroy them: whilst. if required by military necessity such a bombardmont may aren be the town mat he spared so lar as possible (z). The hombardment of motelented plates ds also allowed if, aftor formal demand, the local anthonities fail (oromply with requisitions for provisions on supplies neaded for immediate use by the maval fore before the place. Sinch requisitions must be in proportion to the reanores of the plater they (ath maly be made in the name of the eommander of the fores and they most bo paid for so far as posibte in (ash. or failing this, their receipt mast be acknowledoed ati. But the bombardment of mudefonded place for the non-payment of money contributions is altogether forbidden (b). In all Jombardments by naval foreses. momeoter. steps must be taken fo parm as far as posisible hmildinge dewotm to public worship, apt samoe or whatitahle forposes. historic mommments, hospitals amd places where the riek or wommed atw collected. so long as they are not heing used at the time fon military purposes: such places bering indieated hy a distimetive render it imposible. notien of an impenting hombardment must also
(1) Sise the male formuated in 1896
 Hall. 130. 11. ㄹ.. haval mabumper in peare: but see conaton ther. S. Nasal IV: Cor Co of 1900. Which : stop,te in the math the rulas lormalatal he the latitute. ()n
 ii. 26il 11 arm.
(N) Sice Irt. I. Thic was. however, ohjowted to on the ermom that such mines are really more formidable than grume and aleo more danerous to navigation; and has. therefore not been amepted by Great Dritain. France (inmany and dapan.

$$
\begin{aligned} & \text { (a) Irt. 3). } \\ & \text { (b) Irt. & } \\
& \text { (c) Irt. 5. }
\end{aligned}
$$

be given to the inhabitants (d); whilst the giving over of a place to pillage even when taken by assant is in any case forbidden (e)

Ruses-Deceit-Filse Flags.

The employment of ruses and other methods for deeniving the enemy is allowed to the same extent. and subject to similar limitations, as in land warfare $(f)$. This exthdes all forms of treachery: all false statements in maters where the word of a commander iintended to be acted on without enquiry; and also the use of signand emblems to which a particular meaning attaches for any other purpose than that for which ther stamd. The use of a false flag is permisible, althongh oceasionally forbidden by monicipal regulation: hut in any case it is suhject to the condition that a ressed mast show her true tlag before proceding to attack (g).

Tim: Use of Subitarife Mints anil Torpemoes.

The different linds of mines now used in naval war are:(1) Mines laid or anchored at sea, but fired by an electric current controlled from the shore: (2) Mines anchored at sea, which explode amtonatically on coming into contact with a passing ressel: and (3) Floating mines, which similarly explode be contact hot are mot anchored. Of these kinds of mines, the first, being moler control. present no danger to peacelul shipping: but the semmed are not only a somen of danger in situ, but are apt to break lonse and th ansume the eharacter of manchored contact mines; whith the kat are the most dangerons of afl, inasmueh ats, being at the merer of wind and tide, they may be carried anywhere and heme disister at any time on imneent resche. The sermondanger to nemal hipping following on the use of both the latter kinds of submarine mines wagember athested be the experiences of the Ruson-Japatese war of fore made to impore. by common agrement. eserain rearictions upon the use of surh instrumenti by belligerent. In the reonh. ant after protonged dixus-jon, an agement. although ouly of a provisional chanacter (i), was reached. which is now embotied in the (impention "relative to the laving of antmatic sumbarime enntan"

```
    d) Art. 6.
    -) Iot. 7. On the wubject Ereme-
```

```
leck, i. .ita, sta!:and a- to the Briti-h praticu. Manmal of Naval Prazelalw.
62.
h) It the Name ('onfremon it was stated by the Chinese dolomate that a vate number of coasting veseme, fishiner boat : and the like, had been lost owiner to thesemines, and that frons five fors hundred persons encrased in peatefont pur-uits hanl su protishl: sur Promer Hixerins, 329: Barelay. Prohlems. S! rtsery.
```

(i) See Preamble to ('onsention: - until surh time at it maty be possible to fo:mulate rulos which shatl "nsum to the interest-incolved all the ermatam unanchored contact mines muless so constructed as to become harmfers withom one hour after eontrol over them has ceaseds to hay anchored comate mines that do not become harmlens on getting fone: and, tinally, to use torpedoes that do not become hambes after mioxime their mark (k). It is also forbidden to lay contact mines off the coasto and ports of the enemy, with the sole object of intercepling commercial navigation (l). When anchored contact mines are used arer? posibla precantion must be taken for the security of peaceman magation. Belligerents are reguired to do their utmost to render such mines hamless within a limited tmes and, if they shombleme to be under ohservation, to motity the danger zones, as noon at military exigencies permit, alike to mariners ame to Stamo (m). Nentral Powers which lay contact mines of their const arw - -uhjere to the same conditions: whilst in this case notice must lee given in advance $n$. At the close of the war all such mines are required to the remond in so far as possible, each Power removing it: own mines: whilst where contact mines have been laid thy one belligerent off the coast of the other their position mast be notitied by the former to the latter (o). Nevertheless, Powers not as yet fosescing perfected mines of the deseription contemplated by the Convention. are exmpted from these provisions, and are merely rengined to eonvert the materiel of their mines as som as porible, -o as to bring it into conformity with the abovementioned requirenumter $p$ ). The ( omvention is io remain in force fur seven years (I), and thereater mates denomed in the manmer preseribed ( $r$ ). The guestion of the employment of contact mines is to be reopency letwent the montracting Powers six menthes hefore the elose of the periol firsi named. maless the matter shatl have been previonsly doate with by the thire Peace Conference(s). (ireat Britain has, howeves, only satifiod the convention mater severve of a derdaration that the fact of ite mot prohibiting partiontar procedinge monst mot be takell to delar her from contesting their legitmaer (f). This ('onvention is altagether unsatisfactory: both as imadomately sategrading nemtal inferexs. and as theroby and in the oromt of descimpere are greatly weakened be the saving chate in farome of (wontand mine may still be baid ly a belligerent on his who wathe for selfedefonce. or in the waters of the enemy for attank. "1. "Mon wh the high seas, the the great modamemment of montral hipping. And althongh it is formiden to lay these whim

```
1.1 Irt. 1.
    \rt.2.
    (n) lrt.3.
    (1) Irt. I.
    #) Irt. i.
    \primeNO limit of time briner - pereified:
Im. (i.
```

[^38]mereial navigation," it will ahways be open to a belligerent to allege a military , object. Which it will be diflicult of impossible to disprowe $(x)$. The requirement that where mines coare to be unter oherration the danger zones mast be notified is also rendered illuory he the qualification "as soon as military exigencies permit." The British declaration, moreover, serves largely to relegate the question of the legality of the use of mines to the domain of the "hstomary latw. Here we have nothing to guide us except general principle and analogy. The use of floating coutact mines any where axept perhaps during an engagement and on strict condition of their becoming harmless within a limited time-would appear to be wholly indetensible (y). The nse of andored mines on the high - would appear to constitute an intringement of the principle of the freedom of the sea and the general right to seemrity of navigation. It is true that helligerents are entitled to eary on their operations on the high sea, and that neutrals must accept all consequent risks whilst anch operations are proceding: but this insulver only a transithy danger, which is generally apparent and avoidable (yy). Finally, the nes of anchored rontact mines. even in belligerent waters althongh commonly approved - would appar-save for the phapose of detence and on condition of efficient notice of exclusion-th be an infringement of the right of imorent passage or acess (ymy). Neither helligerent right nor belligerent need an justity the de--tmetion of nentral vesels and crews engaged in lawful trafle; whilt, even as to thove engaged in unla wful tratlic, belligerent right ammot extend to the substitution of instant destraction for the ordibary pemalty of (apture and condemmation after or subject to judicial dempere:

The: Applicitiox of the Prixcteles of the (ienex Contevtion to Nifit Wir.

The treatment of the wombled, sick. or *hipwrecked, in naval war, is now requated ly the Consention "for fhe ataptan on the prin"ipter of the Coneva Compention to matime war," No. 10 of 1907 , "hith revies the corverponding Convention of 1899, in the light of the whates eflectod he the (ienera (omention of 190 d relative क) land war. and replaces it as betwen the signatories (a). It

[^39] Wiatlake, ii. 320-32ti: Pearee llig-
 by lanifute of latornational Law. i! 30 ) ibinl. 3t4.
( 11 ) Sime Irt. 25. Is to simmatures. ratificatioms. and roservations. son Table, App, xiv., infre. Turleey and Porsia sign mader reservation of a rioht to wso the Jed (reseent and Lion and Red sun, respectively, in lien of ther lead (rooss; and fireat more important provisions may be conveniently grouped as follow: (1) All sailors sokdiers and others officially attached to fleats on ammes ate when sick or wounded to be respected and cared for by the eaptorsh: whils after an engagement a betligerent is requirent ( 1 fultil the same datier as in war on land (c). Subject to this- wommend wick. and shipwrecked persone who may be captured hecome primment wat: and the surender of thoe found on board hospital shipe hobnemine to the other belligerent may also be domandedul. Thereafter they may either be detained as prisonerof war. or ont th a nentral ematry, or even to their own conntry un mondion wint serving agoin during the ware). If left at a nemaral port with the coment of the authorites they ment he interned and temend he the nemtal (ruvermment, althongh an the cost of their own statn $f(\underline{2}$, With re-pect to hospital ship-- three kinds of fitted out for that purpose by the belligerent states: (b) privatu ho-pital -hips, theo being resels fitted out he private individuah or officially recomized relief societies belonging to either belligement: and e neutral hospital ships, the ee being vessels that have been fitted out by private individuak or oflicjally recognized societiebelonemar th neptral countries, but placed under the control of one belligernt with the aseut of their own Croverment og . Sinbject 10 contain conditions preseribed by the Convention-which include a notification of their intended wee th the other belligerent. their non-m* fin mititary purposes, the ure of a colsur de-ionation varying with the kiat of vesorl. and the use of the preseribed flagsih all such rawel- are exempt from capture and attack: and are. pren when the promery of the sata. free then the reatriction attachine to fuldic lempernt resers in nentral porta. On the other hant. they are remper to afford reline without distinction of natimality: they mu-t not he used for militars purpoce under pain of fortaiting their privileme: the mas not hamper either of the combatant:

 wondmi on twat enenty warship -when an engacement menes all

```
İritaim under raworsu of Srt*. & andt 21: alifmomh. int f:rot. tho future use rof thi- wmblemt fl:t- lurot tombidden,
```

```
    b, \!^.!1
    ,.) \rl. 11, 17: ||| w. 1f1t.
    (d) \r1. 1:2
    (o) \r+. 11
    (i) 1rt. 1.5.
```

(q) . Irts. 1-3. 3.
(b) All hostital shifs are to be painted white military hospital ships haviner al-a: luri\%nntal hand witereen. amd num-military at -imilar hamd of pal: whilht all most thy the fieneva flat. towsthor with their national flag. ar if nentral. then also tha flat of that bedligeremt artare whoze montmen they art: -ッ. \rt-. : . . .
(i) Irts. 1, s.
priated by the captor. but must not be diverted to other nees, save in case of military nerestry and even then only after due prosvision has been made for the sick and wounded found therein (h). The members of the religions, medical. or hospital stafl of a captured ship are inviolable and camot be made prisoners of war. They may be required to continu: the discharge of their duties so long as may be necessary, receiving in that case the same pay as if they belonged to the captor's forees; but thereafter they must be allowed to leave, taking with them such articles and instruments ahelong to them (l). (f) With respect to the right of neutrals to render fortuitons aid to wounded, sick, or shipwrecked combatantsbelligerents may appeal to neutal merchant vessels. vachts, or boats to receive the sick and woundod: and such ressels as comply, as well ato others who receive them. shatl enjoy special protection and may be granted certain immunities. In no cise, moreover, is a nentral vessel to incur any liability by reason merely of having such persons on bourd (me). At the same time, the right of a belligerent warship to require the surender of sick and wounded helonging to the enemy is expressly extended to those found on hoard nentral vessels. other than pullic ressels ( $n$ ) . (ipat Britain, however, signed the Conrention under reservation of a declaration that this article is to be miderstond as applying "only tor the case of combatant rescued during or after a hasal engagenent in whith thes have taken part" (o). When wounded. sick, or shipwerked persoms are received on board a nentral war ship. although their survender camot be demanded, every preantion must be used to present such persons from taking any further part in the operations of war ( $p$ ). In the cave of combinet naral and military operations the Convention applies only to fores on shiphoardig'. The signatoric- undertake to issue instructions th their naval furces in conformity with these provisions ( $r$ ) and to prevent the unanthorized ase of the diantive mark- prescribed for reansis. By a Conrention" re-
(k) Arts. 7. 8.
(l) Irts. 10, 1 l .
(m) Arts. 9, 12.
(ii) Mrt. 12.
(10) Parl. Papers. Vinc. Vo. 6 Ioman 14s: Pearce Eliguins, 849. "Thes British Fovernment doubted whother under the existing law sueh a dematm wold he made pern of a nexitral private vesal : but although there $i$ s now septled neage on the subjeret. thes ruln embodied in the Convention is correct in principle, at any rate sa far as pelates to enemy persons rewibed aftow ath engagemont: sur Wratlikn, tevane (Conventions) Bill. ㄷ. 4. it wa-monjwed to authrize and :ompire the delisery up by a British vesion of - wh pervons, "being rombitant*. whon have benn reseued after a nawal enfagement in which they have taken part." The contention put forward. that the more remeption hy a neutrad rewel of the ememes siek or wounded would. apart trom Convenfion. renter the reseel liable to condommation for ummentral service. appeare to he nuwarmatahbe.

(q) Irt. $2:$.
(i) Irt. 20.
(4) Sor Srt. 21. Although (ereat Britain sigued under poservation of this Article, vet by tha. Smond Peaco Conference (Conventions) Pill. $\therefore$. 3 , it Was proposed to polnhit thar painting of rescels to rememhle hopital ships and the use of the linnerat that.
mater to huprial ship" madn in 1904. all horpital shipe complying whth the pre-cribed contitionsert are exmmed in time of war, and in the purt- of the contracting parties. from all dues and taxes levied on hips for the lenefit of the State (u).

> (ONVERSIOA OF MERGTANT TESSELS
> CONTROVERSY BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA WITH RESPECT TO THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE "PETERBURG" AND THE "SMOLENSK."

Circumstances leading to Controversy. In July, 190t, during the Rur-o-Japane-e war, the "Peterbure" and the "rmokens," twor vessels belonging to the Russian Volunter Fla t. pa-sid from the Black sea throngh the Borphorne :and Iardanelles into the Mediterranean, and thence throngh the shez ('an: ] into the Red sea. Both rewels rarried the mercantile hars and dedared themselves as merchant veechs alike on paring throurh the ritaits and through the Canal. The thips of the Voluneer Fion helong ment on ertain combition* and which hes for ite object the prosviding of an anxilins fleet for naval service in time of was. In [^40]

 Parare llimains. B!日
 war with liphat laritain appeared to lof jmminemt.
(1, . $1=$ iti the fonlt-fort of tran-of each ressel are commissioned by the state, whitst the erews are subject to naval training and under maval disciptine. In time of war these vessels are at the disposal of the Covermment, and on entering the naval morvice assume the naval flag oj. By various treaties and conventions $d$ : the passage of the Straits is interdicted to vessels of war, and this prohibition has been deelared to be part of the public law of Europe e, By an agreement of 1891, made between Russia and Turker, it was also stipulated that vessels belonging to the Volunteer Flect, if allowed to prass the Straits, should not carry arms or munitions of war. On the oceasioni in question, both the "Peterbure" and the "Smolensk," although sailing under the mereantile flag. carried, in fact, both an armament, muntions of war, and crews sufficient to enable them to engage in hostilities. Soon after lemsing Suez both versels mounted their guns, hoisted the Russian maval ensign, and thereafter proceeded to exercion belligerent rights orer neatral commerce. Amongst others the (ierman stramship) "Prinz Heinrich" was stopped in the Red sea by the "Simolensk" and a number of her mail hags taken from her' $f$. On the 13th July the British steamship, "Malacea" was seized by the "Peterburg" on the" ground of carrying contraband : although the alleged contraband consisted, in fact, of arms and ammunition belonging to the British (forernment and destined for the dockyards at Hone Kong and singapore. A prize wew was then put on board and the Russian naral flag hoistel although the prize was still in law a British resed and the rowel herelf -ent to l'ort said where leer pasongers and arew were dismbarked. After this she proceeded under the charge of a prize mater through the Canal: it beine underetond that she was to be taken to Liban for adjudiation. The "smolenk" also seized the Betitish . lapan. having on board a cyantity of sumpowder comsioned hy the. Enited statas Wrat Domptmont to the Philippime. This bued was also ent tosilaw with a prize (rew on board and untw.

^41 Šer vol. i. 149.
(f) These were afterwards. Jut wat board the Britiuh S.心. . Jrarit " and thus forwarded to their destinution.
the Russian maval flag: atithough she was soon afterwards relased. Other British ressels were subjected to similar treatment.

Controversy and Settlement. When there lacts became known the British (iovernment addressed a protest to the Russian (iovernment, dallenging the legality of these proceedings. The British contention was, in offect, that no "ship of war " "ould issue from the Black siea: that if vessels belonging to the Volunter straits as merely mereantile resects they had no right. afterwards to atemme the eharacter of eruisers of to interfere with nemtral tommere: whilst if they clamed befligerent rights as ships of war then they had no right under European public law to issue from the Black sea or to pass the siraits: and hener that in either case such wesels were in the position of "uncualified eruisers," with the result that all capture maxde he them were invalid' (g). It was further pointed out that the ammmition sorzed on loard the "Malacca" was the property of the British (iovernment and intended for the British-China Squadron, and was contained in cases clearly marked with the Government mark. In the result a compromise was arrised at, moder which it was agreed that the "Malacea" should be taken to Algiers and there released after a tormal examination, and an assurance from the British Consul that the cargo alleged to be contratand was the properter of the British (iovermment and that the rest of the eargo was also imocent. There formalities were gone through on tho 27 ft . July : and on the 28th the "Malacca" was restored to her owners, and thereafter allowed to proceed on her original voyage. It was further anered that the "Peiserburg" and the "Smolensk" shonld no fomerer act as eruisers, and that any vessels captured by them

 Fheof that hat pasad thromeg the strats as "prisate mosels" wom lewall! diequalificd foom acting as "大hips of war." It [^42]reved special commiswions the term of which hat already exthem and, as regarels the "Malace," that in view of the oflicial the ${ }^{\text {ts }}$ ment of the Britisth (iovernment a special inspection had beras arranged in conserquere of whith the ressel had been released $(h)$. Some delay occurred in commmicating this decision to the commanders of the vesels concerned, and it was not until the bth September that the oflicial revocation of their commissions was delivered to the "smolensk" and "Peterburg" off the eoast of Zanzibar by H.M.s. "Forte." Moreover, although British conmerce was not afterwards interfered with by them it appears that both the "Peterburg" and the "Smolensk" were subsefrently reommissioned, although under other names, and in this character acempanied the Russian flect on its final royage to the East.

The main issue in this controversy was whether the Peterbury mind simolenst were qualified 10 act as bedigerent cruisers. As (1) thic, it seems that they would have satisfied the existing: requirement: but for two facts, one of which was that these bosels had assumed the character of warhips on the high seasalthongh the law on this point still remains unsettled (i)-whilst the other was that these ressels had both passed the Straits connecting the Black sea and the Mediterranean as merchaut ressels. These Sitalits occups, as we have seen, a pecial position aud are subject to special regulations forming part of the public law of Europe, by wirtue of which their passage, save in certain exceptional cases not material to the present issue, is interdicted to ships of war ( $j$ ). To allow ressels to pass them under the merchant flag, and then to :aswume the character and helligerent rights of warships, would have heen, in effect, to mullify these international engagements ( $k$ ).
(ienleral Notes- Qualified Belligerents in Maritime War.--1a -rat warfare it is the vesed rather than the imdividual that constituter forence with nemfal emmmeree which the conduct of war by ser therexhanation- formi-hod homafter. it may bo salid that the quality

[^43]and to rxercise other belligerent powers, will attach to all. the $P_{\text {el }}$ wwned and commissioned for that purpose by either of the lesmater at wat amb fommine part of ito regnar naval forees; and are phlolicls whmm-smmed by it and incorporated into its service. in -urh a way a- for lning them moder its immerliate and exclusive lomeds whimp do mot momply with this condition are not strictly 2wont pumer: althmoth. like other private vemels. they may en-ther (at11 ("I)

I'ermmment amd sulbsidien! Sacal Forres. - ln point of Eact lowal thany the hasal forces of nearly every state comprios combut). -wh as battledips. (ruisers. torpedo boats, de-troyern.

 Both ramos tank as publie veroels, and are in war -ubject to work disabilition as attach to resels having the puhlie rhameremeot. The former are alon entitled in time of war to take belligerent artion and to exomer helligerent powers of ans lawtal kind: whilet wath the lator mat exeros these powers if duly eomman mont omdimaty mednde hhi*. It will ako be open te a state ehther atro (g arf enmblionl with

```
(` linh.7: : :m|l !' lul. wi,")
```

tion waー propusal hy lard licas at the

-1:nt … 1. 1:32.

(1) Sire wol. i. 336 .

The employment of such vessels preceded the formation of regular navies, hut continued lone alterwards; the distinction between them and the reqular maval force hecoming, however, more marked as maval organization progresed. The system of privatering had. indeed, some adrantages: the chief of these being that it aftorded a ready and effective weapon of offence to States not possessing a large mavy. Such vessels were, inorenver, subject to rarious restrictions (s) : whilst the issue of letten of marque to nentrals was sometime forhidden either by treaty or lay muncipal law ( $t$ ). Nevertheless, the system was at bottom a vicions one; as involving the carrying on of war at private cost and for private gain, by agents who were unamenahle to proper enentrol-to the great disadvantage of nentral trade (u). At any rate, the practice came to be generally reprobated; and, in 185t, on the outbreak of the Crimean war, both (ireat Britain and Franee annoneed their intention of not issuing letter of marque to private owners. On the termination of that war. the Declaration of Paris. 1856 , anongst other things, declared that "privatecring is and remains abolished" $(x)$. This Declaration, although originally made only hetween the parties to the Treaty of Paris, was subsequently adoped by nearly all maritime States. with the exception of the Enited States ( $y$ ), spain and Mexico. The Enited states, moreover, in the civil war of 1861. and both the United States and Spain(z) in the war of 1898, conformed to its principles: whilat both spain and Mexien have now formally aceepted it. Nor in the practice, in its former character. likely to be revived (a).

The Eintistment of Privately Onned l'essels. Althwugh privateering was derlared to be abolished hy the Declamation of Paris and was indend in its original form generally abmomed. States. in their dosire to add to naval resumes, som hegall to revert to the praction ot enlisting in their servire vecels homging to private ownem so. in 1870 . on the outbreak of the Framen-(imman war. Prussia fosmed and invitation to private mwere the fit ont vesels for the purpose of attarking Fremely warshis (b) on the terme that the (*) Sio, under the British pratere. honss conditioned on erood behatiour Wッチ.
 inspection and eontrol of pulblice ves-in all prizes for adjudiations.
 iii. $15 \%$.

For a sumamary of the nowriti

Irt. 1.
 ancorde to it. exeept an comblition of fhe ahamomment of the riwht of "ay-turime private promerty other than contraband: sea Wome Dionest. S 1221 .
(z) Exen thoush the litter reserved the right 10 iswe latters of maryue.
(*) Ont the subject genmrally, sen Taylors 43s et seq.: and Westakr, ii. $15 i$.
(b) This limitation was eonsequent oll thr propesal oriorinally made bey (iommany that private property - lumble be exampt from 'aptome althomeh on thows and wew- - boulti he powided hy the owners. but should

 - larer meminais for the destruction of enomy vesels. France profortat argain-t this as an jufraction of the Dectaration of Paris, and it- Latw oftiens that there was a substantial di-tinction hetweren the l'alis and for thic reason declimed to take any action in the matter. That throw wa- a -ulstantial distinctiom of , iljaect in the sheme as of privatering are the employment of private resels maned by frivats (rew- to atlack and capture enc.ny vessels at their own risk Homs tricking ont of a private vesel with the pulhle Hage and a and rulject to naral diecipline. together with the sulstitution of memimm for prize moner. constitute amy real distinctinn. The Ruwian Volmoner Foleet. on the other hand. Was. as we lave seen. inmond mader the ancpices of a patrintic association and wa- intended l!annine and divapline- in riew of which it womld somb that these bainer to grant subsidies to the great mationtion romplaties, in return for which fith rometc. constructed generally on plans pmovously

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { Nothourh it is still at eferation } \end{aligned}
$$

- Joy vary ernatly in fatail. hatre heatn

 (6n!ir! ${ }^{\circ}$
dmomed the formation of a service of anxiliare ervisers " ander naval law," which, alone, wond not have sufficed to confer on the pesels in question the dhatactor of lawinl befligerents. The United states orgamized and used a simitar service: hat in this cave the vessels were taken orer hy the (invermment, mamed in part by naval oflicers and men, and phated moder the contire control of the senior naval wher (e). somewhat dillerent is the case where a belligerent State hires vesch belonging to private owners formely temporary service as transports, collies or otherwise. Here the question of belligerent chamater will not gencmaty anise; athough such vessels, whether helonging to suljects of neutrats, will posisess an enemy character as regards the other belligerent, and will on that ground be liable to rapture or destruction ( $f$ ).

The Hague Convention relatice to the Comersion of Werchant -hips into Warships.- But although the legality of the enlistment of private vessels and their conversion into ships of war was recognized, there was, so far, no athoritative me miform rule as to the precie conditions that were required. The mater came unler con-- ideration at the Hasue C'onference of 1907. with the result that the present Convention, No. 7 of 1907 , " relative to the conversion of mer"hant hipes into warships" was adpheted. By this Convention it is provided in eflect (1) that no vesel can ampure the status of a ship of war or the rights and daties appertaning to that whacter menless she is placed under the direct anthority and immediate enomen and re--pomibility of the Power whoe flag she flies (g): (2) that such a vewel must anry all the external mark- that distinguish war--hips beh ging io her matimality ( $h$ ) : $: 3$, that the commanter must be in the service of the state, duly commistiment, and his name motified on the oflicial nary listif: (t) that the (rew mast be -nh ject to naval diseipline lis: (a) that the resel munt amply with the laws and customs of wat (h) atm, fimalle, , aj) that the (emeresion
 -o far as it arges. has the ment of replacine the somewhat bawne and Lelmite and anthortation. It the same time it habes enme imputant probleme masolven. It makn. for instanes. monerivion as to the plate of converion: thic heme a yuetion on whith it was fomel

```
    i) J.if%r, 1. 1.5%.
    % Irt. l.
    i Irt. 2.
    i Irt.3.
    l Irt. &.
```

```
                                    A!t. I.
                                    Art. ti. TY|is (onvention haw
                                    | '.atitina bs dimatt Britain. tut
```

```
                                    Aff. viv.. i,imer.
```

```
                                    |larum-imm on this subjoct amd thw
```

```
                                    llimuninc. 317 nt E%%
```

ciple it would seem that such a conversion，involving as it does the setting forth of anganized instrment of war（ 0 ）can only be law－ fully made in territor belonging to or orcupied by the commissioning state or an ally（ $p$ ）．To effect it in nentral territory would constitute at once an infrimgenent of nentral sovereignty，and．if acquesced in hy the neutral．a violation of neutral luty（q）．To effect it on the high anal would appear to infringe the right，alike of neutral Govern－ ments and of neutral traders，to know beforehand how they stand in the matter of belligerent interference with their trade $(r)$ and through what agents and instruments such interference will be exercised－a condition insufficiently fulfilled by Art．6．which merely provide－that ofticial notification shall be made＂as soon as posisibe＂（w）．If，moreover，a ressel can be converted on the high seat．it would sem to follow，in lefault of express restriction（ $t$ ）． that she maly eqmally be re－converted there：with the result that a resel might change her character at will，claming at one time the privileces of a warship，and at another time and especially in the use of neutral ports，thone of a private ressel．Hence conversion on the high seat．if taken in conjunction with the incidental right of re－con－ resion．would appear to be not only a canse of offence to neutral． hat ako an infringement of tho rule of the jus betli which forhid－

ThE RIGIIT OF MARITHME（APTTRE

THE＂THALIA．＂

［1905：Takahashi．Inturnational Law applied to thr Rusール－． Case．In 1904，after the outbreak of the Ru－a－J．Jpanter．Whar． the steamship＂Thatia，＂the property of a Rusian compans，was > (o) Intia. 1'. 343.

> (1) I Imblutiner (ither ports or termitorial watcr: : - foll. i. 10.).

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { (.) Whin高 mitert woll| Fher after } \end{aligned}
$$

axample．fr．127．Anfoth．At the sitme time．the rierlit of enomberems on ther rustomary law althomert mu lomeror artmiwihf，－umder whint a prize takron on the high seas might there lon aon－ verted into a qualition wrusere by phating ber modor the wommand of at

（t）The（＇onvention heiner silent on the subjeret．

（a）Ilint．11t：and．wn the subjent

seized as prize at Hakolate, in Japan, by an officer of a Japanese warship. It the time of her seizure the "Thatia" was undergoing repairs in a dockyard helonging to a private company, and had in fact looen placed in dry dock on land. In tho Court below the resol was condemen on the ground that she did not lose her character as maritime property by being temporarily on land, and that as the manitime property of the enemy she was subject to capture. On apmeal to the Higher Prize Court, it was contended, inter alis, 1 that the capture was not warranted by the Japanere "rules groverninge (aptures at sea," which made no provision for mpture on land: ( $\boldsymbol{Z}$ ) that by the Regulations annexed to the Hague ('onvention. No. 2 of 189 ?, to which Japan was a party, prirate property on land was not in general -nh ject to scizure or confisation ( $d$, and that, even thongh provision was there made for the seizure of private propertr, including ships aml re-sels not sabject to maritime law, for military purposes $(b)$, ret this was not the purpore of the prosent seizure; (3) that the capture was also contrary to the general rules of international law. for the reason that the seizure was not made within those limits within which the law recoonized a right of maritime capfure: t that the claim totreat the resel is " maritime property" win the less admissible in view of the fat that she was at the time inmajable of navigation and hakine in all the wementals of maritime equipment: and $\because$ that the right of maritime rapture being an exception to the ememal rule and alon opposed to modern tes:dencie:, ought to be contined rigidly within the narrowest limit of admitted usage. In the result, howerer, the appeal was dismised and the dempon of ondemmation eonfirmed.

Judgment. In the fuloment of the Higher Court it was held that there was nothing in the Japanwe "rule governing capturns at and " 10 negation the ralidite of the capture in puestion. The Hagur Rogulation hat weluase reforenen to war on land opposed to the gemmal pulis of intemational haw. for the reaton that the placince of a weal in dork or on land adjoining was gation. Hence the remal in curestion must be deemed to retain her character an "marime property" of the encmer, an to when a right of captute was sill recognized. Nor wouh her lack of sea-going capacity and of the neverame instrmments of navigation at the time of capture wen if this had been cotablished in fact. in any war alfoet this liability. It war also held that the fact of a reseel having benn camiod to the phace of capure on frard another vescel. as "carqu," did not confer an! immanity".

This caw lecidd that an enemy rewel. (emporarity on land for the purpue if repairs bat retaining otherwise her gemeral chamater as an instrument of navipation. remains ontjenct the the himh of maritime cajture. Incidentally it was also ruled that this fight wa-till to be regathed as a subsisting and nomal institution of the law of maton. It is cmions to notice that, in the case of the the right of matime capture an rexats private properes of the Pume that wa- meither ontrabam nur requirel for military pur-amel that it lapheren the comet in that rave the give offect to these more atranced principler. In aid of this contention reforenoen wahownor. natmatly wionded the the (ourt. on the gromme that the

are now exmptet from capture both by the Declaration of Pariand by common usage ( $g$ ).

The suggested Exemption of Priate Property at Sen from C'upture: (i) Opinion and Practice.-The right of capsurine the private propery of an enemy foum on the sea is unquestionathe mater the exitimy law, and in miveratly admitad in pratice exerpe where quatitied ley reaty $h$. It the same time the praction is regarded with a certain amount of dixapporal. which hav fomed ex-pres-ion not only in the whitings of the juristr, lyut also in the offirial and international action of particular states. With reeper to the fommer, the oreat mato of Embeanopinion has hitherto been arrayed against the pratice, althmoh this is mon mow on neaty unanimonas formerly $(i)$. The hatimte of Intemanional han has alon on sereal uccasions pronomed in favour of the inviutatility of private mopertybi). English and American opinion on the subject idivided 1 . With reppect toflicial adion, the (iovernment of the Conted States as eat? as 1823 , poposed the gencral adoption of the principle of the immunity of private property th (ireat Britain.
 the enneral recognition of this principle a condition precedent of itown ameptance of the rule for the abolition of prisateremermberliod in the Declaration of Paris $(\mathrm{m})$. The same (fovermment absedepted the principle of immmity in varion treaties entered inte) with other statm- 1 ): although in defant of theaty the right of arame wombtill be taken alvantage of. The principle of exempen was romproally aded upm both be Anstria and Prosia, and alon for Antria and Italy. Aturine the wase of 1856. It wa- proctamed ly (iemmany in 1870 . but wa- enbergmenty withdrawn on the

 A properal to dedare private property on the -a exempt from captur sate in eares of contrathol on athompal riolation of (\%) The right of mature alser exthats to noutral property. whether a belliserent is motithed to restrain: but this. of (murst, peits on wher -idration hereaftor.
 at a mucreary baric of danawion at Ammase buropath writer wha at"

 Bhantshli. Weffery and Collo.
(f:) In 1si5. it put forwant the inviolability of privato promey umber

(h) Imung: limglial writur wion are opposed th the prartice are Mill. Maine. Math, and lawrone. On the subjere Eremerally. son latl. 18i: Wistlake, ii. 130: Latwromer, 11!: Whatmen Dama), 4.5l. n.: and Taylor.
 amd pratice. Latifi. 11 s if ary.

(ow 1 in in linis and 142 w witi. lru-iat and in lat with |taly.
(o) Haviag prohably bern mad. only with a vinu to, foreme the han? of ther French diovernment.
blockale was sulmittan to the Hague Conference of 1899 by the Enited State-. Wut the Conference did not comsider the discursion of this question to be within its competence. although it put un recorl a wish that such proposal should be referred for ennsideration th a subsequent Conference ( $\mu$ ) . It the Hague Comferene of 190 , anemdingle a similar proponal wan brought lorward ly the ('nited states delegater and led to an extembed disensemon (a): but ho agrement was reached, although the wish was expresed that the andoption of requlation- relative to naval war thond form a part of the furemamme of the next Conference and that in ans cate the ii Ther thestion of its desimbility. frome un intermation al standpaint. ln viow of the efforts that are being made to secure the (xrmption fom (atpure of private property on the sea, it may he of adrantage to ghate binfly at the leading argument- which are adduwe on either sile. and this both from an intermational standumint and from the standpoint of British polier. From the former standpoint. on lehalf of the proposed immunity, it is ursed: (1) That the present practice of subjecting private property to capture is an infraction of the principle that "war is a relation "f stane to state," which is here assumed to be a fmmanmal principh, of the law of war is: That the prewent times. which seeke to exempt the indivilual so far as possihle from the immente of warto. (3) That it is illowieal and unjust that frivate property shuld he exempt from contimation on lant utand yap le -uhbect io eapure at sea. (t) That the practice of awardine the peremo of prize to the captors. even though this is sulfect to the wontul of the 'ourta. imparts to war the taint of boing till carried on for private eain, and ministers to private greed. That the "aphme of prate penperty on the -eal is in view huth of the facilitios now ationted hy lame trathe and the reengmizel immmity of many the haml- wf momatore. On the other hand. in fasour of the Gumber ther mane in liand wist: anothere

 *

```
promosing to abolish prize muntry, sate
```

```
    lot. Igot: aml learom Jioroins. is et sit.
```

```
        H. R. 11 i .
```

11.

 et sif.

H. R. 11 i ,

11\%.
its reonere for war, whether in money or thips or ment ant that in this dhamer its capme has pored in the past and is likely 10) prow in the futher a mos offection instrmment of waty, with his supplies, e-preially of fombtulf and raw material (z), hy restricting the dixposal of his prodncte, and by diminishing his Th Le momet on the analower of dand wan is altogether misteading, for the reason that prisate property on fand is not only subject to the risk involved in military operations, but is also liable to seizure fon military purpose in the form of comributions and requisitions (b) Thase indidents, it is sad, are polly far more oppresive to the indivitual than the seimure of property on the sea, which is rigidly controlled by the action of the courts, and greaty mitigated in olloet hy the practice of insorance: beine at bertom prohably the mut hmmane of all the (nexatims of war ch. (3) That in a maritime sate. at any rate, the exempion of private popery from aptare wombl tend th set up a distinction hetwen the military and the commercial dases. which would not only hreak in on the seme of mational units, hat womb. he relierime the latter dare in a large meanme trom the prestme of war. ato relax one of it pxistimg deterrente. (t) That the propoced change if it is to be a reality and mot war in which commercial intorente wer largole invelved the temptatiom to atrike at an enemy through his trade would indare a powertul hetligerem who was delamed from capturing enemy property as -nch, wasek wattain the same whenet he a syatem of commercial more oppresive to commescial interests than the present practien (e). Nor. in this enmention, is it posible to dixecearl that doctrine of military modenty. which Powere like Cemamy keep in weerve as a meancol ohniating the masequences of mes that stamd in the way of military -1How, fored which wowl warrant thr sebate or festraction of mems mestammen whenever in the opimion of a commandm militar unes-sty mioht require [^44]bring " exampt." umder the existing pratetien. . Il that has been done is to -uhbitute oreranized and systematie wizure for chation serizure amd plun11+r: sen Barelar. Problems. 67.

This acpurt of thr quastion is well stated hy T)inlat: see n. (a). sumpor 17) Kıfiol. Y. 1103
(1) Hasalace it would then affoct all trattic. whether on mental or on natrional shipa.

 ェス. (i9i, Jers. 1905.
in causing a transfor of the trade and shipping of either helligerent to nentral－it might perhape he werd that this．if true．shombl tiomment of the lasio－mitained by private owners by means of a tional that a momal mea－mof of war il）． iiij．Thu pelic！g and attitme of（riveat Brituin one this＇fueskione．－ It is sometimes as－umed bis foregon writors that Geat Britain stands almow alume in her＂ppostion the the propored exemption of privata magnitad＂ithont a harev insprasi of Juntral thnamen：Whil－t the trathe－

 ii 1：3

 in thar l mitad kinerdmen in ltan tha．

Forod and leaw Uatmill in Time of

 －＂．$\%$ ．

 1がいいた。
nentrak if exposed to the risk of capture in time of war: and (3) tho posibheremburasintents to which a grenerally untriendly neutrality, imfoced hy a eremeral divaphowal of the practice uphed by Creat Britain, would axpose her in time of wat. On the other hand. it is moped. and with deen greater foree, (1) that for (ireat Britain, a.s a non-militaty Power. ter relinguish the present right would be wo reharuish her ehiof and in some catses sole means of hringing prow sure to hear on an (ancmy $n$, and would inovitably diminish both hom international consequenter and hew power tor wat ofl acoression: ( $\because$ ) that even thoumh tho outhreak of war would temd to raise the prise of fond and raw matorial be enhaneine the cost of carriter and the superionity there would be mo damore of a stoppate of even of at shortage wi such supplios (o). Whilst. Withome astrome mary, no formal dechatation of tha immanaty ol priviato poperty from caphate wonl| of her shipping and rea-lomene trade to neatrals in time of watr i-event of war an mofriondly noutmaty on the pat of eertain Eanopean Powers would in any ase have to be faced. and this resmit. having its foumdation really in ather sommes. would not be aroded or appreciably losemed by a sumenter of the right of eapturino private propertyom. Honce it is thomotht that (ireat Britain is fully justitied. not merely by reforener wome theneral ennsiderations previomsly deseribed st. but alan hy roference to her vital interests, in adhering to the present rule. At the same time . her attifude towamk the proposed damge is far from being one of unqualiforl hostility. She recoonizes. as lully as any other Power. the desimbility of limiting the incelence of war on intividuals. and nemteals. amd has ahrealy siven evidene of this in her propesal that the rioht ol (apturing contraband should be alogether abanduned (t). But sha al-a remgnize that if the proposed change is (il: The power. that is. which ber present naval superiority, coupted with the posspesion of ports and coalinge stations in all parts of the world confers on here of striking at the mercantide marine of an memy and amihilating his mervine tade.
(o) 'This. at anverato was the ronclusion arried at by the lioyal Commixion of 1905: an lapmet. par. Ith: : 1 Co Latiti. 1330 , 1 wh.
 sant lavalite of commomal blodend. on the one hand, :mb the linmman dowtrine of military nemersity on the

7) 1 I beiner intractimahte in fact the repuivitn nentra! thmager would non lo forthoming: and impracticable in law as rexarite ressels. for the reaton that these could not be legally tramaterot on of after the outhemalis of war: s"f,i". 1. 183 n. $\quad$ ).
i) (H) this aspert ol the sul)ject. - en Hall. 1fs: Westake, ii. 129 it ser. Wiatlak". ('haptern on Intermational wry. : Latifi. (h, s: Dardar, broblam.
 traty ambortying the examptinn. 17!.

(t) Thi at the Hatur Comporne
 1. 13: 1 and n.
to the a reality it must 20 firther. and munt include an abandomment mon merely of the right of "apturing private property but also of certain other forms of belligerent action (u), which ineither Great bitain hereli nor other marime Powers are as ret prepared to concede. If in the future, however. some arrangenent were found forticallu for limiting amaments and lesening generally the risk of war, then creat Britain would probably be prepared to make this -uncersion $(x)$.

THE ENEMY (HARATER OF VESELS.  THE "VROW ELIZABETH."

1.413: 5 ('. Rob. 2. 1

Case. During war between Great Britain and Holland, the " Trow Elizabuth." a ve-wl saling under the Dutch Hay and pass, was cathurd by the British and sant in for atjulication. Condemmation was resioted on hehall of a (rerman merthant resident at Bremm. who daimed the rearl ar hiv properts: athering that sho had leen only nominal! y tran-ferred to a Duth merdmat and placed under the Dutch flag for the purpore of anhline here to trad in that character hetween Follaml amb the land eolonies. This proceeding was admitted to hase heras a frame on the ()ntah navigation haw: lout it wa- contended that the (butut was in no way concerned to enfore" ther latw, ath that -o home an antal noutral owner-hip autd be fhown the was wa- axmpt from bullicerent capture. In the rewhl it was held that the offont of the resel : although not comeluave asamst the laim of the -ann ownew fre an undiviled share of the careo.

Judgment. sir $\mathbb{W}$. scott, in his findement. puintent ont that the weight of wibure wemt to show that tha racol wis ralls a mum that at reat raitine umber the mhnms ant pare of a mation whe to he comsidemen ar athed with the matimal dhatmen of

they were so invested，to the oxclusion of any clain or interest which persons living in neutral countries might actually have in them（a）．

The fact of a reach sailing under the enemy dag is deemed to afford（onclowive prom of her enemy character，even though it nas be shown that she belongs in whole or part to a neutral． This rule rese on the ground that the use of that flag places the resocl muler the protection and control of the enomy （iovernment．and makes her amemable to its laws and liable to requisition in case of need．Inasmuch as the flag，moreover，must he presmed to have been used for the owner＇s advantage，he camot be allowed to repudiate it in circmotances where it enures to hi－ disadvantage．For these reasons the use of the enemy flag is held to affect the whole resel with a hostile character and to bind all interests therein（b）．so．in 1898．in the case of The Pedro（17．） ［．S． 35 F ）．it was held by the United States Supreme Court that a resel flying the Spanish flag and owned by a Spanish corporation was liable to entemmation，notwithetaming that the legal or equit－ able ownership of the entire stork was in British subjecte and the reseel herself insured with British underwriters．

In the principal cave．indect．it waw sugesest that this rule might admin of delaxation：athough the camples ofen are of a very exceptional character＇（＂）．In 1870．it was relased by the French Cours in the case of The Palme（d）．where a vessel belonging to a Swiss Missionary Society but carrsing the German flag．wa－ captured by the French，but releaved in consideration of the fact that Switzerland had no maritime flag of her own．Such a vessel would now be expmpt from capture under the Hague Convention． No． 11 of 190 （ $e$ ）as being encaged on a religions mission but not it would seem，on the gromul actually taken in the ease of The Palme $(f)$ ．The nse of the enemy flag will not，however．affect with a hostile character goods found on hoard which are otherwise innocent and shown to belong to neutral owners：although all goods fonnd mo enemy vesels are prevmed to have an enemy character unless the contrary is proved（g）．

Cnder the law as hitherto administered has the Pritish amb American Prize Comit，althomeh tho un of the chemy flag is eon－ clusive aquant the wow ser the mon of the mentral thag．even （＂i）It was admitted in the juder－ ment that there might he excepthns th this rule：but thene mile toment the timal（ircumstaners．were allowed by under a forcian flate fore a partimbar риююにな。
 Tho．Friomornmit（t Wheat．10．5

（1，Art． 1.
（i）T．atifi．so． （．s．（65）：soott．63才）．
where a rewel in lewally atitled to lly it. is not emolusive in hor faromr. Thin arione from the fact that mater the Anglotomeriean dowine the petmary test of hestile moneetion as regards :matime (athtme i- fommb in the domicile of the wwer tho. Hence, if a rowel. exom thomeh flymer the meutral flag. is fomm to be really max on trade in the memy romitry (i). his interest therem is dumbed to be amti-abhe as being in fact the property of an - nember. This is hased an the aromad that otherwise, it would be "pent" persoms domided and tradins in the enemiy combtry to earry the nembal flate (m). A resol is also deemed to acyuise an enemy Whatater. even though hying the neutral flag, if she is virtmally incorpmated in the ememy mavigation on trade ( $m$ ) or if. whether owned by -ubjert- of nemtrals. she is fomad to be engered in a trade carried on -muler the enemy' lienens (o). But these males. in so far as they go lwhind the flag the resel is entitlet to fly. will. as we shall see, weprise to he revived if the Declaration of London shonld hecome - persation po. Finally. whaterer the flag. or whaterer the domicile if her owner. a rown i- deemed to have an memy oharacter it she bate heen dhatered hy or placed under the exclusive contron of the thmentral -emine (q) (inchrai. Notes.- What are Enemy lessels? - The question of the nfony hatater of resele is important. not only as defermining he liahility and actual treatment of the vesel itvelf. but alow as
 - hatiln. then, apart from the riske tor ares inwolved in the pos-
 ... presmmed to the emems property and liable to condemmation

```
            *"!"11. 1. 23.
            1- almatain+d by poporeneen to
```

```
    vith :!u* namm4 aml wommoreval domi-
```

```
    "i, it,....n spinks. it : Latifi. Al.
```

```
    - + th+' mondition- mmlow whioh a .N...l maty buramiotureal a- at matiomal
    ....l.
```

 ( 1 ) The Figitrutirn (1 (. Roh. 1):

 Mis"rne is rameh. 1ff: Manual of Xiaval l'ri\% law. $\therefore$ 19: aml. for a rexent "xample. TV, I/, "..... Takat hat-li. (is:3).
(11) /.,i,"!. 1. 113.

Without these safternuatel- that mapere for what aro emomy bessols，althoment there was．as we have － 4 －math diveremen hedwent the Anglo－American and Conti－ ，on ather view，it was reanomized that a vessel llymg the ememy

 the momy wr neutral datatere of a resel whall be dotermined by which．Whather she is acthally llying it or met，the reseel is emtated （1）mal，aroording to the manieijal law which governs that right（？）． This rule，in elfert，allims ernerally the test of the flag，whilst learing it upen to the（apeter tor dieprore the right to its use．At he same time．itwafed wiflota－mpersede．as betwen the parties to the Decla－ ration．the pratice mder whidh，in determining the comemy character wi ships，regard mioht also be had to other grombs of hostile associa－ tly a particular flag will depend on the momicipal law of the State of the －nhifert．of hy corjoratims or companien estahlished ander British law and having their primeijal plare wi hosinses in the Briti－h domi－ ॥inルー．（：all（ッwn a British ship）or any intorest therein，or fly the

 ．n＇eren registration irespertive of what may be the nationality ＂f the owner on erew，will entitn a vosel to thy the national flag（ $d$ ）．
 ＂atr of application．it falk at ame points 10 semme that substantial fation which is entured moter the more remplex mules of the Briti－h nwl American Courtic（e）．
（s）The effect beinm to throw the burden of proof on the nentral owner， ith urder to entitle him to rostitution： ：re the lomaration of Lamban．Irta 59.
（t）The Declamation of Pariva．Art．B． y）Int．ST：and Rowowt anmem？

（z）Althengh the（fax－tion of lia－ bility of neutral weserle angemene in trade rlosend to them in time of lot．57．and p．165．i，ioul：whilst bowlaration，will alon memain at eromms of lialility：see Irts．15． 46 ；and 1．4．5 B．i，fir． （II）אime vol．i，，274．
（み）Ih，
（1．）Ser Moore．Diged．ii．1003 at ＊ッ．
（1）SHon vol．i． 271.
（1．）1：lọ mathling a person domi－ aled in the ememy country to carry on it－trade in ressels owned by him．but revistored and salinge under the flas of some mentab emuntry whose baw may tre sufficiantly clastic to admit of this．on loner chly as rexistration was entwont before the war．

TRAぶMERS TO THE NELTRAL FLAG．  THE＂ARIEL．＂

15．5： 11 Mow．P．（C．119．」

 Britain and Ruwia，the＂Aried，＂a ressel flying the 1）anish flag． was seized at Belfort and proceeded against in the court of Admiralty as being the property of one Sorensen，who was alleged to be a Rusian and therefore an enemy subject．It appeared that the＂Ariel＂was originally built and owned by one Hagedorn． a morchant resident at Liban．in Rusia ：and that early in 15．\％． When war hetween（ireat Britain and Russia was imminent，ons Eckioff，the administrator of Hagedorn＇s estate，had mpowered sorement，the Danish Consul at Libau，to sull the＂Ariel＂to his oon，on certain terms．I sale on these terms was acrordingly atranced at Hamburg．and on the 1 the Mard a bill of sale anm！ tranfer of the ship，to Sorensen，junior，was axecuted by Eckhoti： the purchase－moner being 10.000 roubles．of whith one－third was paid in ca－h．Whilet the balance was to be pail in two mpal instahments at three and six monthe respertively．In Jume．Ib， 4. Conemsen．junior：his father having died and Erkhoff desimg nents．It the time of transfer the＂Arial was lrine at Liban． hat subserquently she made rarions rovage to Irelame．England． and Anerica．The evidence went to how that somens abe athomet homin Pasia，was at the time of the tran－fer carriner on low－ bu－as a merthant and shipowner in D mmark．and that hat hat
 In the（comet ol Ahmiraly．it wa－held that althomed the clamant

 imulemat

Judgment. In the judgment of the Prisy (ouncil, which "an delivered he the Ri. Hon. Sir John Patteson, the lirst question comedered was that of the mationat damater of the ctamant. I- to this it was hotd, notwithetanding certan ememmetanes of the Danish rharacher. Ther wex. and impertant question was whether the appeltant was the owne and sole owne of the " Arind, "at the time of "aptare. This depended on two points: (I Hand there bern a gemnine and aboolute sale of the" Arict by the former Rusian owners to the chamant without collusion o: Jrand : and ? Did ans interet on the ship remain in the - - llew at the time of capture?
 fion of the facte, ame to dhe cometusion that it was not onty clear that the salde had heren mate in contemplation of war. but that ther Kussian shipowners at Liban, fecling that the war was at hand, had determined to sell their vesods at ernatly rednced prices to mentrats. rather than kop them memphosed in Russian ports. There was therefore abondant proof that the sate was made immi-
 there was no rule of intermational latw, at any rate ats interpeted in this eometry, which madn it illemal. mom thomgh me either bime at whith the sahe fow phom, the fat that the clammon had oflow ships and his inability to pis the whole prome, all tomed to Throw suspicion on it and mad it inmmbent on the (ourt to look - Wanly into the histom of the trameation. Sad if there hand hem facts leadinge 10 a will-fomeded enturion that the ship wa- 10 bo

 the efamant mader the dirw mview of the circumstances it did not appear that there was any "Widence leading to either of there conclusions. Part of the pur-chase-moner had beru paid in cash and the postponement of the remaining parments was saliciontly arcounted for : security had abberpmently hern eriven in the shape of certain acceptances. and : Prosjow that the carnines. of the reow should be applied in sahe the rixal hate pasod mmber the ole control of the purcharer.

 reasons it hat benn held in the Cotirt below that the sale was brimi fide. in the sense that it was real and intended to fun the property in the ship, without ans engagement to restor it it this opinion the Jadicial Committee fully concurred.

Is to the seemed greetion whether any interest in the chip mone remaning unpail, it aphared on a review of the camo in fanome of the -eller. an ato render the ship when in the pers-ont of carninge: and this. it wa-said, cented an interes int and a hen on the frepght, anl therogh the freight on the ship. But wen if the rendor hat a lien on the lieeight. it womb mot follow that he had a lien on the hige, fore the interen- were quite di-there wa a lien cither on freigh or ship, womb it have follownd

 "Whatud. that the " lrim" was the bomit fite property of the

According to the practice hitherto followed by the British Prize （ ounts the transfer of an ememy ship）（e）to a nentral is not invalidated merely by the fart that it was mate in contemplation of or even during War，so limer as the transadion was genmine and complete and attested by appropriate evidence（d）．But such a transfer would be invalid （i）if it occured whilst the ship was in a hlorkaded port（e）；or（2）if it was made whil－t the vescel wat in transitu，unless possession was actually taken by the purehaser belore capture（f）；or（3）if the vendor is shown to have retained any interest in the vessel or there was any acmement fo reconvey her at the end of the war（ $g$ ）． ［f，however，the transior was otherwise genume，the mere taking of a lien on ship or froiohb for a part of the purchase－money， will not in itwelf atioed its validity $(h)$ ．But the onus of proving that the transfer was wemme will lie on the ramant，and if there are dircumstances of－uspicion which are not removed by him－as where there is no docmmentars evidence of the ascigmment on board，or the ship remains under enemy controb－then it will be dispegarded and the ship liable fo condemmation as enemy pro－ perty（i）．Aml with thiv Smes iman prantice will he fomm in the nain to anvere（\％i）．But in neither sy－fem will the transtor of a chip of was by a belligerent to a mentral dmring the war be regarded as valid，even thongly this bok plare in a nentral port and after the vessel had been dismantled（l）．And this，it is conceised，would now afyly 10 any vesel that had heen converned into a waship im），（ven though subsequently reonsomed $n$ ）．In some particulars，however， tho British ant American probeter will need to he revived in the lioht of the provisions now mate on this subjoct hy the beclaration of london，in so far as these may heome nperative（o）．
 Belligerent to＂Vembal filats．In view of thar risks of capture．

```
    (r) (Other tham a ship ot watr.
    (11) Thw Laltio* (II N1wo. I'. C.
111): The Berondiet (Spinks, 311): Tl, lífuit (Sjuinks, S(O).
    (e) The Gienerul llumillan (i) C. liob. (%2).
    i) B'ven thongh in a port short wi
    :'u oriqinal (lectination: sue Th%, lom-
```

```
li(o). 10(1).
```

```
dua, prepared for tha war oft ther
```

Briti－h delerates at the Naval Con－ ferctue（larl．Dapers，1909，Misc． No 4），hereaftor rofored to as the British Yemorandum．

 （17ti S．Stis：Sicot1，6221）．
 Ther fimongin（ 1 Wall ．32：Soutt．

 1！いた。

（＂）／！irto．1）1f
the enhanced rates of insurance, and the pus-ible loss of employment. belligerent shipowner: on the propert of war often senk to safiguard their interests by transeming their ve-chs to nentrals. In rome cases

 Seek 16 oltain the protertion of the nmatral flag ley tranfere which arw merely moninal and collu-ive. The temptation to fraul, indeed, i. - ${ }^{\prime}$ ureat that some shates refuse (1) recognize any uansfers made atter the ombreak of war: whilat the pratice of other states varioy $p$ ). Henew the subject of transfere th the nentral flate was inThdel in the progranmen the Naval Conferenor and after discu-sion an aereement war reathed. which is now monotied in the Derlaration at pefophow the the will thow (q). -wnewhat complicated but tram-for of and memy bescel th the matral flage. Whether madre before or after the simbeak of war, with he valid. whlese shown to have heen made in onder to erade the embengences of the war: l,at if if wat math before the wat the onus of proving it (1) her invalid will lis on the (aptor. Whilst if it was made atter the wat the onn- 11 proving ite validty will lie on the nentral. ii. In aid of the applimation of thi exemeral rald a mumber of lion in farme , it validity if it was mummational. "mmplent. in "onformito with tha latw of the respective enmatres. ant no control

|  |
| :---: |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |

^45 As reqards transfers made after the war (a) Any such transfer will in gencral be treated as invalid unless the owner can show that it was mot made with a view to evarle the comeeruences of the war (s). (b) 11 the transfer was mado whilst the vescol was in transitu of in a blockuded port, or if a risht of repurthase was reserved to the rendor. or if the requisments of the law of the flace were not fultilled, then the presmmption of juvalislity will he absohte and the wned subject to condemnation (t).

ENEMS (iOODS

i) ( AENERALLY

THE "SAN JOSE INDIANO."

|1814: 2 (3:11. 268, 311.1
Case. In 181:3, during war between (iceat Britain and the Conited states, the "San Josi Indiano," a ship sailing under the I'ortuguese flag and having on board cargo belonging to various owners, was captured by an American privateer, whilst on a vovage from Liverpool to Rio dn Janciro. In the present proceedings, which were by way of appeal from a dereer of the District Court of Maine to the ('irenit Goury of Masmanectes, the more important questions were: I The liahility of ther ship, restitu-propery of (osta de Co. of hiverpent. a firm seremal of whas member wore atleowd to br domiriled in Brazil a: © the liabifity of eertain grow whidh had heon shippod by Draco froperty, al any rate ar reards the dam of Finney who have the effort ot shittine flam bumbur rexblarity of the transantion, trom thas atporer to the mentrat.

a 'Ther afime of this is to throw of the lransartions in acenrdance witis the monditions provionsly indieated.

 1t00: and lippopt amexed to doedara-

(11) 'Thon a deperndencey of' Portugral, a montral comentry.
was domiciled and carried on business at Rio,$b$; and ( 3 the liability of certain groods which had been consigned by Wran Bros.. ol Liverpool, to Dyson Bros. & Fimer, of Rio de Janeiro, hut which had been purchased by order and on account of one Lizaur, a neutral merchant carrying on business in Brazil, in whom the property was consequently alleged to be verted ( $c$ ). In the result. howerer, all these elaims were refected by the Court for the rea-ons assigned in the judgment.

Judgment. Story. J., after referring to the fact. proceeded to dal seriatim with the various clains that had been made. With rexpect to the ship which was alleged to belong to Costa & C'o., is appeared hat twonmber: of this lim weredomicited in England and two in Brazit: luat the bill of sale showed the ship to belonge to the partners domiciled in England, and henee the ship, herself. wen though under the Portugueve llag. being really owned by Preons residing in England, must be condemed as law ful prize. With respect to the clam of Dyson Bros. & Fimes, of Rio, for goods shipped to them by Drson Bror., of Liverpool, it appared from the evidence that the honses at Liverpol and Rio really consisted of the same persons, although one of them was domiciled at Rio. Isto 1 wo-thirds of this portion, hang the interest of thase who were domicilad in England, the right to combemm wa- Intuestionable id. Is to the other third, being the interes of Fimes who was domiciled at Rio, it was elamed by the captor: that this should also be condemed as heing the properter of a person emnected with a homse of trade in the mem? countre who hat continued that connection after and duriner the war. As a general rule the national character of a person for this purpose depended on his domicile. But the property of a person might acquire a hostile origin of the property or the trathe in which it wa enceraed : as where sum properts was ambarked in a coloniat or consting or ans other privileged fradn of the emoms. or wre the produce of
b) There two firms virtually consivterl of the same bitrime alfhourh the Prazilian hu-ince was carrind an by F゙imex, who was dominimed at Rior.
(c) These ernoth had been ordered on aceount of lizanr, but Dyson Brow.. of Ciserpoul. not buinewilline to trust the former had comsirned ther eroods (1) the firm of 1 )ron Pros. © Finney.

 (0) he that where a person was engaged in the ordinary or "xtraordinary commere of an enmes's countre on the same footing and with the same adsantages is mative resident subject, his properter en employed was regarded as incorporated into the contmeree of that comutry, and was suldoed to contixeation, whatere might bu his re-idemere. And this appeared to be rasomable: for such trade had a direct effeet in adding to the resoures and revenue of the rnems and in alleviating the pressure of the war. There was no reason, therefore, why one who enjoyed the protextion and bemelits wh the enemy's comery should not. in reference to such a trade. share its dangers and losses. It would be too much to hold him entitled br mere nentral residence to carre on a substantially hostile commerce and yet to have all the adrantages of the neut ral character. The case before the Cont came fully whin the range of this principle ( $f$ ). Nor was its application affected by the fart that the shipment in this case was from the enemy eountry to the connected house in the nontral country. Hence the share of Mr. Fimer, who was domiciled in Brazil, mast. follow the same fate as the other shares in this part of the cargo. With respeet to the claim on behalf of J. Lizaur, the only question was in whom the propert rested during its transit. If it vested in Lizaur then it should be restored, but if in the shippers then it should be condemmed. It was contended that no interest remained in the shippers exemt a mere right of stoppage in trensitu. But the doctrine of stoppage in tronsith applind only in the case of insolvency and preapponed not only that property had passed to the consignee lan alon that possension was in a third parts and could not therofore fourh a cane where the a thal or constructive posesenon still manand in the shiper or his exclusive agent. The tern pule was that where a merehant ahend in on his own eredit therehe hemomine the owner. mo prepers would rest in his eorevondeme. until the former dide some noterious and the general law, hat the prize law of the country. For thi reaven the claim of Lizan mut also be rejected.

[^46] dent. Latil then the former mont be demed wetain the

 the primiplo- emoming the liathity of property. both in shipe and eront. mow the Anglo-Amerian practies: althongh the eonqualitiod lay the provivons of the Derlaration of Paito $h$ mater in the anm anmor. which has the ofter of invertime him

```
    (i) \1%.".
```

```
+hame it ul. lint laiv will mot apmly
```

 buiner anly :n intrammon fow facilita tiner hosimw that oriwinat - in amb is properly (omble tral with fle mentral

- ! i, 1. 1.....
remaining in his hamd（o）（f）Finally．the judgment deals will far as the have mot ahealy bern dealt with，will be momedered in the sertions immediatoly following：althomgh，as requals all alike． it is neressary formemter that the question of the liability of goods by rean of thein emmy chanacter can now only arive when they are fombl on enemy ship a limitation whirla greatly narows their s＂ope．

TRADE．

THE＂ANNA CATHARINA．＂

1812 ：\＆（＇．Rob．107．］

Case．In 1801．hwing war betwen（imat．Britain on the one hand．and spain and Holland on the other，the＂Iman（＇atharima． a Danish vessel，was（adnumer by the British whitst on a mage from Llamburg to a spani－h pert，with a rargo of linen，wine and eheese．The caron appeared to have hen shipped muler the the Spanish（Government of the（immas and one Robinson，an by Rohinson with the ammine out of this comtrat Robinsone demmed on the eromm that，havine bern hipped under ：eontrat with the spanith（invernment．it was to bo rowndod as xamish herd．be a fuestiom，amd mene hiophly dtaration of lambons，whether in all an attributo rat！ere of ther property cluded hy sirtme of that－wtinn，in－－ far as il maty bopom＂＂中mative：＊⿻日禸 tuy of grovis apperams thronghont to be hatiod on the comemy rhatsutery of ther wwor：a view whith if uphert womld bave them operative unctar that －ッ！iont．

property: and also on the ground that the nature of the contract, involving as it did the grant of a monopoly by the Spanish Govermment, was such as to impress on the persons carrying it out the character of spanish traders. and consequently to imbue them with a hostile character.

Judgment. Sir W. Scott in his judgment, after considering the nature of the contract between Robinson and the spanish Govermment, hold that although such a contract became illequl. as involving a trade with the enemy, as from the time whon Curasco pased into the hands of the British and Robinson became subject to British law, , , ret the consequences of such illegality would not affect the property in the hand of Sontag & Co.. on whoe hehalf the chaim was made. But on the question as to whether such property was not liable an enemy propertr. the leamed Judge after reviewing the circumstances, held that inasnuch a* it was going in time of war to the port of a belligerent, under a contract to beeme the properts of the belliserent immodiately on arrival, the property must be considered an beme in the spanish (iowerment, and therefor as having a hoste character. A- to the further quention whether the contract did not tix on Robinson and those chaming under lim the character of Spanish traders. he also held that a contract of that kind, giving Robinson a monopoly of trading rights, taken in conjunction with the fact that he had a resident agent on spanish territory for the purpose of carring out the undertaking. had the effect of imbuing him with a spanish, and therefore a hostiln character. Is io Messes. Fontag & Co. ther had particinated in the benetit of this whtract und er armorement made ber Robinsone and heer must anong which was that of the liabilite of the cares to andommation in the event of its capture br an enemy of spain. The mareo account of come prompation in the widmen.

[^47]The seizum in this case was, it will be seen, eflected on a nentral verel, which would not now be permisible if it could be shown that the ressed was in fact entited to tly the nentral flag. Subjer to this reservation, the cawn serves to illustrate (1) that the acquisition by Great britain of what was previonsly enemy territory will have the effect of suspenting or abrogating all contracts subsisting between persons there domiciled and persons domiciled in the enemy country, although this will not alfect, any property passing theremider which has ahready become rested in neutrats 16 ); (2) that groods consigned to the enemy comery under contrat to become the property of persons there domiciled are liable to comdemmation as enemy property ( $c$ ); and (:3) that properts, even though owned by a nentral, will be deemed to have an enemy waractir if embarked in a trade which is carried on by virtue of some special privilege or monopoly granted by the enemy Liovermment. According to the British practice, moreover, the same character will attach to property embarked in a trade which prive to the war was confined to enemy subjects, or which is undertaken in relief of the cmomy from the pressure of the war (d).

(iii) THE UNSOLD PRODUCE OF SOIL OWNED IN ENEMY TERRITORY.

THE "PHENIX."

[1803: is (. Rob. 20.]
Case. Duriug war between (ireat Britain and Holland, the "Phonix" was captured when on a voyage from surinam to Holland. and brought in for adjudication. The cargo was clamed on behall of persons then resident in (ermans, as being the produce of estates owned by them in Surinam. Nevertheless, the properts was condemmed as heing the protuce of the soil of enemy territors still remaining in the hands of the ownere of the soil.

Judgment. Sir Willian scott, ins giving judement, laid it down as a lixed principhe thet the possman of the soil impresed [^48] 161): The Montor". Takaha-bii, 633: infite f. 4 ti3: and, at to the poremnal dorisation of thic charalloter. "untr. P. 1.\%3. 11,11 ).

 of that phatation was conernmed. amd whilat his was boine trans-

 Were might have been room lor the supperition that they had been açuited whilst that plaw was under bitiols control, and What the owner had ham indmed bor that riremm-tance to form :nn ment. Bat having lallen by desent on thean fersma from their with thom the disadrantages as well as the adrantages attochinge to the Dutch tharacter. Beine thr produce of tha mamant: own plantations in the enlony of the enems. the penprey mast condemmation.

 tomt in fan it appear- (1) bor ond at paticnlar application of the

 - Whow (d)

(iv (iOODS PASSING BETWEEN NEUTRALA AND RNEMIES

THE "SALLY" (1).

[1795; 3 ('. Roh. 300, n.]
Case. In this case the question was whether a cargo of corn. which had bern shipped in Imerica for a French port and captured by the British, during war between (ireat Brituin and France, was liable to comdmmation as enemy property. The corn had beon shipped be an American lirm at Battimore, ostensibly at the risk and on account of another Americun firm ; but was in fact consigned, brendorsement of the bill of lading, to an enemy : the evidence tending to show that it was really intended for the French Government. The cargo was condemmed by the Lurds Commissimers of Apeal on the ground that in the circumstances. and as property consioned by a neutral to : hostile port to become the property of the enems on arrival. it must be regarded as enemy property.

Judgment. In the judenent it was stated to be a rule of the Prize Courts, that properts intended to be delivered in the enemy's cometry and moder a contract to become the propertes of the enems immediately on arrival, was, if taken in fromsitn, to be considered as empmy property. Where such a contract wamate in time of peater or withoni ans (entemplation of war the form of the contrat wat framed diretly for the pempore of rule would take efled. Sthameh be the hill of lading the pro-merchant. the evidnow wemt to dow that it was really int mod [^49]かromery (onaignad by an momy to it moutral, see The Sirz fose Imdionon, 11. 119. surmo.

sidered as delivery: and as the captors, by the rights of war. stood in the place of the enemy. they were entitled to have the good. passing und ruch a contract condemned as enemy property.

As a genemal rule, where goods are consigned by a merchant in one country to a merehant in another. the property in them is deemed to rest in the condimen as wom the time when they are delivered to the master of the ship by whith they are to be carred. the master being treated as the arent of the consignce for this purpose. In time of peace this presmation may be varied by agreement or custom of trade. But in time of war-and where goods are consigned by a nentral to an enemr--uch an agreement or custom would not be reromized by the Briti-lı and Americal. Prize Courts, for the reason that such an indulgence would inevitably be taken adrantage of by enemy consignes as a means of protecting the property from capture during transit (b). Nerertheless. in the conrerse case-mhere goods are consigned by an cnemy to a neutral, and these are taken on an phemer vecel-ther will as we have onom. he presmed to he enemymoperty, ame will he liahle to emmemation mess it is chown that the property in them has already herome rasted in the anotral consionec and that the condigmer retams no further interest therein ( $c$ ). In such a cate in fact. the law impu-s. wn the neutral consignee the hurden of proving that the propery in the gooll has herome rested in him fully amb finalls. save only for the menemor's right of stopprae in transitu in tin fan of the con-ignes incolvence ( $(d)$. Nor does this ruld appear to be unceas mablo havinor regarl to the fact that in the case oi a sale which is eruminn tum romplete such monti i- alway at the disprial of the mongee $(e)$.

(r TRANさFER心 M IDE IN TRAMSTV

THE "VROW MARGARETHA.

11799: 1 C. Rot. 336i.]

Case. In this caw it apporard that in 1rat. bu fore the outhonak of Hamburg: but before thes arriond at their destimation war broken out, with the result that the pesents were captured be the British amd comdmome It was bow sought to condemm the brandies, on the eromen that having once been shipped as anmy property their enems charader condel not be divested hy trand low to a meutral during transit. But in the result restitution was decreed, for the reasmens given in the judgment.

Judgment. Sir W. Scott, in giving judgment, observed that although in time of peace a tran-fer in transitn was perfectly permissible, ret where a state of war existed or was imminent the property in goods must be demed to continue, until actual. delivery, in those parties in whom it was re-ted at the time of the shipment. 'This arose ont of the conditions of war which antitled a belligerent to scize upon the goods of his comems. If such a rule did not exist all goods shipped in the enemy's comntry would be protected by tran-fers which it would be impossible 10 detect. He therefore reoomized it as a rule of the Court. that property conld not be converted in transith. This rule. however, beeame applicable only on the suthreak of war, and had no application to transactions that took place during time of peace. In the present case the transfer in transitu, having occurred before the war and in time of peace, must be adjudged acerding to the ordinary rules of commeree, and there being nothing to raise any suspicion as to its bona fides, the caroo mint be restored to the claimant.

If wfon hatpuenc that grouls arn not shipped to any named *ansine the shipping dommenn heing merely endorsed to the omele of the merehant whes shipe them, or to that of the banker on whom her sulk his hills. with the seonlt that the wwhersip often (hanges (hring tho rorame. In time of peace it is quite "ompetent to ath "سner in such is cave to fransfor his ermems ermed－would be protered by tran－fer whith it would be impu－ible $\quad$ deron．Transters of goods in transite made before the war ane indemp primet facie valid，hat eren such tran－fers will ho invalidated if they can be shown to have heen made in conten－ plation of wat and with a riew of atolling it－donsegtucnces（a）． Sovetholo．．if herore captum a neutral consiono exercises a right a rioht（andered hoth by the English law and in most other sy－stems the re－1hander in law of the gools to the original owne will be in transit（b）．

OUTsTANDMG INTERESTS IN ENENY 「ESSEL OR GOOD心．

THE＂TOBAGO．＂

［1804：5 C．Rob． 218.$]$
Case．This wan a can wil chaim to a captured French vessel． made on helialf of a Briti－h resident，as the holder of a bottomr： bond on the ressel exereated in his farour by the master of the ship bufore the commonement of hotilitios botwen（ireat Britain and Franee．The claim was．howewers rejerted on the orouml that the Court could mot recognize liens on an enemy ressel．axom though created before the wars and exom though in famore of nombals or Driti－l subjects．

Judgment．Sir IV．Sunt．in eriving judgnemt，oherval that the interevity of the transation wato not impearhed．The ther－ tion．hownes．was whether the Court sould，consistently with Hu．pineiblo of law that governed its practime afford reliof． I hotomas hond givan in peate to reliace a ship in distress was ind ond mandal with laverur he the Court．But conld the Court ther Sulo of (iond= Ict, 1s93. <. It

```
!だ゙リ.
```

of any precedent showed that that had not been the practixe of the（＇ourt．A person adrancing mones on a bond of this nature acpuired no property in the vessel；he acepured the jow in from hat no jus in re matil after appropriation by judicial proetes． The property therefore continued in the former owner．But if there was no change of property there conld be no chaner of national character．Those lending on such a security must take it subject to the risks of war．It was elamed．indeed，that the saptor took the thing cum onere：and this was no loubt true where the omm was immediately and visibly incumbent on it． But it was a very different thing to clan the same consideration for a mere right of action residing in a neutral．It was obvions． too，that claims of this character might be so framed that the Court could not examine them with effect，as being private con－ tracts between parties who had an interest in colluding．The right of capture over enemy propertr，therefors，operated with－ out regard to secret liens possesoed her third parties．Sor did thr right of eapture operate on such liens in cases where the properts it－elf was protected from capture．If such a claim as the present were allowed，a eaptor would be subject to the disadrantages of havinge nentral liens set up to doferit his claime on hostile pro－ perty whilat he could never eutith himerlf to amy adrantage from hostile liens on mentral properts．Ill consideration of sum liens or incumbrances must thememe bo exdeded．

```
    (1) Thar /lamptor is ilall. 3プロ):
```

```
(6.5): Šo (wtt. 63J): and as to fertain
```

－soptional rasis in relation to ont

 Th．．Kin，fin，Talatha－hi，．5．．．． nized to the extent of supporting a re-transfer from an enemy con-former (c).

General Notes.-The Enemy Character of (roods generally.-The question of the liability of goods, as having an enemy chatacter, can now only arise as to goods found in euemy vescels (d). As regards such goods, the Declaration of Lombon now provides that in the absence of prow of their neutral Chamater they are presmed to be enenty property ( $e$ ): which merely wive expre-sion to the customary bule already refersed toif It is alsa commonly recogniad that the enemy character uf sumb depend on the enems character of the owner (g). But this. as has atrady betn pointed out, is determined according to the practice of one group of states-including Germans. Austria, France. Italy, and Kussia (h) by the primeiple of mationalit: : Whilst according to the practice of another group of states-inchatinge (rreat Britatu, the Inited states. Japan, Hollamd, and spatin-it is determined prinarily by phe principle of dominile $i$ i. At the Naval Comforence it was tound impossible tor rach any agremtut on this sulyect. Hence the Dectaration of Lamdon, Art. is. merely powides that the nempal ore enemy character of gonk fomm on hoat an memy resel shall be determined by the nemtral or enems character of the owner. This, it will be seen. makes mon mosion a- $\quad$ h how tho nemtad or "memy character of the owner -hall ho feterminel: and thas learo the question between "nationality" and domisite" open for future settement. aither hy convention or by the Jhtemational Prize (ourt. But motil then the Comrt of (ireat Britain and the Laited satwe will. even if the Declaration of dandon -homld be alopted. (omtime to alply the teat of domide.

The enfect of int. is on other lexts upplied umper the British proterer.-It will hawe heen nuticed that the British and thal watt in the mamy montry. or the combluct of a privileged

```
        (A) Wn.%lar:t1im, of Pari* 18.jo,
        Art. 2.
        10. Im!. S!.
```

```
    (i) lhi,l. 2-. ill. it?
```

sions on this subject is that of lostile association；the existence，that is，of some bond－implying protection and trade benefit on the one hand，and subjection to the enemy control and contribution to his resources（ $l$ ）on the other－which serves to identify the person in question with the enemy state，either fully，as in the case of domicile， or quoad all property connected with the sonrce of hostile asmocia－ fion，as in other cases．And it is this underlying principle－of which domicile＂is really only an application（ $m$ ．－which really has to be contrasted with＂nationality．＂If this be so，then it would seem that none of the applications of the Anglo－American doctrine would strictly be allected by Art．58；for the reason that they are all deductions from the emmen prineiple of hostile aswociation，which， minder that doctrine，is deemed to confer upon the owner of the goods a general or limited＂enemy character，＂as the case may be－within the meaning of Art．is．But if the test of＂nationality＂should be ultimately adopted，then，of conre，the whole fabric on which the Anglo－American doetrine is hoilt up would fall to the ground

Trunsfers in transitu．With respect to these，the Declaration of London now provides that enemy goods on board an enemy ressel shall be deemed to retain their enemy character until they reach their deatination，notwithstanting any transier effected after the outhreak of hostilities and whilst the gotwle are being forwarded（ $n$ ）．This， again，merely gives effect to the rule now generally recognized that the eurmy character of goods camot ordinarily $(0)$ he changed fhring their tramsit；which is itenff hased on the gronds set forth in the judement in The Vroue Larquretha（p）．But whereas．under the British practice．franstors male hafore the war，even though prima facie valid．may he vitiand ly prom that the were made in contemplation of war ant with a viow to erade its conse－ ynenees（ $q$ ），mater the provisions uf thor Declatation of［andon this will no longer be the ease，and to this extent the British rule will need to he revived if the Werlaration shouk herome operative．

The Lien of an I＇numid lendor．－Xinwithsamtine the rule that transfers in trunsitu will nen in semeral be valid if made after the war，the Declaration of landon mevites．in effect，that if prior to the rapture of goost mationed hy anental to an enemy the former exereces，on the bankrupter of the later．a menemized legal right to recorer the grods．they will resath their matal chatactern This．whilst not otherwion impurning the rute that nentral liens trancfers in fomsitu after the war，yer reomenize the lien of an （／）Including taxation．whether mdinary or extramminary． （im）Ilthmurh it hal hem enumbt to stand it he the une of the terme＂ome annerial domicile ${ }^{*}$ ：sen whe i．209．
1，S See Mrt．for．par．1：Ipr．xiii．
（1．if． （n）Lad saving the fate mentioned ゆりハい゙。

```
    (4) <゙ひр%", p. 160).
    Sme Irt. Bo, par. 2: and as to flu antual torm= "mployed. Ipp.
    viii. (". ti.
```

unpaid nentral vendor，in so far as to treat as valid the re－transfer to him which will take place upon the exercise of a right of stoppage in transitu on the bankrupter of the enemy consignee．so lone an this right is conferred by the law which govern the contract and haw heen exeresed before actual capture．This agres in the main with the Anglo－American practice already deweribed（ $t$ ．

RESTRICTIONS ON MARITLME（＇APTLRE．

（i sTATES OF ENEMY MERCHANT VESSELS（AN OLTBREAK OE WAR．

THE＂BUENA VENTURA．＂

［1599：175 Č．S．354．］
Case．On the 2．jth April，1898，the United state isued a declaration of war aginst spain，which，amongst other things． recited that a state of war had existed since the 21st April．On the $3 e_{n d}$ April the＂Buena Ventura．＂Aspanish merchant vemel． was captured by a Lnited states cruiser off the American coant． and sent in for adjudication．The＂Buena Ventura＂lad arrivel from Cuba at an American port about the 31st Mareh：had left that port on the 19th April：and was at the time of her captur procesting to another Amorican port for the purpmes of taking bunker coal．At the time of capture，thow on board her were unaware of the war．On the et6h Aprit．Lses．the President issued a proclamation providing．in offect－ 1 that spanish merehant reserl－in any port－or phace within the inclusive，for loading and departure and should．if mot ant sea，be permitted to comtinue their rovere，if it apperted that their careons hat bund taken on board within the time alhon any oflowe in the maval om mititary somion of the cmem！on con－ trahand＇$a$＇：and＇？that ：ny．Spanish merehant．vesel which． prior to the elst Ipril．had sailed from any furcion port for ans

```
1/ ジィル゙ツ. 卜.162.
4) Or any dupatuly frm,or to the Sbani-fl(invernment: sect. 4.
```

port or place in the United states, should be permitted to anter, discharge, and depart, and should, if met at seat, be permitted to continue her voyage to any port not blockaded (b). In the District Court a decree of condemnation was pronounced ' $c$; ; but on appeal to the supreme Court this decree was reversed, and the ressel released.

Judgment. In the judgment of the supseme Court, which was delivered by Peckhan, J. (d.), it was laid down that, in view of the fact that enemy merchant vessels carrying on imocent commercial enterprise either at the time or just before the time when hostilities began were according to the later practice of civilized nations entitled to liberal treatment, the terms of the President's proclamation ought to receive the most extensive interpretation of which they were capable $e$. The provision that "Spanish merchant ressels in any ports or phaces within the United States -hall be allowed until May 21 st, 1898 , inclusive for loading their cargoes and departing" might be held to include ( 1 only ressels in port on April 26th when the proclamation ws issued: or $\because$ those in port on April 21st, when war was dectared by Congress to have begun ; or (3) not only those then in port. but also any that had saiked theretrom on or before May 2lst, whether before or after the commencemmot of the war or the issuing of the proctamation. The Court preferred to adopt the last interpretation. Although the froctamation did not in so many words includn ressels which had salled from the United States before the commencement of the war, such vesols wore clearly within its intention ander the liberal whatrution which the Court felt homad to eqive it. To atheiban to the Executive an intention to -xempt rosels which had sailed from Conited stater port- after April 21 at and hefore May ? 1 at, and to refuec it to resels which had wailed before April ?lst would be altogether unjustitiable. Hemace. in the present canco the ressel, althomoh she had artually left a United stane port on April 1!th. mast be releared. In viow. howerer, of the fan that at the datn of sermen A prit ? ?

1. surt. 5.

 deporitad to abider the result of ipperat.

[^50]the proclamation had not actually been issued. restitution would be granted without damage or costs ( $f$ ).

The terms of the proclamation insued by the President at the commencment of the spanish-American war of 1898 . afford an illustration of what is spoken of in the judgment as " the later practice of civilized states" in its more liberal form. Briefly that practice was one under which enemy merchant vessels found either in or on their way to the national ports, after the commencemont of hostilities. were. under certain conditions. exempted from capture. and commonly allowed to return unmoleated to some port of their own comter (!) . In The Buena Fentura the supreme Connt, as whas seen. gave to this practice. as embedied in the President's proclamation, the thoadest possible interpetation. In the cave of The P'edro ilis L. S. 354 , however, it was held not to apply th a ressel trading from one port of the enemy to another. and carring argo exchsively for the memy, wen though under contract to proceed ultimately to a Cnited States port. In The although otherwise within the protection of the proclanation. wacarring an amament susceptible of nse in war. and wan moreover under contract the enemy Government for use in war. In The Sulujde Takahashi. (itot). it was held by Japanese (onnts not to apply where an enemy resel had remained in port after the dars of grace had expired. Thi practice has, as we shall see. now been embohliod. although with one stints and deductions, in the Hague Consention. No. 8 of 1907. Pan in rases not menerel he the Conrention. rewet which enter an enemy port after the war will still remain subject to the sodinary rute of mantime apture $h$ ) (imenell Notes - The Position of Enem! Merchant I Paselw mo the chant remels fomal in the national jurte atter the commencement of war romained liahle to capture loner after the practice of appropriatmes enemy property on land had beon in general ahantoned: the dapture in such a man ranking as a maritime capture (i). But about tho midfle of the toth onntury wr notien the rise of a new orls. Whather ith or on therir way to the mational ports. Wern allowed (f) The prowerds of sale were ordered to the paid were the the ramam withont amy doduction form ene in the promendine: :and ublje:t only th at doduction of "xpern- properle imbident to the cantorly and prencration of the property up, the the time of ala.

```
    (!1) /|i,". 1. 167.
```

```
317).
```

```
of seiziner slub vewnl- in unticipation of war. - er vol. i. 333s
```

to depart, or to enter and depart, as the case might be, within a time fixed by proclamation. and thereafter to return ummolested to sume port of their own comitry, subject only to their being unarmed and not having contraband on board. This exception to the ordinary rule of maritime eapture waw baved on the gromad that both good faith and mutnal interest required that vessels carrying merchandise to a country for the u*e of the inhabitants should he protected against the surprises of war. This practice began in 18.5, when, on the ontbreak of the Crimean war, (ireat Britain and France allowed Russian merchant vessels then in British or French ports six weeks within which to load and depart, whil-t ressels which had already saiked for such ports wreceallowed to enter and diselarge their cargoes and to return ummented to any port of their own country not under hlorkade; Rumia making sinilar (oncessions ( $j$ ). A policy similar in it- germeral tenour, but varying greatly as regards time and conditions. Was followed in the subsequent wars. So. in the Austro-Prusian war of 1866 , Pruswia conceded to enemy ressels a periot of wix week" grace. In the Francu-terman war of 1870, France gave une month - grace to enemy vessels both in port or on their way to port: whisi (iermany purported to grant romplete immmity from (apture, althouch this was subsequently withdrawn. In the Russo-Turkish war of 1877 Russia only granted wememy vessels which were then in port time to unload and depart. In the Spani-h-American war of 1898. the Cnited States, as we hase sech. gave one month and exempted resels on their return rovage: but Spain gave only five days and thid not in terms prohihit capture after departure or provide for the entrance or discharge of vesople that had raited for spanish pors before the war ( $k$ ). In the RussoJapanere war of 1901 . Japan gave -even davs to enemy resels abready in port, and allowed vewels that had sailed prine to the sth February $t_{1}$ enter, whload and return, -ubject th the oherrance of eertain conditions: but Ruseia gate only is houre amd did not exempt rewels on their return rovare. Theme wa- then an inchente usage of exemption, althmgh it wa- mot either suflicienty uniform

(ii) The Hague Comeention. So. G of 1900. The question was (bombention "relative th the status of enempe merchant ships at the coutheak of war." laut the terms of thic Conrention- reprexnting ar they do a compromise betwern the conflicting views of thase when aneeted and those who denied the obligatory character of the uraw that hat recently arisen are atmhomons and matiofactory ant at any rate by some Stater. In effect. the Convention provides an ^51 Is no captures were made by Sjpan, the antual intent ot the (iovernment is not clear.

follow:- - 1) Where a merchant ship hehonging to one beltigerent is in all enemy pont on the outheak of war. it is desimable that it shomh be allowed to depart freely, either immediately or after a sulticient tem of grace and to proced dient, after being furnished with a pasiport. to it prort of dectination or such other port as - hall he named for it. The same provicum is to apply to a ship which left it last poet of departure before the war. and moners the eneme port in ignorane of hostilitios (l). (2) Where such a ship is prevented hs circumatano of force majeure from leaving within the time provided. it in net to be confi-ated, ahthogh it mas be detained durine the war without indemnity. or requisitioned -nlijecet to indemnity (m). (:3) Enomy merehant whip which left their last port of Leparture lefore the wat and are met with at sea whilst ignorant of howilities are mot th be confisated: hut they may he detained -nhbect th an obligation to re-tore them after the war whithout imbemity. on they may be requisitioned or eren destroyed subfant tw indemmity and to the obligation of poriding for the atory of the prome and the preservation of the papers on boate But after tombling at a national or nentral port and the acquiring law of war $n$ ). (f) Enmer careo fomblon any such vessels may lie detained during the war wihout indemnits. or may be requisitioned on parment of indemity, either in con juntion with the ship or noparately (o). (5) Thowe provisions are mot to apply to merchant -hipe whose enntruction indiates that they are intented to be conserten into shijs of war $p$. It will he seen that Am, I states merely that "it is decirabte" that departure shombl be allowe d. and mefer wamy delay that may in fact he eranten as a "term of grace:" form whifh it seme that the exemption camon be demandel as of right. Henco it would sill appear to he open to a belligerent, at a mater of lewal right, wither the detain or to reguire the immediate a monat for both natimal and nombal interesta (q) will probahly

 -ity comstay thoir time or whim are met with at sea whilet maware of the wat are protered from monfisation. is rewats

[^52][^53]-hip or separately $(r)$, athough it camot be confiscated. Lermany and Kusia hase, inderd, made reservations with respect to those porivions which substitme serfuestration for conliscation in the ease of entemy verels met with at seat in ignorance of hotilitios and enemy fatcing naval atations in diflerent parls of the world, mionht often find if neres-any to destroy such prize athe wonld then have to pay an indemmity. In view of these feservations, (erman and Russian ressels will not, eren as hatween the signatories, be entitled to the protection arcorded under there particular provisious. The exception set up a- rectuk merchant vessels " whose construction indicates that they arw intended to he converted into ships of war," is somewhat ambignous (t; but in practice it would probably be applied, as in the cato of The P'auma (u), to any ressels susceptible of armament and capable of heing used as rommerce destroyers, including subsidized liners and other vessels under contract to their own (iovernment for hse in war ( $x$ )

ii) EXEMPTYON゙ F FROM MARIMIME (APTURE:

(a) (OASTAL FlSHIN( BOATS ANH) VESSELS

THE "PAQUETE HABANA" AND THE "LOLA."

Sicmen i.. 1.]
In thi case. it will he remembered. the Lnited states siupreme ( ourt decialed that, imberndertly of traty and apart fomm emmity, it was an establiched rule of international haw that cmantal fishing ther were matmed and encemed in the porsuit of their peaceful nizal and :1pprovel.

[^54]```
    (1) \゙me 1. 12s, supmo.
```

```
    (.r) On the sul)ject grenerally, sere l'earuer lligreins, 300 at seq.
```

(b) ('ARTEL SHIPS.

THE "DAIFJIE."

L1800: 3 (.. Rob. 139.
Case. 1)uring war between (ireat Britain and Holland, iwn Duteh ressels were captured by the British, whilst on a rovage from the Texel to Flushing. Restitution wan claimed on the ground that they were proceding to Flushing for the purpore of taking on board some exchanged prisoners for conreyanch to England, and were thus in the position of eartel ships. In the circumstances of the case. it was held that, although the vessels did not strictly come within the limits of the protection accorded to eartel ships yet ther ought to be restored.

Judgment. Sir W. Scott, in his judgment, observed, in effect. that the practice of exempting cartel ships from capture. although not ancient, was one that deserved favourable consideration, on the same grounds as all other commercia belli. On general principles such ships were protected both in carrying prisoners and in returning from that service. In the present.cas. however, the ressels were not at the time engaged in such servict. and it was strictly the emplorment and not the future intention that carricd protection. Neverthele-s, such protection might. he thought, properly be extended to a case where ressels had already entered on their functions ber being put into a state of actual equipment for such employment. The evidence, moreover, went to show that, notwithetanding considerable imprudence in the proceding- of these verels. there was an honest intention to proceed to surh employment: and for that rewon the ressuls would be re-tomed. althemeh subject to the parment of conts.

Aproxbmis Nota. Fhemy resels artually engaged in cartel service are expmpt from "apture both when warring exchanged from thr devi-ime in The lnition "ron when proceding to take up such service so long as that intention is clearly established (? ) . But such reseh will fortait thair privilege if they engage in mercantile fraflic or otherwiee abuse their position (z).

(c HOsPlTAL SHIPS.

THE "ARYOL."

[1905; Takahashi, International Law applied to the Russ,-Japanese War, 620.]
Case." On the outbreak of the Ruso-Japanese war the "Aryol," a steamship belonging to the Ruscian Volunteer Fleet, wats chartered hy the Rumian Red Cross Society for use as a hospital ship. Her intended use was oflicially notified to the Japanere Government. under the terms of the Hague Convention of 1899 a and a reyuest for consequent exemption agreed to. After being equipped for that purpose at Toulon. whe was attached to the second Pacific Sumaron, and proceeded with that squadron on its borage to the East. After the battle of Tsushima she was captured by a Japanese cruser, and sent in for adjudication on the ground of haring assisted in the warlike operations of the eneme. It the trial it was proved that in the course of her rogage to the East she had received on board prisoners (b) not being sick or wounded, for transport: that she had taken on board and carried matmial for military u*e: and that she had also discharged lor the flent servees which are uswally performed by a reconnoitring re-sel. On these gromede both veseel and cargo were comdenmed.

Judgment. ${ }^{-}$In the judement of the President and Councillor: of the sasebn Prize C'ourt it was held that a hoopital ship could onlty enjor the privilequ of invinlability when solnty engaged in the work of relieving the -ick and the womded: and that. both hy the gencral law and the - ipulations of the Hague ('onvention, the became liable to capture if und for military purposes. In the present case the ". Aryol." althomgh lawfully mupped and [^55]duly notified as a hospital ship, had undoubtedly been guilty of doing acte in aid of the military operations of the enemy, and was therefore -ubject to confisation a cording to international law.

This decision is in acendance with the stipulatoms of the Hague (imbention, No, :3 of $18: 99$, Art. A, mmder which the signatories agree min wemploy hopital ships for any military purpose: a slipulation which numesarily implia at fordetme or the exemption acorded to suth wewels liy Ait. 1 in the erent of detant ( $c$ ). The decision as a "miliary purpor" within the meanimg of the Convention: a conclu-ion guite justifialle in the ronditoms of molem natal war.
 Apart from the exemption that attach to enemy merehant reseche on the ontheak of war. Which have already lenen cm-itered of the chief exceptinn to the odinary right of marime capure. rewinge either bally the mot wide-redring of the existing exemptions. and rests, a- we have seen. on the Derlaration of Paris, 18.5 , f) 。 (2) (iontal ti-hing vewels with their ertho amb apparel. as well an small rewels mu omployed for military purposer. As rearade tishing remeds. thi- exemption, although miminally a mather of theaty on emmity w! may prohahly he sail th have hecome an ohligatery antom !efore extended he the Hagn Comvention. Xo. 11 of 1 !nt. This. amomest other thinge, provide that wasls exclusively amploged in emat fi-lerier. as well as suall bato employed in local trade. Shall the "anmpt from capture towether with their apparel and argo: althmols - bob exmption is 10 wease if they bake any part in the war (i).

```
(1%) 171.n.(").
```

```
    i Art.冗2:",
    " llall. 111.
```

```
i. 1.
```

```
the erromed that whe hat brem morateal if pulim duty. liy blum (immontion.
```

tha contrating Pawors bind themwerre mot to take adrantare of the s.e Irt. : In. In dotiault af whar:-

 has now buent aropperd. without all the errat l'uwers. with the exafor tion ut louseial amd has also bratn ratifiod ly (ireat Britain: sere Talole. 1m. vil..., $i, \ldots$.

The distinction between coast and deep sea fishing versh is well underatood in practice，and wouth probahly be applied in the light twath of the hoild and hatbitnal employment of any vereel as to wheh the＇fuestion arose（fir）As regards resels employed in lotal trade the exemption is elearly intended onty to apply to small vesels which are on a parity with tishing boats，and would mot extend to other remels engaged in local navigation（b）．（3）Vessels charged with retigions，arientilic or philanthropic missions．This exception was also foumted on wage，which may be said to have become obli－ gatory（m），although now（onfirmed by the same Convention（m）． （t）Ho－pital whips．These are now exempt from capture under the previbme of the lague Consention＂for the adaptation of the frin－ ciples of the（imeral＇onvention maritime war，＂No． 10 of 190 a． ahthoush subject to the eomfitions and limitations already refered to， includinge a condition that ther shall mot be need for military pur－ poseso（a）（artel ships．These are ships employed in the tram－ port of exehaned prinnow．which are．from the very mature of their （mplowent．Wrated as exmpit from eapture bonh emad and re－ denmio（ $p$ ）．（6）Finally．aren if the rasel herself proves to be lawful prize．it is usuat，by the custom of the sea．（1）treat as excmpt from confisation the persomal effects both of the mather ant（rew and of any pasengers that may he fomed on board（of）． An immmity from seizure is sometimes flatment for vessele which have leen compellod to put intu an enemy pert in distrese．ow which are dixablad on the eneme chast：but she an immonity athough sometimes conceded as of grare（i）and altliough approved by the Institute of Intermational Law so far as relates to ressels putting into an enemy port in dietres（s）－is certainly not obligatory and i－ sarcely likely to berome son $t$ ．Over and alove these caves of ram－ plete immunty there are aloo certan partiontar rectrictions on the ordinary right of capture in matime war which clam some separate memtion．

The Crens：of Enem？Inerchunt ships．（＇uptered In！＂Belligereit． －romen nomged in the navigation of chemy merehant resels are a we have son．commonly reguded as having an enemy charachen irre－pective of their mationality（1）．Homes on the eapture of the resed they were fommely lialide to detention as pisomers of war： this heing justifiod on the eremond of their fitnese for use on wan

 1swi（ix）．This providu，in offord：－i1，That when an enemy mer－

```
Priza ('onrta in l90):
```

```
ii. 23:.
（．，．Irt． 1.
```

```
<゙ッ"!.1r. 170.
    (%, \laslakr. ii. 133)
    (% 1lalhowk. i&, 107.
    (a) N0, Nakes.ii. 1f0
    (f: Hlall. l:3t: O!purnhemm. ii. 236
        <゙ッ...". 1. 21.
        This has buenm ratifad by Roment
```

thant ship is captured by a beltigerent, such of its crew as are nationals of a nentral state shall not be made prisoners of war, and that the same rule shall atso apply to the captain and officers, being neunak. if the give a formal promise in writing not to wre on an enemy ship during the war (! ! ) (2) That even where the captain. officers. and members of the crew are nationals of the fomy state they shall mot be made prisoners of war. provided they mulertake hy formal promise in writing not to engage whilst hosrilities last in any serrice connected with the operations of war; and (3) That the names of all persons entering into such enoacements shall be notified to the other belligerent, who is forbidden knowingly to employ them during the war (z). But these provi--ion- will not apply to ships that take part in howilities (a).

Postal Correspondence.-Linder the (untomary law. mail ships, whether enemy or neutral, were not exempt from the ordinary incidents of war. except by virtue of special agreement (b). A usage in exemption of postal correspondence was, indeed. in course of errowth. although not anfficiently well-established to have become ohligatory (e). As hetween the signatories to the Hague Consendion. No. 11. 1907, however, special prorision is now made for the protecfion of pastal correspondence and. incilentallys, the treatment of mail ships. By this Convention it is provided that the fortal correspondence of nentrals or belligerents, whether official or private, which may be found on board a neutral or enemy ressel at sea, shall l,. inviolable. If the ship is detained, then such correspondence :uust. he forwarded to its destination by the captor with the least posil)te delay: although this will not apply to correspondence which is destined to or proceeding from a blockaded port (d). At the -ame time, it is expresely provided that the inviolability of pooind onrerpondence shall not exempt neutral mail ships in other reoperts. ism the laws and customs of war: althongh they are not on he warchent, pxcept when absolutely necessary. and then only with as much comsideration and expedition as possihle ief. The rezult is that mail ships. except where expressly exempted by treatr (f). still cemain suldeet to the ordinary incidents of war. If the mail ship is an momy resel. she may he taken as prize, although in such case the |rotal eorpe-pondenen is invinlable ( $g$ ) and must he forwarded by

```
    ") \rt. %.
        Irt.7.
        Irt. S.
    %. T%, f:!%"&, Takaha*hi. 573.
%%.
1: to thr romper of w-itge in
```

``` ment monely urami that it was highly
```

deairable that such ships should not

 - •ized he The s゙mentonle thre mail hase for Japan briner conficeatial. and the rist ant on aftor mush delar: ree 1. 12.). s"fura.
(1) Irt. 1.
(1) Art. 3.
if iv to whith. see rol. i. 282.
(1): sum in the case mentioned alouve.
the captor to its destimation. If the mail ship is a neutral vencel. she is subject to visit amb surnh, alhough search is not to be remorted to exeept when abolutely necessary (h) and must in that case be carried ont with all posibld comsideration and prompenes-; whilst if the facte shouk justify her detention the postal correspontence must be sent on by the captor.

('IPTURE ANI ITS ANCIDENTS.

(i) WIIAT (ON゙ATITUTES A VALID CAPTURE. THE "EDWARD AND MARY."

1591; 3 ('. Rob. 305.]

Case. During war between Great Britain and France, the " Edward and Mary," a Britioh merchant vessel, having beemm - eparated from her convor during a stom, was brought up by a French privatece, and orkered to lie to until the weather had moderated. This order was complied with, but before the prize was boarded by the captors, H.MI.s'. ". rethusa" came in sight, and thereupon gave chase to and ultimately captured the privateer. Meanwhile the "Edward and Mary" made her exeapo and regrained her convoy. subserpuently, a chim to salvage, as on recapture, was made by the "Arethusa." The validity of this taim depended on whether there had been an effective capture of the "Edward and Mary" by the privatecr. In the result the thaim was allowed on the ground that, for the purposes of capture. it was sufficient if the prize had pased under the actual control of the cnemy.

Judgment. ${ }^{7}$ Sir IV. Šcott, in his judement, after adrerting to the facts, said that he could not agrew with the contention that this was not a true capture. The sonding of a prize master on boend was inded a very natural owert ant of powesion, hut it war not vessel was compulted to lie to and whe the direction of the Fernch resel and to await her finther onders the was sompletwly meder the dominion of the enems. There was no ability to resist and no propect of escape. 'There had been many instaness of eapture where no one had heen actually put on board the prize : as where Ships had been driven on shore or into port. But as there was a doubt whether the verel hard been "retaken" within the meanincr of the term und in the Act of Parlianent. $3: 3$ (fono. III. c. 66. he would aware salvage as for a recapture under the eeneral mercantile: haw.
A. Detween (aptor and prize, a capture will be deened eomplote an from the time whon the former take effective pon--romen with intent in rotaining. Bur, posestion in such a case:
 the prize makes suremder or submission, as by striking her a prian maner: whether with or whout a prize crow. is put on hoardog. lint thin is not indispemsable. And if a ressel lies at the memes of the captor (d), (w it the ober- the flirections and orders of the captor, thin will ho rearated an a constmative possession. and the captum will be effectual $e^{2}$. The mere fach of capture thon- mot. indoed, hefore ondemnation, vest the property in the (adpor: but it "onfers on him. as against all other persons. a rioh of poswsinn and alou imporsto on him certain eonsequontial duties and liabilition. The date of capture i important. for the reason than if enndmation shomld follow. its effecto will relan hark to than bime fof But if the caphere bese posescion or abantons the prize then ather of the original cajture will ceate and anyone who sht-

An aftertive capture may he rither "sepatate" of "jom." athough

```
    ", strimtly it is cmly thern that ther
```

```
1:3
```

```
lostiler will mot hawe this wflect: /."
```

```
    1. (c, {3, t).
```

```
|a||. 15:3 ,! s'%'
```

```
104. 1461. -. 36.
```

```
    l.. li. 1 . . i K. 10!! : \:ammal wi
```

 (apture althomeh in the (ase of watships this will he presumme if the (lamant wat in sioht wi hoth capor amel prize under eiremmstanese calculated to erncomage the one and intimidate the other (li):
 mast he -lawn that the datmant, even though mot preatit. Was

 War the same primeiphos ate appled, at ant rate in a wase where the this kimd has hern elfocted. the costoxy of the prize will ordinarily then to the semion emmmantor me: whise the right of adjulication will fall whe (exnt of the raptor having fastoly, with jerwer tor apportion the proserals on the wimal primeiples m). If a joint eapetme is pored, the state ol the datmants will in general be determined by he law of the (oont wi midulication. In Enerish law, unles otherwise provided by statate. carh pesed shares in proportion to its relative strenoth: whilst the distribution betweon those on board is determined hy Royal l'rodamation. As between land and sea forces, in order to estathish a cham do joint captme it must bo shown that the clamant eithor rembered material assistane that contributed to the (apture or that the two fores were associated in some common enterprice of which the eapture formed a part (o)
(ii) THE: DUTY OF BRIN゙iLNG IN FOR ADJUDICATION ANO) IT心 (QU.LLIFIC.ATIOAS.

THE "FELICITY."

[1819: 2 Ihodison, Alm. Rep. 3s1.|
Case. During war hetween (ireal Britain and the United Stater, the "Felieify," an Ameriean verol, was aptured hy Lo Moftmin (2 Wods. 122!: Manual of Naval l'rize Law, Art as.
(l) The Ioverateron (1 A(mon, 12S): The Ilarmonie (3 ('. Row). 315: : The fter (2 1 oods. 96): Mamal of Namal Prize law. Art. egt. But this will not apply to reseng not havinge a military charatetor: The ("uper of Ginery evarerninge the distribution of "priz" bounty." as to which som the Naval Prize dot, 1stit. ss. 42-11, and 1 .

[^56]11.N.s. "Endrmion" whilst on a royage liom C'adiz to Boston. The resel was at the time in a leaky state, and there was considerable doubt as to whether she could be brought to a British port without assistance. The "Endymion," moreover, hating bend detachom on special servien with a view to chogagher an enems rosel of superior force, could not afford to lessem her strength by putting a prize erew on board. Hence it was determined to destrey the prize, and the erew having been tramshipped, both vesel and cargo were acordingly burnt. It subacupently apmeard that the "Felicity" was trading under a British license (a), and was therefore strictly exempt from opture:' but this fact was concealed by the master until after the ship had been set on fire. More than four years afterwards a suit for damages was instituted by the ownere against the captors, on the gromed that the vesel was exempt from capture, and that in any cate it was the duty of the captors to bringe her in for adjudication, when the exmption coukd have berem made elowr. It was hedd, howerers, that in the dreumstances of the case no responsinility attadned to the captore.

Judgment. Sir W. Scott, in delivering judement, pointed out that ins atrictues a captor was homed, both he the law of his own country and by the general law of nations ' $b$ ', to bring in his prize for adjudication ; this in order that it might he ascertained whenter it was really enems promerts, and in order that mistakes might not be committed by captors in the enger pursuit w' &atin, he which injustiew might be done fon neutrals and mational frarels proveked. In the present case both resel and carwo were Wealy American, alleged he the damants themedres to be such, and consequently enemy property at the time. 'This bringe =o, no lon was incorred he the property not haveng heon hought in for rondmantion. The raptors, moreorer, hand fulty , instilied themsches, aceseding to the law of their own comentry, for not having bronght it in fior adpulication. by showing that the immediate amien on which the were menged wouk not permit them to fant with ans of the if cond. In this collision of dutios nothing [^57]with their dat to their own country, permit enemy propery to sail away momoted. Where it was doubtlal whether the property was enemy poperty, and it was imposible to bring it in, then no such obligation arose, and the safe and proper course was 10 release the resel. In fact, where the property was nentral, the act of dewrention would not be justified by the gravest importance of such an act to the pablice service of the captor's "wn state: and to the neutral it rould be justified, under any cireumstances, only by a full restitution in value. These rules were clear in principle and well established in practice.

In the present ans, howeres, it was contended that the hostile character was disarmed by a license ; and there appeared to be no reason to dippute wher the existence or authority of the liense, which had indeed been granted under circumstances highly farourable to the ressel, and which still arailed to protect her. These facts created a claim of a very strong character; and the only question that could arise was whether the elaim was so brought forward as to affect the captor with responsibility. If the latter knew of the license, wither through its production or from other eiremmences which ought to have satistied him of its existence, then he was liable for the whole loss oremioned. But if the limenee was not diselorad to him bethote whowe dutr-it was to inform him, amd ho had no sullicient mems to inform himself, then he was not a wrongluer. From the evidence in the present ease it appeared that there was no such kuowledge, either express or implical, on the part of the matore. The probable aplanation appeared to be that the "Felicity" was in such condition that thore on hourd her were onty ton sidat to esemper to the salper and comfort of the "Eadrmion": that they were kindly treated there and sent home in satery: bat that, on being laken to tark by their owners for their dsartion of the ship and caroo. they trumped up this hisury of -poliation. It any mate. they held out the shi! as an mpromed hip, ant homes anthorized the captor

In view of the concealment practised by those on board, The Felicity was held to be in the position of an mprotected enemy vesed. In the judernent it is laid down, alike as a rule of municipal and international law, that at captor must. in gemeral, bring or sent his prize into a suitable port for adjudication. This rule probably originated in the fand that states at one time ceded only part of the fruits of prize to the captore. But it now obtains primarily in the interet of nentrals: althomen it serves at the same time to en-ure a regular and ordentr proedure in at! cases. This prinary duty is. however, subject io some qualification, the scope of which-a we shall see when we come to deal more particnlarly with the gnestion of the destruction of nentral prize-varies ereatly in different systems. Under the British system an enemy prize maty le deatroyed if the captor find- $\mathrm{i}^{4}$ impracticable or dangerous tw seml her in for adjudiation, suloject to the removal of the crew and the ships parers: hat if the vesel is nentral, or if there is any deubt as to her mationality. the only safe consen is to release her. for the reaton that if she is destroved ec the capter will. on proof of her mental character. be tiahle to make full indemnity in respect both of ship and cargo(d). Moreover, according to the British practice, even where an enemp ship is destroyed. imnocent neutral eargo (on bourd must be paid for (e).

(iii THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF CAPTORA  THE "OSTSEE."

[1856; 5 Moo. P. C. 150.]

Case. During war between (ireat Intitain and Ruwia, the "O-tsec." a nentral resel, was captured by Il.Mis'. " Illoan" and sent in for adjudication, on a chatee of having violated the blockade of C'ron-tadt. In the course of the proceedines. howerer, it appeared that Cronstadt was not at the time in question muder hambatu. Ratitution of ship and Gateo was amombingly decreed: the only other cuestion being as to a chain for damages and costs against the captors. In the Court helow this was refused: Tut on appeal to the Judicial Commitee of the Prity Council an award of costo and damages arainst the captors was mad, for the rearons given in the judgrent.
(a) Whim is, howeve widently contemplatma as a posihility in Lord Frlicity ( Dods. 381) ; Ther Lemcotl" (spink: at 231).

(r) See the Pritish Memorandum. Parl. Fapers (1909), Misc. No. 1, p, 9

Judgment.f $\mathrm{I}_{1}$ the judgment of the Judicial ('ommittee, which was delivered by the Rt. Hon. T. Pemberton Leigh, it was pointed out that in cases of restitution, thare courses were open to the Court: (1) The claimants might, notwithstanding vestitution, be ordered to pay the conts and expenses of the eaptors, as wher the capture had heen ocessioned by the misconduct of the wessel; or $\therefore$, matitution might he granted without eosto or expenses on cither side, as where a vesel, with little or no lantt on her part, was nevertheles involed in strppicion which entitled the captor to seize her: or : 3 the captors might be ordered to pay costs and damages to the clamants, as where the vesel was not by any ant of her own (a) open to any fair ground of suspicion, in which case the mator seized hor at his peril. These principles wer recognized and acted on not only in Enghish law, but by all the chice maritime Powers.

Aecording to the leading French, Amerien, and English authoritiss it appemed that in order to exompt a captor from costs and damages in cases of restitution, there must have been some circumstances comected with shij) or fargo. affording reasonable eromed for the beliof that one ow both, or some part of the cargo, were, or might on further encuiry prow io be. lawful prize. What wan reavomble canser could not be delined in ranct trims. But neither in the twats nor in the cases refored to did if appear either that wations conduct mat be proved in order to subject (aptors to costs and damanos: or that honest mistake, eren though oemsioned be the wit of thoir Govermment, would relieve thenis from their liability to make grood to the nentral damage sastained by thoir enduct: although rexatious condnet, if prored, would be no doubt a aromed for subjecting them to vindictive damase or ofther exemetional treatment $\mathrm{F}_{5}$. In the ca-c of errose occasioned by the proeedinges of thene own (foremment, the raptors mast be taken to ate as the agents of it was not open either to the Nate ore to individuals to allememror as an excuse for wronedrine. Snd the law of nations on thes points, as shown hy the devisions in the Ammiean and Euronean

Comer, appeared to conform to this vicw (c) If there were exceptions to this ruke they appeared to exist only in cases where the captors had been involved in nice questions as to the eonstruetion of public documents or the determination of unsetted points of lans. or in ases of dixpute bedween the bedigerents themselves, where the captors had acted in matovidabe ignorance id, which was not here in evidence.

Applying thene principles to the fact- of the canc betore the Court, it appeared that inamuch as Cronstad was not blockaded cither when the "Otsee" entered, or when she took on her cargo, or when she yuitied the port. she did net fall meder ans one of the condtions which were required $e$ to concur in order to justify the sending of the ship in for adjudiation: and that there was, therefore, no reasonable eround for suppicion. Now were there any irregularities on the part of the resect of such a kind ats to exempt the captore from their consequent hahility 10 coste and damages $(f)$. Nor was the case one in which the Court would be justiifed in making an order neainst the (iovernment &f For the reas:on that no blame appeared to be imputathe to it: although it was ol course open to the executive autherity fo erent such relicef rolmarily if it was thought expedient

An appal had. indeed, been made to the ('mom to aceren ite discretion in farour of the catpors. But when onnc: : can hats been hrought within a paricular rule it monad that sum diseretion was at an end. Nop. exen if the Comp was of liberts to relax entled rule on ito own notions of jutioe and polion wis it prepared to do so in the perent canco. The law to hor appliad in [^58] 174).

in which the Prize Tribunal sat. America had adopted almost all her principlos of prize law from the English Courts: and in the later no authorities were eited with greater respect, in cass 10 which they were applicable, than those of the distinguisherd jurists of Fratece and Smerica. Whaterer was hold in Engtand to justif:- or exense an offieer of the British mays, would be held by the tribunal: of any other courts to justify or exemse eaptors of their own mation. By the usage of all comtries, captors had a great interest in increasing the number of prizes. The temptatien to send in ships for adjudiation was sufficiently strong. Where. therefore, a captor had, as in the present case, brought in a besel without any ground for suspicion, and had no excuse to offer except that he had done wronge under a mistake, it was not too much to say that he mant make good in temperate damages the injury which he had oceationed $h$.

This case serves gemerally. 10 illustrate both the mameibilities of captors and the position and functions of Prize Conts (i). Nore particularly, it emmatas some important rules with reFoed to the emblitions umber which at suspected resed may be where a (apture is ant upheld the the Prize ('ount. Ont the latter point, the rute is haid town that where a bedigerent seizes a vosed improperly ant without reasmable calmes. awo though in honest error either on his part on on that of his (iovermment the vesel not be rempmatho in damames. And this rute is now atfirmed in sul)stanm by the Dertaration of Lambonti) Now. umber the Pritish

 -aptur-1年)

[^59]

```
(l (. Rob) 17!).
    (m) Naval Prize \et. 1^if&, \therefore. 37.
```

 which are mader the direct eontrol ant rexponsibility of the state, ant which alow bear the whtwidel matks attarhinge to the public lished principlos and oxi-the abalogiow (q) *atotion the view that which womblexpere the whenters tos puni-hment -imitar the that in-Thi, (",

the risiting ship must hoist her coloms and notify the otlier ressel to Dring to, cither by hating her or by irme two bank grms, and then, il necessary, a shot across her bows (o). An oflicer is them romt on boarl, who in the first instance examines the ship's papers, which generably serve to diechose the character of the vesonl, cargor proesed to a searel of both wesel and carco, and may also make empuiry of the master and erew. Both visitation and seareh mast be rombleded in a manmer as lithe rexations as pessible. If it appears that the resed is not liable to detention, she is allowed to procerd on her rosage: the fact of twitation having fir been entered in the log benk. If, on the other hamd, the vosiel proves to he an enemy vasol, on if. being nentral, there is probable canse for beliemg that either vessel or (arger or both are liable te mondemation, then, tave in the exmptional ouse of manmale pensersion is taken by the raptor. This may be dome either hey puting a prize master and erew on hard, or by requiring the wesel to lower her flag and to stem amending to meders. After taking posemsion, the reizure of the reacel as betwen captor and prize is complete, and if condemnation hould ultamately follow, the divestang of the title of the original ownere will relate back to the setzure (f).
'ourses open to faptor: (i.) sending in for Alljulimention. After in capture hat been elfected, there are in the main, and apart from ertain exeptional proceding- mow anthorized by Convention ig). there (onnses upen to the captor. In general it iss as we hase seen, his daty to send the prize into a proper port for adjudication without morearmahle delar(h). Fer this purpose the ship's papers mus be semped and rerified, and all nevesarys steps taken to sempere the safety of the eargo. Thene on beard most also be nesses shond be went with the vesul(i). The poot ter which the prize is sent should the a port of the caphor's own of an allied conntry, althomeh smeder apecial eircumstanes the comet will con(lemn a prize lying in a neutral port, amblathe it to be sold there (\%). It -hould abon be the nearest pont that is suitabla for the purpose, having regate primaty. to the exigemen of the pmblar servied ansl mext to the intereste of :lll partion comernet. induding buth

[^60]

(o) Sim the Jowlaration ot I omblom. N1t: 11. 17: ancl p. &st-s. i, ín.

;) Sew Mammal ut Nitral Priza

 "ondition for kerping. mity also bo nu－aho he mate for the natigation of the prize of．Sn armal at the pent of adjudiation ohe mat he delivenal he the prize

ii．，Ihestretion．In crrtain（indumtances．homerer，the captor masy donoy the prize Aconvdine w the briti－l pration，this．as

 （1）la゙

Thin in viow ui the monibilis？ of ratitution．

 ニー ッー！！

```
    1, 14.1
```

```
    \(\because 11\)
    1, \%/../ /...
    Art. ; 3:3. :30!.
    1 ilali. 1.j;
```

1 - 1...1! ! ! ! !
iii．）lanmem．In－ome systems it is alan ，heren to a cappor to alane the prize on the ternis of ransom．But water the British ＊－rom the gramine of ranson is mw prohibited excep in sucht （ians ats may be epecilied hy Urder in Council（y）．The procedme
 demped：Where ranom has been granted and the captor is himest taken lefore he have depsited the ransom bith and the hostage， the pria＂ill be exmmatad（．4．

The Linlilities of C＇uptors．The British pactiee with reepeen to on mentrals．I caphor is requied to exercise his belligerent righte with dimetion an well as zeal，and wheree the strictest propricty of conduet twand thone with whom he is brought in ar we hate arom．he held repmorible in damage and metr．even in （ate the liathility is that wit the commander of the wese effecting

 if the raptured sumal shouk be fombermed at lawful prize．the

```
\therefore 1.: and the Naval lrazo Bill wl 1911). - 1!1.
    (z) ハ"u", 口. St.
```

```
*/%.
    (l, \:amu:! uf゙ Xiasal !!iz! |:aw.
111-1%.11.
```

```
    1/ Mamual of \al\al l'ria口 l.aw.
1ut.1ti.
```

 －tolen from a wamdantor in whirll it hasd luen property deansited by the （aj）
（i）Mamaal of Naval Prize Law，

 ．．．！！！－

THE N.1TLRE ANI FLNOTONSOF PRIZE COLRTS. THE "FOX."

1511: Elwards. 311.
Case. This was the case of an American resed which had been baken by the British. Whilet on a rovage from Boton to (herbourg'. On the part of the captors condemmation of both ship and carge was rought, by virtue of certain Orders in Council. which had been isom by the British (iovernment, prohibiting intereoure with France "i: On behalf of the owners it was claimed that the Order- in Council had laped owing to the revocation he the enemy of the measures upon which ther wre proferedly founded: and also that eren if they were still in ofuration, both resel and cargo ought on grounds of equity to be exemped from their penal effect. In the rewult it was held that the Order in Council were still operative; and that ina-much as the case came within their terms hoth hip and cargo must be condemned.

Judgment. Sir W. scott, in the course of his judement, took oceasion to dral with the position ocenpred by Prize ('ourts in intermational law. - - to this he observed that the question had been raised as 10 what would be the duty of the Court if the Orders in Comeil proved to be repmonant to the law of nations. In fact. these Orders were not in the "iremmetmese qud as manare of retaliation, to he so regarded. Neverthedw, and to cormet allo posible misapmehmion. he dusired to state it it the rule of the (boud. that it wat hand to administur the relations in whin the might be plated 10 warde thic enuntry and it- (ewsumumt. This was whot other comentrichal at right

[^61]the Briti: h Gowermment, by Oeders in rlared all manes situatul wither in the territory of F'rame or her allies or States that had suhmitted to her rule to bre meler that same restrictions a if hlockiverl, with all (wheeguent penal-to demand for their subjerts. and to complain il they receivent it not. That law constitated the maritten law of the 'ourt: and was evideneed be the decisions, and collected from the common usage of eivilized stater. It was true that bey the Constitution the King in Comeril posesesed eretain legishation rights orer the Court, and had power to iswe orders and instructions which it was bound to ohoy. That constituted the writem lan of the Court. The two propesitions, that the Court was bound to administer the law of nations, and that it was bound to anfores the King's Orders in C'ouncil, were not inconsistent with each other, for the rea-on that such orders and instructions were presumed to conform under the giron ciremmstancers, and an exprorience showed generally did conform, to the principle of the unwritten law. Ther were cither directory applications of thase principhes or poritive reoulations consistent with them, but proseribing their more particular application. As to amy possible conflict, in the event of such directions and regulations contrarening the law of nations, it would be indecorons to presume that such an emergency would arise. With respeet to the order- and instruetions then in question, these as measures of retaliation, appeared to be justifiable under the law of nations. They must, moreover, be regrarded as still operative, on the ground that the measures of the French (rovernment on which ther were founded were still unreroked. Nor were there any eireunstances in the present case, arising out of the conduct of the British (iovernment, on which ant equitable chain eould be founded.

According to the view taken in the jumbment. the orders in Commeil issued by the British (bovermment (b) were held to be justified as meature of matiation. In primeiple of course. a wroner dome to bentrals hy mo helligerent camot justify the commLiosion of a smilar weme hy the other: hat the reasoninge appears to be that if nentral stater acyuicese in or fail to take active steps to redress an undme extonsion of belligerent right on the part of one of the states at wat, whith not only prejudices neutrats but aloo planes the wther ferlioerent at wrave dixalvantage, then the later hat no alternatise hut torest to mea-ures of retaliation (c).

(o) Is a matter of fatet. thase meatures were the subinet of atotion protest amd even rotaliation ly the ['nites States. whilst the Britisli Orders formed one of the canses which lem to the war of 1si?: see Muore Direst. vii. 795,1 Netz.

The part of the julument. howerer. which most concern: us here, is that which redaltes (t) the international chatacter and functions of Court of Prize. such Court-, it was sait in effect, are, from the very hature of the questions, with which ther deal, bonnd to adminioner a common law of nations: and this with at due regard to the rights of all. irre-pective of nationality. And the same riew has been frequently arested incther eases. So. in The Werien ( 1 C . Rob. at 3.50 . the same learned judge remarked that it was his duty, not to deliver orra-imal and hifting opinions to serve present purposes (fi particular national interest. but to administer with indifference that ju-tice which the law of nations hoks ont without distinction to independent states, whether neutral or belligerent; and to make no pretension on the part of one belligerent which would not be ronceded to the other in the like circumstancestd). In The For, the question of what the duty of the Cont would be. in the erent of the muncipal law contrarening the law of nations: is indeed dismised, on the asumption that such a conflict was not likely to occur. But in Euglish law such Courts, even though they will alwars seek 10 put such a construction on the municipal law or requlations made theremuler as witl hring them into harmer with the law of nations, would, in the last resort, and notwithanding some dicta to the conhare that are to be found in the cases ce, undoubtedly be bound by the ' clearly expersed will of Parliament. as the sovereion authomity (f). And the same would aloo apply in other ststems.
(ireat Britain, unlike some other maritime Powers, has no offirial Code of Prize Law or Saval War (indod'. The prize sratem Court- Act. 18941 io and rarions Orters in comecil iwned threse under: whilet for the re-t the law applied is judiciary law. which purperte to he haved on and the comfom to the la wo nations.

With reaper to the com-titution and juriodiction of Prize fionts. the $H$ loh Court of Admiralty (he is inveted with a general jurisdiction in eases of prize, which is exerciscalse either in the first intaner or her way of appeal from other Comes. As regard. British tominion* and dependencie. it was formerly the practice. wh the outhenk of war. to iswe commissions to Courts of Tice-Anmiralty

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { sun The IM, int } 1 \text { ('. Jinh), at } \end{aligned}
$$

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { Thu Ahamal of Xaval Jriz } \end{aligned}
$$

diepute. demied to bave an otficial antlority and has sinen bom withdrawn. although it hats atill an evirlatiare valare. I- to the nevert of such a radr. are IFullamd. Letters on Wiar lianipline Iot. Nasti. athel the Ad-

$1 \%$ Vin tha P. I). anm I. Div. of t $l_{1} \times \| l_{2} h_{1}$ (inut.
e－tablinhed there anthorizing them to deal with matters of prize． liat and commis－ants may now be issued in time of pate，ahthough they bake efteet unty wh the iswe of a proctamation by the Crown （11 the outheak of war ！！ ．They may now be iswed either to ralter $n$ ：with a right of appoal in either case to the High court of －hmimaty．There is a further appeal from the High Come itself to the Judicial Commitee of the Priry Commil：such appeal heing an or right in cans of final decree，and by leave of the Conm in wher （anmot The High tom is empowered to enforce any decrees or orders either of the fower（＇onts or of the Judicial Commite in prize caren；whilst the lower Counto are also required to entoree all urders and decrees of the higher Courts $(p)$ ．The procedure in prize cases is regulated in part by the Nasal Prize Act， 1864 （ $q$ ）， and in part by general ordore and rules issued either under that Act $\left(r^{\prime}\right)$ or the Prize Conit．Act， $189+(s)$ ．

Gexeral Notes．－The－Jature and Funclions of Prize Courts．－ All matime captures mow how be adjudicated on by a competent （＇ourt，and for this purpoe Prize Courts are established in each of the belligerent states．The funtions of such Courts are，shortly， to enpuire into cate of maritime capture，to decree condemation where the property（aptured powso to be lawfal prize；to award restitution where it is not．with such compensation as mas appous just：and incilentally to protere the immert of all against rapine and divorder．They orrupy an impontant pace in the international －rstem，for the reatom that they have to pare upon the interests both thibunal．The con－titution of sumb Cours is solety a question of municipal law，and raries mpaty in difierent systems．In Great Sritan and the Cunted states they are always presded over by julase having juli fal traning：but in other commice they often comprise or are eren comporent of wfticials，and are，indeed，some－ times rather in the nature of atmini－mative than legal tribunals， whil－－imitar ditherener presail with respert to procedure（ $t$ ）．It i－now propeod whplement his orvaization be the evtabliwh－ nent of an Internatimal Priza Comet ul

```
    i 57 心 5S Ti|t. (. 39. &. 2.
    ) Thewr loriner Imperial ('mmat:
```

```
Nai? amal 186%.
    (ai) 'Thewar lrimer ('uhonial C'murt- in-renten with dumimatty jurisliction:
```

```
lot. IN90. S. :3.
    (11) ご & こと \iut. (. 2.j. \therefore. 5.
```

 said to porene an immational character. And this is wate to the extent that ther are open to all perom- whatever their nationality, whoe interenos are legally at stake $e$ ) that they are bound to act a- betwen matimals and inm-mationals with strict impariality: that mations in on far at this is asempanmel: and that the state in which they sit is intmationally remmable if the fal to do an Never-reaton that they are mathished and requated bey the wereign authority of the comatry in which ther -it and ma-i uhamately take their law from it, cen thomeh that law may men (ementan the fact that the state i- reponsible for their deci-gons. As hetweren the of mifmaty and artanty in intrmathal arage semerally renter the endikite nentral opinion and the dancer of antagnizing tho cescions. vet these are in their matare political rather than lequal The estaldishment of an International Prize Cone woukd howerty.

 -are to remove this diflicults.

The lowen situation of the court.-It is now miverwally agreen that : J'rize (surt cannot be fawfully e-tablished by a belligerent such a Cone may rightly be exablishet in the teritory of an ally or ou-helliment: of eren that the Conts of the later maty then--olves be resonted tom. But a neutral Conet is not a liferte to exercene jurisliction in maters of prize. exeept where the prize. being within its jurviolion, is shown to have been taken in riolation of the nourality of the tertorial Power od, of wher the prize was abantomel by the "apoter and is the subject of a salvase claim (an the part of neutrat- (e).

The homal situntion of the Prize. - With repperet th the bocal sitmation of the praz belli. accordine the briti-h and American pras-

(1.") 1* th "numy interests, see PW. 195,196, i, firu.
(3) Nlthmogle they will. prohats. - Fen mame t!atn other (ionts stek to rules at will briner theme into ronformity with the atlmitted 1 -ate of studirs 194.

Art. こ: and 1. 195, infict.
(b) Lee Il. (.. No. 13 of 1927. Art. 4.
(r) . Inthoush this would in stribtnese have the disatrantatere of rembering the raplur State rexpmaibs for the derexions of the ('ourts of another I'ower: su Tarlor. Sol.
(17) The frimin L'men ( W Wnat. ATl

and is not in process of adjudication elsewhere ( $f$ ); and the correctness of this view appears to be impliedly affirmed by the provisions of the Hague Convention, No. 13 of $1907(\mathrm{~g})$. Moneorer, when jurisdiction in a matter of prize has once attached it will continue notwithstanding that the prize property has been landed ( $h$ ) or sold hy the capturs ( $i$ ), or has been lost or destroyed ( $k$ ).

Responsibility for Iecree.- It is commonly recognized that the decision of a competent Court on a question of prize is final and conchutive in law ( $b$ ). It settles all questions of right or title as regards the property taken, and precludes any further controversy as to the validity of the "apture as between the original owners and the captors or those who daim muler them, in whaterer country the property way afterwarts be form ( $m$ ). To hold otherwise would lead to endless disputes and uncertainty in the matter of titles $(n)$. Nevertheless, the State to which the Court belongs remains internationally responsible for its decisions; and it will be open to nentral stater, whose interests or the interests of whe subjecte are affected, to question their correctness. and to make such redamation thereon as may he thought fit (o). In the first instance. such clams are usually prosented diplomatically, but in the last resort they may be enforced by means of reprisals (p), or even by intervention (q). Such claims, if apparently well founded, are often referred for decision to a joint commission, or some other arbitral body. So, in 1794 a foint commission was appointed by (ireat Britain and the Cnited States to adjudicate on the alleged minawful capture and condemnation of certain Amerian vessels during the Revolntionary war $(r)$ : whilst in 1871 a similar commission was apperinted for the purpose of adjudicating on a number of elam- arising wat of the alleged unlawtut endemmation of Briti-h vessels be the American Prize Comts during the ('ivil waris). But such proceedings will not strictly. affect any right or title acquired under the decision complained of.
(i) The Suntissima Trimitun (i Wheat. at 35.5); The P'omone (1 l)ods. 2.5).
(! I) Mrt. 23.
(h) Itudwon v. C'uestier (4 Cranch. 243).

 and sen aloo Tralleck, ii. 429 ef seaf.

1) Siave, of course, for such rieht of apheal ats maty be allowed by the domoretia Jaw.
(m) Soa llathork, ii. to 7. amblauthoritites there cited, n. 1. But in Burlish law the deeixion of a formirn Prize (ourt maty be examinm in ortar to see if the facto in proot of whid the deceision is adduced were atetatly so foond by the foreion ('ourt: lome

v. Imrie (L. R. 4 II. L. at 434).
(, 1 ) S゙ot, i! English law, The ('oten-

(o) Infia. p. 232: and. as to claimm in rexpert of enemy property. p. 19.5.
(p) Is in the case of the silesian loan: see vol. i. 334.
(1) Is oreurred in 1879. when (iermany intervened to seeure the relomse of a fierman vessel condemmed by a Premian C'murt durines war botwon ('hila and Peru: see Oppenheim. ii. 507.
(i) S九ee Taylor, 543.

 ilait. iv. 393.) : and The li, +wo made daring the Rawor-lapane- war. sere p. t3

The Internutional Prize (ourt: (i.) Why needed?- The present sotem of dealing with cases of prize is open to various oljections. In the first place. it constitute, the state of the captor, in some sort, a judge in its own cause; and although the British, American, and French Conts have. on the whole exhibited a commendable impartiality ( $t$ ), yet, in general, there is probably bound to be some loaning in fityour of the national interests, especially in countries where the Court consists of or comprises administrative oflicials ("). Next. although such Courts purport to administer a law in conformity with the law of nations, they are, in fact, bound to take their law, whatever it may he from the sorereign authority of the riate in which they art ( $x$ ). Finally and apart from any positive regulation. such 'ont will mecessarily follow the practice of their onm state in cases where the pratice of mations conflict. Long prior to 1907 various propozals had been made for the formation of an Intenational Court (y). In 1887 the Institute of International Law inchoderl a project of this kind in its suggested mode for the regulation of maritime captmes $(z)$. But there projects, although not without their influence on international opinion, were not attended ly any immediate result. In 1907 the subject came under consideration at the Hague Conference(a); with the result that after prolonged discussion and negotiation a draft project was agrom on. which is now embodied in the Prize Court Convention, No. 12 of 1 sot. In tiow. howerer. of the great divergmon of minim and practice which then prevailed on sul) fects with which the proposed (rourt would have to deal. many state- including (ireat Pritain. were unwilling to accopt the Convention until the law on thew subjects had been letter ascertained and defined. This indeed, was the main object of the holding of the Naval Conferener of 1908-9, whith resulted in the framing of the Derlaration of London. Meanwhile the Prize fourt fonvention, although originally signed by come 38 States (b). incTuding all the Creat Powere haw not. so far. heen ratified by any. Neserthelese it clams anme romsideration, as emborlying a project which, in some form of nthers is likely at ne divant time to berwne at erality (ii.) The Ilague 'ancention "repatiere tos the Extablisthment of it, I: to the British Comerts. it has lewen "onmputerd that twof ont of "very five of forod Stownd $]^{\circ}$ : dowi-ions. num-

 Amarioan Comete has lemen vory similar. say perhays dariner a prorionk of the revil war. when thes rexhiliterlas has -inco induad hront arlmittod by one of thefir furlerfe an ummistakable bias againiot lirent butain: sere ! Iall. dition.

(2) One of these dates bark as ear]

(ご) Mritl.: Barr-lay. Jroblems, 105.
("t) l'rogusale on the sulaject wore submitted luoth hy Cipont liritatin and fiermany: for an abeonulit of threo and ther mode in which there wore dealt

( 7 ()f t!eor. low worer, no lese than ten sigenerl mader reservation of Irt. 15. whirla dala with the wastithtion of the (onurt.
astablishment of an International Court, having the constitution, and wercising the jurisdiction and functions, described below. The Court is to hear appoals from national Prize Courts, although only in the bases prestribed: and is empewered to order restitntion and to assess damages and award compensation. But the Convention will only apply, as of right, when all of the Powers at war are parties thereto (e). It is to come into force six months after heing ratilied by a sullicient mumber of Powers to enable the ('on't to be duty constituted $(d)$ ) and is to remain binding for twelse years firm the time of coming into force. It is, moreover, to be deemed to be tacitly renewed as between the contracting Powers for successive periols of six year's, unless denounced on the expiration of any of thene periods, in which case it will cease to bind the l'ower that has denomed it but will otherwise continne operative (e). At demand for its revision may, however, be made by any contracting Power two years before the expiry of any of the periorls aforesad ( $f$ ). At the Naval C'onference, with the object of meting the difficulties experienced by ecrtain Powers, such as the Linited states, whos domestic eomstitution did not allow of an appeal from their highest Courts to anty external tribunal, a protoen was agreed on to the effect that such Niates might ratify the Convention subject to a reservation substituting a direct clam for compentation for proceding by way of appeal. so long as the rights seomed by the Convontion were not thereby impaired: the result beme that in such cases the Enternational Court would, if it disagreed with the derision of the national Court, awart compensation, althoug withont terminally orerriting the derision in question ( $g$ ) .
(iii.) The Juristliction of the Intermetional I'rize Court.-Under the Convention, jurisdiation in matters of prize is to he exercised in the first instance by the Prize Courts of the captor, the judgments of whinh mus be publiely pronemoned or officially notified to the parties $(h)$. From there an appeal. (ow what is virtualty an appeal. may be made to the International Prize Conet in certain ases set forth in the Comention. These amprian maes $\langle 1$ where the jumbent of the national Court afferts the property of a neuteal Power or individnal: and (2) where the julement affecto oxen enemy property. but relates to (a) (areon fombl on hamd a mentral ship (i), w (h) an enemy ship whin is alleged twhem hem aptured in the momitorial watere of a nemtal Power which has mot made the cap-

[^62]Protenen to the Prize Court Consention, No. 12 代 19017 .
(i) Irt*.1.2.
the which would. therefore. wedinarily be protected by the nevtrat tlagr.
(1: Sion IT. ('.. No. 13 of 19017, case must be by the neutral Power (l); or (c) enemy property which is alleged to have been eaptured in violation of some convention subsisting between the belligerent Powers or some enactment of the State of the captor. The appeal may be based on alleged error either in fact or in law ( $m$ ). But when the national Court has set aside a capture, then an appeal to the International Court will only lie on the question of damages $(n)$; with the result that there is no appeal to the International Court against a decree of restitution. The contracting Powers bind themselves expressly to accept the decrees of the International Court, and to carry them out with the least possible delay ( $o$ ).

(ir.) By whom Proccedings may be instituted!-Au appeal to the International Court may be made either (1) by a neutral State, if the judgment of the national Prize Court injuriously alleets either its property or that of its nationals, or if the capture is alleged to have been made in its territorial waters: ur (2) by a neutral individual, if such judgment injuriously aflects his property. subject, however, to the right of his own State either to forbid the appeal or to undertake it in his place; or (3) by an enemy indiridual, if such julgment injuriously affects his property, and if either the capture was made on a neutral ressel ( $p$ ) or is alleged to have been in violation of some convention or belligerent enactment as before described (i), although if a riolation of neutral waters is involved only the neutral state can appeal ( $r$ ) . The same rights also atach to successors: in title it they have taken part in the proceedings in the national Court (s). Such an appeal may be made either from the national Court of first instance, or, after one domestic appeal, as the law of the eaptor may provide; whilst, if no decision is given within two years, then the case may be taken direct to the Lnternational Court without any prior decision ( $t$ ).
(v.) The Law to be applied.-The International Court, in caves roming before it, is to apply, first, the provisions of any treaty which may be in force between the parties relevant to the matter in question; uext, such rules of international law as are generally recognized and applicable to the matter in question: and. finally: and in default of any such recognized rule, "the general principles of justice and equity." Where the appeal is hased on the vinlation of some enactment of the belligerent captor then such enactment is to be applied. The Court may disregard any failure to comply with rules of procelure preseribed be the law of the captor if it regards them at unju-t or inequitahbe in their offocte (ix). If the Court upholds a capture the procende are then distributable ac-
(7) The enemy owner, as such. (q) stopror.
having no claim to restitution.
(m) Art. 3.
(n) Art. 8.
(n) Art. 9.

(r) . Irt. 1.
(s) Art. 5 .
( $t$ ) Art. 6.
(i) Art. 7.
cording to the law of the captor. If it finds the capture to have been invalid, then it decrees restitution and fixes the amount of damages, if any; whilst if the prize has been sold or destroyed, it determines the anome of compensation to be paid to the owners $(x)$. The provision that. in default of a generally recognized rule, the Court shall apply "the general priniples of justice and equity" probably means that the judges composing the Court would apply the principles of the system with which they were most familiar (y) : but the Declaration of London, 1909, if it should be accepted, will serve largely to mitigate this defect.
(vi.) The C'onstitution of the C'ourt.--The Prize Court itself is to (:onsist of tifteen judqee. of whom nine will constituie a quorum ( $z$ ); and all of whom are reruired to be skilled in international maritime law and of high reputation (a). F'or the purpose of constituting it, pach of the signatory Powers is to appoint a judge and a deputy julge (b). Both judges and deputy judges are to be appointed for a period of six years: and. in case of death or resignation, a new appointment is to be made for a fresh period of six years ( $c$ ). From the bouly of judges so nominated the Comr itself is to be constituted on the following plan: The judges appointed by Great Britain, the Cniteri Statec, France, Cermany, Austria-Hungary. Italy, Russia and Japan, making eight in all, are to be permanent members of the C'ourt: whilst the remaining seven places are to be filled by judere appointed by the other simnatory Powers sitting by rota, acrording in a Table annexel to the Convention (d), the place of an absent judge being alwars taken loy his deputy ( $e$ ). The only morlification of this is that if in time of war it shonld happen that either of the belligerent- has no judge at the time entitled to sit in the Court, then the belliwerent in question may claim to have a judge of it own appeinterl for the purpoce of taking part in all cases arising out of the war, one of the judges ordinarily matited to sit being withdrawn $f$, Nuperson san sit andge who has taken part in the proceeding l hefore the national Prize ('ourt (g). Provivion is alon made for the appointment by a bellisernent captor, or hy a memmal State that may be involved in the promedinge of a maval oftion of high rank to act as assessor, although withont any mice in the decision ( $h$ ). The judges are to the paill wut of a common fome, and may not receive any further
(ir) Mrt. 8.
(1) Which. in view of the comatitution of the count. mirnat puwibly "prate to the prejulion of the SnertiSmerican rules and pratione.
$\because$ Ipt. 11.
(1) Art. 10 .
b) Irt. 10 .
(i) Sien hit. 11 : and. as th the rank and precodenoc. Irt. 12: : aml, as to thr bath of oftion and privilerese and immmnities. Art. 13.
(il) here Irt. 15; and as to the mase of any of them Powers not being partime the Consention. Art. ing. (1) Irt. 14.
(i) This heing determined by lot; Art. 16.
(!) Irt. 17.
7.) Irt. 18.
remuneration from their uwn Gorernment（ $i$ ）．The Court is to sit at the Hague，and camot in general sit elvewhere without the con－ sent of the befligerento $(k)$ ．The ministerial functions of the Court are to be served by the Administrative Council and the lnternational Burean（l）．The Court is to decide what languages may be used， but the official language of the national Court from which the case comes may always be used（mi）．The clauses dealing with the con－ stitution of the Court gave rise to great dissatisfaction on the part of the smaller states：and in this matter no less than ten of the signatories have made reservations．Provision has，however，been made for a possitle revisal of the present constitution under certain conditions（，ii）．The equal treatment of all states ontside the range of the great Powers－notwithstanting much disparity of position as regards mercantile marine，naval fores，and sea－borne trade－ involves．no doubt，a certain inequality of consideration：but a－ against thic it must be borne in mind that every state is－ecured repreventation when at war．and that the large number of conntrie－ from which the juderes are drawn serven to ensure that all juristio sytems shall be duly reprevented（ 0 ）．
，vii．）Procedure．－The Convention make－provi－ion for the aps－ pointment of agents and adrocate－（p）：and for the－ervion of motices． the procuring of evidence and the execution of regue－for this pur－ pase．within the ternitory of any States that are parties to the（＇unsen－ tion（q）．It also embodios a code of procelure $r$ ）：amd ineidentally empowers the Court to make any further and neresart rule－s and to suggest modifications of the rules already emboned in the（onven－ tion（t）．In dealing with case hefore it．the Cunt may take adti－ tional evidence $(u)$ ．Itoproceeding－must in oeneral be jublit．$s$ ：all questions are to be decide $/$ hy a majority of the juloe－preaent y $y$ ）： whilet it julduments nust be delivered in opn Sourt．and must state tho rea－ons on which they are laned（こ）．The conde dro makes due provision with re－pert to the awarding of most－（a）．Thereneral expense of the Cont are to be borme by the contrating Power in propontion to their reprementation on the（ourt ib）．

```
i) Irt. 20.
h. Irt. 21.
7) Irts. 2.%.2:3: and s.4. vol. i. 35.
```

```
    (") Irt. 5%.
```

```
for a -lont survase of the morit= amd demerit- of thr propuosel C'orrt. Smith. ln+mmational! Law, Bri4 of a.fy.
    i%) \rt*, 2%. 26.
```

```
(g), \rt. バー
(r) l'int Ill.
(s) Irt. 44.
(t).\It. .j).
(11) I!!t. 3is
(*) Irt. 3!1.
(!) \rt. 43.
(z, \1t=. 11. 15
(/1) li't. tsj.
j, Irt. &%.
```

PRIZE AND BOOTY.  (i) TITLE PRIMARILY IN STATE.  THE "ELSEBE."

[1804; 5 ('. Rob. 173.]
Case. During war between (ireat Britain and France, in which Sweden was nentral, the "Elsebe," a Swedish ressel, was, with several other vessels, taptured by the British whilst unds the convoy of a Swedish warship, and was subsequently proceeded against, together with her cargo, on the ground of rasistance to risit and search. Various questions arose in the course of the ease ( $a$; but the main ynestion was as to the nature of "prize" and the reapective rights of the Crown and captors therein. This arose through the act of the Crown in releasing sereral of thw vessels, including the "Elsebe," prior to adjudication and withont. the consent of the captors. The Crown's right to do so was questioned by the captors on the ground that an interest in the ressels captured had aherdy become rested in them at the tims of seizure, under the orant of prize: and that this could not be displaced by any after act of the ('rown. This question was raised on a motion to proceed to atjutication, notwithatandines the release and discharge of the ressel by order of the ('rown. In the result it was hold that inasmuch as a captore right to prize was wholly derived from the Crown. it. was quite open to the latter to order the releas of a captured ressel prior to addudication, and this without any consent on the part of the captors.

Judgment. In delivering judgment, Nir W' Scott found that the (rown had in fact released the resed, and that this releas had been duly accepted by the owners. On the question of riwht. the learned Judee observed that it was adnitted that the daim of the captors rested wholly on the Order in ('omeil. the Prochama-
(11) E"pecially as to the liahility of argo nwhed by neutrals, as th whith it was contended that neutral introcert were not atfected by reason of the re-i-tamenof the convoy: ant alow that a grant or prize by the ('rown did not, in the wircumstances. (extend to moutal broperty, both of which contontions were ultimately worruled by the ('ourt.
tion, and the Prize Act: and it was not denied that, independently of those instruments, the whole subject-matter was in the hands of the Crown, as well in point of interest as of authority. Prize was, in fact, altogether a creatare of the Crown. No one had or could have ant interest save through the (rown, to whom helonged at once the power of making war and peace, all acquisitions that might be made during war, and the disposal of such acquisitions, which might in itself be of the utmost importance for the purposes of war and peace. This was not a peculiar doctrine of the British Constitution, but was universally received as a necessary principle of public jurisprudence. Its olject was that the Power having authority to decide on peace or war might use it in the most beneficial manner for the purposes of both. In view of this it must be regarded as a general presumption that no Government meant to divest itself of this attribute of sorereignty, unless it did so by clear and unequivocal expression. In English law, moreover, a grant from the Crown was presumed to pass no more than was clearly expresed. Ipplying these principles to the case before the Court. he found that neither be the Order in Council, nor by the Proclamation, nor by the Prize Act, was any interest conferred on the enptors which derogated in any way from the primary right of the 'rown: that the only right conferred on captors was, in fact, a right to scize and bring in certain propertr: that their interest in the prize rested only after condemnation: and that prior to such time the Crown could dispose of the properts therein as it mioht think fit. In practice. moreover, whch a right had been exaresend by the ( rown. without being questioned, in a large mumber of instances. It was also a frequent practice in articles of peace to stipulate for the restitution of all property captured after the dates fixed for the cessation of hostilities in different latitudes: this heing a stipulation which the Crown would be powerless 10 erive effect to without some sulh power as that now eontembed fors. Aom did the exercise of such a power involve any injustice to the captors in the matter of eots and damages, for the reason that the acceptane of a release her the owners of the captured property operated as a wairer of any rights in this respect. which they might otherwisw hav.

Technically，and for the purposes of Adminalty jurisdiction in English law，＂prize＂extends to all property，whether in ships， guate，wr other articles，captured jure belli on the sea or in doreign ports or harbours；or captured on land hy naval forces acting thither alone or jointly with land forces；or captured in the river，ports or harbours of the eaptor＇s country；as well as money received by way of ransom（b）．＂Booty，＂on the other hand，con－ －ists of property captured on land otherwise than by naval forces（c）．
ibith respect to＂prize，＂under the British system all such pro－ prrty vest in the Crown，as representing the State，the captor having no title to or interest therein except such as may be conferred by the Crown（ $d$ ）．At the same time，it is usual，by Royal proclama－ tion issued at the commencement of a war，to award to captors the proceeds of all＂prize＂taken，subject to an adjudication of the （＇），urt：the mode of distribution being regulated by another pro－ rlamation（e）．Armed resiels of the enemy do not，however，con－ stitute＂prize．＂and are not subject to adjndimation；although the Nival Prize Aet，181；makes provision lor an award of＂prize bornty＂for the capure or destruction of such ressels（ $f$ ）．The rame Act aloo provides for the award of＂prize salvage＂in respect of Britiah vorsch previously taken by the enemy and subsequently recaptured（！$/$ ）The same principle，so far as relates to the resting of prize property in the state，also obtains under the law of the 1 nited States（ $h$ ）．

With reapect to bonty of war，in Engli－h law the title to booty enpally with prize veci－primarily in the Crown（i）：whilst，bike prize，it is usually dismibuterd amongst the foree engagent，a practice now sontemplated and sanctioned by tatute（ $k$ ）．By 3 \＆ 4 Vict． c．6\％，moreover，the Connt of Alminaty is empowered to exercise jurisdiction in all cuestions of booty of war or ins distribution that may be referred to it by the Crown．and is required to proceerl therein as in cases of prize（1）． [^63]Amerixan lrize system frnerally，Hal－ lerk，ii． 367.

（7）Sere the Army Prize Money Art， 1sise，as amended in certain particulars by 29 \＆ 30 Vict． 4.47. and awo 57 d が lict．（•3！）．
（1）This does not mean that the samo principles of distribution arm Hex．andily to he follownd，although the rutes applied are in fact larerly bated on those of prize：see the case ot TVM Timulta aind Tiberee Brat！y （J．R．1 A．（NE．109）．

(ii) DIVESTMENT OF TITLE OF ORIGINAL OWN゙ER ANDERSEN $c$. MARTEN.

[1908: A. C. 334.]
Case. This was an action on a policy of insurance underwritten by the defendant, by which certain interests in the S.S. "Romulus," a Cerman vessm, belonging to the plaintifl, were insured for twelve months as firom the 12 th January, 190.) (a). The riskinsured against included ouly loss by the perils of the sea, and did not corer loss by capture. During the continuance of the police. the "Romulus" sailed with a cargo of coal for Vladivostock. a naval port and bave of operations in the war then proceeding betwenn Russia and Japan: coal haring at the time also been proclaimed as contraband of war. In order to aroid the Japanese cruisers the ressel took a northern course, and sustained such injury by contact with the iee that the master found it nevessary to mako for Hakodate, a Japanese port. On the 26th Februar?, when a short distance from Hakodate, the "Romulus" was scized by a Japanese cruiser, on the ground of carrring contraband. and ordered to proceed to Yokosuka under the charge of a Japanses offieer. On her voyage to Yokosuka, she sustained further injury by the perils of the sea: and on the 27 th Februn? , he was run ashore and became a total loss. On the 16th May, 190.\% aftm her loss, the Japanese Prize Court condemned both ohip and carew. on the gremol that the had bern moplowe in transorting rontraband of war he fraud: it being aloo found that her paper: had been falsified. In the circumstances the plaintifi claimed to recover as for a total loss by the perils of the seas. In aid of this it was comemeded that the ship being a mentral ressel. the plaintiff, as owner, did not by the mere fuct of soizure on the 26 th Fobruary low either property or possession in the resent. for the ratont that the Prize (onurt. wan houch oondenming the cargo. might newpthen have released the vessul: that the plaintiff must themere be doemed to haw mained his interest
(a) The insurance was expresent to b.. on distoursmente. but at the trial it was aureed that the ritht- of the

[^64]until divested br an actual adjudication: and that such interest hat in fact been lost by the perils of the sea within the meaning of the policy. On behalf of the defendant, it was contended that there had been an actual decree of condemnation which vested the prize in the: eaptor; that, acrording to the principles followed by the English Courts, this related bark to the original seizure: and that the wescel was therefore lost by capture, which was expressly excepted from the risks insured against; the loss by the perils of the sean having occurred after the capture and whilst the vessel was in the hands of the cupter. In the result, it was held by the House of Lords. allirming the decision of the Court of Appeal, that there was in fact a total loss by capture and that the owner could not recorem on the policy.

Judgment.」 In delivering judgment, Lord Loreburn, L.('.. after referring to the fact- and to the arguments adduced on behalf of the plaintitt. pointed out that enemy resels did in some respects stand on a different footing from neutral vessels under the laws of prize. Carriage of contraband to a belligerent port did not itself impart an enemy character to a neutral ship. Such a vessel could not lawfully be destroyed $b$ : nor could her crew be treated as prisoners of war. The carriage of coutraband was not unlawful in the same sense as aiding an cnomy in an expedition. It was an adventure which the offended belligerent might, if he could, visit with capture and condemnation by a Court of Prize. Hence it appeared to be true that in the present case the property of the "Romulu." did not pase wholly from the owner on the 26th February. The owner still had a chance of recovering the ship, and still had an interest therem which he cond hate insured, although he no tonger ratained posecsion. But the sanm might also be said to apply in some measure to enemy vescels for the reason that arm thes might, monder some pireumstances, bre released by the Prize (ourt. The real yaration was whether there was a total los be capture. As to this it appeared that there was a total lose be capture on the ebth Febouars. the day on which the "Romulu-" was lawfully seized. as shown be the [^65]subsequent condemnation. There was on that day a total loss which, as things were then seen, might afterwards be reduced if in the end the ressel was released. According to the view contended for by the plaintilf, if the vessel had been insured against capture under a time policy which expired prior to condemnation, the liability of the underwriters would have been made to depend on the degree of expedition shown by a Court of Prize in adjudicating on the case, or even upon the taking of proceedings by way of appeal, a conchusion which was manifestly erroneous. The true riew appeared to be that there was a total loss by capture on the 26 th February, although its lawfulness was not authoritatively determined till the 16th May. That. at any rate, appeared to be the law of England on this subject.

In the cake of neutral property taken as prize, notwithstanding that the captor acquires immediate poscession, the title of the owner will not be regarded as complecely divestel umles and until a doreve of comemnation has been passed. althongh in that event the divestment of title will date back to the original seizure. In the case of the froperty of shbject or allie- taken as prize, as lor illegal trating, the same principle would apply. In the case of enemy properts. it is commonly laid down that as lietween captor and owner the divestment of title is complete as from the date of the original seizure(c): hat in riew of the fact that the captor is here, too, lewally bound to procedl to aljudication (d) aud that the re-ult of such adjurlication ma! ennceivably be in farour of the owner, it wonld sem that the samo principle now applies to enemy properts. If this he oo. then we have a unfiform rule with respect to title and its divestment. as between the captor and the orginal owner, whether enemy or neutral (e).

In the case where a captor loses possession of his prize hefore condemmation, either lyy abandomment, or by recapture or rescue, thon his inchoate right comes to an end. As regards abandonment, if this is rolnotary and intentional. there can clearly be no further claim on hic part, and the rioht of the original owner will therenpon perert, subject 10 any claim of -absage or new capture ( $f$ ). In primeiple it wonk appear that the same rule shonkd apply where the abamboment of the prize lix the motor was inrolnntars. for the reamon that his title is merely posersory and dependent on the reterntion of control, either acmal or mistructive $(g)$. In casos of masue. and now also on reapture. the rioht of the original owner will revert, although subject to any lawful claim of salrage ( $h$ ) . But if. after recapture the prize should be taken anew by the enems, then the title will vest in the last captor. to the exclution of any clam on the part of the original captor (i).

[^66]

(iii) TITLE BY TRAN゙SFER OR TRANSMISSION FROAI CAPTOR

THE "FLAD OYEN."

[1799; 1 C. Rob. 135.]
Case. During war botworll (irodt Britain and France, the "Flad Oyen," a British ship, was taken by a French privatecr, and carried into the port of Bergen, in Norway. She then underwent " a sort of process," which terminated in a sentence of condemnation being pronounerd by the French Consul. Under this sentence she was asserted to have been ultimately transferred to the claimant, who bought her at a sale by public auction. It appeared that tho purchaser stool in the capacity of general agent in that place for the French Government, and in that capacity ated also as rendor. On the subsentuent capture of the ressel by the British, an application was made by theoriginal Britioh owner for restitution, on the ground that there had been no regular sentence of condemnation by a competent Prize Court and, consisqueutly, no legal transfor of the ressel from the original owner to the neutral purchaser. In tha reeult, the resol was restored to her former owner, subject to the payment of salvige to the recaptors.

Judgment. . Sir W. Soot, in qiving judgment, remarked that it had been frempently stated that the requirement of a suntence of condemmation as comtinl to the transfer of the property in prize was a doctrime peruliar to English law, and that the American Courts took a difterent viow, and awardme the jrotendo at ther prize after doducting satraber. to thas original vaptors, on the erommd that a neutral Court could not pas- upm the validity of belligerent captures: ser. also T'he Mriry (2 Wheatom, 12:3)

 n. : and. un ther sutuent enmerally lhill. iii. 638.
according to the practice of some nations 1 wenty-four hours' pos--rsion, or according to the practice of others the bringing of the prize infra presidiu, was enough to convert the prize. But it really appeared that according to the general practice of nations a sentence of condemnation was at present necessary to transfer the property in prize, and that a neutral purchaser, if he bought a prize during the war, must look to such a sentence as one of the title deeds of the ship. He doubted, indeed, if there were any instance in which a person who had purchased a prize vessel from a belligerent had thought himself socure in making that purchase merely because the ship had been in the enemr's possession for twentr-four hours or had been rarried infra presidia. The contrary had been more generally held: and the instrument of condemnation was one of those documents almost universally produced by a neutral purchaser. It was also necessary to show that the ressel had been subjected to adjudication in a proper judicial form. It was the first time that an attempt had been made to impose upon the Court for that purpose the sentence, not of a tribunal existing in the belligerent country, but of a person pretending to exercise authority in a neutral country. A sentence of condemnation could not be deemed sufficient unless it conformed to the usage and practice of nations. It would not lie enough to show on mere theory that a Prize Thibunal might sit in a neutral country, without at the same time showing that anch a proceeding was sanctioned by the common practice of nations. This, in itself, was sufficient to conclude the matter. But apart fron: usage, and looking merely to general principles, it did not appear that such a sentence could be sustained, for the reason that prize proceeding. were always in rem, and this presumed that thr body and substance of the thing was in the country that exerefed jurisdiction in the matter ' $a$. It was true that instanees had been adduced in which British Courts under special circumstance had fromounced on prize lying in certain foreign ports. But aren if such promedings were regular the would not sumpert the present arnener. which emanated from a peron and acting in a neutral comtry which had no coonizance of matters of prize. For these reasons the ship was ordered to be restored to the British owners mpon parment of the u-mat saluage.

This rase derides that a raptor has no title which he can validly pase 10 : purchaser muless the prize has been duly condemmed hy a competem Prize (ourt (b): and. further, that a ombone pasiod ly a comb irregularly constituted and sitting in a nentral combry will mot he reganded as a valid condemmation. And this rule is a rule mot only of the Court of Admiralty but ake of the ('oume of C'ommon law (c). In The hierlighett :3 ( $:$ Rob. (96), however, it was held, in circumstances similar to thowe of The Flod olyen, that the original owner, although entitled 10 restitution. Was nerertholess aceountable to a bona fide neutral purchaser for the tair value of improvements, in excess of ordinary repairs. Whith had been made by the latter subsequent to his purWhase. By the Hague Convention. No. 13 of 1907, Art. t, it is now provided that a Prize Court cannot be set up by a helligerent in nentral territory of an a ressel in nentral waters (d). But a sentence of condemmation will lie ermod if passed in the courts of a ro-helligerent or an ally ( $f$ ). Amd, notwithstanding the doubtis expresed on this point in The Flan Oyen. it appears, aceording to the Britich and Amerian praction, a sentence of condemnation pased by the Conptio of the capton's conntry will be good, and will fonnd a good title even though, at the time of the procceding, the prize was lying in a neutral port (f). And the correctness of this view, interiationally, appears to be lome out be the provisions of the Hague Convention, An. 13 of 1907. Art. 23 (g).

(iv) TITLE IN REL.ITION TO NEUTRAL STATES.

THE CASE OF THE "EMILY ST. PIERRE."

```
1862: Momre, Extradition, i., 59*; Whmaton (Dana), 47.5.]
```

Case. During the Imerican wivil war, the "Emily st. l'ierre." a British ressel, was seized her a United states crmiser for an alleged hreach of the blockade of Charlewton, and sent in

```
    (1) l,fig. ['.301.
    (a) (hloly r. liwil) (!) East. 473):
```

```
- Row, 43): Th," Poullor (spink`, S):
thw Mammal of Nawal Prize Law. Srt.
27T ; and, in the - Imerican Courts.
```

```
and Th, Im,\mp@code{moih/, (2 fiall. at 39}
    (1) Inira. 1r. 363.
```

for adjudication. The English crew were removed from the vessel with the exception of the master, the rook, and a steward: and an hencrican prize erew of two officers and thirteen men put on board. During the royage the master and cook rose against the Amorican prize crew: disarmed and secured them, and, with the aid of some of the prize crew who were willing to assi-1 in the navigation rather than to remain in confinement, manaved to take the ressel to Liverpool, where she was restored to her former owners. The Cnited States (iovermment thercupon applied to the British (iovernment for a roworation of the ressel, but this was refused.

Controversy. $\rfloor$ On the part of the United Stater it was clained, in effect, that the rescue of a neutral ressel which had been lawfully captured was a violation of the law of nations; and that this was in itself, and apart from any alleged violation of blockade, a sufficient ground of condemmation, as a breach of the neutral's duty to submit to adjudication in the C'ourt of the captor. Earl Russell, in refusing the application, pointed out that rescue was not a violation of ans mmicipal law of England, and, as the ressel was not in the custody of the Briti-l. (rovernment, the latter had no authority either to seize os to procerd against her. The offence in fact, was soldy one agmat the laws of war made for the benctit of the captors and conkld only be given effert to in the eaptors own (ourts. Hence. wom if the reseue was a ground for condemmation, a decrees condel onl? be made be the l'rize ('ourt of the bolligement. If a montral subject rescued his vescel hey fore he took the risk of the captor right of forece as recognized be the law of nations. bun mothine more 'The (ourts and (iovmment of a montal romm: condal mot decide that the title to the wosel hat pased at ther captons matil there had hean a romdemmation he the Priza
 t. © the (apter that temporary possesory right whith he hat persomal pumishment. It was ue more incumbent on a bentral (iovermment to enforce such belligerent possensory rights against the it own ditizens, than it was to punish violations of foremg law. or beracher of formign revenue systems, on heraches of a fomerin lifockade. In the rewnt the eontrowser was put an end to by the diseovery that in a provions ("so a where an Amerian resel had been resened from British captors a simitar chaim had berem made bey the British (iovermment and refused be the United Sitate (iovermment on the same grounds as those now put forward by Earl Rassell b

It may now prolably he taken as settled, that if a nentral vessel is captued hew helligerent, and, before condemnation, either escapes or is resmed, and meaches her own on any other nempat combey, the nentral (iovermmon is not ather bound on eminded to intervene with a vew to her resmation. Nom cond amy such clam be made before a nentral Court: fors. il hased on capture, it would fail he reason of the fact that nentra! 'ourt hate now juristidion ower belligerent, raptures as such, whilst, if hated an ownerdip, it would fail hy reason of the fact that a captor acruires no definitive title prior to condemation (c).

Gexmat Notes.-Irize and Booty, generally.-In general, prize" includes all property taken at sea. or as sea-borne property (i). whether it consist of vessels or grods and whether it belongs to enemies or to neutrals, so long as in the latere case, it has adquired a hostile character lye reason of its mmporment or the acts of its owners. "Bootr." on the other hand iel consists of propente eeved on land he a belligerent furee merely as being the perperty of the ememy. But, unter the existine laws and customs of war. prisate property is fomatly dedated to be exmmptromen-

(") That of The Firpminamere sees Whato: Hanal. tis.
 (3) ()p, 1. S.. A, (8. 375)-an Ameri(als) wand waptared by the French but demmaton where a wimilar etaim was made ly the Fremeh (iovermment but metared he the l mited state: on the same erminde at thres talem be Barl athl trminatm hor voraser in sump her lianility to condemation: for the

(r) Wthenesh, on the last proint. sere The ilow Fone (: Wall. 188: Scott.

(1) Which omty comemrns as here he way of comtrast to prize and in mation to the puestion of title.
i) 11. R. 16. 17. N:aso. of mames. in & frar a* it may bo requimen for 1.37. n. わ.
practically antined to mererty belunging to the enemy State. such as state trea-ure or material of war and to certain other form of property such as arms; horses, and military papers faken on the fied of battle (h).

The Title to " Beot!!."- In themes: it would mem that the appreo-buth "prizi" amd " bon! " wa- wne governed by the -imple tule "f elfotive reizure as toned by their having heen bromsht to a pace and with the chances in military methons an I oroanzatm became uf (anmaratively little importance. In so far. however, an the question of title may still arise, it womh appear to be goterned by the wiginal donle of effective seizure: althoush the ultimate dis-po-ition of the property will of comre lo subpect to the remplations, rivil or militars. of the state to whelh the raptor or the apturing and clams a more detaled examination.

The Title to "Prize". (i.) Enter the Etrlier Lare. -The question of tithe to propertr seized a "prize" may wree either as betwet口 the miginal whare ant the captor: (s) as hetwern tha eaptor Waming by tranfer or wamsmionon from the captor. Inter the farlier faw little was settled except that the title for prize depended un effective reizme: and eren here the teat apllime differed at difment tine and in the practice of difment state or group of the owner conld have no immodiate prosert of ramoterime it:" whith Was ernerally taken to mean the protertion of a floot or fortres- or harbour. either of the captores State or of an ally. But according' 10 another view. which was mome arbitrary in it shanatore hut fraplently folloned in the marine ordinance of Enropean states.

 we if. An"maline to the other: he held it for twent -fome homs. he to thatir reproxatativache the Juratu:

ser: II. R. t. I4. and fo. 10fi, whtme
(i) A. tw the Finerioh law on this

 «ijler. sue IIall, 419 -t ang.
exept in so far as displace by later usage or by po-ition regulation ( $l$ ). Atamwhile. With the errowth of trade and mommeree, it had beconne the pratice for maritime states, when at war. to require captors which wore exabli-hed for that purpore in their respertive right- wi the state itant, whidh wat at that time wont to elaim a hase in the priza takn (on) ; to ensme an orderly procedure; and more erperially to prevent intermational emplirations in cases where mentra: intoret- wor involvel. But the ne ersity for arljuliation apleats 10 hater been at tirat only a matter hetwern the captur and his. state: and in the case of enemy property it does not seem to have beed originally a necessary factor in the captor"s title. With reopect 10 meutral properts, howerer, the greater meertanty attaching to eapons dam- lod, comparatiroly early, to the rembement of a deree of condemmation as a neressary mondition of title. Aud this, again-taken in conjunction with the lact that mater the syotem which then obtained the proprety of enemies wat ofter mixad up with that of neatrals $101-$-nltamately led to an extension of the same condition fo memy property: with the resull that, in 1799, sir of nations condemmation was comatial to the hamber of property in Juize.

心tate take precedence oror that sf the actual captor, who is deemed cede is interest in fropert taken form private wwer- to the actnal

 11. Tha same time. He rejuirement of eombemmation is now almost deatored prior to adjudiation (y). Nor. de-pite the entier male of eftertive seizure dum it appoal that there is mow ans interest

(1) Le tro its ayplication to buoty, tinued applimatility in momain anme of maritime remature ow fore i,fir.
(iII) Ds to the orimin and histury of Prizo and hamimalty jumiodian.

bath in Emolamd and Fivane this mantimend down th the Emiddle of
 1.52 and $n$.

 11. in: Parmenlimerins. sto an anq. In the l nited stater beth prize money and bounty wore abolished ber an dét

Dus. hy the lambaration of -nrembered on taken trem a meut mid buald that is herentf but liable to
 b. 1 th, i, ifio.
be forfeited by loss of possession. If the ressel is rescued and reaches a neutral port, neither the captor nor his State has, as we have seen, any clam cither as against the neutral Govermment or before the neutral Courtc (r). If, again, the captor should transfer the prize prior to condemmation then the tran-feree will acruire no ralid tith to it an amanst the oriminal nener (s). If it is recaptured, then by muncipal law the property in the prize commonty reverts to the original onner. aldhough subject in this case to the parment of salvage ( $t$ ). Neverthelers, as against an ally in war who followed the eartier rule that rule might still be applied. at any rate under the English law (u).
REC'APTURE ANT 心ALVAGE.

(i) AS REGARDA RRITISH PROPERTY.  THE "CEYLON."

[1811: 1 Dods. 105.]
Case. ${ }^{7}$ During war between Great Britain and France, the "Ceylon," a British vessel, engaged in tho East Indian trade, was captured by the French. She was thereupon refitted, and having taken on hoard some additional amament and a French crew, she was sent to the Isle of France, where she took part in the defence of that place against the British. She was subsequently dismantled and fitted out as a prison ship: and was. in that character, recaptured when the Tsle of France was ultimately taken hy the Bribish. The original owner theremon instituted a suit for the restitution of the ressel on prament at salvage. Pre the Prize . Let then in foree ' $a$ ) it wa- provided in effect, that British wesels recaptured from the enem! shmuld ha permed, on paymont of ealtage, exempt where a vosent had heme "and forth for war." (Gn behalf of the clamanto. it wan contended that the "C'erlon" hat mot benn "set forth for war:" and alow that there lad been no "recenture" within the momine of the let. for the"

[^67][^68]reason that reapture applied only to at rataking by maval lorees and not to one elfered, as in the present mas. her the eonjoint
 tions were rejected, for the reasons given in the judgment, and the ranel andemmed asprize to the reaptors

Jodgment. Siil 11 . Sicolt, in giving judgmen!, held that in order te: come within the exemption set up be the statute, it was not maceray to show that itwsel had born formally commischand ment out ol prest on an cramd of war, but only that she had been amployal in the publie military arvie of the memy by could but doubt that the "(erton" wa-sulliciently "set forth for war," or in wher wothe "weed as a ship of war" to satisfy the Act, ame that she was sur heed be emperont ath hority. As 10 Whatlee there was as "reaptum" within the meming of the I At, the 10 wa doan with tho intmion of wapering the sens and manmer of the law of mation as it themexteted. It merely by ona, and waw not intmded to exhede othm mode of eapture.
 foreotm that by the malian law of Europer a perclention infore divest the former ownes. so that amomenge to the ambint law of this combery. Which was in mixn with the anment law of

 at the commere of the montry inceran al: and that an ordinane

[^69]a verel of war. Henere if the core did not fall within the Art ( $c$, the ('ourt would rearal it as coming under the old rute of the law of mations, by which the right- of the owner wore completely diveted. In tha present ano. howare. there wan no neersity for resort to this and the vesal womld be eomdemmed to the meapers mater the Prize Aot iteelf Athough this derision wa- given unter a statutn ince reprabled. a smilar provion is containe: in the Nava! Prize tet, 1skt. This provide in offect that where any whip of eronds bobmging 10 British subjerto, after bwing taken by the chemy, are retaken by ans of H. M. ahip- of war, the same thall be metored 1:\% hacerce of the Prize ('on't to the owner, on payment as salvage of omoredohth of their ralue, at ascertainel by the Court or agreed upon by the partien with the approsal of the (dont: whil perver to difficulty or danser up (1) one-fomen of the ralue: but sul, ject to the provion that if the hip wan nem loy the omemy at a ship of wat the pmation fon matimion chall not apply and the shị, thall the trated an ordinary prize(d). In (prler to bring a veorel within the -rope of the provios. it in mot megresary tu exists where the reraptured buand, bering British, is fomm in have vessel hat hem capmed. and then makno and subsuments recapturad be the Briti-h it.

 "aso where restitution is ermandio. It maty la clamed either of a termination of the howite amome, thronsh tha indion , it the rematore 'Ther elaim of alvate wilf lar extmenthed if the

```
of remar!m" (d) S-. 10. 11
    (0) l. Ir-lii l.f心. Inj
```

```
R(ai), 7%).
```

```
law. \r*-. 2bl 26%9.
```

ressel is captured anew and condemmed by the onemy, although it will revise if the prize is ulhmately released and restored to her nriginal nwner (o). It will alto ho forfeited be proof of misemduct on the part of the reapors (p). Property retaken from pirates iin Engli-h law mima fucie condemmato to the Crown as droits of Ahmialty, hat it any part (an be -hown to have belonged to private owners the court mas dieet eestitntion on payment of a salrage of one-righth (q)

(ii As RE(i.\RI)A THE PRODERTY OF AN ALLY OR ( 0 O-lBELLIIEERENTS.

THE "SANTA CRUZ."

[1798: 1 C. Rob. 50.$]$
Case. During war betwern Great Brinan and France. Portugal being the ally of the former. certain versel helomeing to Portuguese subjects were captured by the Froutd, but subsequently recaptured by the brition: in can won altor remaining in the poression of the ememy for more than fwem-four hours. One of these verele was retakn in hugus, hatis: mother in the interval hetwen Deember. 179\%. and Mas. 1795: whike the rest were retakem after the latter date. I dam for restitution was made by the owners : but this was rewisted be the remptors on the ground that in antogons caver the P'ontugume ('onms had condemmed British ressels. As to this it appeared that in December. bige an ordinance hart been isumd by Portueal twentr-four hours to be lanful prize: but that in Mas, 1atro another ondiname had beem iswend dimethere mitution in such swrvice.

```
```

```
*alsayy may bor awarded under the
```

``` "1..! V/w, " (:3 ( |iいb. 30.) : The lion-夺: (
```

deremal fore the rowaptume of a resed Whith was armidentally dontroved wh time subjurt of respptum and to December, 1796, on the eromed that the law of Portuend in the like case would have culojerted an English vestel to andemintion: a similar sentence was pronouneed. for the like Peasom, with repect to the ve-al retaken betwon Demmber. 1ige, and May, 1rar: hat all mosels rataken altar the date of the decrete of 129 d were re-tored. suljoet to the parmment of rah age at the same rate es that allowed br Portuenew law "

Judgment. Sir IV. Scott, in his julgment, wherect that in there apmered to be no rule that coukd daim the authemity of a arneral law. With raspet to the divatment of the title of the origimal owner. it might be that the te-t hould be the of immediate posession he the captor, or twente-forer hom porsession, or the bringing of the properts infre proseritio, of the pasinge of a spatence of condennation. Bat. althomeh in win-

 ing infon proxilin atthomeh the wa- porbobly the true mbe priotor. might work ingutioe to Bratish -ahgint. to whom a law of Englame on thi -uhime it apmatel that that hos.

mamime lan, and in this repere was men sametioned hes and that this ruld had been aded on in padide. Having mogad (1) this. la had no hesitation in pronemerner the firs 1 wo ases recapture imanmeh us. in May, 179\%, Portugal had mopted u tion: and restitution would therefore he deremed, ondiget to [^70]and, finally, that where, as in the present cave the interests of British subjects were concerned and goods subjem to the salvor's lien were found within the country of the court. weh a juristiction undoubtedly mexistet.

(iii As REGARDA NELTR, IL PROPERTY.

THE "CARLOTTA."

[1503: 5 (". Rob) 54.]
Case. In 180:3, during war between France and (ireat Britain, in which spain was neutral, the "('arlota," a spanish ship, was eaptured by the French whikt on a voynge from Monte Video to London: but was subserpuently recaptured by the Britisin. A elaim to salruge was prefered. but this was reaisted hy the owners on the ground that no matrage could be claimed on a recapture of neutral propertr, save in circumstance which did not exist in the present ease. In the rewalt the chaim for satrage was rejected.

Judgment. Sir II. Scott, in eiving judement. statel that the tendency was against subjecting neutral properts rempturd from the enemy to sahage. It the same time. it in at particnlar case any fact could be established or edict appeated to showing that the property in question would have been expenad to condemnation. We would hold that to be a sulficiont ground for awarding sulvage. The rule that salvage could in no mes he clammen on aceapture of nemtral preperty wate ous subject to sakamer for duc.

Xemmal pronery in mot in aeneral expuent to combmation. Itence if chith propery is aphered by one helliowent and that mo meritorink surver was therelore rentered (b). Neverthefore, if the factos show that the courto of the caphor wond in fact have condemmed the properte whether in ateodane with admited

 With the general neaged then salvage with be derered (o).

In the combace cate, where it nentral Court is asked (1) atward salrage in rewect of properts captured by a belligerent. Dnt rescued He mentrah after lose or abandenment by the capmor. it apperare Hhat ina-much as salsoge is a matter of the jus geatinm $(f)$, the ('mut is ontited to make an anard an long as the property actually lion within it- jurisidiction(!).
(ifambu Nomb. The Rights of Recoptors. As regarde property retaken on the sea, whids atone eoncerns us here the respective right of the oripinal wwer and reaptor were originally governed bey that enencral maritime latw which is refered to be Lord Stowell in his julement in the (eylon (h). Lnter thit the prize was deemed title to it: whilst if ho hand mon then it reverted to the oripinal owner jure postliminit. The question of whether the (aptor hand arquimal a bitle in sum a (ases mipinally dependent. actmatine to one prawties. on whether ber had carried the prize infor prosilian: ar. acoording to another. on whether he han hadi poweston of it for exthourab but the growth of consmone and the smonthening of the mercantion intosens. added to the fact that the reapore in such ges wern generally fellow -uhber wif the original whem- gradally led the the adoption of a mew pratice by thi- the rander of the propery on the eapor orizinal awner amb the preprere retment the hator: whime howflitathe and wa- -ander or later followed be most when matime

[^71]wromad for bulinine that the property smome in fiat hare lemen con-

$\because 17$.
 $\therefore$ ?1: シ amal. a- to the qut- tion at tithe iti -ncts

$\therefore$ ㅊ...... |1. シ11

bexamo erensal. But there wa- and still is, a great lack of uniformity in the variou- manicipal sostems as regards the precise contitions of restitution (l). lin on far, meneoser, as the municipal cule of re-timion does not apply reconse will still be hat to the eartier law ( $m$ )

Existing Latutions of Proctice.--The British practice: as we have reom, i- (1) restore the shipe and somels of subjects regaptured from an mone on payment of a -alrage of one-eighth. which may, howpror, mitw the tante, be inceraved to she-fomm in circumstances of special danger or difficulty ( $n$ ): and this whether the recapture wat enseted before on after condemmation, -o long only as the prize, being a vesel. wa: no dmptorel in the naval arrice of the enemy (o) The -ame rule of reatitution on recapture is applied to the property of an ally. mbles it appen's that a lese hineral rule is applied to Briti-h proprexty: in which cate recourse is hat to the principle of beciprocity (p). Nemtral property. on recapture is restorel on the preamption that the emomy would mon have condemed it: hat this prenmpion may be manted. and in such a mae reatitution will only the made im parment of salrage $q$ ). The mactice of the United state is to retore the shipe and propery of citizens or inhabitants which have hern waphered from the chome subject to the meaghme ha- hem offerted lefore condmmation. in whith cae it is made ine-pertise of any ure 10 whith the resel may have been put be the eneme $(f)$ : whilst if effered atter amdemmation then thr pmpert: will, an under the marfer law belone the captor (x). If the manienty reaptume l belones tor -nhonect of atriently state, any vule of usa on the suhfert. then on parment of ond salrage

```
        1. 2!:2
```

```
(1).2!1!
```

jamed in 1 si:0. and now cmbradied in
 - 4is?

rea: (n) (2) military. as where either resel or gonds are rescued from an memy in time of war or from pimas at any time. Military alvage, with which atone we are here concemed, is really a fatt of the lan of prize and is often known as prow satrage (u). like onher rioht imodont to recapture, it was once woverned by ernemb matime cu-thm, but it is now gnverned fon the most part be postien regulation adoptod by each monicipal system. Nevertheles. salvage is. in some surt, still a mation of the jus gentiom: and the Contio of one compre may, if the property saved is found whin then juriwhion, adjumate thereon. eren thomg the salrors are -ubject- ot other siates: the ammunt in this case, as well as in other man not provided for by municipal regulation. being determined ber referenes to the rule of quantum meruit ( $x$ ).

THE TERMMSTTON OF WAR.

THE MAKING OF THE PEACE OF PORTSMOUTH, 1905.

 311 al seq.: Takahashi, 219, 7it.J

Events leading to Peace.] The Peate Convention of 189!, amongst other things, declared it to be expedient that neutral Powers should, if possible, offer their good offies and mediation to Status at variance and, further, that this mioht be done eren during the cour of of hostilitios, and should not under any circumstancer be tegarded as minfrimdly a I In June 190.), during the progres of the Rusio-Japmese wis', the Prewident of the United states, relying on thea provisions, approwhed the belliowent (iomemment- with a rextuet that the would. not onle for their own sakes het in the interent of the whole ervilized world, open neentiation for peace: shogesting at the same time a moeting of dolegates for this purpors. and offering his serviece if mghered. in the matter of armanime peliminaro as to the fime and phate of meeting. The time war propitinus: for Port Irthur had fallen in the previnu- January. The hattle of Maklen han aro reproduced and evon stratorthenod in the romerepondine ('onsentint wf 1907. Irt. ?

[^72]

been fought in Warch, and the Rursim fleet had been virtually destroyed at the battle of Tsushima, thus leaving Japan, for the time being. in a position of predominanere. A lavourable reply was received from each of the belligerents, and thereupon the necesary arrangenents were madn for the holding of a Peace Conference at Portwouth, in the United States. The first meeting was held on the Gth Iugust, 1905: Russia being represented by M. Witte and Baron Rosen, and Japan by Baron Komura and M. Takahira. It was arranged that any language might be used; that the protocols should be drawn up in English and French, the French text loing decisive ; and, finally, that the discursions and proeeedings should remain secret. The Japanese conditions of peace were then presented to the C'onforence and discussed at successive meetings. These conditions were originally twelve in number, and included various stipulations. with rospect to Korea and Manchuria, the cession of siaklalin. Port Arthur'. and Dalny, the surrender of Russian warships then interned in neutral ports, the limitation of Finsian nasal foree in the Far East, and seimburement for the east of the war \%. ()f these demands, Pussia. in the first instane , relused aren to ronsider those relating to Sakhalin and the indemmits: Whilst she pronounced the proposed sureender of the interned ships to be contrary to international ware, and the proposed limitation on her naval force in the East to be derogatory to her dignity. In the course of the discussions that ensued the two later claims were abandoned. Jut Japan continued to prees her claim for the surrender of Sakhatin on the grounds of heer formors ownerAhip, her present possession, and the principlo of uti possidetis; whilst Russia whereted on the gromard of the essentiality of that island for the due protection of her Enstert provines. . Is the result of a direst appel to the ('zar, howewe, fle Rasian dungator remedrel from this position to the axtont of expmosine fheir

 Japan; and at the time it appeared that, hoth om the 'rametion of [^73]Sakhalin and that of the indemnity, the negrotiations for peace must fail. On the 28 th August, however, Japan withdrew her demand for an indemity, and also agreed to accept the proposed division of Sakhalin: and with the removal of these obstacles the terms of peace were armaged, and the treaty of peace signed on the sth september. In the meantime an arnistice in general terms was signed at Portsmouth on the 1st troptember. By this it was provided that a zone of demareation should be fixed betwen the two armies in Manchuria; that no further naval bombardments should be undertaken; that no reinforcements should be despatched to the theatre of war; that those already en route should not be despatched to certain localities mentioned; and that further details should be left to be determined by the respective commanders of the opposing forces, in conformity with these provisions; but that maritime captures should not be suspended during the armistice. This general armistice took effect as from 5th September. Meanwhile, an armistice more specific in its terms was concluded for Manchuria, taking (ffect as from the 16th September. Finally, on the 14th October, 190\%, the definitive treaty was ratified by both parties.

The action of Japan in this matter was probably determined in a great measure by domestic considerations; but, in some measure, also, by a desire to defer to international opinion, by the influence of the United States, and probably also by that of Great Britain, with whom Japan had meanwhile concluded an offensive and defensive alliance ( $d$ ).

The Terms of the Treaty. 7 The more important provisions of the treaty were, in effect, as follows:-- (1) Pencefal relations betwern the l'owers and their subjects were formally re-established ( $e$. ? Rusia reenonized Japur's paramount interest.-

[^74]of the former treaty. but with the omision of certain Irticles, and fur-there [roviding that should either P'ower ronclude a general treaty of arhitration with a third Power.
nothing in the agreement should entail any obligation to go to war with the latter; thas alemener the way for the eseneral treaty of arbitration botwend dreat britain and the I nited states.
(e) Mrt. 1.
political, military, and economical -in Korea and engaged to respect the same $f$. (3) The contracting parties mutually: engaged to wamate Manchuria, except the leased territory of the Liatomge paninsula, within the times and under the eonditions perescribel by the treatr, saring, howerer, the right of looth to maintain a limited mumber of guards sufficient for the protection ol' their repective ralwars; and also to restorn the Chinese administration in the parts so "arcuated, Rossia abjuring all territorial or other adrantages which might derogate from Chinese sorercignty or the principle of equal opportunity (g. f) Russia, with the assent of China, transferred to Japan the lease of Port Arthur, Ta-lim-wan, and all attendant territory ( $h$. together with all works thereon: all proprictary rights of Russian subjects being respected $i$. (. K Kusia, with the consent of China, transfered to Japan the railroad from Chang-chmen to Port Arthar 'li with all righte appurt mant thereto ( $l$. 6) Both parties choged to exploit their ratwas in Manchuria for commertal and not strategic purposes ( $m$. and to condude as soon as possible il convention regulating the eomecting services ( $n$. i linswia ceded to Japan in perpetuity that portion of the isfand of sakhalin lyirge sonth of the joth deo. N. lat., the exact boundary to be determined by a delimitation Commiseion to be appointed thereafter: each party also encaging not to crect fortifeations or to impede the free narigation of the straits of La Perouse and Tartary (o (8 Russian subjecte within the imritory condod to Japan were to be at liberty either to sell therir propery and withdraw, or to remain, with full protection, on submittins to the conde to Japancor subjects coneurrent rights of liwhery along the coarts of liuswian poseresions in the Japan, Okhot-k, and Boming having been amnlled by the war, the contracting paties atede pendine the "omem-ion of a new fratr. to adopt reciprocally

```
    (f) Irt.".
    (a) \rt. :?, aud sub-.\rt. 1.
    (b) Si,N rol. i. 110.
    (i) \Irt. .)
```

```
tran*-N:an*|urian lim*.
    (1) irt is
```

(III) This, however, dial not apply to railway within the leaved territury translemerd to Japan.
(in) 1:2. 7, s.
(o) \it. 9. and sul)-Art. $\because$.
(p) lit. 10 .
(1/ 1rt. 11: we : wo!. i. 111. 160

1h: mo-t firwomed mation treatment ( $r$ ) . ( 11 All pri-oners of commissioner for the purpose of arranging and taking delivery of the prisoners remited by the other. Lach party was atoo to rember to the othere a watement of expenditure incorred on the promers hehalf: Ras-ian cmatering to pay to Japan any batace that might beduc. . $\quad 1: 3$, The traty was signed in duphicate in both English and Fronch, it hoing provided that the latter text -hould presail in cand of diserepramer.

Thi Theaty may he regarden as an extra-judicial settlement of which arner one of the (p)eninge of hostilities (1): whilet it is aloo monambly as incolvine an new tertitorial settement of some intermatimal importane (u). The prosedingo that attended it serve Woth to illusiate the forme and methos anally formond in armane a treate of peace between Powere perioncly at war - in relation. that tion-: and also to imbiato, gencrally, what maters, other than the settlement of the main issues of the conteoverse and the fomal rewablianment of peadelal relations, have commonly to be providod fin -mathers, that is. whell as the delimitation of coiled teryitore and the safornarding of the interesto of the eeding P'ower und its subjects therem. the revival of treaties, the contimance of commertal and other relations depending on treatice amment ly the war, the mpatration of pricuness and the defmal of the cost of theis maintenane.

```
            Irt. !-: -4: rot. . .3,30.
```

```
GM Ar!. | &
            IM,
            ni. i. 11. \- 1. K!|M.
```

C.I.I.

[^75]known aren in modem times. In the war between spain and her Amerian colonies, for instane, active hostilitien were gradually mations were mot fomally restored, al any rate as requrde some of the colonie imsolved, mitil 18t0. What periot of smepension is mecerary to justify the 子nesmaption of the resteration of perace will, dition of thinge is mularassing to nentrak, and ato leaves the
 -uch il case the principle of uli possidetis. would protably le held 10. aply (z). Sulh a sitmation, however, is mot one that is likely to recme, at any rate in a war fetween States of any magnitude. Where war is terminated by the conquest and absorption of one state by the wher, there is, of course, no scope for any formal treats of prace; hat the dose of the war is commonly marked by some formal proWamation or ammmement on the part of the conqueror, or hy *ome formal act of surender on behalf of the inhabitants (a). So, in the Simh African war, the annexation of the Orange Free State was promaimed on the $2+t \mathrm{t}$ Nay, 1900, and that of the South. Dfrican Repmblic on the lst Septrmber, 1900; but these amouncements wore really premature, and the actual temination of the war must be refored to the agrement of smrender made at Yeremiging on the 31 M Mas, 1902. Ordinate, howere the termination of a war is manked by the formal conclusion of a treaty of peace. Which is therempor motifed ionth th the suljeere of the helligeremte and the wohl at large.

The Making of the Treaty of P'ence. The part phayed by goon oftices and mediation in the opening of negotiations for peate and the
 What newtiations for prame have berne entoren on tome not howner, provided for by armistice, which is itsell governed by the laws and "sages of war (c). The treaty of peace is sometmes preceded by prominarie of peace," which are intended mot memty to cuspend wats wonld allow. They mbooly: in face the owential conditions a from the date of their wignture (d). Sometime benever. (ather (i0. 5.

Puf -r. Mhill. iii 712.

(") S゙"и", р. 10).
(i) Hall. 5.5). II.

any magnitude on the interests of other states is now so considerable， that both the comelu－ion of peace and the terms agreed on are often influeneed greatly ly the presure of internationat prinion，of which the Treaty of Portsmonth may be said to afford an example（f）．

Authority to malie．In order to be binding，a treaty of peace must，like any other intermational act，hase been made or ratified by some anthorify（ompetent to make it meder the domestie constitution－ of the provisions of which in this regard the other contracting party will be presumed to have notice（ $g$ ）．The terms of a treaty of peace oftherwise duly ronchoded betwem the belligerents may， moreover，（onceivably he impugne by wher state as incompatible with their logitimate intereste，or as afferting maters that have previonsly been the subject of international settlement．It was on thin ground that the terms of the Treaty of San Stetano，which was conchnded in 1878 hetween Russia and Turkey，were revised by the Congress of Berlin（ $h$ ）．On this gromid，too，it would seem that the assumption of a new status on the part of Bugaria in 1908， and the annexation of Bownia and Her\％ogorina by Austro－Hungary， which immediately followed（ $i$ ）．ought strictly to have been sub－ mitted for approval to the rignatories of the Treaty of Berlin， $1878(k)$ ．But terms likely to give umbrage to other Powers are often emberlied in secret artiches of agreement．

I＇sul slipulations．－－In addition the the formal establishment of peacholl relatims as between the states previonty at war，and apart of peace nemally provides for the immedrate or ultimate eracmation of territory mon intented to be ceded：for the actual transfer of tervind amed to be ceded and mot already in orcupation of the proposed trasfereell）：for the delimitation of bomdarise and the protection of the intereste of sub）jeres of the exthes state：for the repatriation of prisoners and the payment of any halance that mar he due in resper of their mantemane：for the renewal or replacement of treation abrogated by war：and sometimes also for the granting of an ammetry（ $m$ ）and the parement of a war indmoty（ m ）．

The Lergel Efferts of at Trenty of Penere．The main elfect of a amonges members of then wente of watmo．Lo hemeen the states

```
rity it tho frombir %u makk" w゙al=:
*"/⿲,t, |. 1T.
    (/,) Su= wol. i. L2: (!p!ramlmim, ii.
329.
    (i) 心㇒い \ul. i, 5.), 1]&.
    (i), In attem|t on thry Hirlt ul tho
（i）Sa attemut on the prat oi tho
```

Jinitivh（iowormont of prosure the ＊nhmoission of these upestions to a luッツn thwartad hy tha atotion of（ier－ 11月135．

I：mo the newnsity fore this，sue

（iv）Inifict．p．2．2S．

come to an end, military or martial law ceases to apply (o), and the inhabitants are remited to their rights under the territorial law (p): prisoners of war are released; and boin diplonatic interconse between the states and commerial intercourse between their subjocts are resmand. All prior engagenents, moreover, whether on the barl of the state: themselves of of their subjector: which were merely sumemblel by war, together with all conserpent temedies, are revised. The traty server 10 matk the moment foms which these rewts emste. As regards maters oecming before the war, the 1r:aty in premmed th pur an ent to all pretmsions founded on anto ne defalts that grave rise to the war, and tomerge all consequent riohts and whigation in the new rights and whigations set up by the treaty. As regards acts done during or in melation to the war, even though irrequlaly, such acts camot, excen by express reserbuthon or abseruent aspecment, be mate the grans of any public or private denand or moneoding a- hetwen putime who were pre-(exeding agalnst such of its own suljects as mav have emmponised themedre by dealings with the enemy: Jut an anmenty clane is shmether inserted which will conere eran thereanto ahthengh it will not affect artions arising out of private contrants or wininal poosecutions for acts having no relation to the war (y). With reepect to teritory, if no provision is marle for its cession or evarnation, the rights of the parties are decmed to be govemed hy the principle of uti possidetis, in rirtue of which eath retains sum territory as is moder his control at the time of the temination of the war ( $s$ ). And the cane principlo applies eqnally to moveable property in the possersion of either belligerent. On the other ham, where a return to the status fung ante bellem is stipulated ior, all propery formerty beloneine to one party hat at the time in the pereerem of the other

 With reepera 10 the propery of subjent on we hedligement that rapuanation huring the war-wilh rever withom expmes stipula-vali wi - wotity for tho patmant of arte donce altop thor war and in iano-in! to whicel 1omitory imt -periatally

 60.): ald lhill. ini. T&l.
bleady heen eapemed, as to which a decree of mondommation may bo pronomberd aren alter the war, althomgh this right is oecaanil perantal riohto are matally resperted (a). 'lhis will not, how-which womkl have asaided his predoessom in title in the like cireumhato already loxen described (z).

The colestion of Imemuily.- The exarion of a monetany indemnity, in addition to the exsion of territory or oiher atrantages. hat - hemone a mot infreguent emolition of terms of peace in cases whore the isume of the strusere leave the dominant party in a pmition 16 exad this. So, in 1831 , Gemmany, in ardition to the sumes-bu! hebligerent has shown oreater magnanimity. So, in 1848 , war indemmity from spain amb even paid on the later an indemnity in reaper wo the ersion of the philifpine lelands: han no indemmity wa- jail in mepret oi Porto Rico, whilsi ('uba was not allowed to asome hability for any gat of the spani-h debtic). Great Britain in lator althomely this was a mas of eonquest-mot only paid for all requi-itions made hy tho Bowe forest. but contributed nite is exated, a part of the terbibry of the , whor stome is some-

THE "JOHN".

Sur 1. 293. i. i, 1.
 , 1).

tios!a ĺmon losalitios and imlividuatla.
ホhimb hara beon erimatod at

(is) Xow Moxion and ('alifornia wem "oded to the l nited sitates one payment asiluption of vertain debts due by the Mixican liovernment to Ameriman citismに.

it was stipulaten that immediately after the ratitiotion of the treaty 'a order: should be sent out to the formen on ather side to cease from further hostilities: and, further, that all "vessels and effects" captured by cither party after the timme specified by the treaty, ranging from 12 to 120 dars: aceording to the locality of the capiure: should be restored 7 , The ". John." an Immican rewal, we captured by H.MI.S. "Talbot" within the twelse day zone and after the expiry of the perind agreed on: both captor and priz being in ignorance of the fact that peram had been concluded. The rimel was, howerer, soon afterward. lost. whilst muder the control of the captor. he the perils of the sea. Some timn afterward a momition was iswed ' $r$ ' at the instance of the owners of the ressel. reeguiring the raptor to proced to adjurliation: the nlject bring to make the commander of the" "Talbot pereonally remomsible for the lose. It was, however, held by the Court that in the circumstanmo of the case the captor could not be held personally liahle.

Judgment. Sir W. Scott, in giving judement, pinted out that the cave for the complainants rested on two eround-: first, on the general right of restitution on a capture made out of due time and place: and. scondly. on an allecird mismanagement of the ship whilst under the eaptor's combol. On the latter point, howerer. hewas of opinion that due care hat han shown The question then remained whene the origime pusasion of the captor wa- such a possession as would excupt lim from liability for comequeners not due to his personal dufants. With respect to this, in the present case, the ignorance wa- not one of law but of fact, and alow of a fact deproment on transactions of State of which the captor could not possibly be aware until it wa- commmicatid to lim. Hence the posession of the coptor in the preornt ras munt be treated as a brmat fide posession. with the result that ans misfortune oceuring to the thine whilst in custody must he demend in fall on the owne. For this deason he wa- of opinion that the captor wa not peranally answerable in the war of compenation for the low -ntained. Thi- did not, [^76]however. axclude a liability elsewhere: although whether such a liabilite lay on the (roverment was a question that did not then require to be determined.

The Finding of the Joint Commission.] Acting, no doubt, on Lencl stown's sugeretion that a liability might concerivably aftach hewhore. Whe United States (iovermment subseguently math a ctam lox intemmity on behalf of the owners of the wered against the lixtish (iovermment; and this, with other dam. Wats. be a ('onvention of the sth February, 185:3, referred to a Joint Commission. In the result the Commission reported in lavour of an indomity. Which was acordingty paid to the owners of the ressel.

In erving his demision the United states Commiswioner, with whon finding the british Commiswioner aured 'd. stated, in offect, that the decisions of the British Prize Courts both in the case of the ".John" and in that of the "Mentor" went to show that where there wa- a want of due diligence in adrertising the erseation of hostilities the infured party was dearly entitled to indemmilication. 1 . it was sometimes dillicult to determine what constituted due diligenee under the eiremmstances, it was unal to awime dixel periorls for the cosation of hostilities according to the situation and distance of places. The question then wa whether, in the present ase, the asigmment of such the time an lixed on as the perionts that wore to be reeroded as "reasonable" for the purpors of "notice." From the laneuage of Aet. ? "e, and as it could not bo sumpored that the parties griven motion the mondmad that then times were atered on as erquisaleat to notion. and that theremfor the obligation to ceaso from hotilitins was imperativ. Ifter this, eren thomeh collisions might oreme whout wifhol wrous. yet ans fore sutamed reatered. This meant mot merely that ratitution should be [^77]made of the thing itwelf if practicable: but that if owing to want of notice a capture was effected, the restitution of which became impracticable, a due equivalent should be remdered in damages. The position had been taken up that howerer this might be, (rreat Britain, in the present case, was reliewd from: this obligation by reason of the resel having been lost by the act of (iod. But such a plea could not be ret up) on behalf of one who was wrongfully in posession $f$. ln whaterem wat the "Jom" might have been lost, the fact remained that she was taken without right to the placest which she wa-los: and. inasmuch as the ressel herself could not now bo restoral. it followed that such compensation should be made as the nature of the case admitted of ( $g$ ).

Sir If. Soott in his judgment merely decided that inammeds therefore be held persomally liable for a lowe matembed he acgligence: the question of the liability of the (insormand hang left open. Although in such cates dhe decen on at comperont appeate 10 intolve a denial of jatie or the inftation of some on touch the real issue, then it will be onen the the state to when the injured party belongs th proserute the mam diphtammaly. This was acemengly done in the ease before us, with the fowh that

 This deveded (1) that where certain then are sperition for the cenodtion of hortilities, sach times will be presmed to he thene within which atch Power ean reatomably give inotice in its commamters of the termination of the watr: and (2) that if thi- i- wef done. then

(i) Not. indmal. hy vilfur ot his own defontt. sliwh wis the 'furstion dealt with hix lood Simmoli, hut hy ment. at hoded hy tho (iommision.
(it) For amether "xamut! of this

[^78]sow that a mator in -uch a case might le mate liathe in tamages,

If mu-patial permi is fixel for the cessation of havilition, then periml is lived. all lowtilities and (apmoss shond rease whon oner the fare of pease bermes kmown: ahthoug a maval or military motion of the prace had been reenered hes the prize and alon her the caphen himeeli although not from an ollicial soure the rewol wak cuntemnet on the groumt that the capture was eftected at at time anterion to that fixed for rectitution be the treate (on). and hat the (apum had mot an yon hathentic and sufficiont knowhedgen of the cesation of hastilitios which he was bement to requive (o). Where a prize ha- heen taken during the war. hat recaptured after the ecesation of hostilities and in iomonace of the peace. the prize buweres. mow incline the thation of watorime all poperty which the eromod that peace had meanwhile been e-tablished

```
i.) Ilthomeh it wate held, in tho
```

``` - caname :mal that a prowins -nit
```

``` .ai-ad withmat having lueds a!jumelad
```

```
:iii. 1~3: 1!a11. s.3n.
```

    (..) Really the preliminary articles
    ```
    (..) Really the preliminary articles whin}) fremeded tha derinitive treaty.
```

```
    whin}) fremeded tha derinitive treaty.
```

```

```

```
    1,0) rew ihill. iii. T-2: amd T%o
```

```
```

```
    1,0) rew ihill. iii. T-2: amd T%o
```

```

```

```
    i.1.". %. 17ti.
```

```
```

```
    i.1.". %. 17ti.
```

```

```

```
    (1.1%,114).
```

```
```

```
    (1.1%,114).
```

```
default. So territorr orcupied or places taken or captures made thereafter must be restored: priomer taken must he relmaed; and contributions and requisitions exacted, even though by way of arrears, nmst be repaid. When hustilities extend to distant regions, with which communcation may be diflicult, it was formerly the practice to fix on some future date, or even dilferent dates for different regions, at which ho-tilities should be brought to a close: but owing to modern facilities of commmication, such cases are scarcely likely to occur in the future ( 8 ). In such a casc, howerer, if hostilities should occur or a capture be made after the time or times agreed an. the State to which the ageressor or captor helongs will he responsible to the extent of an adequate indemnity. Moreorer. if. eren betore the expiry of the period or perioh- acreed on, authentic notice reaches a naral or military commander, it i- now emmonly agreet, in spite of some previous divergence of opinion, that he ought to abstain from further acts of war. This, howewer, is subject to the reservation that he is not bound to accept such notiee mentes it comes to him directly or indirectly throngh his own (foremment; a reservation which sometime operates harshly ( \(t\), but which is at bottom not unreasonable, having regard to the ecrion- conseruences that might attend the suspension of warlike opration on information that was erroneous or intentionally deceptive (u).

\title{
THE LE(子LL EFFECTS OF (ON(QTEかT ANH) AXVEXITION. \\ \\ (i) As RE(i,ARDs PROIERTY AND OBLIG.ATIONS. \\ \\ (i) As RE(i,ARDs PROIERTY AND OBLIG.ATIONS. \\ \\ THE REPORT OF THE TRANSVAAL CONCESSIONS \\ \\ THE REPORT OF THE TRANSVAAL CONCESSIONS COMMISSION.
} COMMISSION.
}
| Parlianentary Papers. 1901, South Ifri"a. (id. 1223.|
The Appointment of the Commission. In Auert-1. 1900, the Britioh Government, believing the war with the Both Ifrian Kepublic: to be nearing it- end, began to consithe the chation of ite resporsibilition as the sumeroor of the Romblie in the mont of annexation. Hreads, on the I9th Mards. I! 900 . a notifiention of propery. Whethe of land- ralware mine ur mining rights,

```

I. 127.
#%

```

made by the Transval Govermment after the date of the proclamation: and this notification was repeated inseptember, 1901. In August, 1900, a Commiswion (a) was also appointed to entuire into and report on the various concessions which had been granted ley the Tramsaal (iovernment: the settlement of this question being one in which both British subjects and foreigners were hargely interested. On the 1st September, 1900, a prochamation was issued amexing the territory of the Republic: a proceeding which. although in the eiremmetances premature, was nevertheles ratidated he the ultimate issme of the war. On the sth September a special notification was issued, to the effect that all concessions aranted by the Transtal Goverment. would be considered on their merits: but that the British Crovernment reserved its right either to refuse recognition to or to modify such concesions as might prove to have been berond the power of the Transaal Government having regard to any agreement or coniention with Great Britain, or to have been granted without Jegal authority or contrary to law, or the conditions of which had not been duly complied with, or which might appear to confliet with the public interest. The Commissioners appointed subsequently proceeded to South Africa, and after due onquire into the rarions maters referred to them. issued their report on the 19th April, 1901

The Report: i, Statement of Principles. The Report contmences with a statement of prineiplec, which the ('ommissioners rearded an appliable to the problem before them in the eireumstanes of the ammextion, and which are to the following effect: I "It is clear that a state which has ammed another state is not legally bound by any contmot- mate loy the state which has coased 10 exist, and that no ('surt of haw has jurisdiction to theni b. But the modem wagn of nations hat tended in the direction of the arknowhdermat of -uth rontracts. A Ater

 Mr. A. M. A-hmore, Mr. R. K. Love- 5 2. day and the Itme A. I xtteltom.
bat their relations to each other and the ir rights of properts remain undisturbed \(c\) : and property includes rights which lie in contract d . . . . Coneesions of the nature of those which are the subpect of encuiry pesme example of mixed public and private rights: they probably continue to exist after annexation unil abrogated by the amexing state \(e\) :and, an a matter of practice in modern times, where treaties haw been made on the cession of territory they have often beem matatamed by agreer ment \(f\).. In considering what the attitude of the concutern thould be towards suctl concessions, we were unable to prective any somnd distinction between a case where a state arquire part of another State by cession and a case where it acquires the whole by annexation. The opinion that in general private right- should be respected by the conqueror, although illustrated and supported by jurists by analogies drawn from the Roman law of inheritance, is based on the principle, which is one of ethier rather than law. that the area of war and sulferines shond be, oo far as possible, narrowly confined, and that non-combatant should not. where it is avoidable, be disturbed in their business. Ind this principle in at least as applicable 10 a cans where all as where some of the provinces of a state are ammed." ? "Though we doubt whether the duties of an ammexinestan towards those claming under concessions or contracts granted or made be the anmexed state have been detined with such premeinn in authoritative statement. or acted mpon with such mifnomity in wivilized practice. a- to warrant their being termed rute of intemational law, we are convinced that the bet modern opinion fitomes the view that as a deneral rule the obligations of the mmexd state towards private persons should be resperted. Manifotly the stato no other sourer than to ammex it. convert its worthlow into

```

\1

```

 ]sl6: Joace of Kurinh, 1459: Framep

 many and Franme, lnil; lireat Britain and liermanys lsta.
in refusing to recognize obligations incurred by the anmexel state bath! no statn would ackmowledge private rights the existence of which cansed or eontributed to canse the war which resulted in athexation." (3) "sintject to these reservations, II.M. (iovernment, in dealing with the concessions in question, will probathy lu. willing to atopt the prinedple, which, in the case of the athexation of lfuntw by Prusia-the modern case mosi nearts correponding with that mathe consideration-was proclaimed hy the compucrors in the following terms: "We will frotect every one in the posession and enjorment of his duly dearty render it newesury that the amexing (Goremment should in bath cave cxamine whether the rights which it is asked to recognize have, in fact. been duly acquired. It is an obvious reason of due acyuisition in the tiret inst mee, but by reason of their condition- having been subequentio duly performed." (i) - Applying these principies more in detail to the case of the conser-ions with which we have hat to deal, we have come to the conclusion that the cancellation of a moncesion may be property advised when - \(a\) the grent of the concession was not within the legal powere of the late Cromernment: or "b' was in hreach of a treatr with the ammexing state: or foren the beinge justifable without (")mpersation, in the absence of sjectia! cirmm-tances." if "Wr finther thitathat thenew (bovernment

 i " In the lat arace hownor. the quation of compensation

ment, infurious to the public interest. regard should be paid to the que-tion whether the grantee at the time of the grant knew or ought rasonably to have known that it was precarions, more especially as being closely related to large and changing public intereste: b, that in asscesing compensation the value of the interest should be taken as it was luetore the war, the grantee not being entitled to benefit by any appreciation in value derived from the superior credit and stability of the new Gorernment; (c) but that due consideration ought property to be shown in cases where a new or hazardons enterprise has been fionerred into stability in an unsettled and undereloped country." (ii, Assets passing on amexation. Whe Report aloo comprises a schedule of assets belonging to the Transraal Government, and arising out of concessions, shares in companies, and claims to participate in profits, which were assumed to devolve on the new Gorerument.
iii, Conctusions with respect to partionlar comerssims.- The Report further deals with some twentr-live conce-ions. aming mater the category of 1 , railways and tramwars mon purcly
 [3, concersions of rights of a muniripal chararter. Is io -ome of these the Commissions: recommenden a full recomition of the concesion: as to others, a modilimation wither on teme -uggested or to be arranged: and as to others. acain. a complate or partial cancellation either without comprnation, we with compensation only of particular interests, or an expropriation on a reasonable basis. The following will swe as axamplo of the modes of treatment accorded:-

1 The Netherlands South African Railway. Thi- wat

war, and had commifted acts of aggression against the British which were waranted neither by the terms of its concession, the whatere of its undertaking, nor by its local subjection to the athorits of the Transsaal (iovermment \(h\); and the that the grant of a wide-reaching monopoly of this charater was injurions to the prable interest, and especially so when the grant wa- to a foreign corporation' \(i\) ). In the opinion of the ('ommission, the shareholders, who were ultimately responsibld for the action of the directors and officials, were not entitled to compersation on forfeiture except as a matter of grace: but the debenture holders, who were neither responsible for nor privy to the acts complained of and whose interests had been guarantced by the Transraal Govermment, were thought to be entitled to a recognition of their rights, although with some allowauce for the improvement of their security in ennseruence of the new régime. In the result this concession was cancelled. It the same time the British Government assumed the entire Jiability as regards the debentures; whilst it also agreed-notwithstanding the rucommendations of the Commission- to pay a full indemnity ( \(k\) ) to shareholders who had aeruired their interest- prior to the ontbreak of war, excluding only sares that helonged to the Transvaal corernment and to the managres or agents of the company 7 ,
(2) The Prætoria-Pietersburg Railway.-This was a line held and worked under a concession vested in an Enelish company; the Trancraal Gorerument ownine three-ifthe of ite shares, but being also gutrantor of the dubenture interest and of a limitod

\footnotetext{
(h) Its manarer had, it was said, ated at wnide and councellor of the -hemy tinvermmont in combertion with the war: it had facilitated the empluypurely military operations aœrainst. tho Leritish: it had made arms and ammonnition for thr formemment: it hasl dastroxd briders in British territury:
 it - antion hy inducine the (iorermment

Ther forfoitaro wat also jurtified on the analoery of the forteform of
}
neutmal resels antracing in the enemy

(7.) Dmonating to \(13.5 /\). Der share. L: a Mattcre of fatet. ntarly all the shares. with the exception of some? s!0 mut of 14.000 . appear to have been prin for: the 5.713 shares of the Ropuldi, havimes formd their way inta moutral hands. Fore a critiorism of the report of the (ommission and the Bation of the British (insermment, an lamatay: l'molblems. 19 , 1 wor. : althoush it is monoedred that surlo antion W:A rall! ju-tifind, buth in principlo and by virtue of amalocon- prastion:

dividend on the share issed to the public. The conces-ion wareported to have been lawfully acquired and honeily carrind out. Although the line had been uned for the purposes of the war. this was the act and within the right of the Transaal (forermment. In the realt. the British Goremment, haring taken posestion of the share oriminally suberibed by the Transaal (roverninent. under an order of the Courts, recognized the concersion and assumad all the liabilities of the prior Gorernment under it. guarantec.

3 The Dynamite Concession.-In 1s9: the manlucture and nene monopoly, but with power th the (rovernmont th imm-in it- righte to other persons. The monopoly was at the time inwheled to be and was in fact assigned to a grantme "nd ahtimately becanc reted in the Transaal Drmanitu. ('ompans. which was itall controlled by a Germat (ombination. I- tw the comlitions of it- contiact. which was jo-lf in homat of the re-ulations made hy the Raal: and that, althomeh the breach of conditions had been eondoned by the Government and Lemislabribery. (On this ground. as well as on theremomel that sumb a monopoly wa- oppord to the public intercet. the Commionmon recommended the Briti-h Government to refles tor monniz. the

a．Hunicipal Court coukl give effect to（ \(\because 1\) ）．The Report，whilst puportino to aceept the judicial view，mevertheless qualifies thin． 10 eflect，hy the admission that＂the modern usage of matons tands in the＂limetion ol the acknowledgment of such contract－＂（o），and that＂he hert modern opinion favour the view that as a general rula the ohligations of the ammex state towarde private individuals －houkd be respeated：＂hasing this，however，on joblital or ethical rather than on legal greambe \(p\) ）．（On the whole this bears out the virw proviou－ly sugestent，that there is a doctrins of sucession which is hromblyarepted in pratice，although the mes which gevern it mome partimbar applications are still in course of growth．The Ropont．it will be seen，abo athmo the view that in the matter of the whole hy ammexatom：＂a statement true at most points，althongh neetling some qualitication（q）．Equally important is the rerogntion

by way of exception to the ereneral ruke that a eonquering state is not liable for whimation eontracted hy it prelecessor for the pur－ poses of the war：a distinctinn denied by the English Coutsir）， hut now generally arcepted（s）．

For the rest．the statement of the Commissionere is directed more particularly to the（question of＂concossions．＂There are eontractual tiohto of a special kind．involving the grant ly public authority to intividnals or corporatons of some right or priviloge not otherwise exereforabr：surh as a rioht to construct works．railwats or tram－ Ways，or to establish mulertakines for the supply of gas，water or plectricity or to carry on some special intustry moler conditions not arailable to the publie．The principlos lad down with respect to the their reacomable character，probally commami a general asent it

The forteiture of the ronesesion at the Nomberlande somth Atriman Railway Co．in itselt also consitutes a preedent of mo litfle im－ portante．The use of the line and material of the company on the requimement of the territorial Power and in aid of its operations dming the war，would have rendered all propery sor employed liable in gurstions．however．the erompany notwithetanding its nemtal Whamer．hat phomed throngh it lomal officials and with the

```

1. ('. .f:2 : but for a criticism of
```

```

and fore a fumlaral remornition of the

```

```

    (1) \",ッ,% !' 2:%%.
    (1) \"か,", p. 236.
        SM vol. i. T.4. 7.5. Lumb dilfornumer a= do (exist are. fon the mont

```
part，due to the fact that in the rater of complote absomption，there is mo wher body on whom mertain kinds of whlimations．＊urla at the genmeal dobt． laku．i．7T．

（s）sies Wiatlakr，i．Ts．
1）ぶ＂ノ＂！1．23
a-rent of the directors. hy whose acts the company was bound-a policy of active amociation with the cance of the enemy and active hotility to the British, esing far berond the requirements incident to its local subjection to the anthority of the Transraal Government ( 1 ). This virtually constituted such an identification of the rompany with the enemy cause for the purposes of the war as to justify on the analogr of unneutral service \((x)\). the forfeiture of the undertaking (y), although this was in fact only partially enforced \((:=\)

\section*{(ii) As REGARDS PERNONS.}

\section*{THE CASE OF COUNT PLATEN-HALLEMUND.}
[14ib: Forsth, (ases and Opinion*, 335: IFalleck, International Law, ii., 475.] Case. \(]\) Count Platen-Hallemund was Prime Minister of Hanover in 1866, at the time of the outbreak of the war hetwern Austria and Prussin, in which Hanover sided with the former. In the course of the war, the Hanoverian army was forced in capitulate and the King put to flight. whibt Hanover it-clf was ultimately annexed by Prussia: the annexation having been confirmed by the Treaty of Prague, 1866. Prior to the anmexation Count Platen-Hallemund had loft Hanover in the suite of the King, and ultimately took up his abode in Vimma. Whilst there he was summoned to appear before the Supreme: 'ourt of Judicature at Berlin on a charge of high treaon, allewed to have henen "ommitted be him ar a " l'ruswian subject." although after he hat in fart comad to resid. in Hanover. Be the law of Prusia, only a Prusian subject whe brosecated betore a Prusian Cone for an owt of high trewon commited abmod: and the furi-dictions of the ('onet thereforenemended :on wh ther he had becone, Prarian oubiout he viptue of the ammexation of Hanover by l’n-ia. It the trial Coment Platen-Hallmmel did wat appeas

\footnotetext{
I- the whirh. see vol. i. 203. /, i, ". P. 4.si.
?\% This renclusion would also appear to be bomen ont be the provi-ions of 11. ('.. So. is of 1907. Arta. 17, 15. Nor whald the prowion montainm in 1 Int. 17 appary to protect from ranfication property in the stuation dremibel. Emat liritain. moremser, signed under reareation of Arte.
}
 Problums. 1. 4.9.
 hut with compromation to hare-

in person, but took exception by his counsel to the jurisdiotion of the Court, and cited in rupport of this plea the opinions of two wminent (ierman jurists. Professor Kachariæ of Crattingen and l'ofessor Neumam of Viema, to whom the question had been submitted. This plea was, however, overruled, with the result that the accused was convicted and sentenced in his absence to tifteen rears' penal servitude.

Opinion. In effect. the opinion of Professor's Zacharis ant Nimmann was that the mere fact of conquest and annexation did not of itself ereate the relation of Sovereign and subject brtween the concueror and the conquered: and that to create such a relation there must be cither an express or tacit submission. It the same time it was pointed out that "tacit submission" would include remaining within the sphere of the power of the new dominion and fultilling the duties of a subjeet. Subject to this proviso, it must be left entirely to the choice of the subjects of the sublued state whether ther would acknowledge the new sorerrign lower or not. Consequently ther were at liberts to emigrate it the chose: but if the res mained, then they tacitly declared that they entered the new State, and hence becane subjects thereof.

The opinion given in this are appars to embody a correct tatement of the existing law. The dowtrine of an absolute and unconditional transter of allewiane be the mere fact of anmpest mo lonere whaths. and the expere or implied consent the new tie of personal allowiane(o). In 18 sit even the German Covermment appeas- th have remonimed this in the rave of entain that dite he Pru-i: had withdrawn amd heome naturalized in -immstanese, the (envernment inctent hf hodrang them to the alle-

 "hich matmalization elsewhem withon it (matent (b) what mot have exmpter then antented itsolf with momely expelling them

(f) but are 11all, 567, n.
(6) Sie Hall. 237: We Whake, i. To.
1) hor vol. i. 1!3.
and American decisions on this subject ( \(d\) ). The principle is, moreover, equally applicable in the case where only part of a state is conquered and annexed. But in such a case it is usual. by the treaty of cession. to reserve to the nationals of the conquered territory either a right to elect for their former nationality. subject to withdrawal, but with a right to retain or dispose of their property (e): or, more of ten. a right to elect for their former nationality, without withdrawal, on complying with certain conditions \((f)\). With respect to the classes of persons to whom this right, whaterer its scope, will he arailahle, the practice appears to rary. Under some treaties, the right of election is determined by nationality of origin: under others by residence or domicile: whilst under others, again. it is extended hoth to nationals and domiciled inhabitants (g). The status hoth of the territory annexed and of such of its inhabitants as do not withdraw or otherwise elect for their former nationality, will depend entirely on the municipal law of the conqueror, subject to the considerations mentioned hereafter ( \(h\) ). But the status of the subjects of neutral States who may be domiciled or resident in that textitory will not be affected, except, of course. in so far as the temporary and local obedience which they owe to the territorial Power will now be rendered to a new authority.

Gimeral Notes - Tithe by Conquest (i).-In order that a State may acquire a legal title to territory which it has conquered, it is (d) See Doe d. Thomas r. Acklam (2 B. & C. 779) ; Doe d. Auchmuty v. Mulcuster (5 B. © C. 771 ): In re лíuer (1 L. J. N゙. 内. Ex. 153): Halleck. ii. 4it; but. contir. Hall.
 Wall. 211). indeed, it wa* held that on the conquest and annexation of a country. inhahitants who leave and adhere to their former Sovereign forfeit the right to protection both as regrards themelves and their property, unless protected by treaty; and that if it is provided by treaty that they may sell their property within a certain time and under eertain conditions. then a fature to comply with those conditions will work a forfeiture: athomeh, in fact, the forfeiture in this case appears to have been based on the non-fulfilment of conditions attarhing under the original grant.
(r) Such a right was conceded by the Treaty of lirankfort. 1sil. to the natives and inhalistants of Alsace and Lorraine. nir the apsiun of thase provinees to (iormany.
(f) So, on the cession of Mexican territory to the Cnited States in 1848 by the Treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo, Mexican subjerts establi-hed in the ceded territory were allowed to retain their mational character without withdrawal on declarine that intention within one ratar. Lexain, on the estahfishment of Cuban independenee. by the Treaty of Paris, \(1 \times 94\). Spaniards resident in Cuba were allowed to retain the Spanish charater without withdrawal, hut on reristration. By the Treaty of Port-mouth, 190.5. Ru*sian subject. revident in territory eeded to dapan. Were allowed either to sell their landed property and withdraw. or to remain with full protertion on submittiner te the Japansen laws and juri-diction: s.on". p. 22. 4.
(g) Sece llall, sion, n.: and Westlake, i. 72.
(hi) See P. Q48, intia: Malleck, it. \(480,4 \times 2\).
(i) Is to a proposal made in 1890 to abolish title by conruest under the public law of imeriea. see Moore. Digest, rii. 315.
neressary that there should be either a "cession," express or implied, on the part of the dispossessed State; or else a "completed eonquest" in the sense described below. Where conquest affectis only part of the territory of a state, the title of the conqueror is ahnost insariably contirmed by a treaty of peace. This may operate either expressly and by way of cession; or impliedly and by virtue of the principle of uti possidetis \((k)\); the title resting in either case on treaty rather than on concuest. But where the conquest affects the whole of the territory of a state, and involves consequently an extinction of the former Power, then for want of some ceding authority the title will depend on conquest alone. For this it is necessary that there should be "firm possession" on the part of the conqueror, coupled with "intention" and "ability" to hold the territory al aeruired. In such a ease "firm possession" will be shown by the effectiveness of the conqueror's military oecupation and control. An "intention to retain" will usually be manifested by some fomal proclamation or notice of annexation. But such a proclamation cannot rightly be made unless and until the eonquest has been completed. If mate prematurely it may inleed be validated by the ultimate issue of the war; but, eren so. it will not justify the confueror in treating authorized resistance as treason (b). The iswe of such a proclamation, moreover, may be important as narking the fact that the actual title to the territory is now in dispute, and that any fiture grants or concessions must be deemed to abide the iswe of the war ( \(m\) ). "Ability to retain " will be shown by the compleie establi-hment of the authority of the conqueror, as indicated cither ly some formal aoreement of surrender ( \(k\) ) , or, at any rate, by the ersation of substantial resistance. It needs to be noticed, howerer. that even thongh the resistance of the local forces and in-halbitant- may have been quelleal. the tite of the conqueror will mot be requrdod as complete. of the compuest as definitive if the war is continned by a thied Power in alliance with the subjugated state: or even. it would semm. if it is carried on by a Power not in alliance with the latter, so long as the displacement of the conyueror comtinues to be one of the objects of the war (o). The rerognition of the titlo of the conquers he other State will dopend on much the same (onsiderations ( \(p\) ): although in this case some interval of time mont neeresarily be coneded in order to emable neutral Governmonte to weigh the facte of the new shation and to judge of its protable permanence ( \(q\) )

Is is alteged to have bem done by ltaly in the recent annexation of mutherized resitance may be trated

(it) Lime Innimencit \(\because\). Cínillard (12 What. se:3). where it wat held that all eramte of contented territory made durine the war he the party that failed must be regarded as invalid, mulese ennfirmed by treaty.
(iv) Such as the compact of

(10) Is to the case of Genua in 1815, and the dispute to which it gave rise, see llall. Ast at seq.
(p) Sice vol. i. 6s.
(y) On the subjert erenerally. see Hallerk, ii. 16it, 171.

Succession in Cases of Conuuest.-The question of succession in seneral has already been discossed \((r)\). It remains only to consider it with pecial reference to conquest. If, as has been suggested, a doctrine of succession as between States is already broadly recognized even thongh the rules governing its particular application are still unsettled (s). it would seem that conquest affords one of its most appropriate instances. The legal consequences of conquest, tonching as they do both on internal and external relations. must, if they are to be orderly and intelligible. rest ultimately on some basis of principle, and the choice here appears to lie between two alternatives. One of these is to regard the rights of a conqueror ar resting solely on force, as in the ordinary conduct of war. This is the rien which is, no doubt, reflected in the English decisions ( \(t\) ). Nerertheless, it is at bottom unsatisfactory. both a inrolving a (omplete dislocation of the ordered life of the community, and as failing to recognize the necessary asociation of obligations with lenetits as regards the position assumed by the conqueror. Nor is it in harmony with morern opinion or cecent practice (u). The other is to reorard the rights and liabilities of a conqueror as governed broadly hy the principle of succession \((x)\), although with some qualitications incident to the particular situation. This has the merit of securing, in legal theory at any rate a continuation of the ordered life of the community, save in matters asential to the securitr of the conqueror \((y)\) : of recognizing that obligations pase with rights: and of requiring the conqueror 10 ascmme thens. at any rate to the extent of assets which he has receirell \(=1\). Thin riew is also more in hamony with the trent of moxlern usage (a). From the point of view, then, both of principle and pratice. so far as the latter extends. it would seen that the rishtic and liabilities of a conqueror are referable broadly to the principle of succession. If this les so. the conquest and annexation lis one State of the whole or part of the temitory of anothre will carry senerally thove rights and liabilities, whether as regards persons, propertr, or engagement*, which have been previonty indicated as attending a "full" or a "partial" sucession, as the case may be (b). Nevertheless, in the case of conquest the application of this prinriple is. on its pascive side, at any rate. subject to certain qualifications. afthongh these are hy no means well defined.
(uualifirations.- In the first place. it would seem that the con-

\footnotetext{
(r) Siee rol. i. 71 rf wort.
(s) Ibid. 72.
 Co. v. Re.e (1905. 2 K゙. B. 391) and

(11) See vol, i, 72.
\((x)\) Based wo doult on the amaloery of civil sumessimn, at porounizad mot fase of bankruptiv and forfeiture.
}
(y) See the Prussian precedent rofered to. 11. 237. sirpion.
(z) For instances in which this prineiple has loeen deserted intermationally: see a latim bey the lonited States against (chile in 1 sis. Whareon. Hig. i. 34s: amel the dame of the Boer (imerals, Parl. Papers. 1901 (Cd.
 (11) Šre vol. i. 71-73.
(b) Ihid? Fiv it sury.
guering State is not bound to recognize or discharge obligations of the preceding Government, which were incurred for the immediate burposes of the war; for the reason that a state camot, in the circumstances, be expected to assume - and hence to facilitate tho making of ohligations entered into with a riew to its own injury or orerthen (c). But the precise serpe of this qualification is far from Wear. It would clearly cover loans of money, and obligations for war material, contracted after the outbreak of war. In strictnes. it would also appear to extend to obligations or quasi obligations: invored by the displaced Govermment, during the war, in respect of the ler of moner or supplies, or other subjects of indemnits muler the domestio law ( \(d\) ): but, in cases of cession, ohligations of thic kime are often expresty assmed hy agreement (o). Whild. in the cane where the whole of a state is ame vel they are often assumed a- a matter of erace(f). In the second place it is probalike that a conpuring state would not now acknowledge prisate rights or ohligations that had caused or contributed to the war: for the reason that these must be dermed to haw heen put in iswe hy the war and the isue to have been decided against the party that tated ( \(g\) ). Nors. fimally, is it likely that a solvent state would now feel bomed 10) asemme to the full the obligations of an insolvent state which it had amexed. In wheh a ain it would seem that, hoth in equity and muler the law of succession in its developed form. the liahilite of the compuerer is limited be the material arsote actually remenet by him: these heing astmatel. generally. toy the not reveme-protheing eaparity of the territory acequired. on a fair basis of taxation and expembime (h). Great Britain. lowever, in 1902. virtually took orer the whole of the debte of the congnered states incluling a deficit of the south African Repuhtic amomting on some E1.50日,000. subjert th hese qualitications. the ammexing state will he homed he all the oldigations of the preceding (iovermmen. whether incured
(c) For an amatorous case, see rol. i. FI: and. as to the refusal 10 allow ( Aba tor talas ower dobte montractend fres the manternamer of the shathioh rula, ihat. 73.
(1) I: rexards montributions amb ant, in the lattor, a lemal whituationat :any rate as remarde supples in kind

- ill Jevolre of thor amexiner Sitato. , L= on the reseion of Lombardy in i cis! and Jenetia in lske: ahthough the Italian (omrt appeat to latio rawitrded them as devolvine om the Italian (iosermment irresperetive of treatr: ser Wistlake, i. \(7!\).
(f) \(\therefore\) on on the rondusion of the šouth Ifrican was. (imat Britain po-vided a sum of \(8.000,000\) for the purpose ut intemnifuine the inhabi-tant- for losses sustained in war. inrhatinge all requi-itions for which motoof reenipt had heren eriven by the anthority of the preeeding lovernmont: whilst further paymonts were made in respert ot property which had beon commandeered or dostroved:

(a) Is in the case of a treaty whimela
 Hall, 343, 557.
( 7 ) See Westlake, i. 7t, where this primeiple is fully developed: and an to eases where the territory ammend is andowed with domestic allonomv. (o). i. F... ams ()pinions of l". A. . Itt.(ien. xxii. 5x.j , +t -ry.
in the course of administration or as incident to its business undertakings: but it will not be bound by whigations arising out of turt, or by thuse which were merely personal to the former sovereign, or by treaties or political obligations other than such as were locally connected with the teritury annesed (i). It will, on the other hand. be entitled to all the public property of the conquered State. even thoush situated in foreign cuntries. such as monies lodeed wihn forcion banks. or ships lying in foreign ports: but not to property personal to the former soveren, miles legally forfeited and duly wonverted to the puthio nase k).

The E!tiect of Comquest on Pricute Rights and Lanrs.- With re-- pere porivate rights. comquest and ammextion are now generally underated non to affect either private riphte or private property, 10 whomserev helonging. in the conpered terriony (l): although the property of these who continue in artive hostility maty of comse he dealt with th the law may warrant. With respert to the eflecte
 -r-venl. or such part of it as is inconsistent with the public interest or pulicy of the annexing State, may he changed yet laws requlating mivate rioht- and relations are presumed to be unaffecterd by the fact of conquest except in so far as they will now depend on a new authority, ly which of course they may he changed in the ordinary couse of legidation (m). And even though a new judicial system may be extahisherl. this will mot in general he atiowed to affect judements. decrees. or sentences previonsly given or pared (m). Ore and above these customary restrimons, moreser. theme is also a moral obligation incumbent on the ronquering state to atminister the empuerabl territore. in so far as this may consist with its own cafety. in such a manner as to mitionte the sufferinge and restore the protuerity of its inhabitants, and to distribute on far as pos-itle wer the promation at laree the horden of lonse that have fallen on individuals.

\section*{POらTLIMINH.}

\section*{THE CASE OF THE ELECTOR OF HESSE-CASSEL.}
\[
\text { 1814-1531: Phill. iii., s41-851: Halleck. ii., 194- } 199 .
\]

Case. During the war between France and Pru-ia, in 1s06. Hese-Cassl, although profossedly noutrol. Wa- insaded and

\footnotetext{
i) Sier vol. i. 75.

 efferet of renhefue-t on allowiance has ahready boen ron-idered: ser vol. i.

() In the ['nitmed sitates this hate berol enummated a- a judirial duetrine:
}
```

Nere T`. S.. v. Prochumomit (T Pfot. at 87): Noulura v. L.S. (& Pet. 5ll); johmsonv v. lic/mtosk (s \lumat. 543).

```

```

(im) Ther ('hiraqu. dre. Riy. fo.v.
TL(Ilimn (114 (T.S.542).

```

```

(%.v.//rry (190)&, \.(\therefore.43A).

```

 johwson v. lifoliotroly (s) Whest. 543i.

occupied by French troops, and the Elector expelfed. Prior to his expulsion the Prinee had held in the territory of which he was sovereign extensiw domains as his hereditary property, and hatl also lont out large sums on mortgage both in his own and other (ierman states. Hesse-C'assel remained for about a year umber the immmate govemment of Napoleon; but was thereafter virtually ( \(a\) ) incorporated into the newly-formed kingdom of Westphalia, of which Jerome Bonaparte was recognized is King by the treaties of Tilsit and Schönbrun. On such incorporation it was agreed between Jerome and Napoleon that half of the private domains of the Prince should be retained by Napoleon for his own purposes: and, as regards debts due either to the Prince or province, that such of these as were due from persons resident within the territory of Westphalia should be parable to Jerome, whilst such of them as were due from persons rewident outside, should he payable to Nrapoleon, as the original successor in title to the Elector. Ender this arangement various parts of the Eleetor's hereditary domains were alionated, and taken over by purchasers on the faith of the new title. The parment to Jerome of dehts owing by persons within the kingrlom was enforced: whilst Napoleon also succeeded in obtaining payment from debtors who resided in other states, although, often, only by remitting a part of the debt and giving a release for the whole.
 that where a mortgage had been officinlly recorded it could only be validly dischareed be ontry duly made with the consent of the actual ereditor. ()f this kind was a debt dur from Count won Hahn, the owner of larger estates in the duchy of Mecklonhurg, who had borrowed moner from the Elector on the security of certain mortages which were duly re orded in the proprer oflice at Necktentmorg. It the instance of Nipoleon, and in order to cmable the parment of thi debt to him, the Duke of Mecklenhurge in 1810, isumed a reaript whirh, after reciting the acmpisition by Napoleon of the soreprignty of Hesse-c'assel and incidmanlly of a right to the dobts due to that sovereigntr, directed the local Court to record as extinguished any mortgages

\footnotetext{
a) That is, with the exception of certain districts.
}
in farour of the Elector Hesse-Cassel for which a discharge should be given br Napoleon or his representative. Rolving on this. Count ron Hahn paid over to Napoteon a part of the debt due to the Elector of Hesse-Cassel and received a releane for the whol. wherempon the mortgage was entered as dischares b

In 181:3 the Elector of Hese-C'assel was restored to his dominions: his title being contimed and gmaranteed by varioutreaties. Cpon his restoration he clamed to berestored jore postliminit to all his former rights, and refused altogether to recognize the validity of transations entered into by the intermediate Governments.

With respect to the alienation of hin domains. he claimed. in effect. that by virtue of the jus prostlimimii he had on his restoration been remitted to his original position. with the result that all his prior rights recerted notwithrtanding ans dispositions pmporting to have been made by the transient conqueror. The purchaser: of these lands were aceordingly deprived of possession, often by force: whilst the local Cumtwre prohibited from taking cognizance of the matter. Thn onsted proprietors. indeed, appealed to the Congrus of Vienna. and thereafter to the Diet of the Grmanic Confederation, but without result. Nerertheless, juridical opinion wa- in een ral opposed to the action of the Elector: for the reason that even in its application to private relations the jus poatlimimi dill not axtend to poperty which had been moanwhile transferred to a third parts. whilst in it- application to publicerclations it wa- not deemed 10 extend to a cane where the of mation of an invarne had been converted into conque-1, and where the title of the conqueror lad laen confirmed by treaty or by the actuicerenen of the inhabitants ant be the recognition of foreign Powne \(c\).

With reopect to the debte, it appeare to have ben held by the Courto, anm in Hmoc-Cassel itself, that thes antigets of the Kine of Wratphalia who had paid their dube cither to him or to hie w-

 the relaso exiven to Coment von Fahn. who wan not a Wextphatian
b) - Ihthoweh the fantry was a companied hy a minute suttiner forth the special circumstances.
(c) Šes Phill. i:i. T Tri, 848, 8.50.
subject, gater rise in the erents that happened to a long judicial controverss. After the Count's death lis alfairs were found to b. embarrassed and his extati was assigned for the bemedt of his creditors. Amongst these was the Elector of Hesse-Casenl, who put in a clain for the amount of his original adrance, on the ground that the payment to Napoleon was invalid and the discharge of the mortgage therefore illegal. This question was referred by the Meckkenburg Court to various German universities, which at that time were often revorted to as judicial tribunats in matters where the intereste of two or more states or their subjects were concerned. The tiret of these tribumals deceded. in offere that the Elector was entited to recover only such portion of the debt as had not been actually paid to Napoleon'd. Both parties being dissatistied, an appeal was therempon taken by consent to a second tribanal, which, in substanee, confirmed the judgment of the first. From this decision, aquin, an appeal was taken, with thr sanction of the Xecklemburg Court, to a third tribumal, which deceded. in dffect, that all debts for which discharges had been given in full by Napoleon were validly and effectually cancelled, and this whether the whole sum had been pail or not: and that the debtors could not therefore be compelled to paty a serond time.

The Grounds of the Decision. Lu the judgment last given the real question was stated to be-whether Napoleon had or had not in title by virtue of conquest to the prior sorereign. . . in ihis. at hroad distinction was drawn between the act of a transient conyueror in militars occupation and arts done aftur the "onqueror had subjugated the country and han beren acemped as its ruler. In the former case his righte depemed on occupation; in the lattor his acts becume the public acts of the state. Napoleon's title was of the latter kind. Sor did it matere that these funde were the private propety of the formm smanion. The Ehetor hant remaned an ation encme of the (roverument atablishad bs Xapelon, and by the haw of all countries the properte of such a preon was subject to contiscation \(\rho\). Napolson had bern the original concueror and had merely transmitted some part of his rights to Jerome, reserving, however, expressly the rights in question. The doctrine that the Elector, by reason of his having retained the intruments containing the acknowledginents of the dubtors, must be deemed to have retained constructive possession of the debts, was rejected as untenable. Dealing generally with the question whether the restoration of peace would not work a restitutio in integrum with respect to those who had been dispossessed by the war, it was held that eren if this were so. a reaterd owney was homed to take the property as he found it and could not clain to have replaced what wa- ano. In the circumstances of the case. moreover, it was impossille to consider the return of the Elector as a continuation of his former Gorernment, for the reason that he had not remained constantly in arms against Napoleon. and had been treated as politiralle extinct by the treatio of Tilsit and Somonlorun, whilat the new (rovemment on ito part had been recoonized by foreign \(P\) owers.

This case serves at once to emphasize that di-mination between a temporary and a completed condue-t. Whith hat alrods been dicussed ( \(f\) ): and also to illnstrate the application in imernational law of the doctrine of postlimintm. This. Fon cur present purpore. we may take th he a logal inferenee hy whinh torritory taken by the enemy is presume to be restomed together with all righte appurtenant thereto 10 it o original ownership if retaken bofore a complete tithe ha- been anmimed he the mapmeme ial. In the judement finally given it wac held in eftect it that having segard to the cesation of restance, and mon wher fatly w the recogenition of the conqueror's govemment b treaty and hy foreign Poners, his title romplete: and (2) that in riew of this the jers postliminit, with ite "rmeerpunt right to restitution in interynm. did not apply of aftair: in Eumpe at the tims, it may perbay:- le fombed whether hy (iveat Britain (h). and that the Powere whotereremition was lowe hy 181: the orimimal title may fairly low mearden as

\[
\begin{aligned}
& \text {. } 117 . \\
& \text { I/,i,". p. 2.54 }
\end{aligned}
\]
re-ult that what had previonsly heen done, even though prematurely under a claim of conquest, became validated ( \(i\) ). And in view of this, the decision arrived at was probably justitied in ine rowat. eren thongh not by some of the reasons on which it professes 10 rest.

It will be noticed that the property appropriated by the Ronaparte was the private property of the Elector. This is explained hy the fact that at the time in question the distinction between the surereign in his personal and politic capacity was not so clearly drawn an now; with the result that property inhering in the sovereign was treated for the most part as the property of the State ( \(k\) ). At the present time property belonging to a Sovereign in his personal tapacity would be treated as exempt from confiscation; although if a displaced Sovereign were to continue in active hostilityafter the conquest had been completed, it would of course be open to the succeding (iorernment to contiscate it for treason, if this was warranted by the domestic law (l).
(iexeral Notes.--l'ostiminium in International Lau:--The jus postliminie was a doctrine of Roman law under which persons. and, in some circumstances, things raptured by an enemy were. on returning to the territory to which they had previonsly belonged. deemed to merert in their original status or ownership, on the fietion of 1 no capture having owured ( \(m\) ). This doctrine was subsequently imported into international law hy the text writers: becoming, in it" new application, a legal interence by which persons. property. and, more eopecially. territory, captured by an enemy, were pre-umed to revert to their former condition on the withdrawal of the enemys control. The doctrine, although it still retains some of its earlier applications ( \(n\) ), has now erreatly diminished in importance: but it is nevertheles noteworthy as having provided a monde of thought he whirds some of the earlier rules of the jus belli were gradually modified in their eflects and ultimately replaced hey rulen more suitable to modern conditions. Owing. indeed. to the enty moption and somewhat indiscriminating application of the Roman law of ocenpatio. it was a fundamental rute of the earliep jus belli that all objects taken in wan beame the property of the raptor as som as he had arquired a firm possession of them: thiheing arnte which applied equally to persoms property. and ternitory. Is requrds persons - whon umber the Roman law had been the chief object of the jus postliminat tho need for having recourse to that dnctrine was earty dispensed with by the substitution of the praction of detention on ramsom for slavery: whits the monsery of permal fredom that now gusue on ewape the

\footnotetext{
1: Hall. .th3.
(1. Thi was prohahly the tran ermum of confiseation, dowpite the raterener made in the judement th :rotion rumity as a justification: ser
}
vol. i. .5t. 7.

\(\therefore\) PMill. iii. H1.

nentral teritory (0) is more correctly based on the rights of nental sovereighty. But eren as regards property and territory the consequences of the earlier rule of capture proved highly inconvenient, as resting abolutely in the captor a title to things that -till remained sul,ject to the chances of war. In such cases the effect of the toctrine of postliminium was. shortly, to convert the (aptor's title from an absolute into a prorisional one and thes to impose certain necessary restrictions on the captor's action.
(i.) Its operation on Property.--(1) A. regards moveable property taken on land, although some writers treat this as exempt from the jus postliminii by reason of the difficultr of identification. it appears to have been commonly held that such property. if it conld he identified. reverted to it- former owner if remptured speedily, ur, as was nsually laid down, within twentr-four hours (p). Tnder the present sytem, however, such property is. as we have seen. pxempt from seizure, unless it has a military character or is required tor military needs or is the property of the enemy state (q) (2) As regaris property taken at sea, this. although fomenly subpect to jus pootlimini; in the event of recapture. is now governed for the most part by the mumicipal law of salvage. which has an present comnection with that ductrine ir). is) As reards immoreable property: thic. whether belonging to the state or to private persons. wa:- if seized by a belligerent in occupation. fommerly sulpject to the ius postliminit. and reverted to its original ownership on his expultion or withdrawal before his title had heen perfected by conquest (s). So on the termination of the Franco-German war in 1871 - when certain persoms, who had entered into contracts with the (rerman Government for felling a stipulated quantity of timber in the State foreste of certain districts in France then in German ocenpation. and who had paid for this right in adrance. claimel that. ima-much as the (ierman Government was within it- right in letring these contracts ( \(t\) ) . they nught to he allowed to momplete them notwithatanding the termination of the Creman oceupation-the claim was rejected by the French Covernment on the eromed that when the (ieman orcupation came to an end. the rights of the former arber reverted. With the result that all rights depived from or thumeh the necupant were put an ond to. And this riew appears expestion of the law ind. The jus postlimini; may still. perhaps.
(0) 1s to exeeptions in case of minume dathing on hellimerent war--himese wol. i. pl. 259. 264.

En. Whallowk. ii. sil: but aleo Phill. iii, fith.
\[
\text { " } \quad \cdots, 1,{ }^{\prime \prime} \text { pp. 110. } 210 .
\]
 richt- of the formor owner wammons rowert. yret this is. on the wan hand.
 allat. wh the mers it mathe in met systems notwithstanding the aequisitinu by the apptor of a complete title. which under the arlior s-atom would have extincuisherl the jis postliminii.

(') Nthomerh this wis. perhats. doubtpu? : and would not low permis-hrim. ii. 3f2.

be said to apply where property belunging to individuals is -eized or occupied by an enemy; although the need of it is mow not very apparent, as the only purposes for which it can be taken are in themselves provisional and temporary. But in the case of immoveable property belonging to the state the jus pastlimini has now been replaced by positive regulation, under which the rights of the belligerent occupant are expresisly limited to those of a usufructuaty \((x)\).
(ii.) Its Operation on Territory and sovereignty: (1) After Werupution. According to the earlier siew, the seizure and oceupation by one bolligerent of territory belonging to the other was dermen to work a complete-or, at a later time, a partialcubtitution of movercignty ( \(y\) ). But here, again, the anomaly of arributing sovercignty and title to a possession manifestly contingent on the hazards of war was relieved by the doctrine of postliminimm: which by predicating a restitution of the original sorereignty and title in the nvent of the withdrawal or expulsion of the woupant, made the later's title merely provisional and defeasible. This riew, whilst consistent with the exercise of all necessary authority orer orcupied territory, get exchded any attempt at alienation on permanent change of system until the nccupation had been conretted into conquest (z). And this, in its turn, appears to have paved the way for the modern rule under which military occupation is deemed to confer only a possessory or proxisional interest; the rights mot duties of the occupant meanwhile resting on the broad ground of military recersity (a). But even on this riew, the resulte of a withthawal of control are still those derived from the doctrine of postliminium. So. when the occupation comes to an end, the authority of the legitimate government will be restored: the operation of the territorial law and the jurisdiction of the Courts. in so far as previously - 1 -pended. will revive; whilst private rights and relations, in so far as they were previonsly affected, will he renewed. Acts done by the ormpant in excess of his rights, such as changes in the political sestem or pretended alienations of property not subject to appropriation. with be wholly amulled: hut att done by him within his right- under the jus belli, such as the lews of rontributions and requisitions and the afienation of property subject to appropriation, will hode erond in so far as ther hate taken effect: whist act- done in the orthary course of civil or jutiofal administration, such as the enllention ul taxes or the infliction of punishment for civil offeners. will he himding on the restored (invomment. mules revoked in due murse of law (b).
(2) 1 fter temporar! or partiel Compuest - It may happen. howceres. that a helligerent who intend- a "momest and purpori- in

\footnotetext{

(!) ILall. fos it smg.
(1) llall. tif. landwel\}. J1. 5.
(\%) As liy appeal. On the subjout penherim. ii. 33 it any.
}
establish his sovereignty over the territory appropriated, is, after an interval, displaced by the former sovereign. Strictly, in such a (ave the operation of the jus postliminii will depend on Whether there was or wa- not, according to the testo previously indicated. a completed eonguest (c). If there was, then, on the subsequeni di-plarement of the conqueror, the jus postlimimii will not apply: the riohts of the parties both on (ancpuest and reconquest. being strictly determinable by the rules of succession (d). But if there was not a completed conquest. then the jus postliminii with its attendant consequences e) would in strictness apply. Nevertheless. eren in this case-and especially if there was any apparent basis for the chaim of sovereignty put forward hy the intermediate govern-ment-the preferable view would seem to be that all rights aequired muler its dispositions and in good faith ought to be respected: for the reason that in such circmmstances private persons are often not competent to judge of the true chararter of political changes ( \(f\) ).

\section*{CLAIMS BASED ON WAR.}

\section*{(i BY RESIDENT NECTRALS.}

\section*{CLAIM BY AMERICAN RESIDENTS FOR LOSSES SUSTAINED DURING THE BOMBARDMENT OF VALPARAISO, 1866.}
[1866: Official Opinions of Attornas-fiencral of the l'nited Statoc. xii., 21 : Hoore, Digest, vi.. 940.)

Case. On the 31st Mareh, 1866 , during war betwenn spain and Chile the city of Valparaiso was bombarded be the 'ramish flem. In the conflagration that enowd a large amount of property helonging to Ameriman ritizens who were domicilent them for wommererial purposes was distroyed. The owners sulumponts sought the aid of their (rovemment for the purpere of ohtainime an indemnity for their losso. wher from spain os 'hiln. Tha. Thiterl states (ioremment, however, antine on the opinion of the Attomme-tienmal, dechened to interven".

```

i) Sce Ilvilter, \therefore 17,: Mhili. iii.

```
(iovernment had been made out. With reepere to Spain, the hombardment had occurred in the course of a war then proceding. between that country and Chile; and, although it was unter the" eircumstances a measure of extreme sererity, it coufl not be said to be contrary to the laws of war; nor was it unattended with the preliminary warning to non-combatants usual in such cases; nor did it appear that in the carrying out of the bombardment there had been any discrimination against foreigners or their property. With respert to Chile, again, it did not appear that the Chilian authorities had done or omitted any act of which United States eitizens domiciled there had a right to eomplain: or that the measure of protection which those authorities were bound by public law to extend to American citizens and their property had been withheld. No defence against the bombardment had been made for the reason that it must have proved fruitless, as Valparaiso was then untortified (b. Nor had any discrimination been made by the local authorities between their own citizens and foreigners domiciled there; and all alike had shared in the common disaster. The rule of international law was well established that a foreigner who resides in the country of a belligerent can elaim no ind mnity: for loss of property oceasioned by legitimate acts of war (e).

This opinion, it will be seen, tonches both on the question of thre liability of the herligerent invader and on that of the tertitorial l'ower. Winh respect to the former, the governing rule is that nentrals rexidme in an invadet comery are, together with their property, subject to the same risks and liabilitios as resident natiomals: for the reason that by asioctating themselves permanmely with the romotre or be failiug to quit it on the watherak of war. thee must be dement to arept all riks which are reasmably incident th that awo-

\footnotetext{
(7) 'The bombardment of "undefended" ports and towns by naval forme is now forbidden by the II. (...
 and, as to tha marlar law. Whatom, big. ii. .sst.
(a) Roferemose is also matar to the bombardment of C'openhatern by Cireat Britain. sen rol. i. 1ft: and to the hombardment of lieeytown by the Enited States, see Wharton, ii. Sist et serq.: in both of which, properety bulonginge to residrat forrignors wai destroyed withmet any admission wit lability on the part of "ithor belligerent, ildid. ssti.
}

(17) sur vol. i. 20t.
(2) For other instanmes of its appliation. ser Whatrton. Digest, I. 5s?. 556.
would be to confer on neutrals extra-territorial privileges \((f)\). Hence the state to which ther belong will have no ground of complaint, unlens they are unfarly discriminated against, or unless the acts in question were not warranted by the laws of war. Their position in relation to the territorial Power is described in the case next following.

\section*{GILES \(r\). THE REPUBLIC OF FRANCE.}
[1880; Moore. Int. Arb. ir.. 3703.]
Case. In 1870, during the siege of Paris by the (icrmans, a factory situated at Pantin, between the walls and outer fortifications of the eity, and belonging (0) an American eitizen. was destroyed together with its equipment and contents. Subsequently a claim for indemnity on behalf of the owner was made by the United States against the French (iovernment. This elaim was, with varions others, referred for determination to a Commission appointed under a Convention made in January, 1880. Frem the eridence given before the Commission it appeared that the property in question had in the lirst instance been damaged and portions of it taken by French soldiers and marauders. Subsequently to this an order was issued by General Troeluu for the "racuation of the zone millaire within which the factory was situated; and two days later the factory appears to have been destroyed. On behalf of the French (iovemment it was contended, that, wen if the facts were as allowed, the a to complained of were the manthorized acte of soldiers and marauders: that the order of (eneral Trochu did not direct the destrnetion of the works. but merely the abandonment of buildings within the zom: and that their subsequent destruction, whether her the Freneh as a military precaution or hy the (ierman army in its attack on Paris, did net impose any liability on the French (ionemment. In the result. Whe ctaim was disatlowed by a majority of the Commission: ahthongh the United States Commissioner dissented on the gromed that compensation should have been anamed for surh
(f) As to an attempt made at tho Hague Conference of 1907 to secure for them a privileged position, sen P. 27, supte; P'are lligerins, \(85,293\).
injury, amounting in fact to the wrecking of the factory, as was shown to hare been caused by French soldiers.

The rules which govem the relation of resident neutrals to the territorial Power in time of war are merely a branch of those general rules relative to domiciled aliens which have already been described \((a)\). As regards injuries sustained by them through war, neither they nor their Government will have any ground of complaint against the territorial Роwer, unless the injury in question was due to or attended by some unfair diserimination against them as nentrals, or muless that measure of protection which (iovernments are bound to extend to their sulbjects, whether citizens or not, was unreasonably withheld (b). In the case, indeed, where nentral property has been seized or destroyed by order of the territorial Power or its offeers, nentrals, in common with citizens, will commonly have a remedy by municipal law (c). But for losses incident to the operations of war, or for acts done which were warranted by the laws and customs of war ( \(d\) ) they will have no claim. as of right, for reparation or indemnity \((d d)\). Nor will a belligerent Govermment he responsible to nentrals for the aets of marauders, or even for the manthorized acts of its own soldiers, in a case where these acts were attributable to the state of war then prevailing (e). Claims for war losses, if made, are usnally referred for determination io commissioners appointed by the respective Governments. So, by a Conrention of 1871 made between Great Britain and the United States. a Commission was appointed for the purpose of dealing with claims for war loseses sustained by subjects or eitizens of the respective parties during the civil war ( \(f\) ): whilst by a Convention of 1880 a similar Commission was constituted for dealing with claims by aitizens of Franer and the United States (g).
(12) See vol. i. 204.

(c) Sef, by way of example, Moore, lnt. Aib. is. 3685.
(7) Or. (wen by the territomid law in "ase where no indemmity is prorided fors. -ubjert to ther ponditions

 New Hoore, lut. Art), is. 3671 -1 吅.

Athomenth this Comention overeal atoo bedigerent chams arising but of previnus wars.
(1) Thew and other "ases are col-

\title{
(ii) AS REGARDS THE PROPERTY OF NON-RESIDENT NEUTRALS-THE RIGHT OF ANGARY.
}

\section*{THE SINKING OF BRITISH VESSELS BY THE GERMANS AT DUCLAIR, 1870 .}
[Parl. Papers, 1871, vol. Ixxi.; Annual Rerister, 1870. 110.]
Facts.] During the Franco-Prussian war, the (ierman (ieneral commanding at Rouen was desirous of blocking the passage of the Scine, in order to prevent the French gumboats from ascending the river and interfering with the Crerman operations. With this object he proposed to sink some six British vessels then lying in the Seine, near Duclair. In the first instance he attempted to come to an agreement with the masters, under which the latter were. after unloading their cargons, to sink their ressels on receiving payment of their valut. This offer was. however, refused; whereupon the German "ommander, afferting to treat this as a violation of neutralits, ordered the vessels to be sunk by firing on them, this haring been done in some cases bufore the vessels had been finally abandoned by their crews.

\section*{The German Justification.] In the explanations subsequently} furnished to the British Government, this proceeding was justified by Count Bismarck on the ground that the measure, howerer exceptional in its nature, did not overstep the bounds of international usage in war. . . . A pressing danger was at hand, and every other means of arerting it was wanting. The case was therefore one of necessity, which, even in time of peace, would render the employment or destruction of foreion property admissible, on condition of indemnity. This right-known as the jus angario-was well recognized in practice and was in this character admitted by English writer: a In it- reply the British Government rirtually adnittel whe anrestnos of this contention; and -withont taking exception, as it might fairly haw done, to the methorls employed-merel. reyuired the payment of a proper indemmity. This was ultimately paid. and inctuded thre value of the ships, and 25 per cent. in addition, the seizure being treated in the light of a forced sale: the highest value of the cargoes at the time of capture, less port dues and chareres for unloading which had not then been paid: certain costs that had been incurred for protests and counter certilicates; and interest on the sums so ascertained at the rate of \({ }_{3}\) per cent. till payment. The cost of transmitting the erews to their homes was also paid. But the British Government refused to put forward a claim on behalf of the masters and seamen for loss of employment and effects.

Property belonging to neutrals, which is only temporarily or accidentally within a belligerent State, is not associated with it to the same extent as that of resident neutrals, and is not, in general, subject to the ordinary incidents of war \((b)\). Nerertheless-under a recognized custom of war, commpnly referred to as the jus angaria (bb)-even such property may be used or destroyed by a belligerent, provided it can be shown that such a proceeding was required by the neressitios of war. and subject to the payment of a proper indemnity: In the same war the Germans, under the same plea of justification, seized and used a large quantity of rolling stock belonging to Swiss and Austrian railways ( \(c\) ). The seizure of railway material belonging to neutrals is, however, now regulated by Convention (d). The right in question also extends to the detention of neutral ships fomm within the helligerent jurisdiction where this is required for military rearons. So, during the American civil war. the Labuan, a British merchant ressel, was detained by the United States athorities in order to prevent the divulgence of important information with repect to a military expedition then about to be di-patched: an indemnity for the detention having subsequently been paid (e).

\footnotetext{
(h) Except the risks arising out of the antual rondure of hostilities.
ht, liut see infion, 1, 2fs.
}
(o) Hall, 742 .
(d) \(I_{i} f_{i}=1,269\).
(c) See Moore, Int. Irb. iv. 3791.
(iii THE QUESTION OF THE CSEAND DENTRU(TTON゙ OF TELE(iRAPH C.IBLES.

\section*{THE CLAIM OF THE BRITISH EASTERN EXTENSION TELEGRAPH COMPANY AGAINST THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT FOR DAMAGES AND LOSSES ARISING OUT OF THE CUTTING OF ITS CABLE AT MANILLA IN 1899.}
[1900: Thr Official Opinions of the Ittornerwleneral of the Enited States, xxii.. pp. 315. 65. 4.

Case. In 1899, during war betwen the Lnited state- and Spain, and in the coure of the naval operations in the Philippines. a submarine cable belonging to the clamant company, whith wonneeted Hong Kong with the Philippise istands. Wa- wh ley the officer in command of the United States forron within the territorial waters of the enemy. A clain for indumity was subsequently preferred against the United States (iovernment: but in the re-ult this was refused, in accordmee with the opinion given below.

Opinion. The opinion of the United state Ittomer(ieneral ( \(a\) was, in effect, as follows: After refermin to an opinion previously given by English counsel favourable to the validity of a demand for indemmity to the extent of the amount expended on the repair of the cable the Attomer-(rineral observed that, in the light of such opinion. he under:suod that the claim wa- limited to the amount there referred to: that it was \(n o t\) drnied that the calle was cut as a newsary meanare of war: and that it was not pretended that the intermpetion of traflic in the dirmmetanco wisting at Manilla qateres to and chaim for indemity. The soverning rule appeared to be that the properts of mutral- permanntly situated within the torritory of the chemy was, from ts situation alone, liable to daname from the lawful operations of war. which this cuttine wa- conced at to have been. and that no compernation was dne themefor. It was said, however, that this rule had never been applied to cables: that the whole utility of a cable over many miles was as much destroyed by cutting it in territorial waters as by cutting it on the high seas, which last, it was said, would undonhtedly entitle the owners fo compensation; and, firther, that the object of the Lnited states Admiral was not merely to prevent the use of the cable by the enemy but also to use it himself. But in fact the ruld above referred to took no account of the character of the property, but only of its location : and no necount of any motives either of the owner or of the militury anthorities whose action was in question. Nor was the application of this rule affected by the supposed extension of the injury beyond territorial waters. for the injury was in fact local and repairable: although, even if it were otherwise. it did not appear that this would alter the rights of the belligerent* ( ( ) To say that the American Admiral desired to use the cable himsolf was merely to attribute to him a motive in addition to one which justilied his act-which would not in any way diminish his right to cut it. Nor, seeing that he did not use it, could it give rise to any different rule as to compensation. Fpon the las of this case, therefore there appeared to bo no ground for the elaim to indemitr ' 6 ).

Appennel Note-Both this and-imilar claims were rejected on the sround that the cutting of a cable whin the terrionial waters of an cmemy wa- a lawful act of war, and that a mentral by placing his properfy in that sithation mast he deened to take the risks of war and of all lawful act-incidental thereto(d). Now was the application of this rule hed to be affeded hy any suppened of real water--ion of the injur herond the limit of tervitorial waters. The general rulds sereming the the and destruction of both land and submarine telegraphe will be fon-idered in a subserpent seetionsed.

\footnotetext{
(h) such, at any rate, appears to hor the rifeer of the latere part of the upiaion at p. 317.
(1,) I claim for compensation was submedrently submitted to Congress, hut at the end of 1911 no determination had bewn reached: although the. matter may (onceival)? be dealt with in the agreement between (ireat Dritain and the Enited States for the settlement of varions permiary clams outstandine between the two (iowrenmonts.
}

\title{
iv) COMPENSATION TO NEUTRALS EX GRATI \(\hat{A}\). \\ THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN DEPORTATION COMMISSION.
}
|1901; Jritish and Foreign State Papers, vol. xeriv.. 64.5: The Times New paper. 10th May. 1901. it sinq. J

Circumstances leading to Appointment. In 1900. during the South African war, the British military athorities were greatly cmbarrassed by the presence in the territory then under oceupation of a number of alicns of doubtfut character. whose lose of employment and antagonism to the British proved a source of much disorder and no little danger. After the discover? at Johamesurg of a plot having lor its object thr murder of Britinh officers, a considerable number of persons of foreign nationalits. whose ('onsuls could not rouch for their conduct and respectabilits. were summarily arrested both at Johamesburg and other places, and thereafter deported. These persons were sent back on British transports: whilst on their arrival in the Enited Kingulom ther were met by agents of the British Gowermment, who provided them with the means of readhing their own countries. and at the sam time informed them that all claims marle in respert of their treatment must be made through their reepective (rovimments. In the result, claims. amounting in the aggrecate to about 21.2 .50 .000 , were preferred by rarious Powers on \(b\) half of their respective subjects.

The Appointment and Proceedings of the Commission. In April. 1901, the British (Fovernment appointed a Commission to inquire into and report on claime for ommemertion made hy friendly Powers on behalf of their subjects her reason of their treatment hy the British military anthorities in routh Ifrica. The (ommiswion mot on the \(1 \times t\) Mar, 1901 , and continued its inquiry " motil lat" in the same rear: but owing to the fact of an amicable armorment having been meanwhile rearhed. it did not isour any dinal report. Neverthemes. in the morse of its proceedings, which were attended by representatives both of the British and other Covernments, the Commission gave certain rulings and adopted certain conclusions on questions of principl", which apper to have served largety as the basis of the settlement subsequently arrived at. Of these the more important are the following: I It tho outset it was ascumed as a guiding prineiphe, that a general commanding an army in the field has an absolute right during the continuance of hostilities to remove or expel from any place within the theatre of the war all persons whose continued presence is considered by him to be dangerous, prejudicial, or inconvenient; this being regarded only as a particular application under eircumstances of special emergeney of the right posesesed by ewrer state to expel aliens whose presence may be considered inimical to its safety \(b\) ). For this reason the Commission also assumed that its proper function in the enguiry committed to it, was merely to ascertain whether this power of expulsion had in any case been attended by the infliction of unnecessary hardship (c) ¿ It was consequently ruled that, for the purposes of the emquiry, no one was to be regarded as having a "legal" claim. It the same tim" the Commission stated that it was prepared to deal with any case in which it was proved that the chamant had been deported without reasonable eause, as being on the footing of a legat claim: and, further, that even the reasonableness of the deporation would not necessarily debar a claimant from compensation where it was shown that he had suffered Emmensary hardkhip d. (a) The seope of the empuiry was hedd to be confined to direct damages, all chams for indirect or consefuential danages being rejectend e. 4 . All clams on the part of forcigners who had been admitted as hurghers of the Republies were disallowed, notwithstanding tha conmention put forward he (icrmany that a man mioht hecome a burgher and ret retain his (inman hational charater f i. The clame of nentrate who had angered in hotilitien amand the British, whether personally. If a incidnt to the ir mployment, were also disallowed ( \(g\).

\footnotetext{
(b) See vol. i, 203.
(a) The Times, 10th, 14th May.
(d) Mrid.. 15th May.
, Ibid.. lith Ineru-t.
}
(f) Ibid., 15th May; 24th July; \(30 t h\) July.
(i) Ibid., 31st July; 27th Auru-t.

Settlement.] On this basis the Commission proceeded to investigate and adjudicate on a large number of claims, until, in Oetober, any further exerrise of its functions was rendered minecessary by the settement previonsly referred to \((h)\). By this a lump sum was agreed to be paid to each of the Powers conerned in respect of the elaims of its nationals, and was areepted by then in full discharge thereof (i); the distribution as between individual claimants being left to the diseretion of the P'ower to which the: belonged. The total number of claimants was \(1,6: 31\); whilst the amount paid under the settlement was \(\mathfrak{L} 106,9.90<j\).

In general there is, as we have seen, no legal liability incumbent on a belligerent to compensate neutrals residing in memy territory for injury or damage arising out of military operations or other actwarranted by the laws of war. Hene the action of (ireat Britain in this case constitutes a presedent of some importane ; for, athough the award of compensation was expressed to be " of grace." yet it wan accompranied by an admission that loss or ingury might be a ju* subject for compensation if the action that gave rise to it, even though warrantable in law, proved to have been umreasonable as regards any particular individual affected or to have bern attended by special hardship \(\left(h_{2}\right)\). The rulings of the Commission were acopted by the representatives of the British Ciovernment. and do not appear to have been challenged, except on certain minor points ( \(l\) ), by the representatives of other Powers.

Gexern. Notes. The Prosition of Nentrels in reletion to a Belligerent Imader. At the Hawe (omfermen of \(1: 907\) it was proposed by (iemmany (ili) that neutral aliens resident in helligerent ferritery, and not taking part in the wat, should tee exempt from requsitions for servess beamg directly on the war (11): and that nentral property should aton be exempt from contributions, and its seizne on destmetion prohithted exept in ase of necessity and on condition of imdemity: But this proposal to comfor special privilege on mentrals in emme tervitory was resisted by (ireat

```

    (i) Exempt :1* to :1 fow that were sucrialty mesmered.
(j) The Timose 15th November.

```

```

    (7) Is on the question of the claims of naturalized pursons, by (formany; and of those who had cheaged

```

\footnotetext{
in hostilitics. esperially the employees of the Netherlands and South African Railway, by varions Powres.
(m) With the support of switzerland and the l'nited states.
(11) Bxwpt sultary sersion ius peratively ropuiced.
}

Britain and other lowers \((o)\) ，and was ultimately abondoned（ \(p\) ）． Hence，for the present at any rate，neutrals so simated share the liabilities of nationals both in respect of person and property．This being so，a belligerent invader is not responsible for injory or los－ acerning to nentrals from acts done by him in the course of his war－ like operations，mesess such acts were not in fact warmated by the laws and customs of war，or unless in the exereise of them ho unjustly discriminated against the neutral（q）．Nor is a belligerent lesponsible for the unathorized acts of prisate soldiers or mere mataders \((r)\) ．Nevertheless．in practice，claims by or on behalf of neutrals for injury or damage alleged to have been sustained in the conse of warlike operations are not infrequently made：such claim：being usually referred for enquiry or determination to Com－ missions，which have in some cases，althongh rarely，made awards in tavour of the clamants（s）．In the Sontli African war（ireat Britain，as we have seen，went further．and paid compensation to noutrals in respect of acts which were strictly warranted by the laws of war．provided it coukd be shown that the action taken was un－ reasomable or attomed by opecial hardship to the individual．But it still remans to be seen how far this precedent will he followed by other Powers in a like situation．

The I＇osition of Noutruls in relation to the Territorial Power．－－ Claims ber on behalf of nentrals against the territorial Power may relate to hos or injury mistained either（1）through that Power＇s own belligerent action，or（2）through the belligerent action of an in－ rading or insmerectionary fore．In the first case，the international monsibility of the teritorial Power will be governed by the same rules as those of a belligerent invader \((t)\) ．Berond this，of course． a civil hability may attach under the toritorial law as regards property which．whether belonging to subjects or neutrals，has been taken or deliberately destroyed by the military authorities for the purpose of the war（u）．Strictly，clams of the latter kind ought to bo pursued before the civil Courts；but in prantice theses．Too，are often refered－although generally only in eonjunction with other flam：－for enguiry or determination to Commis－ioners appointed by the respective Govermments \((x)\) ．In the second case，the teritorial

\footnotetext{
（o）Sineh as Franee，Rusisia．and dap：an．
（ 1 ）With the exreption of rertain Artirlez，which merely define the lia－ hilitise of montrals in other mespets：

 1！ご，30。

Sue Monre，Lnt．Arb，iv．c．6i．5： Whaton．Jig．ii．冬 295．228．In the waims arising out of the Ameriban （ivil way romponsation was only awarted in thres cator for the
}
destrurtion ot property within the territory of the insurrectionary States： sere lloore，Lut．Lrb．iv．3tis 5.
 nowtrals to participate in comporn－ sation for war losers eranted by the torritorial l＇ower to it own sub－ jocets．sere a catar arivinge ont of the Bremian Revolution．1830．referred to by baty，Int．Law． 97.
（保）See，under the law of the I nited State，Mitrhell v．／Irimon，y（13 How． 115）．
（x）See the case of P＇utcuments II eirs v．Mexico（Muore，Int．Iit．is．3718）．

Power will not in general he responsible, either br municipal or international law, for injury or loss directly caused by an invader, or eren for injury or loss arising from disorders cansed by the invasion, monless it can he shown either that it failed to adopt such reasonable measures of protection as it was bound by public law to extend to citizems and residents; or that in the adoption of such measures it unfairly discriminated against neutrals \((y)\). Nor will the territurial Power Le responsible for loss or injury sustained by the action of insurgents against its authority, if the insurgents were recrognized as befligerent, or if. in default of this, the insmrection assumed such dimensions as th have pased beyond the control of civil anthorities and to require belligerent measures for its suppression (z); although them are intaner in which compensation, even in such caves. hat been made as of grace (a).

The Property of Nom-Resident Neutruls: the lianht of Angury.-A belligerent has also a right to use or destroy nentral property which is ouly temporarily or accidentally within his territory or controh. sulject in this case. however, to proot of military necensity, and 10 the parment of a proper indemmity. This right un the part of a belligernt is sometinm described as a riph of angate (b). This reign- rlamed a right of impressing vesels, whether domestic or forelgh. found within their waters (d), for the purperts of transport in time of war. That such at claim was far from bering musnal may be gathered from the fact that ite pereron was fremently ghamed against by reaty, and than -ubh treaties moninue hown in the 18th century. It is sill reengrized by somp writus: athough parerty temporaly within his por-althomeh smomine known prerogative hot on military neressity: ame may take olfoct on they and under the belligerents control. Its applimation to newn ral presels and the usial terms of indemity late already been dewribed ( \(f\) ) Its application th milway material is mow regulated

Which was referred tu a commiswion appointed under a (convention madr in 186: between thr fonited States and Mrexer. I momber of mase of this kind were alon derided hy the British and Smerican ('bims (om-

(z) see Moure. Int. Arb. i. Gist:

 hility of the tereritorial Powere in the
 .,!. i. 201.
(ii) So the Frend linverment gatw comperacation to the wimime of then (ommunist insurrertion in 187. althoush under mo whigation to do so.

(1.) Itraff Jemised from the ins "noguier of Roman law, under which provincial (indmors examicel a right of impresine manto of tramsport.
(d) Or, areording to ome even on the high sems. althomeh this was probably always irverular.

 - wheme ol andare in mencral. Hall, 7il: Weatlake. ii. 117; Oppernheim, ii. 147 .
by the Hague Convention, No. is of 1907 . Whim provilue (1) that railway material helonging to neutral states or individuals shall not be seized by a belligerent except in the case of and to the extent required \(b_{y y}\) absolute necessity, and shalt in surla wase he sont bark as soon as possible; (2) that a neutral Power shall have a correponding right to retain and nse railway material coming trom the teritory of that helligerent: and (3) that compensation shall be paid on either side in proportion to the material taken and the duration of its nse (g).

The rase of Land und Submarine Telegraphs.-(1) With respect (1) land wompash each belligerent is entitled, within his own terither, the exreise sum control over these, even though owned by nentrals, as may be warranted by the local law, or by the necessities of war (ht. So, in time of war, it is nenal for each of the belligerent (Govermment- to assme control over all lines communicating directly with the chemy teritory, and to exercive a centorship over all messages (i) except such as pasis hetween nentral states and their reprerentatives. This course was followed by the United States in the Spanish-American wat of 1898; and aloo by (ireat Britain in the sumbl Arican war of 1899 , although with some relaxations towards the cut of the war. Nor will any clain to ermpensation ariee in re-pect of such interterence manden this is given by the municipal law. A belliperent in orempation of ememy territory is also entited to take posecosion of all telegraphs and telephones: although if owned by private jersons. whether neutratio or nationals, they must be restored. and compensation arranged for on the conclusion of peace ( \(F\) ). (2) With respect to submarine cahles, the land connections of these are, in time of war, sul,ject to the same rights of user and control. whether on the part of the territorial l'ower or a belligerent invader, as land telegraphs. As regards thove parts that lie ontside territorial waters, the protection of submarine cables is in general provided for by the submarine Telegraph Convention of 1884 (/); hut this Convention expresely declares that ite stipulations "shall not in any way affect the tiberte of action of belligerents " ( m ). The Hague Regulationalso prohilit a belligerent from seizing or destroving cables connocting occupied territory with neutral territory, exept in the cace of abontute necessity and then sulbject to an obligation of restomation and indemnity ( \(n\) ). Berond this there are no vettled rules. The Intitute of International Law. indeed. in 1902, adnpted a series of

\footnotetext{
(y) Şe Irt. 19.
(1) ) Io betwern the mam!ere of the 'J"plegraply (nion (ore vol, i. 18). wertain perwors of user and smapension are "xprosely recognizad hy thes st.
 appear to apply in war ac well as in peace (200. Irt. 8), and to extemel to all forms of telegraphis commmanation within the local jurisdiction.
}
(i) ('ypher messages being genorally forbidden.

(1) Thic is eriven efferot to in Jone lish haw by the Submarine Tolegraple - Iot oft 1ss. at morlified by jo Vict (c. 3.
(II) Ser Irt. 15.
(. H. R. .) 1 .
rembutan on the subject (0) which appear to command a seneral approval except perhap) in one particnlar (p). In the light of these and the somewhat limited practice of reent times. the following con"lusions appear to be warrantable:-11, When a ahble unites nentral orritories it cannot be cat or otherwise interfered with. This is mirersally acknowlederd, and has so far been respecterl in practice. 2 Where a rable unites two parts of the territory of one belligerent, the other helligerent may cut it, either on the high sea or in any other place except neutral waters. So. in the Spanish-American war of 1898 the Ameriran commanders ent various cables connecting diftrent parts of ('uba (q) (3) Where a cable mites the territories of the two belligerents, each is entitled to cut it anywhere except in nentral waters. Ao during the Ruwo-Turkish war of 187 , the cable omnertinge Comstantimple with Odessa was cut by the Turks. But in the spani-h-American war. cable communication between Havana ank Key. West wavallowed to continue subject to military censorship at mither end. (4) When the cable unites the territory of one belligerent with that of a neutral State, the other belligerent may cut it only in the territorial waters of the former: although. according to the mes proposed by the Institute, it may also be cut on the high sea, provided the place at which it is cut lies within the limits of an established horkade (r). In the spanish-American war the American rommanders cut, in the enemy waters, all the cables uniting the enems and neutral countrie- which thes were mable to control: inthding that between Hongkong and Yanilla, and that between Cuha and Jamaica, nearly all of these being the property of neutrals; and this, as we have seen. withont any admission of liability (s). The question of belligerent rights in this comnection is so important that it will probally come under consideration at the next Hasme Conference.

\section*{VATIONAL INDEMNITY FOR W. IR LONSES.}

\section*{THE WAR LOSSES COMPENSATION COMMISSIONS OF THE CAPE COLONY.}
fanlo-1904: (apu of (ioxed Ifope. Votes and Procendings of l'arliament, 1904.

The Appointment of the Commissioners. In July. 1!100. a ('mmmision was appointed by the Govemmont of Cape Colony

\footnotetext{
 - .. xix. 3:3: 1Follaml. Lam= of War.

" 'That rolatime to tha "uttinge of ables connertiner bebtral and bediger fent tarritory on the hisl - - :as within the limit- of an "atabli=hed hlow lader: (s it) wli,h see n. (i,.
}
(y) See Monre, l)ierest, ড 117b.
(i) But on this question there still is murla divarereme of nyinion: sef subjoer Ernerally. W'estlalke, ji. 2a0: Thillipson, Studies in International to make enquiry and report on the damage and lowso alloged to have been sustained by the inhabitants of certain districts in the Colony in conswuence of the events of the war. Various instrustions were issued from time to time, both with respect to the scope of the enpuiry and the methods to be followed'a. The scope of the enguiry, as ultimately aseertained, was limited to direct losses or damage sustamed by the action of the enemy or rebels, or be the military operations of H.M. forces within the colony, or by the administration of martial law there or by the lawles: action of the natives. The work of the first Commission was subseruent? carried on and completed by another Commission, appointed mender the War Lorses Compensation Enquiry Aet, 1904. The fund neresary for defrasing the awards of compensation made by these ('ommissions were provided in part by loans raised under the suthority of statnte ( \(b\) ) and in part by a cubvention granted by the Inperial Government' \(e\).

The Awards made. In all some 17.000 cases, involving claims to the amount of nearly \(\pm 6.500,000\), were dealt with, of which clains to the extent of \(\mathbb{L}^{2}, \pm 00,000\) were allowed by Commis--ioners. Although the procerdings of these Commissions do not disclose any rulines. that touth on matters of principle, yet the fate of such compenation having been granted constitutes a precedent which, if taken in conjunction with other proceedings of a like nature may be said to possess a certain international simnificance ( \(d\) ). It is also noteworthy 1 that under the awards only direct losses were made the subject of compensation: but (D) that, subject to this. all ehims by persons who were bomi fide residents of the colone were wonsidered e \(e\). Amoness other thinge, the Commission found it nemesary to direct atention to the groses exageremtion of losses as a tactor that had to be gatarded (属 That is. as to methox of valuattion in the rater of haidinge fences, mente and furnituro.

\footnotetext{
(b) 'Thr Wiar Loresc (immpencation Jotan - Irti of 1900 and \(19+2.2\).
(..) This contribution amounted to 4500.0000
}

\footnotetext{

(e.) Sre Rejport, 31st Jambary 190.5, \(\therefore 10\left(1!9\left(0.5, \lambda_{1} \mathrm{P}\right.\right.\), 1. i. 23).
(i) Ser Report, Lsth March, 196生.
 - lasin and rawe seam with onte areord for have determined to maky al hage protit out "1' (omperation."
}
measure by recommending criminal procedings in cases where mala fides was clearly proved（ \(g\) ）．

These proceedings，although they touch strictly only on a question of national policy are noteworthy for the reason that they point． when considered in the light of other examples，to the incipient growth of a new usage－attributable to the stupendous waste and destruction cansed by molern war and the consequent need for dis－ tributing its loses over the whole population（h）－which，if it should develop，will not only revive，although in a new form．the carlicr principle of solidarity，hut should also add largely to the existing deterrents as regards war between States．
（ineral Notes．－National Compensation for War Losses．－The direct losses which a war of any magniturle waged under modern conditions entails upon individuals are very great，whilst the indirect loses are likely to be even more considerable．The former are attributable in part to the destruction cansed by the actual opera－ tions of war，which．as we have seen，extend to private as well as public property（ \(j\) ）and for which no compensation is provided： and in part to the lers of contributions，requi－itions and the billet－ ing of troops，which are only the sulject of a partial and provisional indemmity（ \(k\) ）．So．it has been estimated that the direct losses en－ tailed on the French in 1890，in a war which lasted only six months． apart from the indemnity of 5,000 million of franes amounted to some 1,500 millions of francs，of which probably more than half fell on individuals．It is to meet losses such as theses．and for the purpore of ensuring their distribution over the population at harge and atfording relief to individual sufferer，that a police of national indemmity has leeen adrocated（7）．The question of the adoption of －uth a porliey is primarily．of enorse，a national quention．At the same time it is a question often ismeded on he writers on internatimal baw（m）：whilst it has also a（ertain international bearines．in so

\footnotetext{
（！！）S゙e Report．bth May．1！907，．． 13 （1！ 107 ，Inn．II．ii．5）．
（l，）／，f／ッ．Is to a propocod mational indemnity fin maritimo（apturns．©た p．13ヶ．n．（i）．sufiot：and Barclay． equiphornt．stores．roprs．liver stock． and railways athd their matorial． the recerigt，which a bellimoront is regnimed to wive for contribations carry no obligation of indemnits：

}

Whilst，as romards requisitions，the obli－ wation of whtmate parmont aren for supplies in limed is．as wo have seon．
 1．112．
（l）Ilthonerl if the experience of tho south Ifriean（ ©ommicsion is to be reliad ons．wnly a propertion of the sufforers are likely to whtain an ade－

（ 1 It）Is by（irotius and Vattel． far as if generally adopted it might influence in some measure the combuct of war and perhaps add to the existing determents ( \(w\) ). The policy of indemmifying citizens for losses sustained ly insasion aphears to have heen tirst adopted by the French during the Revolutionary wats; althongh owing to lack of funds it was rery imperfectly cambed intuellect. In 181.5 a similar policy was adoped by the (iosermment of the restored monarchy; some \(1 . t 0\) millions of francos having been appropriated to the relief of private losses sustained doring the preceding war. In 1871, again, the French National Assembly toted 100 millions of franes, and somewhat later another 120 millions, ly way of compensation for war losses; extending the brieftio of these grants not merely to eifizens but also to friemdly aliens resident in France. (iermany also gare compensation to hen "Wh sub,jerts who han suffered losees on (ierman sonl: but the right 10 share in this was only extented to resident neutrals on condition of a promise of reciprocal treatment. Fimally, in 190t, the Cape Government, as we hase seen, applied some £2. 400.000 in relief of Wat losses sustained by bont file residents in the Colony, whether nationals or neutrals; whilst the llome (iovermment also provided a fumed of \(\mathscr{E}^{2} .000 .000\) in relief of the lowes su*tamed by British subjects. friemlly foreigners, and natives, residing within the con'tuered territories (o).

Lielief of Inhubitunts of Comquered Territory. - The conguest and annexation of tervitory do not of course involve any legal obligation on the part of the conqueror to answer for losses incorred by itinhabitants ly reason of the war: and this is the position commonly laken up \((p)\). In viow, however, of the fact that the inhabitantins such a case lose all chance of redress at the hands of the Government that has been displaced, and also as a measne of conciliation. such roliet has heen occasionally afforder. So, in 1872, Cremany granterl empensation to its new subjects in Alsare and Lomraine. in mepert of losens sustained by individuals throush bombardments. ahhough it denied this to domiciled alienseq). At the resen of the South Atrican war in 1902 . (Ereat Britain established no los than three separate funds in relief of the various classes of person- who had sulfered war losese in the territory annexed.
 of the 'Terme of suremder \((\boldsymbol{r})\). for the propose of momperiating exhumphers of the late Repubties who harl sustained war foses and for the melief both of revident British suljects. and of otherwho. whether of British extraction or not. lad not taken up arms

In su far. that is, as every indivilual would become, to an even granter pxtent than now, a participant

(i) Iilfict.
(p) Is by (ifrmany in \(1 \times 6 \pm\) in relat tion to Sichterowir-llolatern.
(9) BInntschli. (662.
(i) 'Thr ('onvontion of Viremmime 31 ヶt May, 1902.

military compensation fund, which was intended for the relief of a clas designaterd as "protected burghers," including either exburghers who had been hostile but who had surrendered on the faith of specific promises that their property should be protected, or exharghers who had rendered artive ascistance to the British ( \(t\). These fund- were administered through the agency of various local ('ommisions assisted by the resident magistrate under the supervision of a rentral Judicial Commission. The British Govermment. moreover, not only redeemed all receipts for requisitions letied by the British military anhorities: but it received as evilence of war loses sulfered loy the perwons to whom they were originally given, all receipts given by the enemy Govermment or under it- anthority, as well as certain notes issued by the South African Republic (u). -ubject only to proof of such receipts and notes haring been duly Frued in return for raluable consideration. In addition to this, loans were made to the inhabitants of the conquered territory. which were free of interest for two rears and thereatier repayable by -hall instalments extending over a perind of years with interest at B per cent. ( \(r\) ). But such action, whether praised for its generosity or blamed for it lavi-hness. is searcely likely to constitute a preedent for future imitation.

\section*{PART III.-NEUTRALITY.}

\section*{THE RELATION OF NEUTRALITY.}

\section*{CONTROVERSY BETWEEN RUSSIA AND JAPAN WITH RESPECT TO THE NEUTRALITY OF KOREA IN 1904.}
 A. S. Herdecy. The International haw of biphomacy of the Rusoo-L-ues: S. Takahashi. International Law applied to the Russo-Japanesn War.

Circumstances leading to Controversy. From at bers carly fime the control of Forea had been in dispute bemment (hina and?

\footnotetext{
" Rut daim-of limitos companies of latere tirms, lame arainst the dis-
 - laime for loset, whilat on enmmando, and rlaime by meterls. Wrer expluded. (1) the -ubjut erenerally. -ee Parl.
}

\footnotetext{
 tory of the 11 an ins. S.. vi. 13: lacak. Thi dftermath of War. 23s. 2so.

(. \(\%\) This was stipulated for in than term: of -urrender: but that it was
}

Japan．By the Treaty of Shimonoseki，189．9，（hina abandoned her claim to suzerainty and recognized＂the lull and complete independence and antonomy＂of Korea ：although，in fact，this nerely paved the way for a more effective domination on the part of Japan．Meanwhile，as early as 1885，a new rivalry over Korea had sprung up between Japan and Russia．Notwithstand－ ing some attempts at arrangement in 1896 and 1898 （ \(a\) ，this rivalry increased in intensity as time proceeded，with the result that in 1903 a very serious situation had developed，which was still further accentuated by the dispute over Manchuria（ \(b\) ．As regards Korea，cach party，whilst professing a desire to maintain its integrity，really wished to absorb or control it for strategic and economic purposes（ \(c\) ）．With a view to arriving at an under－ standing，in July，1903，Japan，as we have seen（d．opened negotiations with Russia，but these neqotiations after continuing for some time were linally abandoned，with the result that on the 6 th February，190t，war broke out between the parties（e）．It is material to notice that in these negotiations the position of Korea was one of the main subjects of controversy；and abo that Russia had，even before the outbreak of war，massed troops on the Korean frontier，and is said eren to have passed them into Korean territory（ \(f\) ．

On the Sth February，190t，the Russian cruiser＂Korietz．＂ after an encounter with the scouts of Admiral Urin＇s apradron，took refuge in the Korean harbour of Chemulpo； where there were also lying two other Ruswian resels，the ＂Variag＂and＂Sungari，＂as well as certain ncutral warships， belonging respectively to Great Britain．France，Italy，and the United sitates \(\mathrm{I}_{\mathrm{y}}\) ．On the 9th Fobruary the Japanese Admiral commmicated with the commanders of the neutral war－hips，

\footnotetext{
nut a sop to the encony may ber wathomed from thas fiat that it formed part of a wheme of pepatriation and pared－ombe monthe before：see beak． sia｜lor－hiry 4．5 it ext． －品品 P。

}
－Qumse ot pents．

Hnailitios were actatly coms－ memed on the bith Februmre whilst formal devdarations of war were issued

（f）K゙ee Official Hlistory（lst ed．． jt．i．fo：althumerh this statement is not romeated in tho and ed． advising them that unless the Russian vessels quitted that port he would find himself obliged to attack them there, and inviting the neutral commanders to place their ressels out of reach of possible hostilities. Thereupon the commanders of the British, French, and Italian ressels sent a written protest to Admiral Criu, declaring Chemulpo to be a neutral port and as such exempt from hostilities, in view of which it was claimed that anr attack on vessels lying there would be a riolation of international law. In the result, the "Korietz" and "Variag" put out to sea: but after a short. engagement, in which they were worsted, they were compelled once more to seek refuge in Chemulpo harbour, where they were set on fire and sunk by their crews in order to prevent their falling into the hands of the Japanese \((h)\) : the crews being receired on board the British, French, and Italian ressels \(i\). The reception of these crews by neutral warships threatened to open up a new controversy; but in the result no demand for their surrender was made by Japan \(k\) : and after being retained for some time under control (7), they were, with the acquiescener of the Japanese Govermment, taken to Shanghai and there released on giving their parole to take no further part in the war, official lists of thone rescued by each of the warships being furnished to the Japanese authorities ( \(m\) ).

On the 8th February, Japan also began to disembark troop: on Korean territory. Her warships also captured various Russian merchant ressels in Korean waters, including the " Mukden. the "Rossia," and the "Argun" (n).

On the same date, also, an agreement appears to have bern roncluded between Japan and Korea-exacted no doubt under pressure-by which Japan, whilst undertaking "to guarantee the independence and interrity of Korea and to protect her again-1 the aggressions of a third Power or internal distmbances. virtu-
(h) Ther sumpuri appear: to have bern raptured: Takulia-hi. Thl.
(i) The captain of The Virksbur: profesed his willingress to assist with the wounded, but refused to receive the officers and men on board his ship without an order trom lis Ciovernment: see 'Takaha-hi. 163; ind trentrally: the Otficial Li-tory (and ed.):
pt. i. 42, 43.
(h) Takahashi. 46.5: but see alon Ifohey, 76 : and \()_{\text {Pponheim, ii. 42 }}\).
(7) Probably in deference to IL. ('. No. 2 of 1899, Art. 57: but see nour surn'r. 1. 123.
(im) Takaha-hi, tri.).
(it) Takahathi. 79t: ('nsen. the Russo-Tapanese War, 116, 128.
ally assumed the controt both of her (iovermment and territore: a change of situation which necessarily led to the withdrawal of the Russian Minister ( \(\alpha\) ).

The Controversy. In view of these ownrences, Russia on the 2:nd February adressed a circular Note to the Powers, through her representatives abroad, in which she protested against Japan's action in relation to Korea, as constituting a violation of the customary law of nations. More particularly, it was charged -
1 That before the opening of hostilities Japan had landed her troops in Korea, then an independent state whieh had deelared its intention of maintaining a strict neutrality. (2) That three ditys prior to the declaration of war Japan had made a sudden attack on two Russian warships in the Korean port of Chemulpo; their commanders having been kept in ignorance of the rupture bey the action of Japan in stopping Russian messages over the Danish cable and destrosing the telegraphie communication of th" Korman (iovermment. (3) That Japan had captured certain Russian merchant ressels before the opening of hostilities and whilst lying in neutral waters. (4) That Japan had announced to the Emperor of Korea that that country would henceforth be administered and, if need be, oerupied by Japan. j, Ind, linally: that Japan had forcibly compelted the Russian Minister acredtited to Korea, as an independent State, to quit Korean tmritore. In view of such an illegal assumption of power by Japan, it was announced that Russia would henceforth regard all orders and dedarations iswed in the name of the Korean (iorernment as invalid \(p\) ).

Thur Japanese reply to theer charges was issued on the 2nd Marth, ant was to the following effect:- 1 . With respect to the lamding of troops in Korea, it was rontended that this had taken plaw onts after a state of war existed de furto, "ren though before Hhe fomad dectamion: that the matatemee of the integrite of kiona was one of the objerts of the war: that Russia herself had intu Koren territory \(q\) : and, finally. that the landing of

\footnotetext{

(p) Tukahush, 4: Asakawa, 355.

}

Japanese troops had been made with the consent of the Korean Govermment．（2）With reepect to the charges incident to the attack on the Russian warships at Chemulpo．Japan denied that she had stopped any messages or interfered in any way with the telegraphie communication．For the rest，a state of war existed at the time，and，in riew of Korea＇s consent to the landing of troops． Chemulpo had ceased to be a neutral port，at ans rate，as between the belligerents．（3 With respect to the scizure of Russim mer－ chant，ressels in Korean waters，the legality of such captures was a question to be deeided by the Prize Courts of the（aptors＇ countrer． 4 With respert to the alleged orerthrow of the independence of Korea，this charge was declared to be wholly deroid of foundation．With respect to the alleged expulsion of the Russim Minister from Korea，it was stated that that oflicial had withelrawn of his own free will．although an escort of Japanese soldiers had been furnished for his protection s．

Although this controvers，like the larese dispute of which it formed a part \((t)\) ，was not of a charaver to admit of julicial settle－ ment，it serves nevertheles 10 illustrate certain cosmial feather of the relation of neurality，as well as a variets of nher prints of some internatonal imporance（u）．（1）The main inone was whether the action of Japan in regarl to Koreat constituted a vinlation of the pecomized rules of intermational law．As to thin it is chear that if Korea did at the time ocenpy the position of a neutal state．then the action of Japan was at one a violation of Koman matrality： and a proceeding which．if acquieced in heroras．whth have atforded Rusia a cusus belli against the later．But even if this weres．i：does not appen that the adion of．Japan，in mome the hame of Kiorea－mones inded she hat previonsly pheded herself 10 sepped Korean neutality－would have constituted an ottene in international law．or have aftimed amy（amod of complaint to wher Pownson：for．a far．it camot be said that there is either a right． or eren at duty on the part of any state to remain nemtral \(x^{\circ}\) ）but only that while mentrality in recriguzand of proferent its imedemald
（v）To which Russia subsecpuently replied that seizure bofore a dereara－ tion of war was mere pirary and not defonsible be the extablidment of （．．）Takiahashi．12．．／… Xomwith－ standiner this dimlainer，Ruswia．on the 12th Marhe reftemated her prewious charges：Lakawa．Bio （や）心＂川いました。

（11）Such a the ralidite of agree－ ment－axtorted be presenie：the pror－ printe of the intervention of the bentral commander：：and the treat－ mant of heiligement combatant resemed by mentral：。

ohligations on either side must be duly ohserved．The question of whether that relation exists or not is at botom at question of fate． In the cave mader consideration it seems dear that Kerea did mot． oerapy the position of a nembal state in the ordinary semse of the ferm：for the seaton that whe was meally indepandom．and than －at fact which Rusia had aheady recognized by phacinge her fores on the Kiorean frontier on a war fouting and pascing troops ints kioreall territory（z）．Mereover，it appeate to be dear that what－ （x）may have bern the original intentions of the korean（iovermment． Japan＂dexinge to wedid the role of either conqueror or military orthpant，and with a view 10 legatizing her subsequent proseeding＇s fand previonsly fored on korea，in the guise of a gramanter（a）an atrangment mater which the former virtally asmmed fontrol both of the toritory and govermment of the later，and had thas identified Komer with hemelf in all that related to the war．After this all ques－ tion of the montatity of Korean temitory was necesearily at an emb，That Rusian amomement that she did not regat Korea deprised of the power of free action，was probably decigned to worme hor own fredon of action，as regards treaties and concerion－ in the went of her ultimate snocess（ \(c\) ）（2）The controvers next ＊ugersts a puestion as to the legality of an agremment such as that and pwitial pressure．Such an agrement，however，is．an we hasw topl．not invalidated merely by duress（d）；and，even if we anopt the qualitiation which is sometimes attached，that such agree－ ment：in order to be valid mast not be in sulsersion of the entire imbermbene of the state \(i^{\circ}\) ），the agrement in question done not it maty have had this recult（f）．（3）With rexpect to the protest of the a volatims of her ferritory wodd mot have afforden any canse of complaint to wher neutral Powers，unlon it cither imprilled their ate the merely lomb agento of a state．in ench a rane．justified

\footnotetext{
Which was．as has been said． －：war for Korma and in Kinea，if not with Konea＂：Lawromer War and Aommality．2がロ。

Thas was the arpormont of the （h）Rorea was，in fact．anmexd by

}

Wapan ly a proclamation of the \(30+1\)

```

    (m) Sm wol. i. 319.
    ```

    (a) 入onter of tho intomber attark and mpmertunity of withamwal havine
wise their duty merely to refer the matter for determination to their own Govermment ( \(h\) ) (t) With respect to the action of the neutal warship. in receiving on hoard the crews of the Rossian warwip after the latter had been destroyed. although the right of rescue was perhaps doubtiul at the time, ret boh the reception and the after treatnent of the erews appear to have hern in accordance with the rule- now embodied in the Hague Conrention, No. 10 of \(190^{-}\), Art. 13 (i).
(ifxeral Noter.-The Relation of Neutrality.-. A "neutral State" is one which in a war between other States sides with neither party. In the firs instance. international law contemplater as hetween states only a relation of peace or wat. But unce war exiats between two or more states, then an ancillary relation-that of nentralityurise hetwen each of the belligerents and other states that take no part in the war. In virtue of this a nentral state is. on the one hand, bound to abstain from all interference in the war and to art impartially towards cach of the helligeremte: whilst it is. on the other hand, expmped from the dieect effects of war ( \(i\). And this applies abo to "neutral individual". : who. accorting to one riew, are identified with the "nationals" of States that are them--elves nemtral, whist. aceording to another, they are identified, at any rate for most of the purposes of the war. with persoms resident. and domiciled in such States (ik). It is not mumal ior states that take no prart in the war to iwne a declaration of nontrality: hut. even withont hai every Power will be presmed to bre nentral mones it. dearly manifeste a contrary intention. There is howerer, so far. neither a duty nor eren a richt on the part of any particular state to remain neutral. On the one hamed. any state is at liberty in a war hetween its neighboure to take patt in the strucorio it it chooses: on the other, either belligerent is equally at liberty to treat as hostile a state that wonld otherwise len heutral: the making oi war being so far only a que-tion of policy and justice, which rach state mu-t decide for it-elf. subject to the sanction of intomational opinion. Hence we mas exchade from what is atterwambs said an 10 "neutral territory". such territory as is the onject of contention or the seme of the actual warfare but nome the relation wi nentrality is etablished and remornizent. then the rights and dution incident thereto must he oheserved ith.

 Lawerne. Wiar and Noutrality in the Far East. 7.5-s0.
(hi) Hivin. \(7.51+\mathrm{krq}\).

(i) Wo foner, that is. as ite neutrality -tard

disidual as "a mational" of wurh a State: but fireat Britain has signed under reservation of this Artime: and as to the Anero- Imeriadn ductrine.

(7) Sou. Wretlakr. ii. 161 , 1 … Ophembeim. ii. 316 at sm.
drawn，and even recognized in practice，between different grades and kinds of neutrality．So，nemtrality was treated as beinge either strif＂or＂imperfect＂；and if＂imperfect，＂then as being either impartial，＂where equal privileges were conceded to both helli－ －ombe amecedent encagement to furnish troops or ships，or to allow umber the presem system，the neutral relation，in so far at least acic ohbligations are defined \((0)\) ，is insusceptible of any legal quali－ tiadion．As regards what was ralled＂impartial＂neutrality，no privilege inconsistent with strict neutrality can now be granted to one helligerent under guise of being equally available to the wher．Whils discretionary privileges must be equally granted to ＂r withheld fiom both．As regards＂qualified＂neutrality：un aid or privilege inconsistent with neutrality can now be granted 10 either lelligerent by virtue of any anterior engagement．It is mor foubt true that wwing to the lack of precision in the rules deter－ mininger neutal duty．it wa－formerly possible to observe a neutrality which，alfough not in thorant violation of achmittod uage，was severtheles．＂livomahle＂to one of the helligerents（ \(p\) ）：and further that wheh a favourablo noutrality was sometimes sipulated for by treaty．Bun in principla and now also by reaton of the better defini－ tion of neutral duties \(q\) ，such a position woukd be altogether inde－ Lemsihle．Hence such terme as＂Pavomable，＂or＂henerolent，＂or ＂armed＂nemralit！now powess nuleqal sionificance．At the same time．the relation ni nemtrality is still quite compatible with an attimde of political sympathy fownels om of the parties to the war， －o lomg as the whlowtions incident 10 nentrality are cluly observed in regard to both partie－（ \(\%\) ．＂Permanemt＂neutrality is，as we have senen，as status altachinge to forritory，aml has no conmection with the －nbject winl which we are here concerneds s）．The relation of nentrality insolven certain dight and corre－ponding duties on the patt of hoth helligtrent－amI nentrals．These it will be convenient In treat mater the heal－of ill the riohte of nombal states：（2）the dutise of neutral states：and is）the rights and liabilities of nentral trate．Which．althongh srictly incherded moter the duty of acqui－ fornere and its limits（x）really need to be eonsidered apart．
i．）The rianhls of lemtme s゙tates．The existence of rights －pectally merable to nebtrality is smmotmes denied on the erommd that sum rioht ofually ohtain in time of peace．But eren if this

\footnotetext{
ii）F゙or an instance of this，sef rot．i． 111.
，＂）Sue Oppenhmim，ii．327． a）内ioe f．242，i，ifor． freim，ii．3．5ti．
}
（it）I：by the II．（… No．1：）of 1907：infirn．p．2st．
（ir）（On the subjeet generally，sto Westlake，ii．17s；Wheaton（Dana， ． \(1110.517:\) Phill．iii． 226 re seq．
（s）S゙or vol．i．53， 150 ． consideration \((t)\). From this standpoint, then, the rights of a neutral State are briefly these:-(1) Every such state is entitled to have the integrity of its termitory and territorial waters respected by each of the belligerents, hoth as regards the actual comdect of hostilities. the makine of captures amd the preparation ol atte of war: amd also th prevent or mullifys so far as possible, all att- dune in violat tion thereot. The vindication of this right, in a cate where it hat been violated hy ont helligerent to the prejurdice of the other. is entitled to coant complianee hy eath of the helligerente with such muncipal rexulations a it maty make for the purpose of ensuring the observance ol its neatralit and the perfumance of its international sithoations. even thomgh these may involve restrictions that woukd not be permissible in time of paree \(x\) ) such regulations. although framed with reference to a common standard. vary greanly in different states: but in any (ase their enforcement, if applied equally 10 both partie- camot be considered as hostile or mafriendly (! ! ) (3) A medtal state is aloo entitled 10 maintain anl continut its diplomatic intercomse with other stater incturlase the parties to the war ( \(z=1\) and to sequire that the rommercial intercomof its subjects shall not be restricted except at "ertain pointe warranted hy (enstom or convention ia).

(ii.) The Duties of Veutral Stutes.--Amongst the dutien of nuntral state there is. first: the genemal duty of impartiality. This wa probably the starting-point of the whole of the present sheme of neutral dutios: but as a subsinting uhligation it must now protrath! be interpreted as meaning that all powern exoredeeable hy the neutral in melation to the belligerents. Whether whligatory or di-(retionary ( C , mut le applied without disumination or preference (c). sul, ject to this conmolline principle the duties of

(t : So. a vin)ation of neatral territory in time of war carris not only a riglit hut a duty to exart reparation: the rexulations dowiened to safteruard framerl with special roference to war and rarry powers and pemerliss not otherwiad availablo: whilst 1 lat ordinaty rixhte of States in time of peater are - - b Am.t to many rotriations on (.r) Sire rul. i. 2(i3).

 Mrt. 20: inf,... J. 301t.
(z) Silve for subh mommatary inter-partioular military operations ar me sity: *- vol. i. :30s.
 subjeret grenerally, ()ppenlatim, ii. 3i
 *8ヶ.: Tarlor, tist.
(b) Is in that (:ase bt the admiscion of prizes to neutral prorts.
 Art. 9.
(1) The rabsifteration followed is that sumemed hy lirofessor Lolland. who rasore montral dutios as beingr those ol abstertions preverations and Maritime War at illastrated by pernent coent c." publichend in the pro*endiness of the Reftish deademy of the law of mentrality. hoth in form and - mbitame. sum hamelay Problem? f. xii.

(1) There are rertain act: which a neutral state must itself abstain from doing So, at nembal State mast not fomish either helligermat with troose, mhips, mumtions of war, monter, of inded with anything that may ad him in the wat: nor may it now grant passatge bo hin tronps orer its lemitory (e). And this duty will attath not merely in relation to the publie acto of the state itsedf but also in relation 10 the atets of ito oflicials amd publice servanto \(1 f\) ). (2) Next them are eertain acts which a neutral State is bound to prevent. (g) other prowons, whether neutral or bellimerent, from doing within its theritory or jurisdieqion. So. it is bomel to prevent the enlistment of men of the isule of commissions on behall of either belligermit, the conduct of hostilities. the effecting of captures, the use "it it hariony lor the preparation of acts of war or as a base of opertations. and the de-patch therefrom of resese fitted for was if intamed for the sorvire of either belligerent. The rules and in © arh particular swem form the subject of the matomal baw of acpubsomper as regards ertain atto done hy wher helligerent which insoha an interterence with nemtral persums or nental property that wonld mat heremissible in time of peate so long as thes are eonfined withis: the limits preseribed by eqstom and convention. Some anpert- of this duty have ahrealy been toudhed on: but its mose -ntulivision.

i) Seme ly wat of (xambulde the

". ふ̆ far, at any rafo, as dom dili2ramo wr the virilant exereise of the means it ite disposal will sutfice tor

(i) I 1 order, of rourse to lorins it infor conformity with ther aco Wiow that immonational law is exelu--iblly alaw lotwern states.
 rexpat rexulations: sere, by way oft 16, 17 : and the Deredation of L amdena 1rt-. 17. 161.
ont obstruction to himself or assistance to his enemy on the part of nentrals. And such was no doubt its original basis and scope; although it now appears to have a wider range, and, in some particulans at any rate, to represent a compromise betwern the conflicting interests of helligerents and neutrals which has been reached without requard to the original principle ( \(l\) ). But however this may be, it is Clam that moder the present practice the neutral state, saving its duty of acruiescence in lawful restraints and its right of intervention if these limits are exceeded, has, for the rest, neither duty nor ohligation in the matter: the respon-ibility and risk of such arts restine solely with the neutral individual. and their lestraint and puni-hnent (im) solely with the behigement state. It is sometimes contenden. inderd, that in principle (m) an ohligation of prohibitine three acts on the part of its subjects and others within its territory ought to be impored on the nemtral state itedif o): Lim as this wonld increare largely the reoponsibilities of nembal sater. Would fetter made hy constant innuisition, and womld porbahly leal io much is probably more convenient i \(p\) ).
'oncentions relating to Seutrality. -The law ol neutality, like the law of war, of which it strictly forme a part. is baced in part on chsion and in part on convention (q). With respect to the conrentional part, sone of the Hague Conventions, attheugh primarily operative as between States at war, ret contain provisions that may incilentally affect neutral intereste ir): whilst othem pumport to apply both to bellimerents and neutralois). These have already been referved to ( \(t\), There are howewer, other Conventions which are epecially concerned with neutrality. Theee rumprise: (1) The Hague ('onvention "re-pecting the Kight- and butiss of Neutral Powers and Perwons in War on Land." No. of 1907, which treats of the righte and dutie- of nentral Poners. the intemment of belligerent troops, the care of the woundel in mentral territary, the status of neatral prison*, and the impresoment of railway naterial in land warfare(u) (2) The Haque Convention "respecting the Righte and Duties of Nentral Powers in Maritime War," No. 1:3 of 1swi, which dpal- with a large number of questions previously unsonthed in relation to the right- and duries of nemtals and belligerents in marithe watare, and which may, indeed. low said to constitute itcrlf wat promably the onteoner of
 - ary. : Wiatlatio, ij. I 6 il.
(im) Dlthomerh only in the limited initir.

It order. that i夫, 10 malke the refation immardiately me berwern Stato and なtate.
(0) foror projowtad rexablations ont \(16: 3\).
(10) Sre Mall. T.) rit any.: Hut sion also W!estlakr, ii. liss: and Oppenhrim. ii. 363 rl ary.

(i) Surb ate the Conventions Vos. 1, 7,8 , and 9 of \(1!307\).
(s) Sinh are the ('mmentions Nus. 11 and in of 1907 .

( (t) 'This has been sianed by fortytwo l'owers, hut by lireat Jiritain under rowreation of Imts. 16, 17, and the berimming of a code of neutrality (x). (3) The Dectaration of Lomblon. I909, which is direrted mainly to a settrmont, so far at wa- fond practiable of the rights and liabilities of nemtal trade: inchating the subjerts of blockade, contrabam, manemial service. the destruction of nentral prizes, transfers to the neutral flag, the right of (ontoy, amd compensation for unlawful seizure. This De-- Jaration, althongh signed loy all the States represented at the Naval Conference. has not, indeed, so tat been ratified or accepted by Great Tritain. It the samt time, even if it should remain umratified, it. is likely, in viow both of the uncertainty of the eustomary law on thers suhbects, ant of the intrinsic reasonahleness of the rule which it. ombertios sate on certain points refered to hereafter-to set the stamlatel of immmational action in the future. If, moreover. it should ultmately be adopted by a majority of the leading maritime l'owers, it will probahly have to be areepted in practice even hy Powers that do not ratity it, for the reason that belligerents who act umder it in the fiture will do so umder a elatim of rommons approhation. which it will he diflicnlt for nentrals to qainsay: whilst, with the growth of naval power on all silles, it is prolabole that neutrals would eombine agatust a belligerent who songht to enfore rights seriously at valane with it.

\section*{THE COMMENYEMENT OF NECTRALITY.}

\section*{THE CASE OF THE "KOWSHING."}
[Holland: "Studies in International Law," 12f.]
Case. In July. 189t, the relations between China and Japan wre greatly strained: and in riew of the possiblo outloreak of hostilities, which in fant occurme soon afterwards, China began to despateh troops and militars material to Korea. which was at onee the canse and likely to the the theater of the war. Amonest the transports emplowed for this purpose was the "Kowshing." a British resed hired hy the Chinme (iovermment. On the exth July, the " Kowshing." whilst thus mgated in carrying troope and material of war. was met in Korem waters be the "Naniwa." a erniser belonging to the Japanmen andmon, then emgated in the pursuit of certain (hinese mosels he wheh that squadron hat

\footnotetext{
(1.r) This haw bern winned by thirtynim. Powers but not ly thi I nitad States. and by dreat Britain only under rewervation of Irts. 19 and 23. ore Table. Iply xiv. intar.
}
the＂Xaniwa＂sigmalted the latter to lay to，and a Japanese ofticer was thereupon sent on hoard．On the discorery of the nature of the servier on which the＂Kowshing＂was engaged， the was ordered to follow the＂N＂miwa＂to a Japanese port． The captain and oflicers，who were British，were willing to comply：but the Chinese troops on board refused to allow this， threatening to shoot the officers if any attempt were made to take the wesse！to Japan．Ifter some further parleving the＂Naniwa＂ signalled to those on board the＂Kowshing＂to quit the vessel at once，and soon after opened fire on her and sank hes．Nost of the Europeans on board were resench by the＂Naniwa，＂whilst of the Chinese some were reseucd by a French gemboat．and others succeded in reaching the shore of some nemghouring islands． On the 1st August war between（hina aml Japan was formally declared．The sinking of the＂Kowsing＂provoked much resent－ ment in the United Kingdom：the action of Japan being denomed by some as a violation of international law for which it behoved the British（iovermment to exact both reparation and apology．It was in the course of the discussion that ensued that Professor Holland gave expression to the following opinion，which appears to have influenced，or，at any rate，to have coincided with，the view of the transaction ultimately taken by the Briti－h （iorernment．

Opinion．－This opinion was，in offect，as follows：－In the first plare，a state of war botwern China and Japan witurt at the time． It being common knowledge that war might lrually wommence with a hostile act on one side withont prior declaration＇！／．it followed that in the present care，whether hostilities had provionsly oecurred wh the maintant or not，the acts of the Japanes commander in berarting the＂Kowshing＂and threatming her with violence in ＂ats．at any rate From the enoment when the pee ived the orters timed．Ahe was，and kinw that the was a montral hip momacel in Whip. Were 1 wofold: (1 . Ls an isolated ressel, she was liablo to beretoperl, visited, and taken in for adjudication by a Japaneses Prize ('ourt: whilst if, as was the fact, it was impossible to put a Japanes prize wew on board her, then the Japanese eommander was within his rights in using any amount of force necessary to rompel hor to obey his orders. (2 As one of a flent of transports engaged in carrring reinforcements to the Chinese troops on the mainland she was clearly part of a hostile expedition, or one that might he treated as ho-tile, which the Japanese were entitled, by the use of all nedful force, to prevent from reaching its destination. 'The fores actually employed did not appear to have been in exeess of what might lawfully be used, cither for the arrest of an enemy's noutral transport, or for barring the progress of a hostile expedition. The rescued officers haring also been set at liberts. it did not apperar that there had been any violation of neutral rights, in respect of whith either apology or compensation could be demanded.

Although the obligations and liathition incident to neutrality will not ordinarily accrue motil motice of the war has been received, yet if the nationals of one State engage in the military or naval service of an intending belligerent ther will be liable to be treated as memise and their resels on cogaged will be liable to capture and attack hy the other belligerent, as from the time when war de facto phines, and this eren though the war may commence in some act of fores directed against them or their ressels (a).
 if the wremed rule aheady refored to that notice of the war is a nmenary combition of nontral liability. it was the practice, even Lafore the Hague (onventions. for belligerents, either on or imme-- liately alter the outbreak of war, to issue a manitesto. which served di whe to athere bentrals with notiee and to fix the date as fomm

 Ua- as ohhoatory as an art of conrtosy pould well beibo. But

In Enarlish law, howewer, such ant ennetitute an offerner under the Famizn Emlintment A.t. LATO. A. 4. anles undertaken or continural after actual or constructive notice of the ("mmencement of hoitilitios: see \(r\). ハ'. v. Pelly (IV. N. (1899) 11). (7) Mall, 570 .
aren if no such notice were issued, a nentral State and its subjerts were demed to be bound, if it coukd be shown that there was knowhedge of the war aliunde, or if its existence was a matter of common motoriety (c). The matter is, however, now governed by the Hagne (onvention. No. 3 of 1907 (d). With respect to neutrals thic (onvention frovides that the existence of a state of war ought to lne notified to nentral Powers withont delay, and shall not take cfien in regard to them mutil after the receipt of a notification, ahthong thin nat be given by telegraph; suljom, newertheless. to the provia, that absene of notitication shall not arail if it can be proved beyond question that the neutral was a ware of the existences of atath of war (e). This rule is to apply an bet ween a belligerent and any nentral states that are parties to the (onvention (f). To this extent the Convention tmms what vas hefore a rerpirement of comity ints a legal obligation, although withon relaning the eather lialility in raves of actual knowledge(g). Nor would it affect the liability of vessels engaged like the Forsthing. in the servie of an intending belligerent. In the case of a civil war, the liabilities of neutrals as such will commence as from the time when a status of belligerency in its international sense ( \(h\) ) is extablished (i). Prios to this. and in a cave where the struggle is betwen a rerognized State and a community or body in insurrection against it. them is strictly no state of war, and no relation of nemmality with its attendant duties and liabilitios; even though other Stane may bo bond -ats by a duty incident atoo to the relation of prace- not to allow aid to be afforded by their subjert- to rebels agamst a frimedly Power and even though this may be enforeded muldor the mational neutrality law ( \(k\) ).

\title{
NEITRAL TERRITORY \\ 'i. ITA' INVIOLABILITY' \\ \\ THE "TWEE GEBROEDER."
} \\ \\ THE "TWEE GEBROEDER."
}

\author{
|1800: 3 (. Roh. \(162 . \mid\)
}

Case. During war butwen (ireat Britain aml Holland foul (r. Sue Wratlake, ii. 27. 2s: and

(r) Mrt, ㄹ.
(f) Ait. ?.

(\%) Sere voll. i, siti.
(i) This, as hats berol alpoady printery ont. will arion if rither the heiligeremery of a rebel (iowremment is refornizad by neutrals. or if the legitimate (forermment a-mmen to adopt measures affertingernombals which arto only permisible in interrational war: see 1. 11. mproct.
(k) In Burlia! law. sue The Ciel-Proll! (II. N. 1549 11 : antl. on the frantion gemerally, laall. 31. n.: Wistby hoats sont out from H. M. ship, "LiEspiegle," which was then lyme in the Eastem Eemes, off the const of Prussia. A maim for reatitution? was madn he the (onsul for Prusia bey diemetion of his Mindere, on the erotmed that the caphere had been made within the limito of Pruscian territor? It appeared that the phace where the warhip was ! yime was, at the most, there mites from East Frimaml, and was, in lact, at how tide immediately commemod with the land and themefore of be considered as part of it. Under was lyine within limits in which all hostite operations were by the law of mations forbidede to be exereised, and imasmuch as the capture although effered bey boats outside those timits, must be demen! to hate origimated with the ship in her then situation. a deere of matitution mas be made. It the same times. in view of the fact that the situation was sufticiently dubions to refleme the damages against them were refused.

Judgment.」 Sir W. Scott, in giving judgnent, after referring (1) the situation of the ressel, laid down that no use of neutral territory Cor the purposes of war was to be permitted. That did not inded apply to remoter uses, such as the procuring of provisions therefrom, which the law of nations miversally tolerated: but no proximate acts of war were in any mamow to be altowed (o) oriminate there. And that a ship) shoud station herself in such ferritory and send out her hoats on hostile enterprises. was an act of hostility much too immediate to be permitted. For supposing wom that a direct hostile was were reguired in order to bring a case within the prohibition of the law of mations, could it he said that ther res act of sending out hoato th olfert a capture was mot an act conld be defemped it might well be said that a ship lying in a meatral station might fire on a rasel lying outside. But no (bIte emold demy that sum an ant would be an hostile act firines (anmon shot amd amblige out armed boats there was ma commencoment from mentral territor?. It was not only direct hostilitien that were so forbiden. but ansthing immodiately connected with hostilitics. So ewan prisoners or boots coukd not be an att was an immediate continnation of ho-tility. Every gornernment was jutilied in interpusing in surfatase: for if the reperet due to ncutral territory was violated by one parte it would soon provke similar treatment from the other. with the rewult that what was neutral ground would soon become the theatre of war.

This cand verves to illustrate not merely the wemeral immmity of nentral teritory from artal hostilitio and the tremnds on which it resk. but also that such territory must not be med by either helljoremt eren as a starting-point for any proximate ar of war. Nentral territury, for this purpera, indule the littoral ara to the extent of three miles from the nearest land as law of nation-'(1). In 18kt, inded. when the ('nited states war--hij) hearsage lay , flit ('herbourge with the oljoet of engaging the Confedrate cruiser Alabama on her quitting that puet, the French (iovermment exprowed ito minillingess to permit an engagement at -uch a distuce from the coast as woult phace the shore within rearh of the gun of the belligerent-: lout the Unimd state (fovernment replim that it dill mot admit any right on the part of France to intomere at a di-tance exeeding thee milo- \(b\). And although in view of the increated range of molern guns it is commonly agreed that this limit need, to be extented, yet this can only be wiven effert to by international agreement on) In the Ino is C . Rol. 373) it was held that the limit of the mareinal -ed for this fundore was to lor reckned from any ncupiable soil (d), so long the fan of a prize having been chaced fom the high and imto nentral "anme pinstif a capture those: the immmity of mantal temrime held that the ant of a war vered in mely pa-mine thengh mentral watre. wen haroth animo orpiondi. was not :a vislation of neutral (11. s.... wol. i. 131. 139. 143: and Plifl. iii. .55.

(b) Monme. Int. Irl). ii. 111 s.

(/ Even thang. at in that case.
 i-late that ham bown formed by thro s!rift at the month of at riser.
(1") Se to the rule of \(\cdot\) hant pur-- uit." stur wol. i. lifig.
of And araint attank alramly luami: Hf. wh. i. F. 1tio: but for a pacible axtm-ion wi this. ere i, i, me

 ＊ph1m

Whare a caphor has heen matle in violation of neutral tervitory，

 matare，Wa－razed hy a l＇mited states warship in Prazilian waters， the Intmi stater Cowsemment，on the exmplaint of Brazil and not－ withotamling that it moned to recognize the Florida as having helligerent rights－abmited the illegatity of the seizure，and monder－ towk to eri hee capotured crew at liberts and to punish those rexpmsible for the ageresion；although the pestoration of the ship herselt was prevented owing to her loss by collicion（h）．A similar dury of restitution will devolve on the Comiss of the＂aptor＂s State if in the rumse of aldmemation，it is proved that the prize was eaptured Within the temitorial waters of a neatral state．I＇nder the British and Amerian prastien restitution in such a wase will only be decreed ＂ither on the empplatin of the nentral stato itwelf（i）．nr on a dis－ a omal of the wathe be the eaphers state he）：lor the reason that eron a captome in nermal watere is not deemerl to bo illegal as hem＂mon momien but this limitamon will mon apply where the math hat low dnited state Comt withont amy dam on the part of かりいいいい。

```

2-2,
Whhumeh a main mave by a un*al will sutfon. if the is -pmejally anthomisal. fint mad,o the foremgn

```

```

akno bo a wowly iltevalle tittal ont

```

＂Maplaint of＂ither the owner or his thastriment．
\％in 1．．．．：Whent．13．5）
Bon Ther Jiligenetion 1 Inods．

 101 \＆siti：suott．bise of sect．： anl lla！l．1517，n．

Smer．Int．Irh．iv．393．）

\section*{(ii) DUTIES INCTDENT THERETO.}

\section*{THE CASE OF THE "GENERAL ARMSTRONG."}
[1851: Moore. Int. Arb. ii. 1071: Ortolan. Diphomatie du la Mer. ii. 300.] Case. On the 26th scoptmber, lelt. during war hotween (ireat Britain and the Cnited states, the "Erneral Armetrong." an American privatere under the command of ('apt. Reid. was lying in the Portuguese hartour of Fayal, in the Azorrs. On the erening of that day a small Bratish squalrnn under Commodore Lloyd aloo put into that jort. Ont the night of the 26 th certain boats from the British muatron approached the "General Armstrong": wher upon thow on board the latter, after hailing the boats and summoning them to hau! off, immediately fired upon them. with the rewalt that two men were killed and sereral wounded. It was alleged her the captain of the privateer that these boats were "well manned and apparently as well armed "; but this was denied by the British commander', who charged the privateer with an unprovoked attark and violation of the neutrality of the port. It was not until after this engagement that any appeal for protection on helalf of the privatere was made to the lowal authorities. The lattw therempon commmicated with the British commander. and protested asainst any resumption of hostilities in a newtral port. In reply ther were informed that ina-much as the "(reneral Armstrong" had bend the first to violate the neutrality of the pert. a single small resen would be told off to take her, but that if hotititie were encomentered from the eatle. then the whole squadron wouk treat the town as hostile. lecordingly. on the following dar. a small hrieg belonging to the Encriah ryuadron took up her powition was the "(imeral Armotrone." and attarked her: with the rewult that the lates was in escaping to the shore 'é. The ['nited state (rovermment sub-
(a) Duringe the enerterement. the reme of thr frivaterer are -tated to (iatinge toltar" wh than win! wara

Wounded: sen llallewli, i. 5ti3, n. The defuree of the privaterer mas also aided by leer countrymen from the shore who fiped on tha ascatlants from the jumtortion of the adjuining rocks.
 berath of duty in altowing the "(ienceal Amstrong" to be on the erommed that the Ameriman resel had hersulf maged in befligerent operations. Ifter mown correspondence the affair was, in le.j. sumbited to the arbitration of the President of the Fromel lapublic, who, in the result, found against the datm.

The Award. 'The awad of the arbitator, after reejting the facte amb alderting more esperially to the doubts which existed as 10 whether the boats tirst lired on be the " (ienesal Armstronge worn frod idnd with arms or ammunition. protede as follows: "(onsiderine that the report of the (iovernor of Fayal proves that the Smeriman aptain did not apply to the Portuguese fionemment for protedion until blood had been shed . . . that the (incremer allime that it was only then that he was inlormed of what was paroing . . that he several times interposed with ('ommonder Llowal with a riow to obtain a mesation of hostilities that the weaknese of the garrison . . . and guns remdered all amod interemtion on his part imposible: ronsideming in this state of things that Capt. Reid. not having applied in tha heriming for the intervention of the neatral repelling an mjut ageression of when he ctatmed to be be the obinct. Han failed to reppect the montrality of the territory:
 whimatien to afforl him protection be any other means than that of : paritio intoremtion: . . from which it tollows that the trmat of her righte of somerignte and in violation of the wombality of her termore and without the local ofliecre toxtion . . : themelome we hate demided and we dechare that the

\footnotetext{
(b) The word ueed is pritcondat.
}
demmity is due by Portugal in consenturne of the lass of the American brig. the privateer 'Gemernl Arm-trong.'

 himelf. intead of trustinge the potal protemion he will fre the chection on the pan of the helligernt: in ofremander where an of -rokine w in whain ciremetanm eren of making matation.

 Thi mow take ons ni seremal forms: (1) If the promeny in question is -ubsmpunt brought within the meutral jurstionion. then the

```

    (~) H1a|, f%0.0
    (d, 心!&% T!, I, ,7! ! !
    vol. i. ]bis: arcl TVine.l ma (i; Whmat.
at :17: simott. fi=

```

```

iii. .ill.
(!, &im}\,\mp@code{lma Whי`at. 3>5). Ther vimuatim?! of nom,- # rality in this ca=& wit-a!! illomel

```

 Tite L. A Ar-ions on thi subj! ct are
 - - \%。
 heins hiswliser on the moutrib: see iin-mblin. ii. 1!+!): Jliz!l. fi? : hut ore would be otherwise it the vessel illegatly captured had previously been commisinned as a pmblie remed (i). (2) If the property in puestion is not hough within the neutal juristiotion, then under the cumomany late, at any rate, the neut ral state whoe thertory has bond sonated will be bomel, at the instane of the aservered bethi-and. Failing vedren hy diphomatio medns. © prosecute the cham ly -ubl whorior methon as may reasomaty be expected from at Fian in it: pritinn li) (:3) Finally -and onecrally if there was at hath of duty on the par of the nematal state in providing pro-moliticed ( \(m\).

\section*{
}

\section*{THE CASE OF ••RYESHITELNI.}

The Seizure. Un the foth of Ingut, 19nt, daring the linso-

```

(l T?aiv wat, lhr hisiv of tha elaim makde by the (nitm& Sitatme meramst

```

```

    |,., &!..||. (`.. No. 1:% wf 1!!0%.
    ```

```

S.... [. B010.:'H| 11
lmi, \. 1. 2!&!.

```
made her the (niter Siatom arainst

 s.... !. But. aml 11.

dering to the Japanese. The Russian commander refused to accept either alternative, and, whilst the discusion wat proceeding, ordered his men to destroy the engines and to fire the magazine, with the result that an explosion trook place which damaged the fore part of the rewel and cansed some casmalties amongst the Japanese \(b\). Horthitie then chsod, in the course of which the "Ryeshitelni" was eaptured hy the Jupanese destroyers and towed out of port. Ireording to the Russian ofiicial report, the "Ryeshitchic" had lowered her flag and been dismanthol hefore she was attacked by the fapmeses; the astion of the Russian commander being attribumel to the fact that he was defenceless and desired to destroy his resel in order to prevent her from faling into the hands of the wemy. I Chinse report, made before the atteck, -tates that the Rasian command re had agreed 10 disable his mgines and to disarm the wost but sorves. at ans rater, to show that the wmmation hom son heren removed from the reaselat the time of attank.

The Justificatory Memorandum issued by the Japanese mad! by Rusin through the Fremon Minitore at Tokro: but thi- Japan matesed to pereme on the epomm that. an hemwan metitution of the captured verots this demand luine also resfused. But in vinw of the gravity of the onvereme fapan draw in offect. as follows: The position omupind iss China in relation to the war was realls anomalon- The war was bunce wated in part, at any rates in and about tervitory hamering to Chima.

 war. but (mber onemlition that Rusei: did the same. Such toritore had amondingly herome eomditimally nentral: but a failure on the part wit Rasia to momply with this endition, and board. "urrying the latter with him.
 place within it, had the eflow of mallifyone thion mombit: The hiand be the arreement of the belligement: : and Japan was ant conarnt that Romian warships should, as the result of here capture and de-truction. The" Ryahitelni," moreoter, was fully analowit fothat of the" Florital d. for the reasom that Brazils far from the wat of war. The" "Rychitelni" wa- also the first that of the " (i,memal Amstrong." Everiomer hal shown that (hima womld take wo aderpate steps to enforee her mentratity an-: :nnl if the "Ry心hitelni," dhen nther and larger Ruswan warhipe migh well have rough hatior in fhefor and have -raplai -tation by Rawia at ('hotion,

3010, i, i, ...

 1, 3.57.

Chima was either unable or unwilhing to fulfil her neutral duties and that loy her default she exposed Japan to serious danger. opens up a new and important que-tim-which may nend to be dealt with in the futne-as to whether suth a riolation of neutral tertitore is under any circmotances legally admimhle. By coment uate indeed, the only excention that is ahmited to the usual immmity of neutral theles: in the wase where a neural Powre has late forsistent charge its neutral oblications and where the ingme threathed les ame immediate bearh is grave and wot othmion remethath. it is conceived that an act of self-redrese on the part of the helligerent Whone intere-t are impughed. cimilar in it chamacter to that which ommed in the caen of the Ryeshitelni. wordd be Jecally admiwible. a- ant altemative to war and on the amalogr ot thon methon- of onfwhith have already bern dearitind \(g\). Vimwed in thi- light and a-suming the Ryeshiterni not to have bond dianmed. the ation of Japran wa bot perhaph withon sme meathe of ju-tiferation even thenche exementine the limit of almited mage h ito temitory repected, and exempt from being mate either the scene of hotilitice or the starting-point of any proximate act of war. On the orher hand. it is bound to inaintain the nomtality of its tertitory, both a regards its own artiom amb the arta of all within it: jur-dictions so far as this can be done by the exmere of reasonable diligence. More partionlarly is ithond (1) to prevent the orcurrence of hostilities or captures within its rerviting of men on the iswe of belligerent commiosions within ite tenitor: ( 3 , to prewat the preparation themon of any hostile the same limit- the monsmumen ontit of vemend- intmand the the

\footnotetext{

 ro. i, i, , : : :3.5.
 11.
}
resards the comblug of hosilities or the makinge of captures within nembal territory．have abrady bem imblated，whilst the wher

 detined and－ripptemomed．

The Itagere romernians：（i．）No．is of 1907．The Consen－ tion＂r－perting neutral Powers and persons in land warfare，＂ whilst not atmmpting to deal with this nater comprehensively，yet dectates or remorde some of the mote important rights and dibliga－ tion－anmonam with nentral tertitory．It aflirms in general the pincople than the terviory of a nentral Power is inviolable（ \(m\) ）． It expmoly forhids at helligerent to move trops．of convors，whether of manition of war or supples，aceos the tertiory of a neutral Poner（a）．It lowhide the erection by a helligerent．within the terri－ tons of an untral Powne of any wirete－n temaphy station，or any apparath－intonded the erve as a means of communication with belli－ ontabland thens be the belligerent before the war for purely mili－ tan！fimporen and mot pervionsty open for the servien of puthic menaresol．It forthels the formation of bodiso of cmbatants，or the opening of recruiting offices，in the interest of cither belligerent． the thty of mohiliting all shch acto，in so far as they are done

 －ingh fon tha pupasi of emering the servie of either of the belli－

\footnotetext{
（．）．Im． 1. Art． 2.
（a）Irt．B，Durine the Tiu＊o Itathomen war．Ran－it extabliched－uth a sataton at（hetoo in Chinve tomi－ tory and thomo kept up commmaic：a－ tion with the heriment forme in Pant Aromer：lawmome Ilar and lina－
```

(i) Irt.4.
(1/) \Itt. %
(a) let. is.
(%) 1r. %
(f) \ri.s.
(0) IMt. %.
1... N.n 1%. '.. No.j of 1807,

```

1mality. った。
}
dition than the train- carrying them wall carry neither personnel nor material of war, and subject to the adoption of such measures of satety and control a may be necessary for that purpose ! ! ) : the provisions of the (renera Convention being also applicable to sick and wommon intmed there \(i=\). The fact of a neutral State repelling. aren low fore attack-on it- neutratity is not to be regarded a- a hontile akiot). Other chapter of the same Convention deal with the duty of intoment as regarts helligerent trons taking refuge in nentral teritury, the treatment of the wounded who may be carried there and the right of belligerent: and neutrals as regard the wizure of mihat material uwned by me party and foumd within lae temtory of the wher (b).
(ii. 1 N. 1:3 of 1907.- The (onvention "repecting the right and dution of nemral Powers in matime war" "also mothoties a number of poricions relating to the interrity of neutral teryitory and the incidontal rioht- and dutios of neutral States. Equally in maritime as in land wartare eath of the hefligerents is declared to bio bount to eerpen the maverign righte of hentral Ponems and to shatain in nentral tertitory or walers from any act which would if knowinds pormitton ly any Power constitute a riolation of its nentralime (o). Any ad of ho-tilite inchating capture wrearch, committel by a helfoement warship in neutral waters is declared a hip hav hen capturel in inentral waters. the nentral state must, if the prize i- still within its jurisdietion. employ such means as it hat at ito lisposal to meane the prize with ite olficers and crew, ant in intern the prize uew (o). If, on the ather hand. the prize dowe not ann within the neutral jurioliction. then the captor's Gowemment mont on the demand of the nentral Powro liberate for the peath that as hetween partios to the Prize font comention

```

y) Art. 14. (1.) Mre. 1.

Irt. 1.% (l) Sre. 2.

") 1rt. 1%. (1) im. 3.

```

```

aml L. hot !at- man on far matimalt:

```

 3. 1.
an muder the carlier latw, or else to appeal direaly to the Imernational Prize (omrt. in the event of that Cond heing emablishat i). But if the nemtal state is not a party to that Convention, hen its righto of opmations agatist the enemy: and in partionlat, to ered there at a means of commmatation with the helligerent fores on land on Folat Bat the mentrality of a state is expresely dectaned not to h. allented ly the mere passage through its tervitorial watens of the semeral law, would a neutral state be waranted in forbidding the patage of waships through ite littoral reas or through strabs constituting a chamel of commaniation lefwern parts of the spen seatol. The ('onvention expescly recognize that a neutral state may allow helligerent waships to emplor its ticensed pilote ( \(p\) ): althomeh in mineiple it would seem that this should be restrieted to the mavionion of its terpitorial waters (q). All restrictions or prohibition imposed by a nental state most be applied importially, sian of it-right- meder the ('onvention is not to be regarded as an watriomlly an he either belligeremts. Other movisions selate in the suply wexpert of instrments of war ( \()\). the fitting out of arming in nentral territory of ships intented for the sersien of either belligerent (ou) and caperially the tratment of helligerent warships and prize in montal ports (r)-all of which will eome mader considemion hereater ill ermenedion with other appets of neumality (a)

```

    (i) Six lI. ('.. N`. 1.% of l907.
    ```

```

    (ow) \l't. .): amd ini,%, p. t.5!!: amd sere also No, j) ot 190%, Arl. :'.
Srt. 10. Turkar. luwover.
-inmed the (omventions -ubjact tor a

```

```

165.
    S.1.ul. i. 11!!.
    ```
(ip) Iit. 11 .
(i) Leare Itisoins, 469.
(i) Irt. 9.

(t) Art*. 6, 7.
(2) Art. S.
( \(\because\) ) Drt. 1:3 rt ser
(!) 'ilhis fonvertion haw been sioned by thirtr-mine States: Great limitain iomed it, although under roservation of ditc. 19 and 23. but has not, so far, ratified it: see Table. 1pp. xiv.

\author{
ノルTES（HF NELTRAL STATES： \\ AB心TEVTノON．
}

\section*{CONTROVERSY BETWEEN DENMARK AND SWEDEN， 1788.}

De Martens，（＇auser（＇alehres．iii．．478：Inumal Romister．1759，292．］ Case．In 1is8，during war between Sweden and Russia，Den－ mark，acting in pursuance of certain prior treaties，and more particularls a treat！of lisl，fumished Russia with troops and ships in aid of her military oper tions aeainst Sweden．Concur－ rently，on the 2：3rd September，1788，Denmark made a declaration to the effect that notwithstanding such aid she－till wom－ilered hereelf to be at peace with Sweden：that such prave would not be interrupted by the defeat of the Danish anxiliaris：and that under these circumstanes it was concerived that swod would have no canse of complaint so long as the uroope and hips sup－ plied did not exceed the number stipulated by traty．To this sweden．on the fith October．1785，mate a momme malamation to the effect that the doctrine put forwad be－Dommork conted not be reconciled with the law of mations or the righte of somerions： and that the swedish（ioremment arcordinely monew it proter rogainst such action：although in order to proment an allusion of blood leftwen the subjerts of the two kingetome ：and having regard to efforts then being mude 10 matom prace．that （rovernment wonld in the circumstanes met sati－tied with the declaration of the Dani－h（rovernment that it hat no hostite views against Siwden．In the result．howeris，and on the throatrmed intervention of other Powre．Demmark firet orthed ins forme to with the eronent of linsia to ahstan from ans furthem amion＂

\footnotetext{
Ahhogh this w：a the main tronrey as to which sme Wotlata，
 ii． \(17 \%\) ．

}

 vew is - till held hy some writers (b): bat since the swerlish protes territory of foress in aid of the Irehdnke Maximilian after his aneptanme of the rown of Mexino-is smmetimes rited as an excrptim io the otherwise uniform observance of this rule; although it mally : ppears to hare been rather in the nature of an allianer or intervention than a heach of nentrality (o). At any rate, under the law an it now ohtains. the farmishing of military aid. in any shape on form. Wy a nemtral govermmont on exther helligerent is wholly forbidden (d).

\section*{THE CASE OF THE SWEDISH WARSHIPS. 1825.}
[De Martens, Causes Célèbres, v. 2.9.]
Case. In ls̊こ. during tho war hetwon Spain and her American futestion were sold to local merchanise: who in their turn reoold thorn 10 an Enghish limm. Before the vosels hatd he n despatehud. it was ascortained that they had bow prordased on hehalf of the (ionemment, although orieinally inclined to upholl the tran-action an buing withinits leazh rieht, merertheles issued instructions

\footnotetext{ ( itme 11:all, in!

 amatrality atul a- an alliam". with
}

\footnotetext{
Haximilian in his inva-ion: ren Whatton, lit. iii, 5.5.
(1i) Sm 11. ('.. Xio. 13 wi 1907. Ire, (5: and, an the subjent eremematly.

}

Swedish Govermment acquiesced, with the result that the proposed sale was fimally abandoned

Sweden. it will be uheerved. had bold the vessel- fome fide and in ignoratere of their nhtmate de-thation: and her subsequent ation in the matter. With it intalieit remegntion of the marerthes of the spanioh commomions. mat probahly he adol to mark the startine-point

 1s- 0 , the Lnited States Ordnance Depanment. ading under a phior reoblution of Congress. sohl fos pubhic ancion a sreat quantity of surflus war material, of which a large propertion b) was purchased hy Franes. then at war with (iemmany ath prail for throush the Firen'll consul. It havinos been alleged that thin womstituted at brearlo of mentral duts. the matter wa-referred for entuiry to a committer of the sunate, which reported in ollect that the eale in puestion inwotrel no vination of the nentral obligation. for the rearen that the immediate purcha-ers were uot the arent-. or wore at any rate French (forermment. It was athed, moreorer. that. even if thes had heen such agents and if the fact hat heen known. it womlid suance of a hational polioy adopted prior to the combntonement of hostilitie- forell war ntaterial cither to then or "ren th the belligerent -overeigns directly: so longe ats this was done in jur-mit wit own interest, and without intent to influmere the -thifurai. Diapito ships or war material, astrong inmpleation will arise having rewart fue-tion eome into the hamk of the other. mole- the nontral (formorwar. It wat in deraremer to these rules that the biriti-h purchars by one of the belligerents. acting themoh ihr medinur

(b) Ind luding some 378,000 muskets and 55 cannor.
seq.
(ar.) Is to the aftert of the H. I'

of private agents (d). Again, durines the Russo-fa]anose war, the Arventine (iowrmment is stated to have broken oll negotiations for the sald of "ertain of it war vessels on diseovering that one of the negotiatore, athoneh purporting to br acting on behali of Turkey, Was ratly arting in the interest of one of the bellioerents (e). Huring the sums war, however, several sessels belonming to the Nomb (iorman hloyd ( \({ }^{\circ}\). and the Hamburso-Ameritan ( 0 . , nome of which were under engagement tos the German (iovermment for service in war. Were sold to Rusia, and thereafter convorted intw armed cruisers. Tho legality of the sate was uphed by the dierman Government a : phely commereial transaction, and Japan does not appear of has mate any protest \((f)\). Nevertheless, it would seem that ther sule 10 a helligerent of vessels which, even though behonging to prisate owners, are umler engagement to the state for servich in wat aml whicla cannot be disposed of withont its ansent, rally constitntes a violation of the rule for the reason that the noutral (forermment. in giving its asent, vitually beromes a party to the sale and henee to the supply to one of the helligerents aif an instrumentality of war (g).
(ifnerni. Notes.- 1 cte which a Neutral state must ilself abstain. from doing. Apart from obligations specially comerted with nentral temitory, which have abrady been consiclered (h). Whe nom:
 (1) It must not give armed assistance to either belligerent. a duty Which is. as we have seen. now insusceptible of quatification (i). (2) It mat not-an the Hatrat (onvention, No. \(1: 3\) of 190 .
 Hatnuer. amd whether directly or indireally with warships, antmuntiton. Wr war matorial of any kind lit: which womld appear (1) hater the ather of making the ohtieration an absolnte ome.

 ohltation to prewont ant suphlos heing furniohed hy its suli-hallienomt of arms. munitume of war. or in eremeral of anything

 (:) Fimally, it mas mot land money for or promota or grananter any

```

\o. 2. 101 10.).
(.) Takkakam-li, tsti.
(f) 'T`akalat-hi. ťs.

```

```

Art. i: lut mod al*o ()pporlueim, ii.
311.
(i) N゙upro, P, 30:3.
(li) Irt. if.

```

```

11. ('.. No. 5 ol 1907. Irt, 7.
(") lli=il. Irt. S: hut as on rom strictions, sme w/f,%%, P. :?9(9.
```

loan on helalf of e cither party the war. Hence, as early an 1789. the Enited State (iovernment, in whming a miswion to the French Republice with a riow to the -ettlement of certain differences then -hbsithg hetwer the two (iovermmenta. intructed its envors that in view of the war then prevaling betwen Geat Britan and France no treaty wan to be purehated hey loan of moner or ofherwise, on stato- (p). But theme is. as we shall - ere, no obligation to prevent -uch lum heme mate he nentral indivituats, so long as they are made purdy a commercial transurtions (q).

The Imty of Impurtiklity. - Nentratity, as regards the puilis artion of a state also imbolves a duty of strict impartiality. Thin envers generally the eqnat treatment of horth parties: and monsist :omen partionlarly. as regards rights and restrictions that are dischetionars \(r\), in affording no richt to one party that is denied to the other, and in imporing no re-triction on one that is not imposed wh the other. And in whll mases the mentral state is mualle bome (1) sem that a like impartiality is observed hy its subjects ( \(s\) )
PREIENTION
- THE ENLSTMENT (OF MEX, ANT) THE ISがEO!

\section*{CONTROVERSY WITH RESPECT TO THE ACTION OF M. GENET, THE FRENCH MINISTER TO THE UNITED STATES 1798.}

Circumstances leading to Controversy. Sum after the outhrowk of war between Great Britain and France in 1793 the
(i) See Ameritan State Papers ii. 211: aml. ant the subjowt wimerally Wiotlake. ii. 175.
4. I.Ni". J. 2157. Ilthmerh in at "ant whare tlye (ablsont of a fioverrmmont is reapired in ondare to lecralize low rai-iner of or furla:tpo wom the
 - blobert- tis furnjern statcs. it wonld

 +ntat אtatr. for the ratarn that in rrivinge its awsunt the linvernment maker itsolf in raforet a patyty for the tran-atraion: -ar Whatake. if. 177.
\((r)\) Such as the riorlst to employ licensed pilote or to deposit prize in noutral morts: orat 11. (... No. \(1: 3\) uf

(*) I- ta thar innfatial enforemonent of reatrinions on 1 he txport or transit ot war matruial and the use of tob-

President of the United itates issued a proclamaion of neutrality, which, amongst of her thinss, prohilited United states eitizens from aiding or abetting hostilitios that were then prosediner between the belligerents. Notwithstanding this proclamation. 11. (imit, the Freneh Minister aucredited to the United Statrs. on amiving at (harlestom, proceeded to issue commissions to United states , itizens: to authonize the litting out privatecrs, which were manned ahmost entirely be American residents: and ako to establish pri\%e conurts in United stites territory. The British Minister thereupon complained to the I'nitel states (iow rmment: expressing lis persuasion that the latter would pogard sucth proeecelings on the part of a foreign State as a violation of ite nentralites, and demanding the restitution of all rosels which had been captured by privatress sailiner under 11. (romit's commisions and bromeht into the Enited statesports. He doaling with thi- demand. that Govemment was embarrased both hy the fact that there existed at the time no legislation in rotmint ol such proceedings, the powers of the executive restines solely on the eommon law as supplemented be the law of nations: and by the fact that under a treaty made with France in \(17 i 8\), durimg the War of Independence. France elaimed the right of fitting out ressels and deposining prizes in the portof the United Stater. Daspite these difficulties the (iovermment expresed its disapproval of the proctices complained of \(a\), and promised the british Minister that in fuatare steps would be taken to prerent them. In pur-uance of this andertaking it informed 1he Frend: (iovermment that reeruiting in United state forritory wa- lowhiddon \% : and notitied M. (iomet that "ther oranting of mititary momisesons within the ©nital states by any other anthority than theip own " was an infringement of their

Sur that, as recarde a complaint if the shi, of ams and war matreral Ay. Imariman bitizens to Fremeh aument (1) tomk up the pexition that it: citizens wope frow to makn and rond sumatiSus and that it could not interfow with mere unmercial transartions.
(7, 1.5!! liay, 179.3.
(c) Sth June, 1793 . This fommonniaation was formally addresied to the ! . S. Minister in F゙rantツ, but at "oly Wa, sent to M. Gienet.

This led to a remonstrance on the part of the French Minister, who claimed, under the treaty of 1758 , a right of arming and enlisting men in United States ports: but this interpretation of the treaty was denied by the United States Govermment, and the recall of M. Genêt was soon afterwards demanded. In a communication made on the 16th August, 1r93, through its Minister in Paris. the United States Government further declared that " the right of raising troops, being one of the rights of sorereignty, and consequently appertaining exclusively to the nation itself, no foreign Power or person can lery men without its consent; and that if the United S'tates have the right to refuse permission to arm ressels and raise men within their ports and territories, ther are bound by the laws of neutrality to exercise it." Acting on this view the Government issued instructions forbidding the furnishing of ans equipment of a nature solely adapted for war, and also forbidding the enlistment within its territory of inhabitants of the Cnited States (d).

Thi emunciation of nentral duty probably went farther than the usage of states at that time requited. Neverthenes. if taken in conjunction with the action that followed. it may be raid to mark the starting-point of the existing rules on the subject. of illegal enlistment and armament in neutral territory: just as at a later time the Llabama dispute and the incidents to which it gave rise may be said to have laid the foundation of the existing rules with respect to illegal shipbuilding. Indirectly, also. it led to the passing of the Cnited States Neutrality Act, 1791, which in it. turn became the foundation of the neutrality legislation which now obtains in both the United Stater and Great Brition. The immediate canse of the Neutrality Act of 1794, however, lay in the diecorery, through the action of the Courts. that the existing luw as regards the enforcement of the dutics to which the Government stool committed was inadequate. In the rase of Ciideon Henfield (Whart. St. Tr. 49), the defendant, who was a Cuited Statoritizen, had enlisted on one of the privateers illegally fitted out hy M. Cenent and hat thereafter taken part in the capture of it Tritish vessel: for thi he was subsequently indicted at the instance of the Govmmont. but was, under the law as it then ohtained anf hener under the only ruting open to the Court. argutted. This arquittal was treated by the French Minister and his frients as entailing on the Cormmment the obloquy of having attempted to enfore measures which the law did not warrant. In consequence of this the President appeated to Congress for special legistation on the subject. This led to the passing of the finst Neutrality Act of 179. which, atter remaining in force for a considerable time, was replared by the Neutrality Act of 1818 (c). This example was not withont, its effect on Great Britain, where there had previously been no true or adequate nentrality laws (f); and led soon afterwards to the passing of the Foreign Enlistment Act of 1819, which was in its tum, although at a much later date, replaced by the Foreign Enlistment Act of 1870 . This legislation has, as we shall see, exerted a marked influenw hoth on international usage and convention ( \(g\) ).

(ienerai Notes.-The Enlistment of Forces in Neutral Territory.
The duty of a neutral state to prohibit the lery of men within its territory for the service of either belligerent, c:ane, as we hare seen, to be fully recognized, even under the customary law \((h)\). In athmance of this, the Hague Convention, No. is of 1907 , now exprow deckares that corps of combatants must not be formed, nor remiting offices opened on the territory of a neutral Power, in the imere-t uf the helligerents \((i)\), and that it is the duty of a noutral Pown to prohibit this ( \(/ \%\) ). A neutral Power will not, however, incur responsibility merely by reason of persons crossince the liontier singly in order to enter the service of a belliserent (l): but it would be expected to prohibit or take precautions asuinst any whe movement on the part of a considerable body of ite suhjects 4 m ). It is somotimes laid down that a belligerent warship may lawlully ship in a neutral port a sufficient number of men to malale her to navigate -ately to a port of her own country ( \(n\) ) ; hat ahthough she may take stores or inn for this purpose. it would semm that any addition to her arew from nentral sonres must now bo manded as illemalio).
```

    ,1 1,1,", p. 37%.
    i. I|fi=!. ]. 371, n.(1).
    * /,imol.J. 343-1: and on thw
    ```

```

of sery.

```

```

    i) Art. 4.
    k: Irt. i.
    ```
(l) Mrt. 6; although even this is ametime forbidden ly municipal law.
(in) This both by impication of lit. (i. and under the customary law: see Taylor, 669.
(i, Še 11:all, 593.
(io) Sice 11. ('.. Xor 13 of 1900 万. lit. 15 .

\section*{(ii) THE ISSUE FROM NELTRAL TERRITORY OF HOsTILE EXPEDITION゙}

\section*{THE TERCEIRA AFFAIR.}
[1830; Hansard. Ň. S. xxiii. 737, xxiv. 126: Phillimore, iii. 247.
Facts. In 182t. Don Pedro. the then King of P'ortugal. having - lected for the crown of Brazil. formally renounced the throne of Portugal in farour of his daughter Donna Maria : men appointed his brother: Don Miguel. to the office of Resent. In 1828. Don Miguel caned himsolf to be proctainmel Kiner. with the result that the country fell into a state of civil war. In the otruggle that ensucd, Great Britain, not withstanding that her interrention was requested both br brazil and by the adherents of Doma Mria, maintained a strict nematrality a rubsequently a large number of Porturuese rafuswne mast of them milita?y men. arrived in England, and thereupon hraun to provid ships and to colle t and orsmize men, an for the purpose of a military expedition. The Britioh (ioverment. surperting that this morement was directed aqainst the Governmont of Portugal with the cognizane of that of Brazil. and romanding thin as a riolation of its nemtralits. sure noties to the Brazilian Minister that the settine forth of such an expelition would mot he permitted: but in roply an asurane: was receis d that both -hips and troops were ahout to procerd to Brazil. In viow of this assurance, four resels, having on hoard \{f.e wfirme and men under the command of General Saldanha. hut mormed and apparently detined for Brazil. wre allowed to low Plomouth. Suborpuently it came to the knowleder of the British Gow rmment that the expedition wa in fort detimel for Threeira'f' : that arms. Which had heen sont on from monlwemp werpataing it at or near Terecira: and that it. real ,hinent was to attempt from thence a remongeet of Portural in the intmot of Dume Maria. Thereupon a -mall nova! furw undw (aptain IV:
(a) In intarvention. indeql. forliriti-h and 1reond - Ihin i- Lnt flit

Wal hrowrht to ant ond hy the Portuerves (iovormment making amends.
(み) 1 Porturrame posersions which had remained loval to Ihoma Maria patched to Terceira, with instructions in prevent the expedition from landing, and to use all neessary fore for that purpose. The expertition under (ieneral Saldanha was not, in fact, orertaken until it had arrimed in Portnguese waters: but in the peonh. and after some display of force by the British commander ere it was prowented from dismbarking, and thercafter, and not withstanding the proteste of its leaders, eseorted back to Europer.

Proceedings in Parliament. The legality of there procerdinge: Was subsequently questioned in the llone of ('ommons, on the eremmd ' 1 that the expedition consisted of marmed merchantmon, maccompanied by any naval forer, and without arms or muntions of war: ? that the actual inferception of the lanting of the experlition at Terceira constituted a violation of the sovereignty of a foreign state : and 3 that the subsequent coercion and exercise of control orer it on the high seas anstituted an ascumption of jurisdiction whith was neither warranted by the nece-sity of the case nor sanctioned by the law of nations. In on similas orounds: whilst its propriety was aloo questioned on the ergomed of ite having been directed aganst the unarmed sul)-fect- of a soveregn whese rights were favourably regarded bey (ireat Britain. In vindimaion of the atton of the Britith (iovernment it was contended I that a warlike expedition had in fart been tited out on Britioh territory: ? that it han been epripped and allowed to lease only under cover of a framdulent promere that it wat deatined lor Brazil: and :3 that (ireat it lion disembarking. even in at harbour of the Quecn of Por-114-al': dominions. In the result the action of the (iovermment lations mosed in the Honse of Common in so far at it atirmod

\footnotetext{
 wav killed atul anotlow wommiod.
}
at a nentral siate (d) wats bound to prevont: and (2) whether (ireat Britain was justitied in interrening at the time and under the circmmstances described. With respect to the former question, it is chear that the prowedings had all the whameristies of a hostile expedition. Ships had been prowided and men rollected and organized in nentral territory. and had subsequently heen tespatched therefrom, with the intention, there formed, of engaging in hostilities agamst a friendly (rovermment: and. although the expedition was butarmed at the time of starting, it appears that the requisite arms were forwarded az merchandize from another port with a view to their subeequent employment by the foreas in question. But apart trom this, and eren if the arms had heen provided locally and after the landing of the expedition, it would none the less seem that the expertition was one which a nentral State wa, homm to use all necessary diligence to prevent and detain. With respect to the second question. howerer, it seems that eren if the expedition wat an illegal one. the interemtion as it actually ocoured was altogether irregular: and that the British Government attempted to remedy the consequences of its previous lack of cantion by proceedings, which involved at one time an infringement of the territorial rights of a foreign Sovereign and at another an illegal asemmption of jurisdiction on the hioh seas (e).
(iextral Notrs.-Mostile Expeditions.-A nentral sitate is bound to prevent the preparation within its termory or jurishlation of ans military expedition or enterprie directed against the territory or Govermment of a friendly Power. The ecientials of such an expedition would appear to be-a collection or combination of men, organized on nentral territory. with some immediate or ultimato provision for their armament \((f)\), undertaken with a view to some proximate act of war against a frimolly Power ( \(g\) ). And this will Jes so eren though the members of such a combination are not. on loaxinge neutral territory suflecently organized or equipped to be able to momere in immediate hotilities (h). Nor will it matter that the comhination was efleceded in small mits. or at diflerent places in the same tomitorre en lomo as it fomm part of ono whome and its members are capable of proximate rombimation: although this may.
(d) For although there was not strictly an international war, both parties were reongnized as belligerent.
(a) I-to rizures beyond territorial watrer:-for horaches of munieipal law, see vol. i. 16i9, and for breaches of neutrality, The Itatu, Moore, Tit.

() The :Hmament itwelf med not be on neutral territory. © lomer as it forms mart of the sheme originally planned there.
(9) Sim Taylor, 679: hut see also Permard. Nenatrality of Cireat Britain during the lmerican ("ivil War. 399. where the essentials givern differ somewhat from those surgereted in the text.
 at 653), althourh this derision was strictly on a question of municipal l:aw.
of course，remder deterion and prool of delinquency more difficult lint the departure from nentral teritory of individuals，even though in considerable numbers and on a belligerent destination，who are wholly unorganized and not acting in combination with each other， will not constitute a hostile expedition．So，when in 1870 ，during the Franco－（ierman war，the Lafayette，a Fremeh stommer，lelt Now lork．having on board some 1,200 consoriptis for the Fremeh army lowether with a large quantity of rifles and eartridges，the Lnitud states（iovermment rightly refused to interfere；holding that the mnarripts were not an organized fore，and that the munitions of wan wore mevely contraband（i）．In any case，moreover，having regard of the fact that the true character of such expeditions is ustally dis－ muined or concealed until they have left neutral territory，the re－ －pmsibility of the reritorial Power would appear to be limited tos （a）where it either was，or by the exercise of reasonable vigilance mioht have become．aware of the illegal use to which it territory wis hemg put（lis）．For nother in this．nor in any other case not mosed by poitive rule．can a nentral state justly be held rospon－ －ihbe for ate done within its territory which only herome noxions by reason of some subseguent combination outside．unles there was at the time sullocont evikence of the contemplated illewality to put the nentral（iovermment on its guard and to justify its interven－ 10！1）

The I＇assage of Tronpse ofer Seutral Territory．Akin to this is the duty of a neutral state to forbll the parage of troops belonging to withor hehliopront through it－hemitory．This rule，although only wradmally wtablished（ \(m\) ）is now rally recomized，both under the （Hatchary law（ \(\quad\) ）and by the lagene Convention，．No．is of Arniml pasatse through her ternitory to horlies of Alsatian conscripts for the Frenel amys，notwith atanding that they were without ams or untomms．Durime the same war Beledim，also．On the protest of F＇tant and atter consulting Creat Britain，cefused to allow Germany （90n to pas her womded acrus Belgian territory．on the eround that thie would have facilitated the pasange into France of efficient tmope．hut this was melly omly a prehute on joining Rusia in the ＂alr：The erant of pa－caco he Porfuçal in 1899．during the South Ahiean war．to the British colonial troope which had heen banded (. 心.(103 [「.S.1032).

```

(i-) ()n the smbjowt gemerally, see

```

```

tion, s*%. 'The dmeriran casos are summarized in Moore. Disest, vii.
& 124日. The question of the fittiner rout and despatch of armend resends is

```

\footnotetext{
now the subjert of speerial rulos，as to which ver p．3tt．infort． （ \(/\) ）Sied Hall，60t of weq．．and．mow，

（m）＇Taylor，669；Hall， 591.
（n）Subject to some oreasional aber－ rations not purporting to rest on any bacis of right．
（0）Irt． 2.
}
cussed ( \(p\) ). The Hague Convention. No. 5 of 1907. now expres. forbids belligerents to move across the territory of a mentral Power either trop- as onnore, whether of muntions of war suppliesul: but at the same time derdares that a nentral stato mat authorion the pazane over its territory of the wounded or sick belonging w either helligrent on condition that the train bringing them what farry neither combatamo nor material of was \(r\).

Asylum in Voutral Territory.- In relation to land warfare. the queation of ardum maty arioe gither at regard helligerent forcen

 (untmary latw the sentral state was under no obligation to receive them. althomeh it was at liberte to do so if it thought fit, on condition of disaming and interning them in such a way as to prevent then from taking any further part in the war: the conditions of their weception being usnally regulated by special Convention. Su. in 1s:1. when the remmant of General Bourtaki- army, comprisine sone 8.,900 men. songht refuee from the enemy her passing acrowthe Swis frontier, they were allowed to remain on condition that they shoukd he disarmed and interned, and that the cost of their maintenance should be defraved by the French foremment on the conclusion of the war (s). As requads individual refurees. umber the costomary law a neutral state was also bound to disarm them and to adopt mestures for preventing them from rejoining their umn foreco t): although in this case the difliculty of detection wa- sreater and the obligation conequently not so uniformly law theve., whether homght inte neutral temtory he their captor or rearhime it almene were deemed in either case to recover their liherty: although the territorial Power was bound to take all reaconalile precantions to prevent then from rejoining their own army ( \(r\) r. In certain particulars, however, the conditionc on which, asylum may he granted are now define.l he the Hage Convention.
 that the mentral state thall intern them if po-silde at a distance fron the theatre of war. keeping them in amp. of eren in fortrecsen or other plame asioned for that purpose. with dionetion. howeres.

 Consention the neatral Power is required on supple them with fome

(p) Son col. i. 111 : and (in the sul)- Taylor. figis.
(q) Irt. \(\because\).
(i) Mrt. 11
(s) These treme havine bern embodien in a Concontion mad, butwern the Frombly commander. bimelal

\footnotetext{
Glimehant and the swis momander.
 (1ppouham, ii. 41.5.
(f) That is. frem nentral territory
(ii) Ske. Oppenhmin. ii. 113.

(il) 1it. 11 .
}
all in idemal expenditure being rembursed to it the the (inermmen prisump of war who exsape into nemal territory, the same 'onomition provides that anemtal Power which reveive them mas fave them at liberty; but if allows them to remain in it. terriong then it may prestribe their place of residence. And the sann rulu 1s applied ato to prisoness of war who are brought into nentral omptory hy a helligerem fore which itself takserefuge there (a) Wommend and sidk belonging to one beltigerent who ate hought imo nental tomitury be the other will wase to to prisoners oll war: but they minat be so granded he the nentral Power as 11) ensure their not taking any futher part in the war (b). A -imilar duty will devolve on the neutral Power with respect to the sick or woundel af either army who may he committed to its (ane (a). The provition of the (ienerat Convention also apply to -ink and woulted interned in neutral teritory ( \(d\) ). The question of : 1 lum in relation to sea warfare will be consilered hereafter \((e)\).

\section*{B.S心民 OF OPERATIONA.}

CONTROVERSY BETWEEN FRANCE AND JAPAN WITH RESPECT TO THE USE OF FRENCH PORTS AND WATERS BY THE RUSSIAN FLEET DURING THE RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR.
 W:ar. 18s 19s.

Voyage of the Russian Fleet to the East. () It the 16ih ()wobror. 1904 , the lirst division of the Baltice Flent. compriving al harge mand of Idminal Rogidstrensks, salent from Liban for Vladivoatock. On the hioth Felmary. 190.), this was followed by a second division. madn up of lea eftective vesuls. under the

( 2 ) 1 rt .12 .
(II) Irt. 13.
(b) Irt. 11 .
w) The terms used are "the other army ": see Art. 11; but the semsn is cancoived to be as stated in the t.x.t.
(d) Int. 15.
 battleships, thres coast defencer shife. and nine cruisers, tomethor with hospital ships, repairing shiph, transprota. and other auxiliaries. having on board some 18.000 men.
ing as it did a sea journer of some 17,000 miles, with the risk of incidental hostilitics, and without the aid of any national port for the procuring of supplies or for refitment or repairs, rendered it necessar? to rely for these purposes either on the hospitality of neutral ports, or on vessels which aecompanied the fleet or were sent to meet it at various stopping places. Admiral Rojdestrensky's flect, after stopping at Cherbourg in Franee, and Vigo in Spain. arrived at Tangier on the 1st Norember. There the fleet again divided: one division under Admiral Focknrsahm proceeding to Madagascar by the Sucz Canal, and coaling at Algiers and Port Said: whilst the other, under Admiral Rojdestrensky, proceeded by the Cape of (iood Hope, coaling at Dakar in French We-t \(I\) frica and at Stwakopmund in German Sonth-West Africa. Thesc divisoms subequently reunited: and thereafter the whole fle t remoined at Nossi-Be in Madagascar, for the purposes of drill and training, from the 5th of January to the 16th of Murch : anchored, indecd, outside the three mile limit, but maintaining nerertheless close communication with the shore, and receiving from there supplies other than coal ( \(b\) ) : a proceeding which gave rise to much dissatisfaction on the part of Japan. On the 10 th Ipril the flect arrived at Kamranh Bay in French Indo-China, where it remained for ten dars, taking supplies of coal and prorisions from colliers and transports, although coal is said also to have been obtained from a depot previouly established by Rawsia near fiaigon ( \(c\) '. In consequence. apparently. of the reprosentations which had neranwhile heen addresed to the French Government by Japan. thu Russian fleet was required to leare Kamranh Bar on the 2?nd Iprill , lut it appears to have remained off the coast, and \(_{\text {and }}\) ewen to have taken up, it, station at Hon-hore Bara a deepwater harbour ahout fifty miles north of Kamranh Bays until the stis of Mar. when it was reinforced by the arrival of the serond squatron under Admiral Nehosatofi. After this it proceeded on its rovage until, on the 2Th Mar. 190.), it was encountered and almost completely destroyed by the Japanese flemt in the Strait: of Tsurhima.

\footnotetext{
h, This wa- furnished by eolliers attarhed to the flect or sent to mert. it.
r) See llerthey. 193.
}

Controversy.? Japan meanwhile made a formal proted to the French (iovernment against the use that had beon made of French territors and waters, and the consequent violation of Fremeh nentrality, by the Rusian fleet in the course of its voyage to the East. More particularly, complaint was made of (1 the treatment acoorded to the fleet in the matter of the coal supplies: ( \(\sim\) the fact that it had been allowed at various places to effect repairs: (3 the use of French waters for strategical purposes, wuch as the junctions of the flect: and, more especially (4) the use of French territory and waters as a base of operations. The Japmese protest concluded by pointing out that although Japan did not ignore the complexity of questions of maritime neutrality or France's predilection for her own particular rules. she nevertheless considered that the aid given to Admiral Rojdestrensky had, owing to defective surveillance, greatly assisted his mission as well as his advent into the Chinese seas. Franee in reply contended in effect - (1) that the Russian Fleet had never used the privilege of coaling at French ports, exept at Algiers, where a small supply was taken by two torpedo boats: \((2\) ) that the repain allowed to be made at Cherbourer and Majunga in Madagrasear were not in exces. of what international practice allowed: 3) that the junctions of the various Russian squadrons had not been effected in French waters; and ( \(t\) that French territory and waters had not been allowed to be used as a base of operations. for the reason that there had been no continuous use. It was further pointed out that it was Admiral Togo's choice of a field of battle that had led to the Russian stay in Fremeh waters. and that if Admiral Togo had decided to meet the Russian fleet in the Red Sea. Japan would have profited be the same advantage as the Ruswans had enjoved: whilst Japan herself had previously made a similar use of neutral watere hoih in the Philippines and the Dutch Indies.

Ther limits within whirh a maritime helligerent mar and netutal

 - lances, as to imblato that tha belligerent is really using the nentral temitory an a "base of operations" aqainst hiv foe. Apply-tail to pereme that, althongh some other nentral ports were reFomed to. there wa* throughout a delibemate oflection of ports in French teritory: and that there was a prolonged use of some ports as well as a repeated the of lifferent porto of the same state. Noreover, even thongh the traming of the erews the shipping of expplies. and the jumetion of the suadrons, may have faken plaee ontside the threemile limit. there an be little kondt that thee operations with and throngh Frenth geritory: whiks it in probaldo that some suphime of coal, at any rate, were irrequarly oltained (e). Without such a wee of Fremioh pemitory, in tact, it is mulikeny that the Rosian fleet would have reached Eastern waters even in that limited stato of pmparation and equipment which it hat attained prior to the batte of Tenshima. The exale limite of neutral daty in this mmention were not, indect, at the date of the we whrembes. sh well dedined as the have since lateome: but, ewem if we make dae allowane for this, the facilities allored to the Rus-ian fleet appear to have gome berond the limit conceled by any neage reasonably comsistent with the oljects of neurality. Nor can the lack of adequate municipal requlations, or defaut on the part of the local authonties. in such a ase. exemph a state from ite intemational recon-ibility Equally inconclusive is the plea put forward that -imitar privileges wonld have been at the disposal of Japan: for. 1. We have seen, no aid of privilege inconsistent with strict neutrality fan lie extended to mo bolligerent on the plea of being equallya aralable to the other ( \(f\) ).
(ibabra Nome The use of Nentral Teritory as a Base of 小emose a plate of a lowal position which in mititary or masal neratomeserves as a perint of departure and moturn. with ishich a enn-if ured for shelter ow cupplics or a renewal of operation* (on). Aus it is in this semee that the term is mone in relation the the question of

\footnotetext{

11) S(ar Moura 「nt. Arb. iv. 1100 :

}
1. iii. 1s. aited 11all, 599. and 'iayfor, 679.
 supite.

 ＇ithe lated stater，Lor instance may be satid to have boen ？uilty

 Heme on mapmoded patte of（＇andata and to retime there when da－ lalled 1 ）． （ii．）In ser 11 arjure．In maritime war，the trme＂hate of operan fion＂！n！u－t．in risw of the peculiar comditions of sea wariare， polmhly harmatled at having a somewhat wider meaning．The Pamt of 11 a－hinmon， \(1871(k)\) ，moviles that belligerents are for－ And：h to u－e neutral porte and waters as a base of operations against

 111 violation oil hai ruln（m）．Some applications of this rule are －utiomontly olsion－lf．for instane，a belligerent crui－er were to takn＂p it－tanion in neutral watris for the parpose of making －Horemt on pasing resels this would constitute an illegal use of whomal tratory．aml，if kowsingly sutiere by the nentral，also a thi－tha wom＂hase of sperations．＂in seat watrate and in relation

 －ofmes sulserpent operation of war：for this woukd remeler a neutral than（pr）．But in maritine war it would seem that nentral tervitory mat he regarded as serving as a have of oporations if a helligerent i－alloned to make a mepeated wee even of rlifterent ports or places in the same country．It this be so．then in use of neutral territory sien llall，ols．n．As to the いと：nazation of filibusteriner expedi－ donk in the I nitod S゙tates agrainst and for diplomatio：disurowoms at peremed to them．Wonre，Digest．

心以，Art．J：and as to the erec－ －an of wireloss tolemraphy apparatus． 2！44．wri＂．
（m）Irt．25．
 Digent．1301．
（0）It diffors from a use of nentrat territory for the preparation of a how－ tilo（9xpedition－althongh num uftan in－ chele the ather－hoth in this resperet． and in so far as it does mot memerarily imolee any tombination of previously di＊unnmerted unit＊．
（IN：Fow an intilnow of suld a won－ and its resomes, which would be permissible if each occasion were considered separately, may become illegal, and may constitute a use of that terifory as a lase of operations, if it can be shown that such a hee was constantly repeated for the purpose of carrying out some particular naval operation (q). If, again, a neuiral state habitnally allows one belligerent to disregard recognized restrietions at regards the use of its ports and the taking of supplies of fuel or provisions, it will be open to the other belligerent io treat these hreadme, when taken together, as evidence of the more serious delingmency of allowing its territory to be uned as a base of operations.

The prohibition of the use of neutral territory as a base of communication by the erection of wireless telegraplyy stations, or any similar apparatus, has already been referred to \((r)\).

\section*{(is, THE CONSTRUCTION ANI) EQUIPMENT OF VESSELS OF WAR IN NEUTRAL TERRITORY.}

\section*{THE GENEVA ARBITRATION AND AWARD.}

11872; Moore, Int. Arb. i. 495-682, iv. 4057-4178; Parl. Papers, N. A., 1872: Papers relating to the Treaty of Washingtom. 1872-3; Wheaton (Iana). 567-580.]

Circumstances leading to Arbitration. Imring the American civil war, the United States Govermment on rarions oecasions made representations to the British Govemment with respect to certain acts of unfriendly or unneutral sonduct alloger to haw been committed by the latter, and also with respect to a variet, of acts alleged to have been committed by persons within it, territory and jurisdiction in volation of its neutrality. The nature and history of these charges, in so far as they concern the recognition by (ireat Britain of the belligereney of the southem Condederacs, have already been wonsidered'a. ()ther charges Which proved to be the main fomedation of the American case in the artatration that follownd, related to the construction and crpuipment in British territory and the tremtment in British ports of erertain vessels, which had carriod on hostilitios in the
(11) As indened onerumed in the iser of Fremed port - by the Baltin Firat. For a provihition, on this erromed, of an otherwise permisible nise of neutral ports, see p. 3.53. infin.
(r) Soल pp. 2999, 301, s"ри品: 11. ('..
 No. 5 of 1907 , Art. 3.
(保 Ser vol. i. 62 en sint. rause of the Confederacy and committed extensive depredabions on American commerce. With respect to these reesels, Mr. Atlams, the United States Minister in London, had on several oceasions brough under the notice of the British (iovernmont fact tending to show that British neutrality was being ahmed by the agents of the Confederacy. More particularly, information had been furnished tending 10 show that ressels already constructed in the United Kingedom were about to be despateded in the service of the ('onfederacy \(b\) ) : that contracts for the construction of similar warships had been placed there throngh the ageney of a Liverpool lirm: and that the latter was arranging a Confederate loan for the purpose of carrying them out \((e\). In some of the cases which were thus brought under its notice the British Govermment intervened with suecess \((d\) : in wher cases it intervened, but met with a rebuff at the hands of the Courts e : whilst in other eases it deemed the evidenee in--uffieient, and either refused to intervent, or failed to intervene in time ( \(f\). Nor did it see its way, at the time, to amend the municipal law on thesesubject., as requested by the Unitad Stater. In April. 186\%, when the war was nearing its dose, these and other alloged violations of neutral duty were made the subjeet of a formal daim for damages on the part of the United states. Thereupon a long correpondence, extending owe sowral years. thaned betwen the two (rovernments. The position taken up by the re-pective parties was in substance as follows: ln support of itschans which came to be known generically an "the Alabama "lams" it was contended be the ["nited states (iovemment 1 that fhe reengation be (exat Britain of the southern Con-

\footnotetext{
1, 1 Le in tha rase of The flutidu.

 in fttorich. v. xillem (? |l. & (". (:3).
1.) This wat in February 1863. S- in the rasw of rertain iron-
 ('i).. Whath wore somod atm mhtimately taksoll oser hy that (issomment. Varions prospotions were atse insti-

}

\footnotetext{
(r) Is in Ifto-firn. v. ぶillom (! 11. ※ C . 431 ) where the detumdant: were pharered. nonder socot. Tof the Forobirn Finlistment Int, 1s19, with with a view to here emplovment against at friendly Power: the dotemdants boiner acipuitud. on trial, madme a ormeli as a madition of liability. whilst. all appliation lor a new triaz was rolncid.

}
federacy had been premature and unwarranted, and had to some extent brought about a state of things which made possible the other illegalities complained of: ᄅ that the measures taken by the British (rovernment to prevent the sailing from British ports of ressels which had been fitted out and equipped there in violation of its neutrality were tardy and feeble, as well as ineffeetual, and that. it was immaterial to the United States whether this arose throush mistake or defect of law or bad faith or incapacity of official:: 3 that Great Britain did not seize or disarm these vessels on their subsequently coming into British ports, as the was entitled to do; ( 4 , that the British Gorermment had refused even to propose any amendments in the neutrality laws after their incfficiency had been proved: (5 that the British Government had neglected or refused to prosecute the agents of the Confederacy who wrow residing in England and openly engaged in illegal practices. erem though abundant evidence of these had been furnished: and ' 6 that by reason of these acts the rebel Government had bern able to maintain an effective naval force for cruising against American commerce. which had found aylum, effected repairs. and received coal and supplies, in British ports. These occurrences, it was said, had not merely wrought great injury to American commerce. but had largely contributed to the prolongation of the rebellion and the co-t of its suppression.

On the part of Great Britain it was contended-- 1 that the recognition of belligerency was at once justifiable and neces--ary 'g: (2 that the British Government had throughout acted in good faith and with reasonable diligence in enforcing its laws for the preservation of neutrality, and that if subordinate officials failed in diligence or capacity in particular cases, their acts or failures being merely incidental to proceedings in themselves proper and effective, the nation at large could not be held respon--ible for their remote consequences: '3 that the British Government did in fact seize and prosecute ressels which were charged with haring been fitted out in riolation of Briti-h nentralitr: but. that it was not bound by the law of nations to seize or refuse thelten to resects that had been subsequmity duly commissioned as armed vessels of a belligerent Govermment; (4 that the neutrality laws had not proved so defective as to satisfy the British Government that they needed amendment or as to justify the United states in charging surh refusal as a want of good faith: ( \(\because\) ) that the British Govermment had judged in good faith and on the advice of competent counsel whether, in the caver suggested, prosecutions should be instituted: (6 that if ressels fitted out and despatched from British territory, even in violation of British uentrality, had escaped without bad faith on the part of the (rovernment, Great Britain was not responsihb for acts of hostility committed by such vessels beyond her jurisdiction, her cluty extending onty to the restoring of prizes i!lcually taken which might subsequently be brought within that furisdiction. On these erround, Great Britain, in the first instance, dectined to entertain any chaim for eompensation.

Other differences of a grave character also existed at the time betwen the two Powers, including those arising out of the North Imerican Fisheries question ( \(h\) ), the navigation of the St. Lawrume and other waters \((i)\), the operation of the then British nationality laws in regard to subjects who had been naturalized in the United States ( \(k\) ), and the San Juan boundary question ( \(l\) ); whilst (ireat Britain, on her part, had elaims against the United States for losses sustained by British subjects during the civil war and hy reason of the Eenian raids on Canada. Hence the relations of the two Powers were for some time gratly strained. In 1866. however, on the accession to office of a new administration ' \(m\) ', the British Goverument cxpressed its willingness to reconsider the question, with the result that a long series of nerotiations wreve entered on with a view to the settlement of both of the " I lahma clame" and other differences. On two occasions appared to have been readhed: but in cark case the agreement. failad in serurn than nemwary rontimation on the part of the Initul state senate ín. In 18\%1, it was proposed he (ireat

\footnotetext{
siee vol. i. 156. Ihid. 116.
1.) 1 に方 190, 195.
() Halleck, i. 173, 464.
(il) With Lord Derby as Prim"
}

Minister and Lord Stanley as Foreign Serretary.
(ii) In the are of the JohnsonClarendon Convention of 1 sis9. the Convention wat -ummarily rejerted in Britain that all questions affecting the relations between the United States and the British possessions in North America should be referred to a Joint High Commission, composed of members nominated by the two Governments, whirh should mest at Washington and treat of or discuss the mode of settling each question. This proposal was accepted by the United States, subject to a condition that the "Alabama claims " should be included in the reference. To this Great Britain assented on condition that the reference should include all claims both of British subjects and United States citizens arising out of the civil war. This, again, was assented to by the United States, with the result that the proposal, as fimally amended, was adopted 'o. A Joint High Commission, consisting of five commissioners nominated by each party, was thereupon appointed, and met at Washington on the 22nd March, 1871. After discussions extending over several weeks, an agreement as to the settlement or mode of settlement to be adopted, in respect of cach of the varions matters in issue betwern the two Powers, was ultimately reached. With respect to the "Alabama claim-". it was originally proposed that the Commission itsolf should make an award of damages; but this being objected to by the British delegates on the ground that it assumed a liability which was not admitted in fact, it was ultimately agreed to refer them to a special tribmal, sul, ject, however: 10 a stipulation, made by the United States and ultimately accepted by (ireat Britain, that the rules be which the arbitrators were to be gnided in their decision should be embotion in the treats. It was on this basis that the Treaty of Whahartom. which was signed on the Sth Mar, 1871, and subsegnently duly ratifiod by both parties, was drawn up. Of thr various other matter: in issue, all claims against either Gorermment arising out of the civil war. other than the " Mabama rlaims." were re-thr: Senate in rironmatanfor that rendiffirult than thery mirlat otherwi-e et spiq.

(o) This mothrof of settlemment, whish wat reatrhed in the fare of un"xampled dittioultipe was really the onteome of at ficiolly arranerement previously eomer to hotwoen Sir John Rorre a ('anadian Minister", whan anted unoflicially on behalf of the British Govermment, and Mr. Hamilton J'ish It is rontained in four diplomatir notes, which Mr. F"ish described "an the official prarticulars of twents monthes serret diplomary ": see Moor* lnt. Arb. i. 332. ferred to a Joint Commission ( \(p\); the Fisheries question was dealt with by the treaty itself \((q)\); the question of the navigation of the St. Lawrence and certain other waters was also dealt with by the treaty ( \(r\) ) ; whilst the San Juan boundary question was referred to the arbitration of the German Emperor ( \(s\) ). Here, however, we are concerned only with thove provisions of the treaty which relate to the "Alabama claims."

The Treaty of Washington and the "Alabama Claims.". It was agreed by the treaty that these elaims should be referred to a tribunal of arbitration, which was to be composed of five members, nominated respectively by the King of Italy, the President of the Swiss Confederation, the Emperor of Brazil, Great Britain, and the United States. This tribunal was to sit at Geneva; the methorls of procedure to be followed being preseribed with some minuteness. The arbitrators in dealing with the matter werm recuired to be guided by the rules embodied in the treaty, in conjunction with such prineiples of international law, not being inconsistent therewith, as might be found applicable thercto. Ther were also recquired to determine, as to each ressel separately, whether (ireat Britain had failed in her duties; and were empowered. if they thought lit, to award a gross sum by way of damages. The award was to be taken as a final settlement of all claim- in dispute it.

The Rules laid down by the Treaty.」 The rules laid down for the suidance of the arbitrators were as follows:- 1 neutral Goremment is bound: 1 To use due diligence to prevent the fitting out arming, or equipping within it jurisdiction of any ressel which it has reasonable ground to believe is intended to cruiso or to carry on war aquinst a Power with which it is at peace. and aloo to use the like diligence to prevent the departure from it: jurisdietion of ans ressel intended to oruise or carrs on war a abow, such versel having been specially adapted, in whole or in part, within such juristliction, to wartike nse. '2 Not to

\footnotetext{
Irte. 12-17 of the Treaty.
(s) Irts. 34-42; and Halliok, i. lete. 1s-2.): and wol. i. 15th. 16.4.

1rte. 2fi-29: and wh. i. 11א.
(t) Arte. 1 - 11 .
}
permit or suffer either helligerent to make use of it- ports or waters as the base of naval operations against the other. or for the purpose of the renewal or augmentation of militar! supplies or arms, or the recruitment of men. 3 To exercise due diligence in its own ports and waters, and, as to all persons within its jurisdiction, to prevent any violation of the foregoing obligutions and duties u. As to these rules. Great Britain declared that, whilst she could not accept them an a correct statement of the principles previously in force. she was, with a view to amicable settlement, willing to accept them as applicable to the subject-matter of the controvers. Both partic. further undertook to observe these rules in their future relations with each other. and also to promote their acceptance by other maritime Powers ( \(x\). .

The Constitution of the Court and General Course of Proceedings. A tribunal was thereupon appointed, consisting of Count Sclopis, nominated by the King of Italy: M. staempHis, by the President of the Swiss Conferteration: the Vicomte d'Itajuba, by the Emperor of Brazil: sir Alexander Cockburu. by the British Covermment: and Mr. (harles Francis . Idams. by the [nited Stater Government. The arbitration was held at (ieneva. and was opened on the 1.5th D )cembin, 1sil: ('ount Sclopis being elected President. In accordance with the stipulations of the treaty cach party presented, in due order: a printed case, a printed comiter case, and thereafter a printed arounent showing the points and reforring to the evideneer redied on. On the 19th June, 189.2, the Court expresed its opinion on the quention of indirect damage, which was arcopted by the United States as determinative'? In the exercise of it, powers the Court ako ordered special argument by the commal of the respective parties in clucidation of fortain prints of law. -uch as the meaning of "due dilitence" and the effer of the i-we of a commis-

n. (z). i, f!n.
ceeded to determine what liability, if any, had been incurred hy (ireat Britain with respect to each of the vessels complained of . On the 2nd Scptember it amounced its determination to award a grows sum by way of damages : and on the 1 thh reptember it made ins fimal decision and award.

The Cases: i Ameridan. The American canc, after an introductory statement. deak firs with the unlriendly course alleged to have been pursued by Great Britain throughout the war, as exemplified in her public action and in the utterances of hor public men; the theory underlying this part of the cave being that "ren though isolated acts or the acts of subordinates might not sullice to tix with responsibility a Government that was otherwiee honesty endearouring to discharge its duty, ret a con"urrence of such acts, if taken in conjunction with proof of distine bias. would sulfice to establish culpability. It next proceed to an exposition of the nature of the duties to which (ireat Britain -as a neutral state and in the actual eiremmetances of the wap- was bound, having regard to the rute laid down by the treaty and the principles of international lan consistent therewith. "Due diligence." it wat contended, meant a diligence. at once proportioned to the dignity and strenoth of the Power that was called on to exereise it, and also commensurate with the emergency or the magnitude of the rexulte of megligence. J. rewards the treament of belligerent vesils in mentral ports. the mon governing the abbitration. Whilst not prohibiting the ordinary righto of hoppitalits. neverthetwo prohibited ans purpon of maval operations: they required, in alfent, that the waed must quit the neutral port without having in any way added to her effertive power of inguring the other belligerent. As retrath the montrumion of waships in neutral tomitory, this was mat th he reqarded as a mere sald of eontrabamed. but as the prequation of :m inatrumentality of war. Now eould the liathits.
 of a momionion be the helligerem (exernment: at ane rate (xamination of the particular mattere in which (ireat Britam had failed in the discharge of her neutral dutien. With respect to these, stres was laid on the mtablishment of Confed rate agencies at rarious immand in various plares in British territory for the purchase of arms and ammunition, the fitting out of vessels, and the financing of the rebellion: all of which. it was alleged. pointed to the establishment by the Confederacy on Britioh woil, of a military department, a naval department, and a treasury. It wa- further alleged that. at the port of Nassau, special facilities had been granted to Confederate agents and denied to the United states \(a\) : and also that excessive hospitality had heen rondered 10 Confederate resels in British ports. in the matter of coal and duration of star. These alleged violations of neutral duty were then traced in the history of the earem of the purticalar cruiscrs whose acts were complained of. Finally the case deals with the question of damages: claming under this head an indemnity, not only for direct losses arising from the destruction of ressels and their cargoes, but also for the cost of pursuit, the lonses sustained by the transfer of Americom shipping to the British flag. the enhanced rates of insurance, the prolomgation of the war. and the increased cost of quelling the rebsllion.

(ii British.. The British ease. after referring to the stope of the arbitration as understood by Great Briain \(b\), proceeds to a vindieation of the action of the Britioh (iovernment by reference both to the order: issued and the meatures actually adopted to secure the observance of its neatrality. The orders isoued had, in fare, been more strineent and wompehensise than these iswed by any other Power : the meanter for the repression of moneutral practices had been vigitant and constant. and sueh :is to provek complaint on the part of the other helligerent. In these intomational ohligetions: and had also hern treated by tho

(a) The I nited Statre (iovernment 4perar- to haw deamed to wablish flagrant borach of montradity, was nerescarily objerrted to hy firmat

\footnotetext{
(3) Secekiner. in fart. to comfine it to verath whose atrto had heern the sub)ject of proviou* diplomatir complaint.
(1.) Siee . \(1+t .-f_{i}, n\). v. silfom, supra, I. 3ミ1. n. (f).
}
respect to the use made of British ports for coaling and other purposes. it was shown that a lar more extensive nee of thes: perts had been made by United states eruisers than by those of the ('onlederary'd. Dealing with the rule of law and the intermational righte and duties applicalle to the situation, it was pointed out that a newtral Power was not bound to prohihit the sate or "xport of article of contraband, or to prohibit supplies or ropairs to belligerent vesols, so long as equal facilitios were allomeded to each belligerent and there was no augmentation of military lores. It had aloo hitherto been the practice to treat. masels specially constructed or adapted to warlike use in neutral territory and found under the neutral flag, as being on the footing of contraband. Moreover, if once a vessel was duly armed and commissioned by a recognized beltigerent she aequired the status of a public ship of war, and was as such exempt from the ordinary law and ordinary proces. To withdraw such excmption, or to assume jurisdiction over such a ressel withont previous notice, would bo to violate a eommon understanding which all nations were hound in good faith to reapect. Tuming to the question of "due diligence." it was pointed out that this meant "the measure of care which any (Govermment was under an international obligation 10 ass for a given purpose" : and that no distinction could be drawn between one Power and another as regards dignity or ability \(e\). In a mase, such as that under consideration, where the meature of diligence could not be precisely detimed, a rongh meanare might ho found in the diligenee which a state wond emplor in matters affecting its own interes., althomgh in practice a lower standurd had bern virmally amepted. Moreover: although the duty of neutrality axited independently of mmicifal law, rat in determining whether dan diligence had bern sereved by a particular (iovmment some requed thould be hat to it, powers under its munieipal law. so loner as these were not ertaringly dodecient. Nor. © loner at the municipal law of a uatral dountry wa- reasomably adequate and carried into offect. combld a belligerent mpuire the neutral (rovernment to overstep that law in a particular case in order to prevent some harm beiner done．With respect to blockade ruming and contraband trade． British subjects had been warned of their risk：：beyond this the Govermment had no power to go：the enforcement of its right： in this respect devolving on the belligerent．In every case to which its attention had been directed the Govermment had acted on the complaint to the full extent of it－legal powers．In other cases it had gone out of its way to aroid anything that might be likely to compromise its neutrality \((f)\) ．The British case then proceeds to a detailed examination of the facts with respect to particular cruisers whose acts were complained of（ \(g\)＇．In con－ clusion，it was denied that there were any grounds upon which to found a claim for indemnity．To establish such a claim，it was not enough to show that a Government had acted on an opinion or a judgment which the tribunal itself might deem questionable． or that there had been defect of judgment or penetration，or －ome delay or lack of the utmost possible promptitude：but it must be shown that there had been a failure to use such care as Governments ordinarily employ in their own domestic concerns． and may reasonably be expected to exert in matters of inter－ national obligation．In any case，moreover，there had been．on the part of the United States，an extraordinary remiseness in the： attempts to capture the vessels whose acts were complained of which had greatly contributed to the results complained of．

The Counter－Cases：i Americtan．The American comnter－ case is rery brief and adds but little in the war of argument．It eriticizes，however，the British exposition of＂due diligence＂as －etting up a standard which would＂fluctuate＂with cach shu－ ceeding（iovermment in the eirenit of the grober：whilst it chal－ lenges the statement that the Britioh neutrality law was more． stringent than that of the United states．be a comparion of sections． propositions on thereulject of mentral duty adraneed by the United

\footnotetext{
（f）IN in the rase of the Anglo－bols． Chinesc tlutilla：Morore Int．Arb．i．
（！1）／ッf，＂．ト．33：＋Nリ．
}

States to prevent their subjects from supplying helligerents with ships adapted to warlike use was not evidenced either by ans foxt book of acknowlederd authority anterior to the rivil war, or by the general practice of mations. I contrast in drawn between the standard of neutral duty sought to be enforced by the L'nited States against (ireat Britain, and that actually obserwed by the United States (iovemment itself in its relations with other States ( \(h\) ). With respert to the shggestion that the Confederacr, in its employment of agents on British territory for the purchase of arms and ammunition of war and for the paying of monies therefor, had virtually been allowed to establish there "a branch of its war department and treasury," it was pointed out that the same might be said of the United states, which at the commencement of the war had made large purchases of arms and military material both in Creat Britain and other European countrie and had paid for the same through their financial agents in: England. The British Government had no power to probibit the raising of a loan such as that contmoplated by the Confederacy. ans more than it conld prohibit subserpiptions on the part of its sabjects to the war loans issued by the United stater. Ls to the alleged excessive hospitality uxtended to the Confederater in British ports. the official returns showed that during the course of the war only ten Confederate vessels had visited British ports, the total mumber of visits being Iwent - five: that repairs had only been offerted on meven, and coal taken on sixteen owarions: and that the regulation limit for stay had bem exveded onl? on sixtern occasions. Ls against this, the total number of visits on the part of United state- versels had been 2.N: repairs had been efferted on thiptern. amd coal taken on forte-dixe oecasions: whilst the limit of stay hat been exeeded on forto-fom orsasions. La the matter of coat a simele United state wod had within six werk- obtamed from there British porn mone thatr twe-thide of the tutal amome obtained he the ('onfederate durine the whole wat. With reare to the athered

\footnotetext{
h) !eference is madn in particular to the expertitions :amanot ('uta and Mexien, and the Fenian raid= on Canala.
}

Confederates, the United States vessels had paid thirtw-four visits to Nassau, and the Confederate vessels only two.

The Indirect Claims.] Alter the presentation of the American case a serious controrersy arose over the jurisdiction of the Court to deal with the indirect claims; these being elaims for losses alleged to have been sustained by the transfer of American shipping, the enhanced rates of assurance, and the prolongation of the whole war. such claims were declared by the British Government to be wholly inadmissible and outside the scope of the arbitration as contemplated by it. At one time it seemed likely that the arbitration would break down on this question: but ultimately an agreement was reached, under which these claims were technically submited, adthough in effect only for the purpose of rejection. On the 19 th June the Court accordingly expressed an opinion that the indirect claims did not "constitute. upon the principles of international law applicable to such cases, a good foundation for an award of compensation or computation of damages between nations . . . even if there wre no disagreement between the two (rovernment- as to the eompeteney of the tribunal to decide thereon." This was accepted by the United States as determinative of the arbitrator's judgment upon the question, and these elaims were aceordingly withdrawn.

Facts and Causes of Complaint with respect to particular Vessels: (i The "Ildbama" and. her Tender. This ressel was built at Liverpool and launched in May, 186\%. She was known as No. 290 , but was eridently intended as a ressel of war. On the ex:3rd June the Lnited states Minister adrised the British Government that the vesel was about to leave with the view of entering the serviee of the Contederace: but it was not unt the 16 th July that the law officers of the (rown advised that there was suflicime mbdenee to warrant her detentions nor was her detention actually directed until the 31st July. Mmnwhile, on the e9th, the vensel herself had sailed, though unarmed. from Liverpool. She prowedod to the hanere, where the was muipped is a vesel of war: her armament. ogether with a mumber of recruits, having been hrought out to her bey two monels that hat alon cleared from British ports. She was then eommissioned as a ('onfederate warship, and thereafter committed a rariety of depredations on American commeree, besides destroying the United states warship "Hatteras." From time to time she put into british ports and was allowed to take coal and to effect repairs; at reyuest for her seizure, as having been fitted out in violation of British neutralits, being refused on the ground that she was protected ber her commission as a public armed vessel of a recognized belligerent. On the 19th June, 1864, she was sunk, after an encounter which took place off Cherbourg, by the United States warship "Kearsage." The main grounds of complaint with respect to this ressel were: (1) that she had been constructed and litted ont and equipped within the jurisdietion of Great Britain, with iutent to cruise against the United states, Great Britain having reazonable ground to believe in such intent, and having failed to use due diligence to prevent its beingearried out: ( \(\sim\) that imasmuch as both the ressel and her armament. were constructed withiu British territory and both subsequently despatched from a British port. the British authoritios having ample notice of these facts, the whole must be regurded as a hosille expedition fitted out in British territory against the United States: (3) that, in the eireumstances of the case, Great Britain was bound to use, but had in fact failed to use. due diligence to prevent her departure from Liverpool or from other British ports which she subsquently visited. It was also contended that the re-ponsibility for the vessel herself carriod responsibility for the acts of her tender. the "Tuscaloosa" \(i\).
(ii) The "Floride" and her Trmders. -This vessel was alon huilt at Liserpool, and was originally known as the "Oreto." She was then pepresented is beinge intonded for the Italian (iownmment, hat was on the 3 ded March. 186? resistered in the name of a private owner. Nhe saited from Liverpool on the at the time matmed, althoush lum littinge and arrangemento wern suitable to a ship of war. She than proceeded to Sasalu, in the Bahamas. Where she wat arrested and proceeded against under the Forrign Enlistment Act, hut ultimately released on the ground, amongst others, that there was no evidence of her having been transferred to a belligerent. According to the American "ase. she was then taken charge of he a (onfedrate officer and proceeded to (rreen Car. in the Bahamas, where she was equipped as a ressel of war, under the name of the "Florida"; her armament, munitions of war and supplies haring been brought to her by another British ressel that had also cleared from Nassau. Sub--equently she proceeded to Mobile, a Confederate port. and issued therefrom as a Confederate cruiser; committing thereafter extensive depredations on American commerce. and being admitted to British ports on the footing of a public ressel. In October, 1864, -he was seized in Brazilian waters by a United States warship, but subsequently lost by collision \(k\). The grounds of complaint in the case of this ressel were: (1) that she was fitted out and equipped within British jurisdiction, and left Liverpool with the intent to cruise against the United States: (2) that she had heen specially adapted to warlike uses within British territory: 3. that Great Britain had reasonable ground for believing in -uch facts and intent: and ' \(f\) ' that Great Britain had failed both to prevent her original departure and to seize her on her re-entry into British ports. It was also contended that the responsibility for the acts of the "Florida" carried responsibility for the acts of three ressels, the "Clarence," the "Tacony," and the " Archer." which had been titted ont and manned, and need her her tenders, and which had also made captures of American ressels.
iii) The "shentandoah." This vesel was originally a British merchantman known as the "Sua King." During the civil war she was purchased by the Confederate authorities, and in October. 186t, left Lirerpool. nominally for Bombar. In fact -he proceeded to Funchal, in Madeira, where she was transtormed into a Confuderate cruiser under the name of the "Shenandoah "; her arms and munitions of war having been brought ont to her he a ressel that had also deared from a British port; whilst some members of her original crew were presuaded to enlist. She sub-
-equenty proceded to Melbourne. (aphuring swar prize on the way. On the oreasion of her puting into Melbourne, on the ?.th Jamary. 1865, the United States Consul bronght the facto under the notice of the authorities and protested against her reception. she was neverthelese remeded as a publie resel, and allowed to effect repaire, and to take supplies and coal. She was also said to have enlisted moruits there( \(l\) ) . Is reqards this vessel the erounds of complaint were: (1) that she had been fitted out and armed in Briti-h territory with intent to curry on war agamst the United states, Great Britain having reasomalle ground to believe this, and having failed to use due diligence to prevent. it: (2) that on coming agalin within British jurisdiction she was not seized but was allowed to depart: (3) that she received rearnits on British territory without due diligence being used to prevent this: and 't that. in being allowed to offeet repairs and take in coal and supplies \(I \cdot I\) ), she was in fact permitted to make British territory a "base of operations."
(iv The " Cicorgia."- The "Georgia" was a British built thip, originally known as the "Japan," but was aequired by the Confederaes. and subequently equipped with arms and ammunition brought from british territory. She proved, howeser, wholly unsuited for purposes of walr, and was subsequently. dismantled, and sold whilst in a British port to a private purhaver. She was afterwards capturel by a Cuited states warship. and was subsequently condemned on the ground that she had been a ('onfederate "ruiser and was therefore incapable of transfer during the war ( \(m\) ) . As regards this vessel, the main grounds of omplaint were: (1) that she hat been illeqally construeted in British ternitory with intent to emis aganst the United States:
?. that she han throweh lack of dur diligence been allowed to lopaet themem: amf (3) that the had bom afterwards receiven in liritioh ports.

\footnotetext{
But. aroording tu the British ase, open rulistment only werned in the rase wi four prombt, all wi Whon were promeded atainta: a writon dowlation wav ako taken from the "aptain that mo additions had been made to hit comw: whist. on the finovery that certain persons had afterwards been secertly put on barad at night, the vessel was refused furthere arereses to british porte.
}
" This refees to the supplites per aised at Mafberme.
(m) Sce The fiporgin it Wall. 32:

( \(\mathbf{v}\) Other Vessels.-Claims were also made in respect of the "Nashville," the "Sumter," the "Retribution." the "Thallahasree:" and the "Chickamauga": as well as in respect of fiv: other ressels. But as to the former group of cases the Court found that there had been no breach of duty on the part of Great Britain: whilst as to the latter it found that there was not sufficient evidence even to warant their consideration.

The Decision and Award: i Basis. -The award, after pointing out that the decision arrived at had been based on the rules laid down by the Treaty of Washington together with such principles of international law not inconsistent therewith as had been found to be applicable by the arbitrators. procceds to lay down several important prineiples of interpretation with respeet to the rules embodied in the treaty.
(ii) Rules of Interpretation.-These were in effect as follow:: (1, That the "due diligence" referred to in the first and third of the said rules ought to be exercised br neutral Governmento in proportion to the risks to which either of the belligerents may be exposed from a failure to fulfil the ohligations of neutralit. on their part. ( \(\sim\), That the cireumstances out of which the facts constituting the subject-matter of the controvers arose were of a nature to call for the exercise on the prart of the British Covernment of all posible solicitude for the observance of the rights and duties involved in the British proclamation of nentrality on the 1:3th May. 1861. (3 That the effects of a violation of neutralit? committed by means of the construction, "ruipment, and armament of a versel are not done away with by any commission which the Goverment of the belligerent benefited by the violation of neturality may altorwards have granted to that ressel. fon the rearon that the ultimate stop by which an offence is completed camout be admitted as a gromed for the aboulution of the offomder. and that a monsammation of his fratud camot be wed by him as a mane of wahtishing his immonere (t That the privilegu of "xterritoriality aroorden to warkips had hem mhattad into the law of nations, not an an ahooluteright, but solely as a promeding fomeded on the principh of rourter and mutnal deherone thetwedi nations, and therefore wan mever be apmealed to for th protection of acts done in violation of neutralits. (.) That the absence of a previous notice cmmot be regarded as a failure in ans consideration recpuied by the law of mations in those caten in which a rosed carrien with it its own condemnation ( \(n\) ). (6 That in order to impart to any supplies of coal a chamater inconsistent with the seenend rute, prohibiting the use of neutral ports or waters as a bave of haval operations. it is necessary that the said supplien should be connected with special circumstances of time, of persons. or of place, which may combine to give them such a character.
(iii I Eecivions with respent to perticuler ('meisers.-(I With respect to the "Alabmana," four of the arbitrators held that Great Britain had faited to fultil the dutios preseribed by the dirs and third rule of the treaty: for the reason (a) that notwithstanding the official warnings and requesentations of the United state (reat Britain had omitted to take effective measures of prevention: b that when orders for the detention of the ressel were issucd ther were isoued too late; (e) that the measures taken for the pursuit and arrest of the resel were imperfect and ineffeetive: (d) that the vess was on several occusions subsequently admitted freely into British colonial ports instead of being proceceded against : and "t that such a failure in due diligence found no justification in the plea of inadequate legal powers. The tifth arbitrator, sir Alexander Cockburn, agreed in the result, but attributed the breech of duty to an unfortunate and unforesem ancident "os.
(?) With respect to the "Florida." four of the arthitrators held that (ireat Britain lad failed to fultil the dutiee preseribed by the same rules: for the remon at that notwithetamling the representations of the Linited stater adequate measures were not taken to prevent her montrmen and original departure from Liverpool: (b) that there had beren a faiture of diligence on the part of the colonial anthoritico as regarde her stay at Nissau. her issue from that port, her motistment of tome her supplis, and here armanent at (ireen (ay' : 'f that she was on seremal oeca-

\footnotetext{
(n) Thin refers to the British argu-
(o) Moore Int. Arb. iv. 1159.
} ment: sere p. 329. suriol.
sions subsequently admitted to British colonial port－：and （d that her acquittal at Xassan did not relieve Great Britain of international responsibility，or her stay at Mobile affect any prior re－ponsibility that had been incurred．
（3）With respect to the＂Shenandoal，＂the arbitrators unani－ mously held that（rreat Britan had not failed in her duty under the rule jrior to that vesel＇s entry into the port of Melbourne； but held，hy a majority，that there had been a failure of duty under the second and third rules of the treaty：as regards the refitment and supplies obtained at that port＇\(p\)＇．
＇4＇With respect to the＂Tuscaloosa＂＇\(q\) ，the＂Clarence，＂ the＂Taconr：＂and the＂Archer＂（ \(r\) ；，the arbitrators unani－ mously held that as tenders they were gorerned by the decisions arrived at with respect to the vessels to which ther acted as ansiliarims
（5）With respect to the＂Retribution，＂three of the arbi－ trators－and with respect to the＂Genreia，＂＂Sumter，＂＂Mash－ ville．＂＂Tallahascee，＂and＂Chickamanea，＂all the arbitrators－ hold that there had been no default．

6）With resuect to the other case it was held umanimonsiy that they hould be exchuded from sonsideration for want of aridence．
iv＂，The Question of Mamayes．－With respect to the question of damage－it was held by three arbitrators that damages in reppert of the cont of the pursuit of the Confed rate cruisers could not be awrarded．inasmuch as such costs were undistinguishable from the seneral expenses of the war．It was held bs all the arbitrators that damages in respect of the prospective earnings of the rusel－destrored conll not properle he made the sulbject of rompensation，for the reason that such earninge were dependent on future ant unertain contingencies．It was ahoo decided that interet shomb be allowed and that it was preferable to award a grose sum hy way of emmenation rather than to refer the mattor

\footnotetext{
（p）（＇ount Brelophe fomul，as a fatt． that a larow mamber of mon had beren enlisted．and．at a mattor of law，that the larese supplirs of anal amountrd to a preparation for athotile＂xpe－
}

\footnotetext{
dition：Noore，Int．Arb．iv．1177； hut－rep．312．＊lfril．
（4，N＂ノル＂1）33：
1：バ＂p＂1．1．334．
}
awarded to the linited states a sum of \($ 15,500,000\) in grold, to be paid by (irnat Britain in full and limat atislaction ol all claims referred to in the treats. The amome so awarded was duly paid over by the Britioh (iovemment to that of the United state in september, 187: 's

This arthathion was in many reapect ansati-factory. The tribunal itwelf wa- not well montinned: twn of the foreign arbitrators beine wholly mamiliar with Enelish. and the British and Aneriean fepreventatives being really advocate, whils some of the arbitrators, at any rate, appear to have had an imperiect conception of their duties. The course of procedure followed was not strietly judicial, imamuch as in some cesee the yuestions at issue appear to have been considered before, instend of atter. the argument of comecl. Finally, both the rule of the Treay of Washington which geverned the arhatration, and the rule of interpetation adopited bre the tritmal, we loovely expressed, and on some pointe, indeed, sarcely intelligible. Nutwithetanding theee defecte the arbitation may lie said--both from the gravity of the issues involved. the dignity of the lowers that were parties to it, and above all. its far-reaching influence as a matimal example - to con-titute a distinct epoch in the history of international orquization. Now doce it fonses merely an listoric interest. for the rules of the treaty on which it was hased have, as we shall son, mow heen adoptel (t) as a part of the conremiomal law of matms (1): whilst hoth the cance fuenemed low the parties and the rulinge of the (ount tonch on a great diversty of cuestions that still retain their importance.

With reperet to the cormenters of the derision. it repme mane-the arthitation, some indemnio was due to the Cnited states: although the amome of diver dimage su-tained ley the later appears to have been greatly over-ntimated. whilat the clame for intirect , lamase were wholly unwarantable.

In the oremrener which sate rise to the diepute. the British Thiv was rtheated by a purchase of reatrmable bombs. formine fart of the lenite! states debt. For this a anim coptitimat! was ivenel he the who ated for the birti-h finvernment. This rertitiate was endores to the order of certain Briti-h ontimials, rad wat then endersed her the latter 10 the order of the liated Statuc senetary of statn. and he dhe later

1t. Althumeh with some modification of their terme.

Sor 11. ('.. No. 13 of 1907.

(.i) On some oreations, inded, the Inited States expresond a high ajpre"iation of the measures adopeted : and as -imilar entelution is surgested be the tortimons of Mr. Adame, the Inited stallw Minister ill Lomblon: sur Moner, 111t. Irb. i. titio.
it was hampered in its action by the lack of legal powers andequate to octasions that were then novel in their character；it was often ill served by its local agents，acting sometimes at a great distance， and under the inflnence of a popular feeling in favour of the Con－ federacy，which wat itself largely attributable to the unfriondly and aggresse policy previously pusued by the Dnited states fowards Geat Britain：whilst its own action was often characteristically dila－ tory and sliphorl．La acepting the rules preseribed by the＂Treaty＂ of Washington，moreover，Great Britain submitted to be tried by a new standard，which，althongh not unjust in itself and now generally accepted，ret pepresented a distinct adrance on nemtal rexponsibility as previously understood．Indeed，the United States（iovernment itself appears subsequenty to have admitted that it appreliended serious risk if it were reguired，in a maritime war in which the United States were neutral，to observe the same rules of neutral dats as those which it wought to entore against Great Britain（y）．It is also significant to motice that that（iovermment afterwards pro－ posed to treat these same rules as being merely temporary rules adopted for the guidance of a special Court，and as not binding， even on the parties themselves，in future cases（z）．The case for the Enited states，as presemed to the Court，was eonceived in the bitterest pirit（＂）：and also comprised many charges that most have been based on imperfect information or wantonly exaggerated（ \(b\) ； a fact which appears to be often ignored even by Briti－h writers．

The principal iswes of law involved in the arbitration were shortly these：－（1）On the gnestion of＂due diligence，＂the United States rontender in effee that this was to be measured by the ability of the party that wat to exercise it，the exigencies of the case，and the magnitude of the reatte of negligence．The British view was that．exept where more precisely detined by usage or agrement． it must be measmed by the amomit of care usmally employed by a civilized（fovermment in matere alfecting its own security or that of its citizens．The Conrt，in its interpetation of rules（1）and（3）， held that it meant a dilierenee＂in exate propertion to the risk－ to which either of the belligerent－may be expened from a falluse to lultil the obligations of neutrality＂（e）．This probahly means men mere that that diligence．in onder to rank an＂due．＂must increane in prepontion to the apparent rick：a principle which is nen in at the time when the jertormance of the duty is in cuestion．But．
（y）Sice Wharton，Dig．iii．651．
（z）This on the pretext that they had not leen submittell for areeptanes to other maritime Phowers．Sulh，at any rate，appears to le the powition taken up by Mr．Fish in his keters to Sir E．Thornton of the sth Hay and 18th September，1876．as rommuni－ cated by President hayer in his message to the Senate of the 13 th Jinuary，1879：sec Wharton，Jig．iii．

649 ；and Moore，Int．Arb． 670.
（a）It was spoken of by the Jritish representative as aiming＂to pour forth the pent－an renom of national and personal hate．＂
（b）Sere．by way ol illustration，I． 336．未ルノ゙ッ。
（c）A summary of the various com－ ments passed on this sul）jeret by writers of authority will be found in Mowre，Int．Arb．i． 671.
evell - \(n\). it wathes omly on ond aspect of the sulject. and still Learo Gpen the questini of the measme of the diligence in wher rapects. It is, honever. imposible, whether in internatmal or in municipal law, to deflese with any exatitude the measure of dili-
 "ipal lan, judiciad deci-ions and supplementary rules of ten serve to mark mone deaty the meanme of diligence required in particnlar vath of diligenee atill ohtains: and has to be applied in practice by refreme to existing moditions and prevalent standards of conduct. Shm mone is this on in interuational lans. where these supplememal aremer have only perenty embe into operation. Here, then. "dne diligene"e mint be taken to mean that degree of rigilatere and eate whid maly be expered from a welt-ordered State which is at one alive for its remomihalities and wishful to fultil them. and the (iovermment of which is endowed with powers adeguate to their disharge in circumstances reasonalld likely to ah-tract rule in the light of coment standards and prevatent conditions (d). Sho far as relates to nentral duties of the kind we are here conemed with, the ene as we thall see are now dechared by the Hague convention: whitst. in the perfomanee of them, the nentral state is required only (1) apply sum vigitane as the means at its disporal permit (e). This has the ellect of medtilying-although tomater ribe hiat would wherwion ajply. But. outhert to thi modifi(ations the question of what emstitute due diligenew in the dincharge by a siate of its international whigatoms may still atise amd most principles indiated above. ( 2 ) With rexped to the hearing of the lanted states that the dente of a mentral state was on be manamed ly the rulo of intomational amd mot of manicipal

\footnotetext{

}

```

N(0, 1]. ('.. N'い. 13 0f 15107, \11. 2.): a!m| |, ;'11. i,i,%.

```

in general le accepted as an excuse for oren in extenuation of the non-tulfiment of international duties \((h)\). At the same time, the duy in such cane- is not an absolute duty of prevention. but merely a duty to use due diligence to prevent a violation of neutrality, and will be discharged if powere sutficient to met eave- ordinarily: likelv to occur in practice are both given and made use of ( \(i\) ). (3) ilith re-pect to the effect of the issue of a commission to a ressel which had been constructed and fitted out in riolation of nestrality, the Enited state- contended that this fact did not. at any rate in the circumstances that there existed protect her on subsequently coming within the neutral juriodiction. Ah against this. (ireat Britain contended that the a knowledged exemption from the local juriodiction of a ressel hearing the commision of a recognized belligerent world not be withdram-at any rate. without prerious notice. The Court finally hell that the effect- of such a riolation of neurality were not done away with he the iswe of a commiorion be the offending belligerent: although this ruling camot. as we shall see be regarded as a correct statement of the law \(k\) ). (f) With respect tr oupplie of fuel. it wa- contended by the Luited states that an undue supply of coal to a belligerent might afford eridence of the use of meutral teritory as a lase of operations. As against this. it wa- contended by erreat Britain that the use of neutral territory as a lase of operation-meant a contimons use, or a use both as a point of departure and return. The Court does not appear to have held creat Britain responsilde for the acts of any vesel ley rea-on merely of supplies of coal. But in the case of the shenamoah it held that the octurenes at Melthoume, on one occation only. amounted to a use of that port an a base for the preparation of a lootilo expelition Il': whil-1 it aloo lave down the seneral rule that mpplies of coal. in mater to constitute a violation of rule (2) of the Treaty. mut be ommected with toerial dircumstance: of time: peran- or place. which mat combine to give them that character. The guestion of the suphive both of protisions and coal, and the guestion of repais. are howerel. now requlated lis the Hame Convention (m): whilst the question of the conditions under

 (3) On the quetron of damace- the Court as we have seen pronounced again-t the indirect clains: it further tisallowed the claims for the enote of pursuit of the cratere whene ate were complained of: thm learing onle the clam for divect lo-ser arising out of the destruction of the resels amt their warene a the sulfen of award.

```

(7) Seef vol. i. 2\because.2.

```

```

l and 2. but thi, w:a- the ajinion ex-

```

```

I', 京\. 11. 1,1.

```

```

        (|) ()I* "rrus= * av divtin:t fromm
    ```

basis for computation of losess; and disallowed doulde clams, as by owner and insurer: hat allowed interest as an element in the award of a sum in eross.
(ienerse Notrs The Construction or Fitting Out of Vessels of War in Seutral Tervitor!: (i) The Earlier Law.-Although under the earlice law a nentral State might not iteelf supply ships of war to a belligerent ( \(p\) ), it was under no obligation to prevent its subjects from duings so and at a time when privateering still prevailed, and when the line hetween ships adapted and not adapted for war was not so clearly drawn an now, the sale of such ressels by neutrals to belligerents was of common ocemrence. If. in such a case, the neutral seller engated to deliver the vessel ontwide neutral reritory, he took the rivk of it- capture and condemmation as contraband of war. If, on the other hand, it was translerred to a belligerent agent in nowtal territorre the purchaser took the risk of its eapture as ememy property. Sulbject to the-e risks it was equally open 10 the neutal either to sell a vessel alrealy built, or to agree to build a resel for the purchaser, and this without in vither case involving his stato. But if a ship adapted for war was not merely constructed and sold in neutral tervitory. lout was there furni*hed with a commission and alco with a crew and ammanent suflecient to enable her 10 rugace in hostilitips on quiting neuthal turitory, then the territorial Power beame involved. for the rearon that such a proceeding Was areomed as the preparation in memtal teratory of an instrmentality of wat, whish it was boumel to prevent. And this rule may he said to havo obtained as hetween states that had not otherwise bound themelves mal the later part of the bath century iq), or, as some think. until the Hague Convention of 1 gat irs.
 the cliect of whid wa- \(w\) reguire the noutal state tw prohihit the of war intonded for the -rvion ol rither leelleserent emeroed and ferolopet. and finally tonk shape as law. This usage appears to Italian states. whim, daring the lation part of the tsih century, made it a penal aflenme to soll. lmikl. w arm. within their tervitories,

```

(9) y,i,",!,:3t.

```

```

infrict.
(.) Hall. B,07.

```

country. the subjew of an extem-iw jutidial interpretation (u). This fact. added to the manifer need of some such rute in the conditions of modern matitime war a need greaty emphasized he the event- "f the Ameriean eivil war- -ulisempently led other maritme Powere. such as France, Demmark and Holland, to ament their manicipal law- in the same direction. low forbidding the equipment on amament within their territories of vesel- of war intended for the service of either belligerent ( \(x\) ). In the Britain as heing internationally oblogaty at any rate as requals the matter in di-pute (!): whilot, as the realt of the (iemera artimaten. the rule on this subject at fommated he the treaty and a* interpreted ant applied he the trimmal. became the obloject of a neutal state is lomm to are that ofther fermbe do not within ite parte or waters put vescel- of was at the di-porition of the helligerento was adopted alon lis the Insitute of International Law.
 nized and ated on both lig the Britioh and othe (invermmemt- (:) In thi way the ubage in fuestion may probally ine sair. at any rate hefore the chase of the \(190 t h\) entury to have ripened inte an (H) ligatomy (nstom (a).
(iii) The Eristing Lume - Neutral mpan-ibitite in such a-se- is now requaterd hy the Hasme (omention. Sir i:3 of 1sot. The

 the cotmmary law. The fomention dotares that a nentral

``` सill low thand in II:a!日! lathat. 11. -1.
```

 13?

 a- ravaris matorial means. and womlal mot therefore eover a fallure arising wht of the bom-hestowal of adequate legal powers: the destre-

 ?

 ather helligerent. The "helief" mat be on the part of the nentral Wha hatre contrel of the rewel within the nelotral territory. To wotitute steh ath intention. however, there mast he an expectation, is to he somphered: and mot a meresmomion that whe may eventually surb an intention may, a- we hall see. niton be delucod from the eroll|-iが in all rases ( $f$ ).

 It huine the doto af thatore consmetion is，in semeral．easy of ascertamment．In 190t，how－ ever，when two submarines．the Protector and the Fulton，were drapatched from the Cointed states to Russia，the Cinited States （iovernment．on a－certaning the fact，declined to interfere，claiming to treat this as leing merely an export of contraband．During the－ame war，aloo．the Gernan Gorerment permitted the expor－ dation orerland to Ru＊ia of the requisite parts of a number of torpedo hoat－or de－troyers，which were afterwards fitted and put together at Libanth．But all such nases would．it is conceired．now come within the term－of Art s of the Ilaque Convention，No．1：of 1907． 12．Next there are ve－ols of a purely commercial type，which are from their whacter and build wholly unsuited for either of the purpose indicated above，even though ther might be used as colliers or－upply ships．As to these no pe－mmption whether of＂intent＂or ＂belief＂will arise．（3）Finally there is an intermediate clan．com－ pring many gradations，hut consting in general of resels which， althong mimarily mercantile in their chatacter．mave nevertheles from their size and speed he casily adapted for we in war as eruisers． Dusing both the Smanish－American war of 1898 ，and the Ruwo－ Japanese war of $1904-5$ ．a number of vesels of this trpe were sold by（ferman companie－to belligerent purchasers $i$ i）．Asto vessel－of this type－and omitting the que－tion of the sale of sulsidized mesels whith hav ahrealy been diechesed $\mathrm{F}_{\mathrm{s}}$ it wouht wem that at sate to a private purchaser carrie no presumption if intent to employ the resel in hostile operations．and that in such a case therefors the tertitorial Power is not bound to intervene．matess there is some further or more direct proot．But an maptation of a resel，whether of this or any other type．to warlike nees．within nentral temitory and whilst a was was being waged．wonld．it is conceived，erate sulh a premmption．and woth therefon impes on the tertitorial lower a duty of vigitance in the mather of enquiry and prevention． ruld of the Treaty of Wiashinetini impore on a nentral（iovernment the duty of not permittine wher helligerent th we nentral ports Ore watere a a hase ot haval operations．कौ for the purpone of the renewal or ansmentation of militur－upplie or arms．of the recrnit－

ぶい Tak：alaili．い
と．．．．．．．．．J． 30.5

That i－．he the＂xamine of－but vigulamen ：the mman at it－di－pona！ 1＂rmit：Art． 8 or increasing their supplien of war material．or their armament， or for cmpleting their arews the object being to ensme that any was added to her tightine fore or（flective power of injury m ）． Under the carlior law it appeare to haw been regarded as permis－ sible for a belliperent versel to ship，wen in a mentral prort．such a mumber of men as might be necessary to the natigation of the vessel to her own＂ombtry；hut this，despite the analogy of repairs，would not be admissible mider the existiug rule（m）．

The Inet！y of Ventrulas as regurds the Enjorcement of these Re－ strictions．Bis the third rule of the Treaty of Washington it is declared that a nentral（iovermment is bomid to exercise due dili－ gence in it，ports and water－，and as to all persons within its jurisdiction．to prevent any violation of the obligations previously recited．Thin rale is．as we have secm．reprodued by Art．25 of the（＇onvention．Which provide that a neutral Power must exercise such vigilance as the means at its disposal permit to prevent any riolation of the duties previonsty destribed oceur－ ring in its ports，roadstead．or waters．In this way the Convention virtually adopts，as a part of the writien law of nations，all the rules previonsly embotied in the Treaty of Washington（ $p$ ）By Art． 26 it is also derlared that the exercise by a neutral state of the rights and powers conferred ley the Conrention shall not be regarded as an unfriendly act he a belligerent who has aceepted the Articles relating． thereto．

The Effect of the issue of＂Commission to a lessel illegally fitted out．－The Geneva Tribmal，as we have seen，ruled，in affirmance of the American omtention，that the issue of a commission by a belligerent（iovermment to a vessel that had been fitted out．in riola－ tion of nentrality，could not be appobad to as a protection against atts done in violation of neutrality．Extertoriality．it was said， was not an aboolute right，but a proceceding fombled only on comity and mutnal deference，and was revorable in at＂ase where extercitoriality in itself is only a mote of dexcribing certain privi－ leges and immunities which had their wigin in comity or convenience， the privileres and immmitice which it mow implen are really sub－ stantive rights．and as such．Whe are mone capable of being revoled at will that are the riohto of embary if In such a case， therefore althongh the neutral state hat its remedy against the Government in lanlt，it would－omm that it haz mo remedry，at any rate hey wat of spizure atainet the wesed it．elt，if one the later

[^79]```
i゙いぶサ川*! 1. 309.
```

```
(i) S゙ee vol. i. 293.
```

Goverment of an insurent ammmits provided its helligerner had been recognized: for this in itedif is an acknowledgment of rapacity to answer for conduct. connemen with the war(x). At the same time. it would be quite open to a mentral state whoe nentrality wowel: for whel a right althomeh permmed in defant of notice to the contrary-may nevertheles be peroked. and any protest on the gromad if disminination would he admpately met hy prote of the prim vindation of nentrality ${ }^{(1)}$

THE TRE.ITMENT OF BELLIGERENT U AR心HIPS IN . IEITRGL PORT心.

THE CASE OF THE "TUSCARORA" AND THE "NASHVILLE."

1shi-2. Bornard. Briti-h Veutrality durine the American (ivil War, 26T.] Case. In 1861. during the Amerian wivil war. the "Nowthe." a ('onfederate cruiser', put into dock at conthampon in Englant, fos the purpoe of repairs. Som attorwart the "Tuscarora."
 station at the herd of southampon Wham, rome tom milo below the dock. Aeserdine to the nemtrality rewation- then in fores, no thip of war of either belligerent wan permitted to layte any other belligeremt. Whether a hipe of war or merdmat vand. had freviondy departed, until after the apiration of twent-Eoar home from the time ol suh depaturn. Taking ahantage of [^80]station. By repeating thin operation she was enabled for some time virtually to blockade the " Nashville" in British waters. In order to prexem at repetition of this proceding the British Government issued a fresh regulation, providing that any war reant of wither belligernen entering a British port should ber reguited to depras and put to seat within twenty-four hours of her entrane into such port. exeppt in cases of stress of wather, or want of provisions or orher things necessary for the subsistonce of the erew, or need of repairs; in either of which cases she was to be rempired to put to sea as soon as posible after the expiration of wenty-lour hours.

To prevent the we of nemal prom waters belligerent. bech ar atarting-pint for belligerent operations, varions rule have at different time- been devised. One of these prohibits belligerent war-hip from lying in wait in territurial waters, and avoids all consequent (apturesal. Another prohibit belligerent war-hips from using neutral ports for the purposes of obtaning information as to enemy vessels likely to arrive and sallying out to meen them ( $b$ ). Another rule, which is of some untiquity, prohibited belligerent waship from following an enemy of inferion strenpth. and e-peciallya merchant ressel. out of a neutral port. With a tiew to attack and capture. This was at first enforced, as against public vessels. Dy exacting an undertaking from the commander: and, a arainst mivateers, he forbidding their depurture until after the lapee of an interval of $2+$ hour or even longer. Subsequenty the latter practice was extended to puldie rowels, and came the known as "the "t houre rule." Such a rule was. an we have seene included in the British mentality regulations during the American civil war: whils rules similar in effect (o) were atopted in the nemratity regulation of most other maritime states. In the result. the imporition mat protally be sald to have berme ohbigatory. Such a rule. with at definite himis of 21 hours. waw inemporated in the sucz Camal Convention oi 1858 (e) a well an in the Treaty of 1901 made betwern (irean Britan and the lateol stato with reapert the Pamama Canaluf. It has now lexem admpend. althomgh with a limit of "not low than ot houre" by the Hagne Comention. No. 13 of 1907 (g). This rule, with a view to distinguishing it from the rule of $2 t$ homs raty mext metered 16 . i nome emmmonly known as "the rule of $2 t$ home interval " $h$.

ii) THE RLLE OF TWENTY-FOLR HOURD'sTAY; AN゙J THE PRACTICE OF INTERNMENT. THE CASE OF THE "MANDJUR."

[1904: Takahashi, 418-429.]

Case. For some time prior to the outbreak of the RussoJapanen war the "Mandjur." a Russian war:hip, had bern stationed at shanghai. On or about the $14 t h$ Februarr, 1904 , after hostilitis between Russia and Japan had hrgun, the Chinese Government issucd neutrality regulations. which. amonget other things, prohibited the stay of belligerent warships in Chinese ports for more than twenty-four hours except in eases specified. Inasmuch as the "Mandjur," although not coming within these exceptions, nerertheless continued her star, the Japanese Consul-General, on the 19th February, requested the Chinese authorities to require her to leave in accordance with the regulations. This demand was communieated to the Russian Consul-Gineral, but the lattre declined to comply with it until he hark reerived instruetions from his Minister. The matho was further complicated by the fiact that a Japanese cruiser was alleged to be lying in wait for the "Xandjur" off Woozung. On the $22 n d$ February the Japmee Minister at I'ckin mate a new and formal demand that the Chince (rovernment should proceed to disarm and intern the "Mandjur" if she did not quit Shanghai within twentr-four hour-, failing which it was intimated that Japan might lee forced to admpt mea-ures. the responsibility for which would then rest with China. This protuced its effect on the ('hinese Govermment, and dhe disarmament of the: " Mandjur" was resolved on and carried out. In the firet instanere a limitm diommament involving only the removal of gums and ammuntion, but accompaniod br an undertaking that she should not lease Shanehai during the war. was properel. Bun thin was not appowd br Jenan; ant, after oome further negotiation, the vital funte of the marhinere and ther treech blocks of the truns were also romored and placed unimer Chinee control. The wew wereant hark of their own emmury under pledge not to engage in hotilitios again-t Japan during the war.

This case apren th illustrate the application of the rule, now generally arepted in practio, which limits the duration of stay of helligerent mesels in nentral ports to ort homs; as well ats the treatment nsmally accorded to reseels that are umable or unwilling to leave within the time allowed. This rule is now commonly known as "the rule of 24 home" stay." It is based on the need of "preventing. an ahme of nentral hospitality, and inciftentally of preventing although the latter ought in strictuess to be regarded as the subject of a separate and independent rule ( $b$ ).

The "rule of $2 t$ hours' stay" has a much shorter history than the "rule of $2 t$ hours' interval " (c). It was as we have seen, originally adopted by Great Siritain in 1862, with the object of meventing an abuse of the latter; and was enforeed both by Great Britain and the United state: in subsequent wars in which those Powers were nentral. It was later alco adopted by uther maritime states, such as Ltaly, sweden and Norway, Demmark, and the Netherlands; but it was not at finst formally accepted either by France, Germany, or Rossia. This rule was likewise incorporated in the Suez Canal Conrention of 1888 , and in the Treaty of 1901 made between Great Britain and the Cnited state with respect to the Panama Canal (d). During the Ruso-Japanese war, the "mule of et hours' stay" with the alternative of divarmament in the event of non-compliance, was enforced mon only in the case of the Mandjur, hat in a great variety of other (ases: and this aren by Powers that had not previously areapen it (e): although in some eaves its enforement appears io hater been hased rather on the propriets of not allowing belli-con-taint than on the duty of merely limiting their say ( $f$ ). It wa> also enforced against transports, and coltiers, as well as against warships proper (g). Finalls, and probably in deterence to these instances, the rule was embodied, althoneln moly in a qualified form, in the Harme Convention. No. 13: of 1907 (h). Its relation to the ruld prohibiting belligerent recoels from u-ing neutral porte as an a-chlum in wat, will be convidered hereather

```
    ,os(u) wol. i. 1.j1. 1.5:).
    (1)) Is lyy (i|mmanyy, arrainst Rus-
```

```
    1, I,íN, |. 3i)%.
```

[^81]
iii THE ふ[PPLY OF (OAL AND PROVISIONS. THE CASE OF THE "TEREK."

[1905: Takaha=hi, 457.]

Case. Un the 2ath of June. 1905 during the Rusoo-Japane "ars. the. "Trak." a Rus-ian cruiser. put into the pert of Batavia. greatly in need of coal and prorions. Ludn the operial remaof the ports of the Netherland--Lindio during the war. belligerent resel- were forbidden to prolong their stay exapt in aso of necesity for more than twenty-four hours, or to take in suppile of provision on fuel berond surd an anount as might be nocesart to carry then to the nemet port of their own countre. no further supply being permitted within three monthe' a An application by the commander of the " Terek" to the Dutch authoritio for a suphly of provirions and coal wa- conceded to the extent allowed by the regulations, but an application for an extended -upply was refured. Oni the expiration of twonty-four hous: it was found that the cord taken on bard would not suflice:

 with her ofticer ant eren. for the remand of the war.

 "r anal that might ho takon lis a holligerent warship, in a Briti-h hibitinn and further apply at wher the sane or any other Britioh port-a lenial of which would vintually have hat the effer of phane her out of action（b）This example was subserquently followed by other Ponsers：some Powers adophing the British rewnation in its entirety．whila others adopted it in substance althongh with some bariation ate regara details．During the Ruson－Japanere wat Great Britain tow the further step of densing even a limited supply of wal in（ases where a belligerent fleet was proceding either th the seat＂Il war．of th a position or powition on the line of mute with the alject of intereppting mentral weme om suspicion af camenge entraband．Aeconding to the instramions issued on wa－mot to be permittel th make no in any way of a British port for the purpats of wallage either dirently fom the shore or eren from collior andompansing the fleet，and whether the vessets of time thet prewented themselses at the port at the same time or suc－ cisciody：amb the same rule was to berphed aven to simgle belli－ erpent war－vesols when manifotly bome on a simitar errand， excep in arse of athal dixtmotar．The French practice how－ ewer，wa－mon more las：the bedligerents being allowed to take as mond eral as would earry them to their mext port．which was not contined in the neare thome port．and this withomt and limit of timend（an any limitation om the renewal of applisect．A rule re－fricting the saphe if fuel to belligerent rewels in mentral porm

With mepert to provicions．the british practice was to limit sup）－
 A matrimen on revicumalling aton finde a phane in the nentrality． rewulations of equan wher states．such as Hollan：and Brazil．

 ince noutm！！ume fron lame mato a＂han of－upply＂（h）A

Than presume of theore reatriction－the the holligeremt i－an will vantion（li

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { Lin 1!all. B02 }
\end{aligned}
$$

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { 1!11.; } 11
\end{aligned}
$$

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { (ッチ) } \\
& \text { I lasiti w!i•届 witu risu tu }
\end{aligned}
$$

$$
\begin{aligned} & \text { H:1-hi, 4.):?. }
\end{aligned}
$$

(iv THE QUESTION OF REPSIRS.  THE CASE OF THE "LENA."

[1904: Takahashi, 455; Hershey, 207.$]$
Case. On the 11th september, 1904, during the RussoJapance war", the "Lena," a Russian auxiliary erniser, which had been previonsly engaged in cruising against Japanese commerce in the Pacific, put into Sun Francisco harbour greatly in need of repairs as regreds her engines and boilers. Hasmuch as the effecting of the repains would lave meant a restoration of the fighting power of a vessel which was at the time virtually ont of action, the Japanese Crovermment instructed its Minister at Washington to bring the matter under the notice of the Lnited riates (envemment, and to request that approntiate measmes might be taken withont delar: The United state: Government thereupon directed that the vess.] should be inepected and the question of repairs reported on by the naval authorities. It haring been aseretained that the repairs would take some six werks to efloce, and the ressed bering umable to put to sea without them, the commander of the "Lena" himself admitted that the vesserd must be disarmed, and refuested that the repair-should beallowed on this condition. On the 15th sepumber the leresilent aceordinery issued orders directing that the "Lema " shomld lee taken into the custody of the naval anthoritios. In the result the veses was first disarmed under official supervision, and thereafter repaired, but held in cuttody mut the end of the war: dhe eaptain abo griving a writem graranter that the wosel should not leare matil after the conclution of peace. The officers and crew wer fun on prok not to leave the United States tervitory during the war, unto-s some other anderstanding as to their disposal should be come to betwern the (iownmment of the: United Statos and both the belligerent: ' $九$.

(ia) It appeare that some of the linssian officers broke their parme: hot wh the drmand of the l nited statom they were ordowed to return, and roduced in rank by way of punishment: soe Jershey, 208, n.
tion, but not repairs or structural alterations which added to their tighting strength ( $b$ ). Having regard to the rule which prohibits any increase in the fighting power of a ressel, the allowance of repairs, even within these limits, is sometimes criticized as illogical, for the reason that navigability and seaworthiness are equally indispensable to naval action; but the indulgence as regards repairs of a nonmilitary kind is really founded on the exigencies of life at sea, and is in practice probably acceptable to both belligerents (c).

Under the earlier conditions of maritime war, the distinction between what we may call civil and military repairs was not hard to draw, but with the increasing complexity of the mechanism of warships its application became at once more difficult and more rigid. So, in the case of the "Lena," the right of repair was held not to cover repairs which, although primarily of a civil kind, were ret such as to involve the restoration of the vessel as a fighting. unit. And although, in the case of repairs necessary to navigation and not of so extensive a chamacter, an extension of the ordinary period of stay is usually mranted, yot this will not extend to repairs against injuries sustained in battle. So when in June, 1905, the Russian cruisers "Aurora." "Oleg" and " Zamtchug" entered Manila after the battle of Tsushima greatly in need of repairs, and sought an extension of time for this purpose, the requisite permission was refused, on the ground that time cannot be given for the repair of injuries received in battle; with the rosult that all these ressels were detained until the close of the war ( $d$ ). The question of repairs is, as we shall see, now regulated, as between the signatories, by the Hague Convention, No. 13 of 1907 (e).

v) ASYLUM IN NEUTRAL PORTS.

THE CASE OF THE "ASKOLD" AND "GROZOVOI."

[1904; Takahathi, 429-435.]
Case. On the 13th August, 1904, the Russian warships " Iskold" and "Grozoroi," after haring been defeated in a naval engagement, sought refuge in the port of shanghai. Is thee ressels showed signs of prolonemge their stay beyond the fime allowed by the ('hinees nemtality resultions, the Japranese

[^82]
356 Cases and Opimions on International Law.

Consul-(ieneral demanded that the Chinese authorities should cither take steps to procure their immediate departure or disarm and intern them. This demand was notified to the Russian Consul-(reneral. but the latter refused to comply on the ground that the resels had a right to remain until repairs had benn effected. As it appeared that these repairs were of an extensive character; the Jopanese Minister at Pckin was instructed to protert against Chinese ports being used by Russian versels as an asclum after defeat and for the purposes of repairs that would enable them to re-ume their belligerent operations: and to demand that thes should be required to leare at once. or. if actualls unseaworthy. then that they should be given two days within which to offect the necessary repairs with the alternative of being dismantled and interned if they faled to lave. The Chinese (rovernment wavered : now demanding the departure of the: resels in deference to Japanse presure, and now extending the time for degrartur in deferene to the in istenen of the Russian Consul-(ieneral: hut on the 23rd August a further extension of time was granted.

Japanese Circular and Ultimatum." On the 25th Augus the Japaner Covernment-anticipating in view of what had occurred that it mioht he compelled to resort to medsure of force. and having regurd to foreign intere-ts at Shanghi-thought it neceseary to addres to the Powers a eirrular note. This, after reciting the fact- pointed out that Japan could not be expecterl to subnit to the continuance of a condition of thing which constituted a menace at onee to her belligenent right and her connerce. and that he might therefore find hers olf forend to takn antion, the reponsihility for which would reet with (hina. This China, mpuiringe 'I that the diwamament of the vesels shoukd be commened fonthwith: ? that all arme anl anmmition. tore ther with the o-sontial portions of ther marhiners. shoukd he landed and flamen undre ('hinwo control: :\% that the Rasstan Hags shoukd In haned duwn: 't that no repairs affectiotr Chinese authoritics and under no condition allowed to depart; and (6 that the crews should be interned by China till the end of the war. In the result, and after some further controversy with respect to the disposal of the erews, these demands were in substanere complied with: and both ressels and erews wers detained throughout the remainder of the war ( $a_{\text {, }}$.

(Gn principle it would sem that where a belligerent warship seaks the shelter of a nentral port as a protection against enemy constraint or capture. both the rescel herself and those on board should, like a fugitive force on land (b), be subject to interment: and this without that benefit of stay or supplies or repairs which would otherwise he permisible. But, so fiar, no such restriction has heen imposed: proballe for the reason that the intent to seek shelter trom attack would often be diftient to prove, and that such a rule might lead to friction between neutral: and belligerents. Nor do the provisions of the lhage convention. Ko. 13 of 1907, appear to combenance any such distinctionter. Nerertheless. even under the law as it now obtans. the fact of the neutal port having leen sought be a helligerent vescel after an engagement with the enemy, will put the neutral State untor an obliqation even more stringent than usual to see that the ordinary nentratity regulations are closely observed, and to dixam and intern any ressel that mar overstay her time or he unfit to take the sea. Auk this appears of have heen the position takne ul, he Japan as a ledligerent, and for the most part conceded be Powers that were nentral, during the war of $190 \pm-5$. So when the Rus-ian warnhip "('zarevitch" and "Novik," with several engeramont. in the (ierman mert Kiandow, tho "Nowik." which was seanorthe. was ordered to leave within wenty-for hours. whilst the armed and intorned torether with thene wems till the end of the wards. The same fouron wa- foken her Franer. although only aftersmed delay. in the rawo the " hiana." a Ruswan erniser which

(a) The (rews were intorbed in wayms (himese traty ports having F: 31 1 .
(1.) Sirn Art. 12; and Peare lliruins. 47.
(1) Takahashi, 417 ul seng.
(1) shan Herser 20t: Hall. 623. $n$.
(vi) THE RE(EPTION OF PRIZES INTO NEITR.IL PORTS.

THE CASE OF THE "TUSCALOOSA."

[1872: Papers relating to the Treaty of Washington, i. to iv.]
Case. ${ }^{7}$ In 1863 , during the American civil war, the " Conrad, a United States merchant vessel, was captured by the " Alabama," and thererpon converted into a tender to the latter ressel: an officer and crew with two small guns being put on board, and her name changed to the "Tuscaloosa." In this character the "Tuscaloosa" afterwards put into T'able Bay. The United States ('onsul protested against her admission on the ground that she had not been regularly condemned, and that, as a prize. her admission into British ports was prohibited by the neutrality regulations. The Ittorney-General of the Colony, however, held that having received her armanent from a duly commissioned vessel, and being commanded by a duly commissioned officer, she was entitled to be treated as a purblic vessel. Ifter the "Tuscaloosa" had left, the opinion of the British Law Officers was taken on the suloject. This opinion was to the effect (1) that the wesel had not ceased to have the character of a "prize." merely by reason of what had been done: and (2 that the allegations of the United States Consul should have been rommunicated to Captain Semmes and an enquiry held; whilst (3) it was also suggested, as a matter deserving consideration, whether, on its appearing that the ressel was still an uncondemned prize, the exercise of any further control over her by the eaptors should not have been prohibited. On the subsequent return of the "Thesaloosa" to Table Bay she was seized by the Colonial authorities; but on the protest of her commander. and in deference to an opinion of the Law Offieers that the seizure could not be upheld in view of her previons recognition as a public ressel, onders were issued for her restoration. In the result, however, she remained in the custody of the Iocal anthorities until the end of the war, and was then handed over to the United States. Ilthongh Great Britain was ultimately held responsiblo by the Geneva Tribunal for tho acts of the "Tuscaloosa," as tender to the "Alabama" ( $a$ ), the question now under consideration was not specilically dealt with.

Under the eustomary law, it was quite open to, although not whligatory on, a nentral State to admit prizes taken by a belligerent, whether from neutrals or from enemies, into its ports: and also to allow the captor to deposit then there pending condemnation and sule; so long only as this privilege was extended to both belligerents alike, and no prize jurisdiction was exercised in noutral territory. In fact, however, this was often prohibited or restrained under the manicipal regulations of particular states. But if no such restriction was impored. then (1)I admission to the neutral port both prize and crew were nutitled the the protection of the flag of the captors, and were exempt from the neutral jurisdiction ( $b$ ), unless it conld be shown that the prize had been captured in violation of the neutrality of the teritorial Power (c). The practice of admitting prizes to neutral ports, save in cases of distress, is, however, bad in principle and undesirable in the nentral interest. It is bad in principle, for the reason that the (aptor, in being allowed to carry his prize into a nentral port prior to condemmation, is granted its shelter for property which does not yet belong to him ( $d$ ); that, in being allowed to exereise control over the prize and the captured crew, he is virtually allowed to continue an act of war in nentral territory: and, finally, that in being allowed to deposit his prize there, he is enabled to set the prize rew free and thas to make use of neutral territory for adding to his military strength (e). It is also madesirable in the nentral interest, in so far as it exposes the territorial Power to the risk of armed conflict, ocenrine in its ports between the captors and the crew of the taptured vessel. It was probably in deference to these considerations (f) that in the latter part of the nineteenth entury the practice of admiting prizes into neatral ports came in be greatly restrictod he monicipal regulation: some states prohibiting altogether the hringing of prizes into their ports except in cases of distress; others exchuding then from certain ports; whilst others again admited them but restricted theirs say to twentr-four homes and forbude their sale. The British rule, which was first adopted in 1861 and followed in subsequent wars, was to exelude them altogether (g). A rule limiting

(b) See vol. i. 259.
(c) Sec Ilall, (it\% ot seq.; Westlake, ii. 213 of sey. : and as to the validity under the Enerlish prizo law of a sentence of condemnation pasced on a prize lyinge in atentral porto p. Lige. surna.

(e) ITall, 614.
( $f$ ) It any rate, in the Iater period. for the earlier restrictions were directed rather acainst privatecrs: see Westlake, ii. 214.
(!t) I $=$ to the practice of other States. see Westlake. ii. 2lif Mall, 615: Taylor. 699.
their stay to twenty-four hours alon fincts place in the Suez ('anal Convention of 1888 , and the Pananal (anal Treats of $1901(\mathrm{~h})$. But the usage was not sufliciently longe estahlished or uniform to have become obligatnry. The admistion of prizes into nemral ports is now requated. as herween the signatories, les the Hague Convention. No. $1: 3$ of 1907 ( $i$, which, whilst adopting exctu-ion as the normal rule, ret recognizes a diseretionary exception in fasum of prizes bronght into momral prots to be sequestrated pending the decision of a prize Cont: anl exception which is aho hant jn primedple and contrary to the trend of previou* uage.
(ifarman Nomes The Admiswion of Bellegerent II arships into Sentrul /'orts. Another preat dillerence letweren land and sea war-he readrai in nentral torritory exaept an annlition of heines disarmed and interned. bolligerent wathips maly mo whly mond nentral amel emplog the liemond pilets of the cratorial Pown in their nasigation. A noutral statio is mot imblad bound to mone its of nentai purts he helligerem warships is. lowever. whbed to cer-fied lis ('murontion

```
    &, Irt. 21. 是: and 1. 36%. Irt. 11.
infre.
    (7) Soe vot. i. 251. 254.
```

impered alike in time of peare and war by monimpal rexalanion On thin -ulden the Hague ('mbention, No. 1:3 of 1907, now declares What mane the lawsol a mentral Pown otherwion movide. the momber of wathip-bomging th ome belligerent which may be in one wh the

 Th the mental powner to allow the pasente of a larger momber of has mon been ambertion in the ltague Comemtion. No. 1:3 of 1907 , ahbumb conl in a form which ereaty impais in elleet. On this *uhger, the fomsention provides: 1, That in telault of epecial prowions tar the emmary in the hatw of the mental Power. belli-torial wamson the sait Power for more than of homs. axepe in besu infomed of the ombreak of hasitites leam that a warohip of a belligerent is in one oll ite perts or matatemso or in it- temi-or within the time precribed by the heal law $p$. © : That a lation- if it hank- fit ar . In the future the mate of ol hame stave

(17) Irt. is.
... : $\quad ., \ldots, \ldots, p, 1,3.51$
(1) 1 rt .12.
 mandend to mown -nth catere as that of

(i) Irt. If.
(心) Irt. 11.
(1) Sum as Cireat Britain and the Ynitold static.
(a) Surll at Franan. Ciermany. on (. $\dot{\theta}^{\circ}$ ) Lut subl remblations mast, like all othor rexulationc ationtiom the pusilunn of homitument warships in the purts of the wismatories, be notitied to the Netherland- Gouproment for commumication to the contranting Powers:

Irt. 27 : and must apply equally to both belligrrents: Art. 9
(if) (icermany, for instamer. has -igred the (onvention under perarvat tion of \rte. 12 and 1:3.
involve in restoration of the fighting power of a vessel which was at the time completely disabled $(z)$.

The Time and Order of Departure.- "The rule of 24 hours" interval" has likewise been adopted by the same Convention. With respect to thi- it is prorided: (1) That when warships belonging to both belligerents are present simultaneously in a noutral port or roadstead, a period of not less than $2 t$ hours must elapse between the departure of a ressel belonging to one belligerent and the departure of a ressel belonging to the other. (2) That the order of departure shall be determined by the order of arrival, unless the ressel that arrived first is so circumstanced that an extension of stay is permissible. (3) That a belligerent warship shall not leare a neutral port or roadstead until $2 \pm$ hours after the departure of a mexchant ship flying the flag of its adversary (a). The Conrention thas settles definitely the question of the order of departure ats to which there had previonsly been some diversity of practice.

Supplies of Coul and Provisions. - With respect to supplies of coal and provisions the same Convention provides in effect: (1) That belligerent warships in neutral ports or roadsteads may only revictual so as to brines their supplies up to peace standard (b). (2) That such ressels may similarly ship only sufficient fuel either to enable them to reach the nearest port of their own comntry or. in the cave where the nentral Power has adopted this methorl of determining the supply of fuel, to fill up their bunkers built to carry fuel; with liberty howerer, to extend their stay for this purpose in cases where the local law e) prohibits the taking of coal matil $2+$ hours after arrival (d). (3) That belligerent warships which have already shipped fuel in a port belonging to a neutral Porver may not within the succeeding three months replenish their supply in a port of the same Power ( $e$ ). With respect to coal the rule is, it will be seen, less stringent if! than that previously followed by countries such as (ireat Britain and the United States; and does not. Jike the later British rule. exclude altogether a supply of coal for aggresive action (!). No provision is made for an extension of time for the purpon of revictualling. or even for coaling, exept in the case where the mentral requlations fordid onaling until 24 houre after arrival $h$. The reftrictions impusent he the Convention on the supply of abl would appear to apply aqually to oil in cases where that is msed for tuel
$1=$ S.",
(a) Siep Art. 16. Althourh a merchant resecel may, if it chooses, follow a warship, without any such interval beine interposed.
( 1, ) 1 Irt .19.
(1) Av in the case of Italy.
(ग) Art. 19. Put (ireat Mritain and Japan have hoth -iznel the ('onvantion under rearrsation of this . r ticle.
(e) See Irt. 20. But Germany signed under reservation of this Article.
$(f)$ That is, in view of the alternative given.
 is no saving, as under the British regulations, for cases of "special permission."
( $h$ ) Is to the rourse of discustion on this point. see Pearce Miggins, 476 .

The Expcution of Repairs.- On the question of repairs the Convention provides in effect: (1) That belligerent warships in neutral ports or roadstad may only carry out such repairs as are absolutely necessary, and may not in any manner whatever add to their fighting foree. (2) That it shall rest with the local authorities of the neutral States to decide what repairs are necessary, and that these shall be carried out with the least possible delay (i). These provisions apply only to neutral ports and roadsteads and not to other territorial waters, where the efferting of repairs, although difficult to accomplish, would for the most part be beyond the control of the territorial l'ower. By implication it wouk seem that an extension of stay i- permissible for effecting of repairs in the "ase where these are necessary to navigation (h).

The Reception of Prives in Neutral Ports.- On the question of the admission of prizes into nentral ports, the Convention provides in effect: (1) That a prize may only be brought into a neutral port on ancount of miseaworthiness, stress of weather, or want of fuel or provinions(l) and that in the latter ciremmenees it mast leave as soon an the justification has come to an end ( m ). (Q) That if it does not, the neutral Power must order it to leave at unce, and failing compliance mast employ the means at its disposal to release the prize with its officers and crew, and intern the crew put on board by the captor ( $n$ ). (3) That a neutral Power must similarly release a prize that has entered its ports without such justification (o). (t) That a nentral Power mas, neverthelos-atlow prizes to enter its ports and roadsteads, whether unfer convor or not, in cases where they are merely brought there to be sequestrated pending the decision of a Prizo Court: with a consequent right to have the prize taken to another of its ports if it so desires. In such cases, if the prize is under "onvoy of a warship the prize crew of the captor may go on bard the convoring ship. whist if not under conver they are to be left at liberty( $p$ ). The effect of these provisions is to affirm generally the practice of mom-ardmiswon except in case of dintress. and to andion formalls the exercise by the nentral state of all consequen anthority. At the same time the genemal rule is greatly qualified in effect be the permiscion granten to the nemtral State to allow prizes to be deposited in its ports pending the decision of the Prize ' 'onet of the captor. By adopting this qualification the and which woukd ntherwise protably hawe come to be harend hy entom ( $r$ ) : and this. apparently. without any ompensatory advantage of a tancible kind, $x$.

```
    (1) Irt. 17.
    (k) That is. from .Irt. 17 taken in conjunetion with Art. If.
    (l) Irt. 2l.
    (in) Art. „l.
    (n) Mrt. 2l.
    (o) Art. 2n.
```

(1) Irt. 17.
(in) Art. $2 l$.
(n) Art. 2n.
(p) Irt, 23. The crew of the "aptured veasel, if on board the prize, are apparently left to the operation of the earlier law: see wol. i. 25:

(s) It was originally whopted with

P'enulty for Infringement of Xeutrul Regulutions.-Apart from the remedies avalable for more serins viokations of nemality, which have ahealy hem comsilered $t$, special remedies are protided by the same Convention fur beaches of or non-compliance with the local neutrality rewulations. So, it in provided that if a belligerent warship has previomsly faited to eonform to the regulations of a neutral Power. or has violated its neutrality, the vessel may be forbidden for the fume onenter it- port- or radsteads (u): a conss which. de-pite some contrary "pinion. appeare to have been previonste prminille $y$. Agan. it is protided that if a belligerent warship. after montication, faile to leare a neutral port. when it is not antilal to remain. the neutral Power may take such meazures as it may deem nevesary to render the resel incapable of puting to sea sol long as the war lasts, the emmanding otlicer beinge aren renuired to facilitate the execution of such measures (z). In such a case the officers and crew must likewise be detained, either on the ressel itelf, or on any other ressel, or on land (a), amd may for this purpose he subjectel to all necessary restraints; although the ofticers may be left at liberty on giving their word not to leave neutral teritory without permision $b$ ). The question of intern-ment-a practice which was, as we have seen, carried out with nos. little severity during the Ruso-Jagranese wat er in thas left bre the 'Dntention in the diametion of the nentral. Whith is so far a defect: ahhough preswe on the part of the wther belligerent will probally serve in genemal to enture it: exercise. The Consention. hoverer, now settles definitely that the officers and crew of a resel interned munt aloo be detained. which, athough clear in prineiple, had formerly been a suliject of emtroversy id. It is also expressly declared by the (onvention that the exercise by a neutral power of any of the rioht- contered themery shall not la ronsiderol as an unfriendly act hy a hellimerent who has acceptert the articles relating theretore. In cases of eufficient grasity the remety of expulsion will alon he open to the neutral, ahthough in pactice a weak nental is maturally indi-ponen 10 attempt thento.. this against a powerful belligerent.
a view to enabling an aurement to be reacked on the guestion of the destruetinn of mentral prizes and should stribtly have lapsed with the failure wit the arrearmatit. It was, howover, furnt the datemetion of prizo hy it belliement apptor havine no home port near at hand: althoush the fatot un the pratt of the wemtral rembers this lead to friction botwornt nentral* and vicion- of the Derlaration of Lomble i, fiot. J. 1sif.

(ii) Irt. 9 .
(11) Sme vol. i. 261: :1311

1. 3 ば,
(z) Art. 21.
(") Siulpect to a sufficient number. of mon boing left on board to lowk after the ressel.
(b) Irt. 24.

 and Taliahavhi, 4.34. &s?
(c) $\operatorname{Irt} .26$.

L(OAN TO ANO LOLCMTARE SCBS RIPTIONS IN (1I) ()F BELIIGERENTS

AN OPINION OF THE LAW OFFICERS OF THE CROWN, 1823

| Phillimore. iii. App. 928.|

Questions submitted. In 18:? 3, the Law Ollicers of the Crown ai were consulted ly the British Govimment with remeet to the legality of subseriptions ar han he meutral subjects in aid of a belligerent-apparently on the orea-ion of a proposed loan in aid of the (ireck W:ar of Independenee. The questions submitted were: 1 Whether subseriptions for the use of one of two belligerent Nate by individual subjecte of a nation profossing and maintaining a strict nentrality botween them were contrary to the law of mations, and constituted such an olfence as the other belligerent would hare a right to conneder as an act of hostility on the part of the noutral (foremment? '2 Whether-a--mming that such individual voluntary subseriptions in farom of one belligerent would give just cause of offenee to the other-loan- for the same purpose would give the like cmue of offence? (3) Ind, if not, where the line should be dram betwe a a loan at an mat or mero nominal bate of interes or with a previons underataming that interest would never $b_{\text {se }}$ exated and a gratuitous voluntary subseription?

Opinion. The oxinion given wa- as follows: (1 Subseriptions of the mature alluded to. for the sumper of one of two lodligerent state agenat the where moned into he individual -ubjecto of a (bovermment pofering and mantaining neutrality.
 law ol mations. It the sume time the other helligerem wond act of hatility on the part of the (bosemment. althourh they [^83]merely with commercial views, would not, according to the opinion of writurs on the law of nations and the practice hitherto prevalent, be an infringement of neutrality. (3) But if, under colour of a loan, a gratuitous contribution was afforded without interest or with merely nominal interest, then the matter would be governed by the same principle as that applicable to voluntary subscriptions.

In effect the riew of the Law Officers of the Crown was that under the law of nations, as it then obtained, loans by neutral individuals (t) either belligerent were permissible if made purely in the way of business; but that roluntary subscriptions in aid of a belligerent wero strictly illegal, although not to be regarded as a ground of oflence internationally unless carried to any great oxtent. And this may probably be said to be a correct statement of the existing lais (b).

With respect to the legality of loans or subscriptions on behalf of helligerent states under the municipal law, this would appear, acrording to the English and American cases, to depend primarily on the question whether the transaction is opposed or not to public policy, which will again depend on the question of its legality under the law of nations. Hence loans made purely in the way of business, heing internationally permissible are not contrary to public policy, and are therefore ralid (c); whereas voluntary subscriptions in aid rif one belligerent, being a cause of offence to the other and tending for this reason to involve the State in foreign complications, are illegal (d). With respect to loans to insurgents. if the insurgent (ioremment has been recognized by the lender's Goremment as independent or eren as belligerent, loans made to it would be equally valid with those made to a belligerent State, for the reason that this amonnts to a recornition of capacity to do all acts that can be lawfully done in carring on the war, of which the raising of loans is ne (o): whils: roluntary subscriptions would of course be illegal. But an adrane of moner. whether by way of loan or sulscription. 10 unrecognized insurgents, in arms aquinst a friendy Gorernment. would be internationally improper, because loans for promoting an
(4) Infirl. p. 367.
(o) The Enslish and American mafes deal. for the most part, with the uncestion of loans to insurgents. In Prisarri r. C'trmont (10 Moo. ('. P. 33T there is indered. dieform quentionince the lecality of loans to a belliserent State. Whil-t in Romontt w. Cthombris (14 How. 36) than yucition is loft npen: but the rierom in the former cace is merely obliter, and the true principle appears to be that sum-gested in the text.
(d) Sce an opinion by the same Law Officers, given on the 21st Jume. 1823 (rited in Halleck, ii. 16it, 11.). where, however. it is admitted that a riminal prosecution, as for a misdemeanour or conspirace, would scareely be likely to sueceed.
(r) S九e liveniolt v. Chambers (14 How. 8s): Taylor, 191: and rol. i. 157: hut ane alin Wrestlake, ii 218.
insurection cannot be regarded as coming within the range of com－ mercial business or as being free from political motive（f）；and wonld for this reason be illegal also in menicipal law $(g)$ ．
（ieabral Notes．－Loans by Aeutral Indiciduals to Belligerent states．－It would，as we have seen，be a breach of neutral duty for a neutral Govermment either to make or promote or guarantee a loan of money to either belligerent $(h)$ ．Some writers incline to the riew that such loans are also illegal if made by neutral indi－ viduals．and should on that gromed be prohibited by neutral （iovermments $(i)$ ．But so far as relates to loans of a purely com－ mercial kind，this view appears to find no warrant either in prin－ aple or in current usage．From the standpoint of principle，a neutral state is under no obligation to interfere with the commercial dealing．s of its subjects with cilher belligerent，unlesis they involve ＂ither a participation in some specific act of war or an illegal use of nentral territory $(k)$ ；and this rule applies equally to dealings in mones as in other commodities（ $l$ ）．Nor could such an whigation，even if it existed．be adequately discharged by a neutral（iovermment，for the reason that such loans could，at any rate in cases where there was no public issue，be effected by methods incapable of Nefection（m）．From the standpoint of current usage the legality of such loan＊is equally unquestionable．So，in 1842，the Govermment of the United States，in reply to a protest made by Mexico，stated that＂as to adrances made by individuals to the Govermment of Trexas（ $n$ ），the Mexican Goverment hardly nesd to be informed that there is nothing unlawinl in this so long as Texas is at peace with the Thited states：and that there are things which no Govern－ ment undertakes to prevent＂（o）．In 18nt a Ruswian loan was puldicly issued in Amsterdam，Berlin，and Hamburer，and this in pite of some protest on the part of France（ $p$ i）．In 1870 both a Fronch loan and a part of the North German loan were issued in Lombon．In 1904．Tapanme loans were iswed in Lomdon and Berlin， and Russian loans in Paris and Berlin，without in cither case pro－ woking ans remonstrance．But alhough ouch loms are permissible

[^84]of scizure as contraband if taken in transit．Cold and silver in eoin or bullion．together with paper moner， destined for the use of a forernmont departmont or its armed forces，are now made absolute contraband：su： the 1 eeclaration of 「onden．Irt． 3 ．3．）． （m）Né l「all．50！．
（21）Which at that time had been revernized an indepondent．

（／1）Is to tha（＇ontedbrate loan amd Iloorrs．Int．Irls．i．H2O）． under the existing law, and althongh it wonk bo obviously mendesirable to atempt to interfere with dealings of at purety private character, is is probahle that the general adoption of a male prohibiting the "phblic issue" of loans on hehatif of a belligerent might verve Iroth to curtail tho duration of wats and in some cases perhaps eren be rathed bey way of international agreement, and womld then be binding onty on the parties $(q)$. The question of loans to insurgents. and the di-imetion in this regard hetween recognized and umserognized insmoents. have aheady been comsidered 1 i .
(rifts und loluntery ('ontributions. - For a nentral state linowingly to allow contributions to he raised within its terxitory on behalf of dither belligerent would madombedly ho a heath of neubral duty in the case of intermational war: ame a breach of duty even in the case of a eivil war or insurection; for such eommbutions ean only have a political ohjeet and camot be justified by the prineiple of fieedom of commeree (s). Nevertheless they are hard to deteet, and the duty of a nemral State in this regard is not one of absolute. mevention. but only a duty of wing all reasonable vigilance for the purpose of prevention. Hence if eontributions on behalf of either hebligerent are promoted by means of any puhlic organization of: appeal it will be itc duty to intervene. But if only privately pro-moted-in which case they wond prohably ho limited to belligerent - ubject on some small boty of neutral sympathisers--such contributions woukd probahly pass monoticed, and conkl not be regarded as a canse of complaint agamst the nentral Govermment (t). The furnishing of fomds by persons resident in a nentral state on behalf of the sick and wounded, or in reliof of suffering on wither side, is not a breach of nentrality, and in recent wads this has bern freely permitted (a). It the same fime. eren in this case the oflofial instrumentalities of the neutral State onoly not 10 be lent or berd for this purpose ( $x$ ).
(if) On the subject erenerally, we 1Kall, 590: Westlake, ii. 217: Oppenheim. ii. 430) : Moore, lligest. § 1311.

(s) For instanes in the RussoBapanese war, see Hershey, so of seq.
(1) More ceprefally as the ammunt. woukl probably be incientifeant. This.
it is concerived, is the meaning of the words "e "arried to any conecisable extent," used in the opinion abowe (ited. p, :36.
(iif) Sere Moore, Digest, vii. 97T.
(a) For examples, see Hershey, sl; Takahawhi, 1.55.

NATION.IL NEITRALITY LAIWS.  (i) GREAT BRITAIN.  REG. . JAMESON AND OTHERS.

[1896; 2 Q. B. $425 ; 65$ L. J. M. C. 218.]
Case. Th 1hember, 189.j, a considurable foren of the British South Arima ('o.'s armed police. under the command of Dr.
 neap the wetern frontier of the then somth 1 frican Republic. suhampently. in rexponer to an appeal for aid from British resi-trer- wrowed the fromion and marthed in ams on Johanmelbirg.

 were distequded. The Transtal (bovemment. having succonded partly he theats and partly by promise of reform in arerting a rising at Johamesture, dexalched a strong Lorce to mect the maders, and after a shmp contont fored them to surrender. 'The prianels were aftemade hand al orer for pmishthe movemont were thomenon brought to Eneland: and were within the limit, ot H. X. dominions. and withour the lemon of How Xajon! promemo of fite ont ant amat we military axpedition to procent asains the dominions of ens friondly numt u' citho": whil-ismet. I? provide for the pmishment of int the riretmotanes of the (exse' $a$ ) were taken on behalf of the aceused hett ultimatns ormruled (l) The accuand wre timally vides that it -hall extmal to all Bri-as trom the data at problamation.

16. 'Tlo ruliner in law woro wixnn in part in the (gumen: Bemeh flivion for motion to frash the in-tried at bax, and haring been found guilty, were sentenced to rarions terms of imprisonment.

The Summing up.] Lord Russell of Killowen, L.C.J., in his summing up, referred to the general character and object of the Foreign Enlistment Let. It was, he pointed out, an expression by municipal law of the international obligations of the country. Its provisions were directed towards enforcing the strict ncutrality of the Queen's subjects; and aimed at preventing the use of any part of the Queen's dominions as a base of hostile operations, not only against a Power at war but with which the country was at peace, but also against the sovereignty or territorial integrity of a foreign Power that was not then at war. It was, in fact, a partial expression of that duty which every Sovereign State owes to every other, viz., to use all reasonable efiorts that its subjects did not violate international obligations. 1. regards the proof of an offence under sect. 11 , such an offence was complete if it was shown that a person, without licence of the Crown, and in a place where the Act was in force, either prepared or assisted in the preparation of a military or naral expedition, with the intent that it should proceed against the dominions of a friendly State, whether in fact it did so proceed or not. Lssuming such a preparation, moreover, as that deseribed, a ferson might be guilty of participating therein, even though he was not himself within the Queen': dominions at the time, as where he sent guns or ammunition from a foreigu country to a place where such a preparation was going on. 1 person might also commit the offence of taking emplorment in such an expedition, eren though he had not engrued or assisted in its preparation; and eren though he accepted such employment outside the Queen's dominions, as where hr joined it after it had left tho-e dominions. But in cach case there must be knowledgo that the expedition so proposed was intended to prosend arainst the dominions of a nental statr. Io to what ombtitutm an illegal expedition, it mus. Te one which intemterk l,s form or show of form either for intorfere with the constituted (iovernment, law. of : mbinifition. or to bring abont some chane therein. Nor mond tho roult be in any way affectod by the fact that thowe who participated in it did not seek the actual orerthrow of the（iovermment or were actuated by motives of philanthrops or humanity．

A nentral state is bomm not only to observe the obligations of nentralify in its own public action，but also to use vigilance in enfore－ ing a tike observance on all persms found within its jurisdiction（o） Hence most states have fund it neersary to pass laws or enact． regulation for charing the observane of their memtality．Thes constitute the national law of neutrality，between which and the general law of neutrality there is in prastice．even though not in theory，a certan intinaty of relation（d）．

In the case of（rreat Britain，the first real nentrality law was the Foreign Enlistment Act 1819，which was parsed in consequence of the part taken be British sulojects in the war then prevailing between Spain and her Amerisan colonies（e）．This Aet－59（ieo．HI．c． 69 －was directed more especially against illegal enlistment，the fitting out withont licence from the Crown of armed vessels for employment against a friendly stane，or the delivery of commissions to such pessels，and the augmentation of the force of foreign war vessels $(f)$ ． The disputes that ofeurred between（rreat Britain and the United States over the＂Alabama clame＂（g）semed to dired attention to the defects of this Act，and a special Commission was appointed to enfuire into and report on the subject（ $h$ ）with the result that the earlirr Act was son afterwads replaced by the Forrign Enlist－ ment Act， 1870 （ $i$ ）．This Aet in effect：（1）Makes it an offence pun－ ishahlo he time and imprisoment，of either，for any person within British jurjodiction（ $k$ ）to enlist，or to induce any other person tw enlist withont licence（ $l$ ．）in the service of any foreign State（ $m$ ）at war with a friendly State（ $n$ ）．（2）It attaches a similar penalty．in addition to the forfeiture of the ship and her eqmipment．to the （．．）Sumill．p．2sis：and，as to the extension of this duty to cases of civil war or insurection acaint a fremdly Power．1．315－9．
（11）1．1ヶット．1）．340．
（c）Ther cardier statutes arminst for－ mign mblitment．sumb ax ：dan．Г．c．\＆

（i）Twor motaht dawions un the to the＇ittince me on stant in ade of （fi）The report wat mbli：hed in 1867.

（i） 33 \＆ 31 Viet．c． 90.
（7i）Or for a liritish subject any－ where．

Tin limane reformed to is a limen．．from the（＇rown duly senitied 1－mapurad by－mot．15．
（m）Be virtue of the interpretation chan＊）…t．3）．this intudes any pro－ mant in or wer the samm：－－ 4 \％ arsoln，supitu． （，i）Sitat．t．Jrovicion is pow made for fla mani－hment of ：men amd following ant-: (a) Bnidting. (1) ugrering to buill as hip with inont ar knowledge. (on with reatomate (an*e top belief, that the State al wat with a friendly stane; (b) issuine a commission to any -hip with the like intont: © ernipping any wip with the like intent: (1) al allowing the despatch of any wip with the like intent (o). But then penaltio are not to attach of a person who is huilding or Muipline a sinip in pursuane of a contract made letore war, provitad he erives notice, upon the issue of a proclamation of neatrality, to the Secretary of state. fumishes the required parsubl illmatits, we for herented on applicution male the the Comet

 the buncts of the exe wive !a! by empmering the Secretary of Stateit if vationd hat a hip hat hom hailt. mpipped. of rom-

 "ithom shel: : Watan, on infomation th the sane offect reasonably

> (11) S. S.
> (\% S. 10
athl th to the punishment of amerest-tho lw, 12.

(s) Si. 11.

(11)

(1) 心. 25)
(:1 ட- 1! ! : 11 statute are peramally exemped from liability (b). 'The Aet itselt is math applicathe to all Briti-h dominions, including adjacent territorial waters (e): the powers eonfermed hy it on the sectetary of State heins exercineable in cretain places ontside (irea! Britain ly (invermin (d).

The whers anme of nentral datis. on the ombreak of war hetween other statos, is fanhom inculated and emfored by a Prochamation of Sombality amb he the jxis of sperial Xentality Orders. No. on a P'medamation was iswmet 1 ) mpoininge the striel observance of all nemtal whlinations. whether imposed hy monicijal of international 1s70, which deal with illesal enlistment, sinpmilding, and expeditions el as well a the purpori of other sections dealing with procedume ( $f$ : and linall! ( 3 ) directing atemtion to the lact that persons encrasing in the (antage of contraband, or hreach of hluckade, or of hotligeremt appome aml maki vaim no protedion imon their own

The Neutrality ()raters incued on the sams momatom (h) were in using Britin prota or reritorial waters as ar sation or renort for to lexte ally por we waters lous which any vescel, whother a warship shipe in the *amm on ally whoy lbitioh part (!) waters. withom

-pecial permisoion. until after the expiration of three montho. (.) Ammed ships of either belligerent were interdicted from carryinw prizes made ly them into British ports or waters. The Goremen or other chief authority was required to notify and publish these rules in all British possesions beyond the seas (i). By further Orien- isutud on the sth August, 1904 , it wa- directed (1) that the huspitality usmally accorded to belligeremt warships in neutral porn- homla mot be taken to extent so as to enable such rescels to use neutral ports for the purpose of hostile operations; (ㄴ) that the existing regulations as to supplies and coal rust not. therelore, lee understood as having any application to the case of a helligerent fleet proceeding either to the seat of war or to position: or the line of route, with the object of intercepting nentral vessels on suspicion of carrving contraband of war; (3) that such a fleet should not lee permitted to make use of a British port in any way for the purpose of coaking: either diretty from the shore or from olliens acommpanving the fleet. and this whether the rescels of the fleet presemed themselver at the port at the same tine or succesrively : and it: that the same restrictions were to be imposed on -ingle belligrent vershl. if it was dear that they were procediner for the purpan of belligerent opmations an abore defined: although 1.) there lule were not waphly wesen puting into port in distress (k).

Amongst the mure notahle decisions on the application of the Fonelon Enlistuent Act. 18T0, are Lhe folluwing:- In the cave of thw (ionmflet L. IR & P' ('. 18t where British tho hark been amplored lay she French Consul at Dorer to tow a (rerman merchant wesel that had beers taken a- prize bey the French. From Enolish Watere to Imukirk road- -it was hell liv the Judiorial (rommittee of tho Prive ('mmeil: $/$ that wach dmploymmin ammented to "a despatchins of the ship, with intont" within the nemainge of rem. s: and the fus was accmplagly emmlemmed as a fordeiture to the (rown. This requirennents of international law'int. But. in the case of the Intermatiomili. R. : A. & E. 321, where a Britinh rewel during mont, in lavine down sulmarine cables betwetn certain portions ot the Fowneli coast -it wa- held that such all emplorment did not (w)

211.232.

 No. 1. (‘1. 2!)t.
(7) Rewersiner the decision of the Combt of drmirally.

it with a naval or military character within the meaning of the section．In Reg．v．sandocal and others（56 L．T．526），it was held that the offence of preparing a hostile expedition，under sect． 11 of the Act，was sufficiemly constituted by the purchase by a foreigner then resident in England of arms and ammunition there，and by their shipment thence to a foreign pord for the pur－ pose of being put on hoard another resel，also purchased in England， with the knowledge that hoth ship and crew were to be used in a hostite demonstration against a friendly State，even though the defendant took no part in any overt act of war，and even though the ressel was not fully equipred for the expedition within the British dominions（ 1 l ）．

（ii THE UNITEI）心T．JTEが

THE UNITED STATES $r$ QUINCY．

［1832： 6 Peters．455：Scott， 706.$]$
Case．The defondant in thin mase was charged with an offence under seet． 3 of the Neutrality ．Aet． $1818^{\prime} \mathrm{mm}$ ）．＇This prorides． in effect．that if ant pereon shall，within the limits of the United states fit out and arm，or knowingly be eonecrned in the litting out or arming of any ship，with intent that such ship shall be employed in the service of any Loreign stat ． 10 eruise or commit hostilities against the subjeris or property of any forefges state with be guilty of a nisdememour and liable to tine and imprisonment． It appeared from the evidence that the defendant had superin－ tended at Baltimore the making of eertain repair or alterations of a vessel called the＂Bolivia＂：that this rescel had subsequently left Batimore．having an oquipmont hevond that of a merchant reseel，and with some watike stores on hourd：that she had then procected under his mommand．the owner heing also on homed． to ste．Thomas，where the owner，having promem the necessaty funds．aquiped her as a privatere：and that sho then assumed the flag of the Chited states of Lat Plata．and thereafer eruiend and committond hostilition agains the subjects and property of [^85]the Emperor of Brazil. with whom the Cuitrd state- wre then at peace. The defembunt, on returning to the U'nited states, was prosecuted on the whare aforesuid. On the trial of thes catos before the ('irmat Comet. And after the chon of the widence, each party prared for particmar instrustions to the jury on certain point-of law. . Ss the grinions of the juders diftomed.

 Comet.
 With the gaterion acto what would =ullice to (x) rule I ons the liahility both of the state in inmonamal law. and of it is . Wen that no liability would bee inemend by a state from a sot dhamestandand of meutral duty than had hitherte perailed, (mbstame of the ware which were hen promeling hetwern spain and Probugal and their mepnetive dmeriman monnes. The more

```
(,.) \.aminue than is. Thm thew hand (,.) \.ammenglam is. Fim, thew hand
```

```
            \
            \
            Thi* hatime luran ma,mumblow a trmamary lot of 1人1:
```

```
5%1.
```

 wi-riat. or propla."

 stat. . .iz!?
(a) to tit out or arm. Or to be knowingly concerned in fitting out at amming, any ressel with intent to employ her in the service of a foreion State to commit hostilities against a friendly State ( $i$, or to is-ue a commmission to such ressel with the like intent; or (b) 10 increase or angment the force of any vessel of was of ally forfign state at war with a friendly state; or (c) to prepare any military roperdition to proceed thence against a friendly State. (ti It also iomfers on the executive oremment exceptional powers with respect to the detention, restitution, or expulsion of rescels. in rases of delingrency: requires the owners of armed ressels owned in whole or part br citizens, and learing the United States, to gire security against their illegal employment. and authorizes the detention of such reseck by the local authorities in cases of suspicion: and finally empowers the President 10 employ either the land or sea forers in order to exerute its provisions. This Act, although in some respens les- prece in it terminology than the correspondiner British Act. deals, it will be seen, with much the same classe- of tomis. Like the latter Act, it applies to aid giren to unrecognized insureent aqainst a Govermment in amity with that of the United States ? b, hut not to aid given to the parent State against a revoltinge community whose helligerency has not been recognizal by the Chited statos $m$ ). In the [nited states. as in (ireat britain. it is usual on the outhreak of wat between foreion states 10 i-w ene at Prorlamation of Nentrality im.

The United states nebtrality law have beent the suloject of a

 In the ployed a- a privatwer had heen dofited in the Unitel chates ind -ent by her owners umder the American fag to Buemos Ares for sale as a "ommerdal atremthe: -he wa- theresold to and swhequently commixioned a- a resel of wat hy the lotenos Aree (rovermment.

 hom 1: that therw was unthing. dither in tho Nommality Aed

```
1).
```

```
15bi!.
    (o) F'ur ther term- uf tlu pwoctamm-
```

```
or in antivipatioss rof ther litaso-
```

Japanear war. sme the thatatre at

(o) I *ummars of the judicial history of the subjeret down tor latiti will bre fonmal in Whaton (1tana). n . ㄹl.: whll the more inapmotant of the

1\%. 1 at the shafr of an wali-tument.
vitiating all cathums made during that crnises, with the result that the proereals of such saphere found within the jurisaliction must be rentementr. In the thited states v . Trumbull ( 48 Fod. Rep. 99 : sonts. 7 Bt, it appearel that the defendant, during the civil war in (hile. hand come the the lited states and there mate extensive purChasp of arme and munitions of war on helalif of the Coneressional party. and than the Ituth a 'hilian versel, then in the service of the parts. had heen despached from Chike to fetch these, and subsequently tonk delivery of them within the territorial waters of the Ynitall states from a small meserl on which ther had been shipperl for that purpse he the defendam. On these facts the defendant was subsenplently indictod for a riolation of the nentrality laws, it being Waratal, amonest wher things, that he had been emeerned in the illegal angmemation of forento, and in the preparation of a hostile sendine of a ship, from (Wite to the Inited States to take on hoard arms and ammmition purchased in that country and carry thens bark to "hile. diel mot constitute cither a "fitting out and arming," or a "formishing" "f the reswl. or a "setting on foot of any military expertitim," whith the numaner of the sections in question, there being un law fonthdine any peron we (roverment from purchasing arms from the ditizen- of the lonied stater and shipping them at the risk of the purthasm! ! : anl (2) that the fact that much secreer and doceptim had heens pandised by those on hoard the Itatu. ann] that whe ham tinally united San Diego in violation of other pro-within the purvinw of the tathe unter which the charge was laid ( 6 ). lonted stater and (hilw. ()n visiting fan Diemo. the Itate harl whilst in the emotuls of the mashal of the ('ourt and with that her verage to (hite. Therempon she was porsum and arrested the Itula :

wímon, who. in detiault oi proot. rould not be prowned to bat shljent of tho which are taknon. undor the awd mality thr L nitod Statm alut wwhel h心

Lontl in llar loi-trint athel ('ir-

- ait ('murt-

xi. 1.52.
(:) Intra.

was illegal. Thi was wetered for determination to a Commission appointed under the Lnited slates and Chilian Claims Convention of 1892 . with the resul that an award was ultimately made in favour of the ramants (c).
(ievarsi Nomse. The Relation of the Vatiomal bo the Intermetionel Lane of - Veutrality.- As between states, the dutien of nennational law. The local noutality laws apar form the bear beag hand, thes lans ball thon of international requirenent-, their insumiciones camot le phemted as an extuen for the mom-dictarge of an intmpatmal duty. Thi was fomally mold the tenera Tribmad, d: and doe mot appen to be in any way quatiliod by

 Power in phe-tion. Home, in thens a bolligement amon trat have fompone: latedy on maty mon then intuenter it the berment the signatories: that somb riatos have dither mot acemped them on hate aceepted then wher rewervalion ol partionlar prosisime: that they leate many points molealt with: and that somme ate repplisel for be intermationally metilied (hle).

 a) intomatimat law ant on such provi-imas ol tho manioipal corle like dmazil. posion permament nenimatit montations whith operate publi-h a derdaration mabodying neutrality regulations. ahthongh in hreali at the Ruser-Japanese war a dedaration of mentralitr was

```
11. !2. !%. !!3. -%.
```

```
    (i) sumatimon attontion i- al-n dirmeted to particul:ar prosivioms ot
```

(/- Tl a Bravilian Noutrali! E Eliot
 rol atere -imilar to the Ortare i-and byy Gireat britain, sare that let. Wh intorposes a dilay of seronty-twor lomm- botwomathe if parmaro of a sailine rescid of onm hevlionerent and a steamer of the other.
belonging to or intended for the service of either belligerent, the supply of such ressels with prorisions or fuel without permission, and the sale of prizes or the holding of the same for the purposes of preservation: and (3) also directs attention to certain protisions of the civil and penal codes relating to these matters, and the liability incurred by persons engaging in the carriage of contraband or other acts which a belligerent is matitled to restrain. Special regulations were also issued with respect to the treatment of belligerent warships in the ports and waters of the Netherlands Indies. These limit the number of warships that may be present in port at the same time; adopt the "rule of $2 t$ hours stay," as well as that of " $2 \pm$ hours' interval": forlid the entry of vessels accompanied by prizes except in cases of distress: limit the supply of prorisions or fuel to an amount rulficient to carry a ressel to the nearest port of its own country, whilst denying such supply to a warship accompanied by prizes; require the abandonment of prizes as a condition of asylum; and forbid the sale or exchange of prize or booty (l).

RESTRAINTS ON NEUTRAL TRADE—THE DUTS OF IrQLTESCEACE.  THE " HELEN."

1865: T. R. 1.1. & E. 1.]

Case. 111 thin case the master of the ship, "Helen" sued for wage. under an agreement entered into between himself and the owners. The defendante l, their answe alleqed, intor alia, that the agreenent win entered into for the purpose of ruming the blockade of the southern ports of the Lnited States or one of them, and was therelore contrary to law and could not be recognized or enforced by the Court. On motion hy the plaintiff, this part of the defondant's answer was ordered to be struck out, on the ground that trading with a blockaded port wan not illewal, in the sense of being an oftence under the municipal law, erm prity on liability to appun and comblemation.

Judgment. Dr. Lialington, in hir jucgommt, whecred that: much turned on the emes in which the werd "illecral" was ned.
2) I roll ction of the e and other Foth (ingerne, ard sa-sion, 1yntrowations will he found in 1. S. Hone Ducuments (Foreign R-lations), Contrats tor breath of hlockade or for the carreing of contraband wer. no duabt, illegal, in the sense that ther exposed the parties to such penal consequences as were sanctioned by international liw. But the illegality was one of a limited character. The relative situation of belligerents and neutrals was that a nentral momtry had a right to trade with all other countries in time of peace. Why should this right of the neutral be interrupted ber war? To this the answer of a bolligerent was that he must reize contraband and enforce blockade in onder to carry on the war. In the result the respective righto of the parties were regrulated by usage. In the case of bloekade, if all newssary conditions twere complied with, the belligerent was by the usage of nations allowed to capture and condemn neutral vessels which attempted to violate a blockade, without interference or remonstrance on the part of their Government. But it was no part of such usage that such royages should be treated as illegal, or that a neutral State should be bound to prevent them. In English law the acts of British subjects in relation to belligerents could not be treated as offences exept under the provisions of some statute. The Foreign Eulistment A.et was itself a proof of this. And on this point there was no essential difference betwern breaking blockade and carrving contraband. So, aceording to the practice of all the principal State of Europe, the insurance of a contraband rorage wav not ant offener asainst mmimpal law. And the result of the Ammican derisions was the rame ' $a$. Both principle, authority, and usage required the rejection of the doctrine that to carry on trade with a blerkaded prot is or ought to be a municipal offence br the lan of nations.

 17. it was helri that a complat of partorship in blockade-to municipal law. In his judgment, Lord Westbury observed that toms al wat to a hallispont muntry was either a prosumal offene

[^86]andinst the helligerem captor, or an act which gave the latter any gromm in complaint agains the Guvernment of which the fumers wa- at -uhore. Ill that international law did was woubject the muaral merdhant th the rikk of having his ship and cargo captured and combumed he the bellizenent Parer for whon enemy the con-in Enclinh law the nom-diodsoute of the real chatacter of such a clainion lamagen of (rfarmi Siben. The Inty of Iequiescencend)- In the conflict of inturn whin aroe hetwern the belligerent, whodwired wherner of ane paty of to pomate thane of the other: in which rate the

```
                                    |:%%.
```

```
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|}
\hline  &  1: W. \\
\hline  & (\%) Y/, ॥., \\
\hline  & Thir lionm! lirmbeneln .fernwiere \\ \hline I 11 , &  \\
\hline  & 1, + +1i, i, i, \\ \hline  & \\
\hline
\end{tabular}
```

 propert!

 diffornt prine iphes. with mmeh reahtime eomblason. Which ultimately

(i) Wthoush thi- was not alway durine the Nitputenne wars som dition of the blowkde bering effertive: sir pr 10.) , infor.

ごが ＇ases and Upinions on International Law．

under a practice whith is commonly known as＂the rule of the war inte on he nemmal in time of war of a trate eloned to thens in the of peace $h^{\prime \prime}$ ：a practice which in，as wh sall some admissible in principle（1）and which is still followed by sone stanes．althongh of cosmmar rate and ohservaces in relation to belligerent rights their grnetai hatarter and tenow，were get greaty lacking both in ertainty and miformity as regards their precive limits and morde of application． （ii）As Morlifion ly Comention．On many points，however，this want of certainty and unifurnity has now been corrected by Con－ rontion．The Declaration of Paris． 18.56 ．in addition 10 abolishing Irisaterins，which was perlaps the most noxinus feature of the tanhermen，and pohiliting of＂paper blockades，＂also narrowed thus．orge of helligent interference with neutral trade by exempt－ ing from apme tomb emeny gools in neutral shipe and neutral enond in ments shipe of long as they were not of a contraband chmacters．Sut this still left a wreat variety of topics，some of Them of the firet improtance．On which the practice of Stales continued to he diverent on antandictr．The commercial inmententence and the damer of imomational compliations which aroe from this nowlo complioms：a fand forcibly exmmplifed low the evont of the Dedaration Lomdon drawn up．Thi－Dodaration deals with the will hom－idemen hareatow in connetion with the particular enpios

－ 1
3
191.
time war (!) . the heqatity of the conversion and reconsersion of merchant hipe intw warships on the high seas $(z)$ and the right of neutrals to engage in a trath eloned to them in time of peace ( $z z$ ).
(iii.) The Anthorit! of the Inecterution of Lowedon.-The Derdaration of Landon will. of wance, be limting on surh Powers as may finally matily it: and will hen mary a juint obligation on the part of all the state that aremp it thenme the manal onsamene of its rules in any war in which all the belligemente are pandins io it: as

 Court, if and when that Court is established (h). It is probable, moreover, that the Declatation. if widely acmeted, will sooner or later berome hinding atan on non-tignator Powers as representing the predominant practioe of States (c). Fimally, even if it shouk remain matatied, the Declaration will, it is momeved, exerrise a protound influmen on futme pravim: for the reatom that it embotion thooe mater whim the sepresentative of the learling having resurd to the existing divergenen of mactice amd the respection intemeto of helligrents aml matrak Homes. so far as its provisions axtmol. it is junnaho that helligerento who act under it powernl. what semmon thathon that mombend mastanm which

THE (IMRI.IC, OF

THE "FORTUNA."

```
                                    1. 24.
            i:3: 1'm! 1%.0.4N
```

1. - latr. that i. .t. H! ... in-fins: withmat the buratation is im-pumbable.

for Lishon, was captured by the British, and brought in for adjudication. Tho Ship wis condemmed as being enems property: hot the careo, being neutral property, was restored. and was subsecuently forwarded to Lisbon, its original destination, and there delivered to the consigno. The ease now eame before the Court upon an application her the captore for freight, semerity having been previouty giren to abide the decision of the Court on this point. In the circumstances it was held thet the captors were antitled io fiedight.

Judgment. sil $\mathbb{I V}^{\text {. Stott, in giving judgmem, said that in }}$ such a rase he appedended the rule to be that al eapore was entitled io freight. just as he would not be mitithed of it if he did not puosed and perlorm the original worage. Thw peritie contract wat pertmoned in the one case and not performed in the other. The true rulo wa- that a captor who had performed the "ontract of the rowel wane entitled to lireight as a mattor of right: although if he had done anything to the injury of the property, or had been guilty of any misomduct, he would remain answerable for the effect of such miseonduct or injurs. in the wat of set-ofl against his clain. In the present case, howerer, the captor: had done nothing for forfeit their right. and lreieht to them mu-t aceordingly be decreed.

[^87][^88]

 gemaral. he atlocted hy he face of the vecel herself hawing resinted Comms, it will le fordotad if the goorls were shipped on board all armad fersed of the ememy, for the reason that this is regatded as avileme of hosile ascoriation and intontion to resist visit take a dilteremt view: loblding that a nembal owner may lanfully himseff does not diberty partieipate therein (!f).

Fron thr print of viow of the French Gourts. nentral goods embarked on fomer resels are also subject to the risk of loss in the case where such shipe are destroved. so. in the wase of the Xornctros where it appeared that a (ierman reseel haviner nontral soods on hoard had heon captmod be tho Frenche and destroyed together with her rater an application for compensation he the Englidy owners of the eareo. on tho plea that nowtal goods were protected hathe bedatation of Paris. Wax ratued: this decision hering haved on thr view that aldhough the berlaration rerognized the impont that an indemmits cond he demamded for injury or loss sus-followed it $1 i$. And this intopretation of the law would appear on will be mitidal whemmits. eren thongh the act of destruction

^89 I alluz. IST2. iii. It.
(i) I similar judement wis eivert

(hi) sue the l)e lanation of London, 1!409. Irt. 53: and as to the quesligin ut the permissibility of the $\therefore$ i, 1,

(ii ENEMY (iOOIS IN NEUTRIL SHIPŚ.
DARBY i. THE BRIG "ERSTERN."
[1782: 2 Dalla~. 34.]
Case. In $17 \times 2$, during war between Great Britain on the one hand, and France and the United States on the other, the island of Dominica, which then b longed to Great Britain, capitulated to the enemy. By the terme of the rapitulation all commercial intercourse with Great Britain was prohibited. Subsequently certain British subjects attempted to erade the prohibition by carrying on a trade through the medium of a neutral port and the neutral flag. In the present case it appeared that the "Erstern," a neutral ship, had cleared from London, with a cargo belonging to British owners. ostensibly for Ostend : and that after arriving at Ostend she had deared with the same carco. now purporting howerer to have heen transered to nentral orners. for Dominiea. On her royage thither she was captured by a United States erviser, and was brought in for adjudication, on the ground of having intended a violation of the capitulation. The United states had in 1780 adopted the principle of "free ships, free yood. ": and hatl his an odinane of Congron exempted from capture all $n$ utal mesh. axept -uch as "templored in "arreing contraband and the like to the enems. In the Court below both ship and carco were acquittel: the neatral ilag being Wemed. her virtur of the ordinance in quation. on cover enemy gronds. But, on appeal. both ship and cargo wer conlemned. (nn the gromed that excn thongh the nentral dag misht corer eremy goods. it would not satlice to protect nither wand ar careo against the rublts of mmentral conduct such a that hiscloced.

Judgment. In giving judgment, the ('ourt -tated that, according to the eridence, it appeared that the -hip was nentral and the cargo enenty property. Denling with the objection that the -hip, being nentral, could not properly be taken ats prize. it was pointed wut that if the ownels of a neutral hip riolated their nentralite by taking a decided part with the memy, the ship would then he in the pediament of memy propery and subject to seizure and contisation. In the present cem the factshowed that the owners of the ship had entered into combination "ith the wwate of the eatero, and had by the bes of false amb colommabe papers taken on themselves the ownership of the careo, and clothed it with the wath) of nentralite, in order to sereen it from detention and wapturn. The offence did not lie merely in attributing to combs propery a neutral chameter, for such por-

 - dablish British eomme were whminca, in derogation of rights arpuimel in war by the other belligerents. I) aling with the contration that the cargo cond not be taken as prize be mason of the ordinance of ('ongress that enemy properts. not beine contraband. found on meutral ships was protected, it was pointed out that if the ship had been employed in fair commore, hex caroo, ahthough the property of : an momy, would not have been priz', because it had been provilad be (ougres that the righte of neutrality should extend protertion to the groods amd effecter of an enems. But ('ongres had not provided that a violated nemtrality shonk afford suh protertion: nor ceuld it inded have done so without confounding all ditinetion* between right and wrond.

```
rulm.

 two strong! renmated priniples, whith were followed by difterent States or eromps of rates. (1) Acerding to mer principle. the liability of prepery to capture was detmmined hy the mentral or ruemy chatacter of its owner. and not be that of the reasal in which it was carpind. On this view, the goode of a friend. not lexing emortraband, were free if found in an enemy versel. whist the grods on an enemy were liable if fomed in that of a friend. The persume of this rule on neutrats, however. was afleriated in pration hes eertain ancillars rules, moder which a captor who tomk emomy gond- on a nentral ship) wat required, on theif emblemation. (1) pay frequt to the newral carrim. (apure being demed equivalent to delierer, exept where his righ had heen forfeited by unneural condact (d);

 of the property in sither cane was hedd to depend on the mationality of the ressel in which such goods were tarried, this hemo in seneral detemmed by her flag. On this vinw, ememy greals, mot hemgen-expmesed in the maxime "fres ships, free genet," and "hosile ships, view of the compronise whid watultimately reacheot om this alloject, and which is mow miverally accepted, it is meotleo of trace fhe their operation in pramice was ereaty qualified hy treates which were made ionn time to time hat wemp partionlar state and hat such tieatios were often matd with lithle reqard to uniformity of eonsist-\(90)\).

 this wreatine in the nentral intorest. by suctrine in eroneral the dur delivary of thre enoml.
 soott, sisl.
(!) Thas- Statme whirl ombaraly followed the miterion wi whership ofton adonterl be traty tho reitarion of the flate either wholly or in part; whilat state which odinarily loltians adopeter that of wworshits.

 with it: "opoblary. "hotilo ships, hostike erond " \({ }^{\circ}\) huit at oflere times separaterl from it. Sut infropaently. tron. we find tho samm Stato makime with other Stater treatios of ath "flesite - hataroror
(h) S゙ees 11 all, 6isk ot sity. 71.5 at suy.. Westlake, ii. 12t, ot serf.

 (9.41,h, 388, (i31).
at thins: whem. on the onthreak of the ('rimean wat, in 185. Geat Britain anf Francr, beino allies, fomm if necesway to adopt common tuks with respect. 10 matitime eapthre. A compomise was there-

(ii.) The I ereforation of Preris. 18.sti. It the close of the war, this sethement of a lomostanding comtroxems was atepeded by the other with remtan whor primeindes of matime law, in the Dectataion of (2), that mentral soods. with the exopption of contrahand of war, goork." The berlanation, athongh wigimally hinting onty on the somatories (m) wha were alan partios to tho Theaty of Paris, had up to ! !ota heon acealed to her all Powers with the exception of whiki darine the was of 1898 both spain and the United States eomwror. The dedequtw both wi spain and Moxion dectared that their ohligation (huestinns that mn!! arise umler the existin! Late. With respect ration of Paris womld, it is amoeived, sill her ubhjed to the escep-for their hose in the arent of the pased brine dratored los a belli) smerol. i. 10.

```

    l:। Irt. Q.
    (7) Int. S.
    (m) No riorht of demmmeintion is resirved.
(%) l'口arme llimgin<. 3.
,.) lliid.

```

(f.) In whirh (ato the owner would, it i- comerived. bo ratitled to be plated as it the illeral ant had not bean committme see the Derlaration of London, drt. ix: athd. ats to the gutestion of the datrution of matral prizes: p. thi, i.fiol.
owner is entitled to a restitution of the goods, or to their proceeds if sold; whilst if the captor chooses to forward them to their destination. he would, it is conceivel, be entitled to freight (s). In the case where an enomy ressl is destroyed, it still remains to see Whether the Prize Con'ts of other countries, or the International Prizo Court it it shonkl be established, will follow the decision of the French ('onts in the cases of the Norwacrts and the Ludwig ( \(t\) ). In principle it would seem that, whilst a neutral owner who sends his gook hay enemy ressels most take the risk of all necessary acts of war, it will be incmbent on a captor who destroys an enemy ressel to show that the act of destruction, in consequence of which gookl that would otherwice have been restorable to the neutral owner hecame loti to him, was one stridty requined by military necessity. Otherwise, it would he open to a helligerent who chose to adope a general policy of destruchon, as rearde memy prizes, to render the provisions of the Doclamation of Paris an this subject virtually motory (u).

\title{
BLOCMIDE. \\ (i) (:OVERNING PRINOIPLAN. \\ THE "FRANCISKA."
}
|14.) t-5: Spinks, 111: 10 Moo. P. C. 37. |
Case. On the 2ind May, 18.it, during war hetwern (ireat Britain and Russia, the "Franciak," a Danish ressel, wat cap-diration on a charge of having altmpted to berak the blockade of Riga. On behalf of the owner it was contended that the shif, was under orders to proeed to Riga only in the went of that port not being under hockade: that the master had mado enquirie-, although whomt rasult, both at ('openhagen, where he had tomethed on tha 14 th Mas, and on the eoats: and that ho was deliswed, concerige imedentall! nom! the whole doman of the lan wh howkente. In dhe mant both ship amd rimigh were

\footnotetext{

(1) Ihin. Sic. Hall. 720.
(ii) 'The vase beine only one of : Whes of right, alt of whilh were heard.

}
condemmed, on the ground that the hockade was notoriens at the time when the vessed sated trom her last port and that the master hasing thes ampured notien of the blockade had in fact intemded to violate it. On appeal to the Privy Council, howerer, this deerec was reversed and rentitution grantal, although without roats. on the ground that the blockade, even though otherwise leqal, had been remderel inalid by extain relarations which had been granted to belligerent merchant vessels to the exclusion of neutrals; and, further, that the only notice be whish the master was affected was a notice whids went bevond the actual facts, and which was not therefore binding on neutrals. But save on these points the julgment dues not apprar to imperen the prinriphes latd down in fulgment of the Cone of Admiraltr. which may still be erearded as anthoritative.

Judgment of the Court of Admiralty. In thr Conrt below, Dr. Lushington stated at the outset that his judgment would be based on the general principles perionsly lad down by Lord Stowell, lor the reason, amongst others, that thove principles hat been recognized as a part of the law of nations be the celebrated fimists of the United states: and also that he propesed in the lis'st place to deal with those general questions in relation to hockade which aftertal the whole clas of case then before him (b).

The lirst question, then, was whether tha British admiral in the Baltic had amhority to otablish blorkmes. Whicle was a high act of sovereignty . Such an authority did not holong to a matal commandor in hic own right. Wha must be committed to -uch anthorit might b. implied, whitet in any case the adoption of a blockade be the (iowernment would hew the whet of widence both of prios anhomity and sub-mpent adoption.

The next quedion wan wherher the lome mptored to wab-bery lenerthy, axomditg oser sumu

\footnotetext{
 lini) Ilii).
(a) Thar Reilly (6; C. Rub. B6t).
}
lish the horkade was aderuatr: that being a que-tion distinet from ite due maintenaner. To be adequate the phace madrex blockade mut le watched by a fore sufticient to ronder "gress or ingres dangerous: in other words, sare under pecali:n circumstances. the force must be sullicient to render the capture of resels attempting to go in or come out most probahle. ( On this point the testimons of the Conmander-in-(hief was matrrial: il meontradicted it might b: comblume: whilst if wontradicted a conclusion mast he drawn from a consideration of the whole of the circum-taners. In the presont case there was no reason to sappoee that a foree of thre or four steam remens was not aderpate to blockade the eoant from Libau to Lriee Ort. a distance of hes than whe bundred miles. The mext equestion was whether the port of Riga conld be legally blockaded from Lyser Ort at a distance of 120 miles. As to this the widene: showed it to bre perfectly practicable for a wesel of war stationect wear Lares Ort at the matame of the erulf. with a hase of omly then mites to prownt the ingrose and revess of all flace within it. Tha legality of : blowkade was not affertod of it - legatite being not onm of plaw on distmen. but the mpacity of tho forec wherever maintained 10 (olt off all (wmmmention with the place howkaded e. Buth in principle and on athorite, moseover. it wa- remeisite to the validity of a blockade that the ("ake all these romditions had been momplied with.

The next grewtion was whether the blowkide wa- maintaineal with then neremary strictnere. Lo to this. il the form deputal and blw exiducw of the almimal himelf. tended to show this.

\footnotetext{
 1 rylar (1 Mos) & 11.207 . where it

}
go in and come out hy consent. When a blockatchad been establishod hy notitication, on won de farto kor so long a time that all Hentral mations must ho takent be blware of it, it was not legatly competent 10 the blockating fore to allow ingress or erows at thate pleasure. But whon a blockado de fardo had been recently (xtablished, then, as regetels egress, it with the privilege of a mentral trader to eome out with careo laden before blorkade, the bloekading oflicers havins to form their judgment on this as best they could: whilst neutral reseds in batlast might of eourse come out. I- regards ingress, to allow a vesul to enter would be a breach ol. duts, but it did not follow that erery resed seeking to enter must bo dopabed. (On the eontrary, il thow was reasonable gromad for helimine har ignorant of the blockurle. she mon-t be merely notifed or warned ; wen though it sometimes hatpened that such reseds subsequently sucemeded in lipphiner through. In the prosint ease there was no avilence of ships being allowed to go in or come out by permission. There was indeed evidence that a curain number of resels suceseded in enturing despite the blockade: but mantenance of a blockade was alwars be void. so lones an the blockadiag fore was rompetent and in evadine it. Soport rould be lamenotably eraled.

WVith repper to thr athetion whether 1.h: blockate war bindine beforr tho date at which it was published int the (ia\% tte. up) to the de ferele should be notiliod as soon as powible by the H Lomas altocrethere \(f\). If that were so. them al hlorkade de facto could comainly not be invalidstad setronerfivoly ly any delay in notitication. if it wits mborquently notitud.

With respect to the contention that the blockade was vitiated by the Orders in Council in conceding privileges to belligerent vessels as regards trade with the ports blockaded from which neutral: were excluded, the learned judge, after a careful consideration of the nature and the effect of these orders as regards neutrals, and a full recoguition of the principle that a belligerent is not cntitled to take for himself or concede to the other belligerent rights of trade prohibited to neutrals, concluded that the effect of the relaxation in question, being only partial. was mot. such as 10 invalidate the blockade, but only to confer on neutrals a right to similar treatment ( \(g\) : -

With respeet to the question of notice, knowladge on the part of the neutral was an indispensable requisite of liabilitr. In the case of blockade by notification notice of the blockade was communicated by the belligerent Gorernment to forcion Governments either through their representatives aceredited in it, or through ite own representatives abrond accredited to them: and any ignorance for which the neutral Government was responsible would be no excuse \(h\). In the rase of blorkade de facto, individnal waming in any rawel about to onter mat in gencral be exiven. But he laper of timk and other eiremmances a blockade de fredo might beeome on untorious that a knowledge of it mieht be conerally peetured, wither as a fresmptin furis et de jeine or as throwing the onne of proot on the chamant. Aftor evidence of this which hat heen actually adduerd. Hhe learned judere woneluterl that the blockade in que-tion was at any rate

 In the lielit of then principles. and on the erpomic that fles had mat :a balw dro-ition. and that he was in fact poometines

\footnotetext{
(!) (Jn lai* puint th.. judenment was

 (1) p). i) (1). infira. 11 f. 13:
}

 liditain amd bommark. makins it lawfal for かither farty to trad, with the "onomion of that nther. Wat alan dis-

to violate the blockade with Lull knowledge thereof', a decree of condemnation must be pronounced.

Judgment of the Privy Council. Lis the judgment of the Judicial Committee, which was dehivered by the Ret. Hon. T. Pemberton Leigh, it was pointed ont that the questions for decision were: ( 1 ; whether the port of liga was on the 14th Mat the date at which the besoll left Copenhagen and after which there wa* no proof of ans further notice-lecgally in a state of blockade; and ( 2 , if so, whether the master or owner had such notice of the blockade as to subject the ressel to condemnation.

With respect to the existence of a legal blockade, it appeared that the British admiral had on the 1.5th or trth April estalblishah, by a competom force properly stationed for th purpose, an effective blockade of the ports of Libru, Windau, and Riga, and that this blockade was subsisting at the time of seizure. On the question of authority it mast be presumed that the admital had authority from lis (Government to institute such a blockade of the liuwim purt as ho might deem desirable.

It appared, howerer, that on the 1 th of \(\Lambda_{\text {pril }}\) the British Governmont had issued an Order in Comeil. which in effect pre mitted Ruswin wsels sailing hefore the 1.5 hh May from any had grantod a similar pormission as romards Reassian vesonls sailing for Fremeh furts; and that the liusian (fovernment had also concoded io Briti-h and Fromeh vesshs in Russian ports six work wihnin which to land and dopart for foretign ports. As requide uques from the handand ports, thesefore, the effeet of these ordinames wa- virtally tur remove. up to the dat. mentionsed, all metrictinn on the converane of emons in Rassian and Frenh bowls would siriols remain liable for sailine to allow the hedigeremts to carrs on a commeree from which nedtrat wore excluded: and the question was whether such an exchuion wan warrantel by the law of nations, and, if not. to what extent montals eoukd avail themsetres of the object tion. A- to this, it had been latid down by the learned judge in the Court below that ruch an exclusion was not justifiable, for the reason that a belligerent was not at liberty to reare to himsolf or wemerde to the other befligerent a right of carrving On commeretal intereonse that wan denied to neutral nations: that it was mititary ned alone which justitiod restraint- on mentral trade: and ilat il the belligeremt- themedres engaged in a trade date a henckude. the rame learned fuden had hed that the effect of a rolaxation which was ment partial but which at the same time execeded the limite of some sperial ocension, was not to invalidate the blockade. but to contitle mentral- to the benetit of similar tratment. In order to text this conclnsion it was necessary tu remember that the right of blockade was not founded on ant emeral unlimited right to wipple the enemy's commere: with nemtrals. (On the fontrary, it was admitted on all hands that a meutral hat a right to cart? on with cither belligerent during war all the trade that wa- open to him in time of peate: subject only to the exception of trade in contratmal goods and with blockaded port-: both thee exemptions being founded on the same rea-on, nameh, that a neutral has mo right 10 interfire with the militare operation of a helligerent. It was an acknowledged rule that the whe.e.t of horkade was to cut off all commmnicationi with thr blorkaded pleten whether for corres or ingress (i The Court could not therefore asent in the prope--ition that any objerem on the grount of pelaxations by the belligerent in hiv awn litone would be removed if the (ourt of Admimaty athowed the smme indulgenee to nevtrab: for sumb relasations. if appliad to meltrat on the same bams, misht.

\footnotetext{

}
prove of very little value，whila if construed more favourably thes would amomet to a general Trexdon of commerer which was incon－iannt with the existenee ol any horkade．The ambiguity， in which all these questions were left by the Order in Council， moremer，was another strong argmemt agamst the validity of the blockade：for if only a partial modified blockade was to bo onfored againt neutrals，then funtiee required that such moditi－ cation：－should be notilied to nentral stater，in order that they might be fully apprisel as to what ante their subjects might and might noot do．If these views were corrert it followed that at the time this resest sailed for Riga sher could mot be atfereded with notien of the blokades for the reame that there was no legal blockade in existence，and a neutral could not be required do \(f(r-t)\) ．

Is regard ingres into the howaded porte，certain redaxations in lan one of Ru－ian vessels then in or on their way to British ports：which were to be permited to return to their ports of destimation int their own country．But theme redaxations－assum－ ing．an anmel likels．that the right of cmare extended to ports blockaded exeept when otherwio proxided mienh probably be arthe diminguishathe from thon in whish a belliger net．in his aどain－mutals． invalidated ont there ervonds．it still remated th are whethere madily formand it the lattor can．

 －！！－－！！！！！。

But eren though such knowledge might be presumed from the general notoriety of the blockade, the notice to be inferred from it must br of such a character that it would have been a good notice it dire tly comrered. In either cave, in fact, the notice must correpond with the reality of the blockade, and must not be more extensive than the blockade itelf. A belligerent could not. for instance. proclaim that he had hockaded sereral ports, when in fact he had blocknded only one: and ans notice of that kind would be ineffectual and might be disrearded br the nentral ( \(m\). An mulawful warning off, which was in fact acted on, might found a good claim for dtmages, as in the cases of the "Borne" and the "Monmouth" ( \(n\). Applying these principles to the cave in hand, the master would be clearly alfeeted by notice of all that was publicly known on the question of the blockade at Copenhagen on the 11th May. But all the evidence on this point wont to show that officially and generally the impression then was that a gencral blockade of all the Russian ports had been extahlished: and that this error had not been publicly corrected. Hence the only notice to be pre-umed against the ma-ter was a notice that he must not proced to any Russian port: a notice which went berond the fact-, as being mor" "xtmsive than the hockade artually wtablished; and which was tharefore aceording to the principles previousty stated. not binding on the neutral.

The judement of the Cont of Amimater in thin caw mas still hesad or retain it anthority an exporition of eneral minciples: wen thonsth merected by the Prixy Conncil on erertain pointa an aloo ammetates a momber of general principles in relation to Hockate. contiming genemally thowe laid down in the 'ome below.
 ()ne is that the dhe enforement of a hlowable asainst all rowefs alike is an ewemtal condition of ite ralidits. amt that sament: am? in the exthaion of momals will remder it invalid.

\footnotetext{

licul. 1 11;

Whether. that is, from motiff a-\(+\cdots q\).
}
must correpont with the actual facts of the blockade. under pain of hemog hold inoperative agamst nentrals. Taken together, decision-, and in this way donvey what is at once a statement and an ilhastation of the mow impordant primeples that moderlie the law of hlockate from the proint of view of the British Prize Courti. The rales admally lad down, moteovor-with the exeeption perhajes of those relating to the prestmontion of notioe fom gremeral notoriety and the legality of licenses ! \(!\) !-appoar to cormespond in subtancer with the rales now embrediod in the Dedanation of London (r).

Tuminse the law of blowtate in serntral, it will be conventent. in our whrey of this, to tourh first on the British view, with whirh the American in the main agrees; noticing incidentally cerfain points on which the prevalent European view hilers from these and thereafter to consider the sules which have now hem formulated on this subject by the Declaration of London (s).

At the outset, it is neressary to distinguish a war blockade. surfor as we are here concerned with, fom a so-called "pacific hlockade," which, as we have seon, is not strictly an operation of war, and cannot righty be entored against nextrals (t). The formor may be defined as \(\because a n\) all of wat ramied out by the wambips of a belligerent, domiled to prevent acess to or doparmure from at defined is virtually limited to whetwemon pa-sage by sea and by the action sombtints instumed to prevont eques only, or ingrex only. in which inwart-" atardins 10 the nature of its object \((r)\).

A "military" or "stratogic" hlockade is me umdertaken as part military wnl. hut ains rather at watiening the enemy ly viting abandonmment *ipulated how as wre of the conditions nu which alone impmane and contribued largely whe werthen of the Con－ tederact operation of war momblated．again．Wwarl－atablinhing it at a ｜ermionhle me：ante（a）．

A howkade maly take effect on one or mome ports．（w the month of （nemy tormory．Enemy tervens for this purpose will include all temitory which helomg io an enomy：whether in full ownership or in his athal orempation and contmo．Whether pultital or military． then arean were－till fommally subject to the anvereignty of＇＇hina． nor may he batimte on enfore a blockate of ememy terviny ia－beh reme bank of the upper part of a diver lie in mental tempente a comer of marigation．Whe wher bank of the lower par if ．Hence the artion of the Enited State－Contro on the ocra－ion of the hlurkade of the Rin（irande．dming the eivil wat in mequimg neutral resels homel for Mexiran pent－to keep otrictly on the Mexican side．Which pain．if fomm nowth of the line of demaration，of being expersed th

In order that a liforkatle may be valid，and that the penaly may （1）that the hoockate wa－duly estati－hed：io）that it was effective the pant of the rewel atraint wheh it promation are invered：and

T＂：ylor＂．Tit．

Si＂．wol．i．111．112．IN to a of someat dinine a war with the in－ 11！

 the emmos．
（1）\(\quad\) ，i，．．．1，41．5．

（i）11all．i13：Taylor．This． にいい。
 H：al thmomy：Hatl．714．

 ath oflow in command of a mad fore which is operating ont of reach demmed to have at delemated ambority for this puphese．Bme even beine then to validnte it lia a limm the date when it was orgenally にないい。

In mand motiliation although mater the britioh practice a publie on diphmatio notitimion is，ar wh have seen，not a legal jempinite to the ralidty of a hackade．it is ustal fon the（eovern－ menterther in ordming a howkale．or in adoping om already restab－

 hrine it to the kowlenter of the athorities of the port－hlockader， and esperiall！of the fincion consuls there ions．
 Whembe＂hare wa－fommely areal diveremmalike of opinion

I＇hat is，is，thr matrom ai ：anthor－ 9．12．151．11

 atid it prownt intont tor volate it： i．．1，＂1．11．111．

1．I－in tha ！berlamtinas of ther ：1thomerl homennaled with conditions then：sen Taylor，Thl． 11．．．．．．1．．．．．
mevalent European viow it was necessary for thi purpose that ingress of egres should be barred by ships that were either - hationary or in chome prosimity to earch other (r), in such a way as thexpose any resed antmping to pass the line of hockade to a eross fire from two on more hij's (s): although this riew may now probably Le regarded ac abondomedit). Accomling to the Dititish view; on the other hamt. a blockade is deemed to be effective if it is maintained wosel antmphing to enter to ohvious danger and probahds capture, even though some verels may nucceed in geting through ( \(x\) ). And with this the viow of the Amerian Court- appean to agree. So, in the tase of the olinde Rodrignes 1it [. A. 510: Scoth, 835), the Supreme ('ont ruled that the effectivenes of a blorkade. being i" hottom a question of fact. was dependent on prof of evident dancer of entrance. havingemard to all the circum-ances of the ease. and eqpecially the local situation. and the -peed. armanent, and oquipment of the reseel or ressels emploved; and that if egress or ingress was shown te he dangerous in fact. it was not open to a nutral to challenge the validity of the Cluckade merely on the ground that it had not heen carried tw the highest degree of afticiencr from a purely military sampoim. Proceding to aplly this principle to the wate in hamd. the (omm held that a howkade if the pont of san Jum. in Porto Rico, a town of no great population and having only one entrane wa- effertive eren thonsh kept only ba single cruiser fossering a modern amment and equipment! \(!\). The AngloAmerican view may probubly he aid to prprespot the existing law; bonth an being more in keeping with the sontution- of modern naval Although the preserne of some naval force is neressary to the existence of a valid howade. ret shom hatterion and the artificial obetruction of naviguble chamels \(b\) may be med in aid of naval operations. and mat then be taken coment of in ostimating its effertivenes.en. But proximity to the horkaded plate is not in perent, or to cane langer of entrance(d).
(i) Whether with or without the ail of shore battmies.
(A) Hall. Fot. 11 .

 revard to the equipmont of madern damery having regatel to thar rik of attack. at any rate on a dofended

(!e) That is. after makine all due allnwane for "xmptional monlition of weather. surd a- foge or tomprots.

 Finith (1. R. i (Q. 13, at 110 .

1/ . It one time The Fosernito. an auxiliary "ruiver havine a sued of 1.5 knut and a enn ramo if ? mile-: and. at another. The Xom (O.THens, an armoured cruiner havine a speed of 22 knots. a 9 manme of 6 ? miles, and an cloctrix light maner of 10 milus.

(ii) sire the bertaration of Londan. Art. 3.

S Fin im-tam".. in whidh the aldmiswiblity of this has hem diansud intmmationally. whome liserst. vit. &12nti.

 11.5): 1. \(3946 .{ }^{2} \cdot(1, \ldots\)
(is) A blockade must ako be continuou-ly maintained. According to the British view. its validity will not be manared ber the temporary alsence of the hlockading squadron owing to adverse weather, pmedided tha mation is resmmed with due diligenme: bont it tain it aflicients. or if it is diverted to other employment, or if it is drivan wh lysumpin forer e). If a hockade. even though originally well established. falis at any of whese points, it will need to be re-estathlibed in the satme way as an orionimal blockade ( \(f\) ). It will, as we have seen, also be invalinated if the blockading fore neglects 10 mofore it impartially amamst all ressels; for the reason that such restrants ate as regmets newtrals justified only by military necessity (g), and that if some rewels, and experially helligerents, are given ateres for trate, it shows that mow sum meresity really exists (h). The question of what acts will amome to heach of blockade will be eonsidered in comnection with the case next following (i).
(t) With respert to the puestion of notice. while all systems agree in requiring motien of the hlockale as a condition of neutral liability, there wat formerly a matad divergenee hefween the British practice. with which ble Ameriean and Japanese in the main agree, and

 French pratiore, in addition to the repnirement of a general notitication ant a derlamion aldresed to the local anthorities (le) a special notification was nect-ratr- and mo resol wats dremed to be liable, in than matter of ingress matese sho atompted to enter after squadmon oblomod wh her papersil). But this pule had the make al loast one attompt withomt imemomor liability: and

```

gue-tion ol' diver-iont. su4 at diw.li* sion lutwomen tirmat britain atme the Ingted statas a- for the intmmmpton

```

```

liumel, vii. &l:%.
(i) \lostlakar, ii. 2!3,

```

furto, expres waming must be given and entorsed on the shiph s papers. mane the hatkate has been subsequently motided. w has be presmmed if the notifisation was duly i-mod amd there las leen sufferient time for the resed forerefer it if): it being the duty attems to the summons of a warship of the homekding sumadron ist. Notion on the pate of the mastor will aftect the ownere of the veserf.

 the following ways: 1 . If it, is doydaed to he rainal aither by the effect. althongh it will antitle the resuel to exprean motice hefore whe or enforced. Wh the sense previonsly deseribed, or if it is vacated by is indend diecredited hy the enloeformit award of an imlemmity in respert of the captume ly a Joint Commickion on which the matter [. S. 361. Where it was held that thenerembation of the spanish port of Cruantanames, the city still remaining in the lamde of the spaniards.

 treat the howkate as yaised

\footnotetext{

\}. 6.
Y\%, \(1 / 1, \cdots\) (
}

```

    i.fi!!.
    ```

```

    ": Sm& tlam Briti=h \ow!?':ammlum.
    1'. 'i.

```

(ii BRE.V'H ()F BLOO(K.\1)E.

\section*{THE " FREDERICK MOLKE."}

\section*{}

Case. Dhang war botwen (ixan Butan and France the Britith when aming ont of the pont of llaver then mader hat prenimsly dared from Lishon, nominally for Copenhagen hat ratly for llare and that the mand hat made that port in the virinity. I daim to re-titation was mate. appatently on the hed that hoth thip amd argen wera liahl to comdemmation.

such a case the question of liability might arise if they attempted to carry out cargo. In the present case, however, both ingress and egras were crimimal: and both ship and cargo, leing the property of the same person, were subject to confiscation.

This cave serve to illustrate the general conditions of neutral liability as regards heach of blockade; namely, that there must be a valid and subsisting blockale, some knowledge thereof on the part of the neutral, and, finally; come evasion or attempt at evasion on his part, whether hergress of egres. But in practice. and under the customary law, we find that the rules with respect to liability for brearli are somewhat more elaborate.

According to the Briti-h practice a brearh of hockade may be of "blorkade inward." by which ingress is prevented. or "hlockiade outwards." by which egress is prevented (a): although a blockide is usmally designed to prevent hooth ingrese and egresw b. With respect to ingress, a resel having attual or presmptive notice of the blockade (c) will be deemed to be guilty of breach (1) if she passes or attempts 10 prass into the blockaded portid): or (2) if she approaches the blockaded port. or is found in its ricinity. in sircumstances warranting a presumption of an intention rither to enter it herself of to di-charge her carge into oflem wosk for traneport to itíe). In the case of a blockarle ber notification. moreover. a reasel was. strictly. lialle to capture and condemnation it she eron sailed on a destination to the hlockaded port. howerer distant she might be at the time of capture ( \(f\) ), unless she couth thow either that the intention to make the hockaded port hat been wholly abandoned prior to rapture ( \(g\) ), or. in the cave of distant movares. that the intended only to make the port if permissilde ih. But althomeh this was the etrict rule of the Prize Court- it appear that muter the later Britich practione at any rate. vewels were nower in fact seized for hreach of hackade except when found chose to or approaching the blorkaded pert on coast \(i\) ). The Amerien law. with respect on brearlo of horkatw he inerers is in the main similur to the British (Fi) . But under the [ominmatal praction. perionsly wformed the there conld
```

    (r) Mammat of Nianal Prize Law.
    Art. 129

```

```

Roh. spi
(a) The. Ti, itiontita if (․ Roh.

```

```

Rol. 101).
(f) I-amminer of eromese. that the

```

 the latter eseeption buiner founded on the diffirmlty of obtaininer proxice in-112? whirl womld raroly avail ntow.
(i) Soce tha liritivh Hemorandum;
 p. 2 (
(7:) Šer The riaromine (2) Wiall.

be no theach by ingress，anteso there had been an attemp to enter， ather sperial waming given in the vicinity of the bhockaded port（b）． The pusetion of the application of＂the ductrine of eemthnous boyagen＂ 10 arese of blockade，and the extensions of that dontrine ley the Amerian Conrto during the civil war will be considered hereather \(m\) ）．With rempect to egress，it hat long been misual to allow noutal vesels atready in port at the time of the institution of the hackade to conte vat，either in ballast or with＂argo bont fide laden hefore bluckante，within at time limited for that purpone（ \(n\) ）： thi－heme watly not less than filtern dan ahthongh sometimes longer．（0）．The Brifing patioe not ondy（wntorms to this usage with repery to equens，bat，in defand of amy time being limiterl for that purpose allows neural ressels athealy in port at the time of
 are in hallast or laden with cargo boma fide taken on board before the blorkate commenced（p）．Simport than exemption，honever， a resee will he demed to be guily of a breach by egress（1）if she comes or attumptis to cone out of a blockaded port after time； or（2）if shn is found in the vicinity of the port in circumstances wamanting a premaption of intention to bake up sarge from other resoels that have comm from the homaded port（1）．Acombing to the british practice，morenver，a resed which has suceeded in break－ ing blorkitde ounwark remains liable to cajoture until the conclusion of her prine pal whatern）．whtes the bowdente has been mean－ whild discmimued（s）．The Amerian practice with respect to The Continental pratioe in areneral．conendo the right of empess 16 neut ral mesele ahematy in port at the time of the institution of the hockade：and ako treat the fact of hockark as heme in itself sulficient to affect with nomiep vewols already in the blockadnd port（ \(t\) ）： how it differs from the Angh－American pratime mathly，in holding that a reser can only he captumed fon heach within the bange of that the riuht of interlionins comman－ nimation with an mome mont did not extomd to the continmont of nent tal vesels afrealy in fort．wom thong it might warrant the prohibition of any forther tmatine：－Mall．Tot． （0）＇Tlu＇limit of tiffor＂dity was adoped be dimat Thitais and Fame exepot whon axtmod for－parial racons：her fance ill 1nTり：whils ith 1s9s thi．latmal statwerne thint Bint on the harekadre of the Lian－fune Peminsula in 1901 wn daye of exame wery allowerl lif lapati．it beiner alleged that there were no foreign dipe then in port．exrept Chineso junk in the servion of the ememe：seep Takahnalhi． 37.3.
 Rols．sti）：The IVmen ．Julith（l C． linh．1．5川：Manalal of Xaval lrozo 1 aw， 3
 （＇．Mah．101）：and that 13itioh Mamo－ ル！ルlum．ア．

（1）Son Monve Hiew vii．43．）ot \(\because \%\) （：／f）1n the some that is．that no －proial motitiontion is remuimer．as in rathing a nemtral port (11).

 is rather a matten oi (mmity than of rimht (!) Akin of his

Finally, we need to moik that a nembal wesel is mot guilty of nentral (1) "pen pert (d).

\section*{
}

\section*{THE "PANAGHIA RHOMBA.}

\author{

}

```

    Am, ler wasy of wamm||, P'arl
    ```

```

    |ran+0.0. H. 11 |taly
    ```

```

thar lomal :mathmuitj+w.

```

```

Lamobor. \1%. if
|:1!\mp@code{71:,}

```

 (r) Whlomegh a promit ifors an in-

 in for adjudiation, on the erombl of having attemptod a viotation of the bhokerle of that pert. The widener went to show that the beocel wat the property of a (ereek merehant: that the (eugo wan the joint property of an lonian meredam resident in 'Tomker and a Lomdon tirm: and that the vesel was at the time of mizure really making fur Odswa wihout any justifation mador the plas of meersity ar up by her owners. In the Court bindow both whip and (arace wern condemmed. wen though the lemmed futdee wat of ophion then the ownere of the cargo affirmed. both as to ship and ratero: it being hold that, inasmuch as the blockade was known or might hase been known at the time the cargo was shipped, the owners of the latter wern bound by the illegal act of the mater.

Judgment. In the judgment of the Judicial Committere, which was delivered by the Re. Hon. T. Pembertom Lerigh. the widnas. In the ('oum bedon it had hem hedd that there weres violation. But subsequent mase appeared to hare carried the rul. mand further, and to have (atahishat that wher the

as an irresistible inference of law which could not be rebutted： and that in such a case the master must be treated as the agent： for the cargo as well as the ship（b）Such a rule，although it might in its application to particular cases be attended with some hardship，was nevertheless necessary in order to prevent frand．and applied not merely to neutrals but to all persons what－ soever，whether ther were aliens or subjects of the country en－ forming it．

The justification of this rule lies in the fact that in nearly all caves of hreach of blockade the attempt is made for the benefit and with the privite of the owners of the cargo．If cargo owners were at liberty to set up their innocence of the act of the master， such a plea would invariably he raised．and would often be supported by cridence which it would be difficult or impossible for a captor to refute，with the result of relaxing largely the deterrents to hlockade－running．In the case，moreover，where the attempted vio－ lation of blockade was in fact made against the instructions or wishes of the cargo owners，the latter will have their remedy against the master and owners of the ship（c）．But the cargo will not be con－ demned when it is shown that the goods were shipped before the blockade was or conld be known（d）．

Gramai Notra－－The Law of B7wetiode muler the lhederution of Lomben．－do far we hase considered only the costomary law oi blodate．on rather the national immpretation of that haw on the part of partionar states：noticing in the result at considerable divergene alike of theory and practio．On this as on other sut）－ jects connected with nentral trade，it was．as we have seen．antmmpted

 Thi－Jemaration will，if matiod，hemome himding on the state flat：

```

|.|w. 26!!.

```

```

    (c) Th, E:rrhum!!r (Vdw. :3!),
    (:) No. 12 wit!日0-. Irt. 7.
    (i) S'口N Arti, fif, bit: amml
    1).3`7.
(") N,%バ". 1). I!4.

```
extensively ratified the Declaration is nevertheless likely，for the reasons previonsly given \((h)\) ，to become in a great measure the standard of international action in the future \((i)\) ．Hence，in welation hoil 10 hkokade and oblher topies connected with neutral wade，it will he da－imble to sers how far the cmstomary or mational ruts on these subjecte are attertad by its provisions．

The ronpe of Blockende．－On the quesion of the seope of blockade the Dedanation expresty provides that a blockade must not extend beyond the porte and coasts belonging to ar occupied by the

 followed in pratide（ \(m\) ）．

Essemtial．s to the lalintity of a Blockade．－－Lnder the Deelaration， a blockade in order to be binding must comply with the following． conditions：In the firet phane，it must be＂offective，＂that is to say， it must he matimine by a fore sutfient really to prevent access to the enemy（oath line \((m)\) ．This merely adopts the formma and definition contained in the Dectaration of Paris， \(18.56(0)\) ．The question of offedienness is also dedared to be at question of fact \((p)\) ． This contime the Anglo－Anerimat view－which holds that the question is one to be determined in the light of the circmmetances of each particular case，and esperially the local situation，and the nature and calibre of the fore emploved（4）－－and may probably be said to dispow of the＇ontinental theny perionsly refored to \((r)\) ． In the second place，the Dectaration implitity recognizes that a blockade must lee duly mantaned in the sense provionsy indi－ cated（s），whilst at the same time providing that a horkade thall not be deemed to he raised ly the femporary withetrat of the blopkad－ to he hindine an meutraks．the honkadn man have bopan＂dendared＂ below．Finally it must he applied inpartially to the thips of all nations（ \(r\) ）：suldert．howerer，to a right on the part of the rom－

 and exis on the paid of a nentral rowel in cimemstaneen of distress

\footnotetext{

1二．imdond．wat－the（ater in the （li）Int． 1.

（／）Irt．1s．

lot．- ．

}
（11）Art．3．
（11）ズッ：バ＂．P． 106 ．
（i，）Mild．

111 ！et． 4.
－1．11t．5． 1ri．（i． frntiz. On mon of thee points tha Derlaration, it will be seen, virmally aflimm- he fule aml nager recognized muter the Britisl practice( 11 ).

The ibecharation o! Blorledede. I dedatanon of blowkate is a altor ferdibed 1 ) the time at which a hlowderemmmeners: (2) its \%ivent of any of them, then the declaratin will be treated as void, and a frosh derdaration most be jewed in order to legalize the

 1.0 - implirith rexagrize the delectated fuwer- of a maval commanter in (ombatmed in the derdaration abe repuired. Onc of the-e must *日月-pmblish Ho fato - to all persons willan their re-pective jurishetions;

```

lor mef(0)\ il." 1, I! - :'t limma|f

```

```

    {1;
    ```
(1, ) N1t.! !
(1) IV.. ! ! 111: :1! ! 1

1!t-!111: ... 111
irt. 11
1:17-. 1.) 10
(") lit. 12 .
(i) Irt. 13.
 liahility: whilst it would be a proper subject for remonstrance or

 i. In and

(1) Int. 1.
 -

\(\therefore \quad . \quad 1.11 \%\)

 (1)

\section*{tis lieses und opinions. on Intermational Later.}
aswhed to affect reond ahreaty in port will motion, and 10 rander erpens. after the time limited, imburul. It is, howerer, expendy provided than ii, wring to the mondigne of the ofliere in command of
 to the low lathoritios. or il in tho delaration as notiled nu period has hwon - peritiol within which nentral ve-scls maty cone out, then mo dum to the nemidene of the commonder, then an outering ressel must lee wamed amd thmed backar). The eflem of thoe pmovisions in (1) molics consindratly the earlier practice of hoth eroups of rians. (hir the one hand the Continenal visw, that sherial notice

 Finally. the male that the fart of blowate is in itent! sulfarem notice phared hes the requisment of motitiation to the local anthomies.

 instuthes a illochatio a centun fores is detaile 1 for this parpose; the offices in emmand then post his rewels almer the line of

lit. 16. Pir. ㄹ.
行,
17%7. 5%-9.
17%7. 5%-9.
    1. ! %.
    1. ! %.
1 i

 craiz" t!i, Jimitution 1! 17

 A!. : 190:. 11. ! !

 fm:
 I'rize C'ontoto that it ressel salling from it neutal port with intent, to diatance from the blockated port ( 7 ) ; amd alsis 10 ynalify largely principal voyace(i).

 of at lessel. sim (atmmen be "aphmel for homarh of blockade if at the qematim! \(\mathrm{mil}^{\circ}\).

 ber the. Derlaratime that where a reserl is emdemend for breach of the -hipper mon-i has froval that ho moithor limew wor mold have effect is not var maldial ion.

```

        Arl. -0.
    ```

```

-%

```

```

    \therefore \ddots ".1. 111
    \therefore1:9. 1!1.
        1,N1:171
    ```

Vr1. 2l.

\section*{CONTRABAMD OF WHR.}
(i) GENERALLI.

\section*{THE " PETERHOFF."}
[1866: 5 Wall. 28.]
Case. During the American civil war, the "Peterhoff," a British ressel. whilst on a royage from London to Matamoras, a neutral port on the Mexiran side of the Rio Crande, was cap-for the Rio (irande, be a Conited Stato cruiser and onnt in for adjudiation, it heine alluend hoth that she was came inge contraband and that she jutemater to riokith the blowkatn of the artillers lamme. arm: bout, rewhation blankets. homes shoes, ordinar: mothention 'The hills of batme were for Therey at the memb: of the Rio (irambe. On the Maximes situ of the river: it having hem intement. in rim of the fact that Matamoras whes mot at the finm ancesable for vescels of the size the destination of Matammas was not eromine and thet the but combimat as to such part as was comtrahath of belonget to the same owners.

Judgment. (han' ( . . . . in eriviner judement, stated it the outset that in the opinion of the Conet the rovare of the ship was mot a simulatet onn. I ating, next, with a rontration on the part of the capor that. cern if the vesel was destine for Matamoras. this eonsifuted a breach of a blorkade of the mouth of rejected the vew that the whole month ol the river was induderd noummi hoth thip amd easen to be clear of liahtity. Doaling. next. With the quation whether the allewn ultoriop deatination of the carew to the dehe perion he intand wrimation or transport wodered it liable to emummation. ha hrde, upon a con-

 with intent to supply arouls to Texas her mans of land transportations comble mon beramed an a vimation oll the coast blockade and thet on this point. tow, hoth hip and amen were

 Chice Jatime ulsumat. in ratation to the grameal motmen of con-to the milis:

another part was of the first class or, if of the second, destined for the rebel military service. This part consisted of artiller? hamess army artillery boots and Govemment regulation gras hankets. It was true that eren these goods, if really intended for sale in Matamoras, would be free of liability; for contraband might be tran-popted br neutrals to a neutral port if intended 10 make part of it general stok in trado. But in the present case the circumstance indicated that the were destined for the use of the rebel forces. Contraband unerchondive was subjeet to a different rule in re-pect of ultorior de-tination to non-contraland: the latter home liable 10 capture only when a riolation of bluckand was intmoded. Whils the forme was liable when destined to the hostile countre or to the militare or naral use of the enemy: irrepective of blockade. The converance br neutrals to belligerents of contraband wa- alware unlawful. and such article might alwas be seized during transit by - eat. Hence while articles not contrabond might he sent to Matamoras and herond to the retel revions wher the communication was not interrupted he hockade, artiols- of a contraband character destiner in fart to a state in remollion or for the un of its militars fored we liahle waptore or thoush primarils destined to Matamoms. For these reavons that portion of the cargo which was of a comtratrand charactor, with so much of the rest of the carco as belonged to the come owners. must be condemned: but the ship and the remainder of the (arere would he re-tored. Thasmorh. hownery an it appeared that the master

 (11) rovtintion' \(d\)

\footnotetext{

 ilronf. Tht. Irb, iv. Зく39.
}

Amerian Conts: wen thotgh their applianion in this partirular

 -f the mondorn lan.

 matm. lien in the bertanam of Lamban (g)

 the matyal onilitary operations of the enemy " ho. There are thas wo wantial-: me hemp that the artide chould lo of we in war, and then now that the should he taken on a hosile destination (i).

 dithomen in their matmo hom involving alon a diferme of treatment.

```

                                    1-:
    ```

```

\because|!.

```
\(\because \quad 1 \quad 1 \cdot 1 \cdot 1!\)
! . :

```

        . \आ&i % , %, % !imh.
    111-&.!. !. (11)
        i, il: li,1, ili).
    ```

```

Vi:s | Prim, l.im. \rt. lit.

```
the satral or military fores of the enemy, or for a place of maral or military equipnent helonging to or orcopied by him(a). The Crown may, howerer, extend or reduce the lits of ardiches that are abowhte or conditional contrabathe, sul, jeet to such restritions aatach cither he treaty of mater the law of mations (o). The effect of agree ( \(\%\) ).

Firropean mpinion, on the other hand, was sencrally opppised to those extenvions whith followet from the bini-h thentine of eondi-igmored even in thaty. Hence, in the cominemal exparitons of contrahand we mink iwn anmente of onimons: one of which vel the prinephe of varalility. Whith wat the latis of the imbith dis-

\author{
THE "JONGE MARGARETHA."
}

\author{
1799: 1 C. Rob. 189; Tudor, L. C. 9 98.1
}

Case. In Ragi. during war between (ireat Britain and France, batioh and and in for :nloutiention. There was at the time in ships of wart and the (armo wa- flue prowey of the dwner of being mand farmably frated than mapatime for its haman use（a）－which，again．was not the ease with the present cargo． But the most important distinction of all was whether the articles wer intmuder for ordinary use or wer going on a highly pro－ bable miitary destination．Is to this，the port to which such articles ware going was a rational although not perhaps an abso－ lute．test．If such port was primarily a commercial port．then there wouki be a presumption of intended civil use；whilst if such port was primarils a port of naval or militare equipment，then there would be a presumption of intended military us：awom though，in either case，it might not be possible to detemine the timal and actual use．But the presumption of hostile use was rere much inilamel where as in the present cas，there was in such prort a hootile armament preparine．to which a supply of such artielse would be eminently useful．The Court，howerer．had heen un－ willing to conclude ugainst the clamant on the mere point of destination：and further aridener had therefore been called for ． The result of this went to show that the chereses in puestion were： preciscly such as were exclusively used in French shije of war； and this se med to conclude the matter．The chemes mast there－ fore be treated an eontraland．and condrmmod．In rive：how－ ever．of certain efemmstances of extenation．the ship，eren though helonging to the rame proprietor．would he restored．

This derision was followed he the Cuted state conte in the care of the fommermen（1 Wheat．：3が足，where．during war with Great letain，it wa－hehl that a gave of handey ame mats on hourd

The Briti－h dow trine of comditional enntmand in the fom sin which it may now he said tw ham loceme past of the conventiomal law of nations．hav alredy hemen dworitedice．Se expmonded in the for then it was laid down that prosisions．and incidentally other

（a）The－qum rula wat ：thpilad alou to wther articlas：iron briater more fa－ vourahly treated lhan amblor－：ant heomp than combare． presed in terms which might in certain eircumstances operate in relief of the nenral（ \(d\) ）－was still dangeronsly wide；and this was probably why it was so stremoty oppoed by Cominental where，who assered that its ellem wat th conter on a belligerent a right to make neod durine the Fermoth rewhtmary was：when（ireat Briain clammat th trat provisions an contraband，whener the deprivation of supption was one of the meane empleyed to redne the enomy to eren in its carlier form，was greatly mitipated muder the British syoten hy the pramen of pe－emption．Ember this，it was usual． in cases where the commatand hamacer of the goots was open to doubt tor the capor．in lion of ronfating them，to exercise the rightof purchanime them at a fair markot valume e）．The Bribish rule in sud？ense wat to pas a bir meramile ralue，together with a freight to the resed（f）．

But in its modem form the doctrine of comptimal emmaland is lese wide．and memely samminnt the treatment of articles of mixed nse as contraband in cases whe it can be shown that they are destined either tor the momys maval or miliary foreses or for an enemy port med exclu－ixely，or mainly as a port of naval or militar？ equipment（ \(g\) ）．

\section*{（iii）NECESSITY OF HOいTHLE DESTINJTUON． \\ THE＂IMINA}

\author{

}

Case．［n lots during war botwem（ireal Britain and Holland．the＂Imima．＂a mutral romel，saitmil on a voyag frons Dantrin to Imatmdan，wifh a capen of ship timbur：but having

\footnotetext{

 aroonnt huth uf tha natam：：atd oriwin aboolutyly montratand．Whol！fley worn

}

\footnotetext{
tha prosluen of the（＊）untry exportiner

 ！Rohs．2：37：Mammal of lamal Prize ！aw，Im．Bl．
（if）Whe right at pratempation stil］ 1ヶに1．※．3s．

Xantal of Xias：＇rrian law Irt．\｛is．
}
and sent in for adjudication, on the ground of carrsing contraband. In the result, it was held that as the ship was captured after she had changed how domation to a mentral port there conld bune que-tion of contratmand: and both ship and cargo were atcordingly restored.

Judgment.] Sir W. soott, in giving judgment, pointed out that if Embenon was to b: regarded as the real drstination then the question of contraband could not arisi. Even if it were assmert. as hat beren contender, that the earen was of such a character as to constitute contraband when on a hostile destinations. abloweh that was be no means oertain. the Court could not tix that chavacter on it in the present myage. In order to ronstitut: contraband the seot- mast low taken in the actual interal, combleto an from har moment the wesol quittert port on a hostile fintination: but mumes fhome was a hostild dexination -uhsinting at the time of sandur, the fonalf was mot now

 Jowner. that the eapme in view of dhe original destmation.

 the: dijp. ant when the ocal as distime from the appatent dess of (e)ntrabami (")
 timalion wa- ratily met in i-.ore in hlis

wf inmanmity. in the sutserguent ase

Areording for the lintish view，the destination the the carg is eremerally ascumed to he hhat of the ship．When，however，the ship is 10 call at sempal puts，some nemitat and sume hostile，then the Fhatere at arior mentral prot（b）ammot be mate a oround for pert whis！is leas latmothte to the mentral will be prestmed to be dhe destimation on surh part of the caten as would lre contraband if catrime to lait fort（o）．The quastion of ath utterior hostile des－ timation＂He the prat of the eronds dilferont from that of the ship， will come nomer ennsideration hameatier in connection with the doc－ trine of contimuons voyaleses \((d)\) ．

I shiphary ine ennimatal may berizod at amy monent through－ 011 the whote comsen of here voyate so home at whe is on the high sea or in beiligerent waters．The view has sumbinus bern pout

 limitnton ohlisamors．

```

    b) That i-. hetom th: -hip reath"-
    .m memyy |⿴囗十

```

```

|!:%い。
i 12.12

```

```

    Hi*it. matrim&on.
    ```

\title{
(iv) THE PEAALTY FOR THE ('ARRIAGE OF CONTRABAND.
}

\author{
THE " NEUTRALITET."
}

\author{
[1801: 3 ( \({ }^{2}\). Rob. 29.5.]
}

Case. This was a case of a noutral ship, undur Danish coluur, which wa- captured by the British, during war between Creat Britain and Ilulland. whilst tarring contrahand to a Duteh port; there being at the time a trenty betwen Great Britain and Denmark which prohibited trafic of this kind on the part of subjects of cither country. In these circumstanes it was held that condemmation must extend also to the ship.

Juagment. In giving judgment, Sir il. Scott pointed out that, whatever the carlier practice might have ben, the modern rule was that the ressel was not in general conliscable: this relaxation being beed on the suppusition that freights of noxions or doubtif! article might be taken without the personal knowleden of the owner. But this rule was liable to exepptions: as where the ship belonged to the uwnes of the carge or "hw. the ship madn use of a false destimation or talse papers. The eirchmetancs of the prement chee constitut dea mother exerption, by reason of the owners being bound, as subjects of Demmark, not to camy goods of this nature to the enemie of (freme Britain: and this would hase applicd. aren il the caveo had bren the the caze. The owner was here not only cognizint of the tratife, but it wa- in brach of explicit ohligutions ariong he traty.
 lase untun thed the seneral rul thit und or ordinars riveum-

\footnotetext{

}
belanging to other onwhers will be restored. although withont ampensation for los arising from delay and detomion (e). The ship

 (1) atse intores in the pescel which betongs to the ownor of the

 the case ol contratmond adred in violation of treaty.

The Conimental prantice on this point appear: fo vary. In some Systums the ship: hereelf is comfecated onty if all her caroo consists of the carous and in others, aqain, if any part is combaband ( \(g\) ).

But if a ship iz suigel for carrying contraboud and in the result no part of here careo is comemmed, then the captor will be liable to make compensathon for the lows - watind hy her domention: malese, indeed, there wa- mationable gromad for shation (h), in which ca-e restitution will ho eramel hut without rots. or eren subject to the payment of mets amb axperser wo the ratome (i).
(c) Ser the liriti-h Wmomandum. 1. .
 S3).
(a) The OM, Prow 't (. Run.
 times hown allowed whowe the ammant of contwaland any ind wiz wo.. - mall : see The Aeplumes (3) C. Ruh. ios).
(i) The Jonere Tinlion (1 ('. Rolo. 829).
(g) Sire, hy way of example, Parl.

(h) That is, some evidence of facts which, if ther had heen fully (stah)lidend. would hate justifed comdemnation, and some rason for bedieving hat upon fuether encuiry such facts
 (9) 1100. Р'. ('. 1.j0); Ther Lererade (Mpitki-217) : British Memorandum. 1. \(\quad \therefore\).

\section*{ (ONTR, IB.NX1).}

\section*{CONTROVERSY. IN 1904. BETWEEN RUSSIA ON THE ONE PART AND GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES ON THE OTHER, WITH RESFECT TO CONTRABAND OF WAR.}
 War: IImber: Ifo-157.]

The Russian List of Contraband. On the erth Februarr:

 suligen in the hav: of the Empine amb the law of nations and naphthe alchlul, ant the like: ? antins and matmial for thlo

\[
\text { (a) Dew =tyln. (b) Sim drts: : } \quad \text { i. }
\]
of or destined for the enemy ir．These Regutations were later shphemented by Orders issued on the 19th March and 21st April，botot，hy which their stringeney was increased：＂raw cotton＂being added to the list of contraband．Whilst the right was reserved to make further additions if oreasion repuired \(d\) ， There leweutations，it will be seen took no aseome of the distine－ tion usuafly drawn in practiee between absolute and conditional ＂ontraband，paporting in lat to treat afl artides coming under the heats abore mentioned as absolute eremeratand：whilst thes included in that catcogery a variey of artiches．sumb as coal．pro－ risions，and，at a later timberan rotton，which，aceording to the British and Tmerian mation，were either innorent or liable to troverss between Russia on tur one hand and（ipeat Britain and the I nited states on the other，which serves at once to mark the contliet of usage that then prevailed on the subject of contra－ band and．ineidentally，to justily the British and American view．

The Ensuing Controversy，Un the let Jume，1904，the British （iovermment，after havime wided some find iner information as 10）the perefon menning and intom of the Raswian list of eontra－ hand．addressod a protest to the Rasian（iomomment agamst the treatment of rice amd provisinne as unconditional rontraband． law and praction ol matims．Sunt arlime it was contmoded．
 What they wore deximed fon the militaly on maval nas of the －moms：now was the derision ol＇a Prize（＇ourt of dhe caphore in －wh at cast hinding on montral states umless it was in aterord－ anm with the recomized rules and principles of intomational lan \(f\) ．To thits objertion the linswian（iovermment replind．in thed that in the absence of ans international derision as lo ＂hat was or was not contraband，it sested with the belligeremt to

\footnotetext{
Fixergt in ，l0 mly tha hads

（か）ノノ゙け．No．15．incl．

}

 mont of the \｛nitm？statle manle at similar protes．sem llax－my lat．
 downr．Sth Junt．I！（o）

On the 10 th August the British Government made a further protest against the indiscriminate molestation of neutral commerce to which the unwarrantable extension of the doctrine of contraband by Russia had given rise: especially when taken in conjunction with the claim to destros neutral prizes when their converance to a Prize Court might be found inconvenient ( \(h\). It also printed out that the Rusian troatment of coal and fuch a contrabmen was diametrically opposed to the dechatation which had been made by the Russian Plenipotentiary in 1884. on the octa-ion of the Berlin ('onference. when it was stated that the: Ru-sian (iovermment refused entegrically to consent to any treaty or declaration which would imply the recognition of coal as contraband of war. It was impossible for the Britioh Govermment to admit that coal and fuct of erery kind wes? contraband irre-pertion of whether they were deatined for the belligerm: fores or not: or to admit that it was open to any Power to igmore the lone (stabli-hel distinetion between absolete and conditimal contraband and to ineludn in the former cateroms a manber of artion in themedra innown and harely ilalt in be mentral Patom morely of their "mmpringe sheh artiche. and without proof ,f a miliart dmatation. Wan juabiath. in intemational haw.

 would receive the strennous suphert of tha British (rovernmand. The latter had no desire to place obstalde in the wat of a belliwomy from raceiving supplis: lom it combl not atmit that this moried a rioht to intercept, an any ditance from the some of operation, and withont proof of any military destination, any hand; ;

Momathite the vizure and wombmation of 1 momitan

\footnotetext{ dinare is, No. No

 plaint wat al-n madn that tha lime-ian -raser: ja their smorll for contrahamd, diacrimintted nafairly astam-t liritich shippiner in favour of that of entuiry. divatumd by the lowsian vargoce \(k\). provoked similar remonstrances on the part of the United States. In a despatill of the 30th iugust, 190t, which will probably rank as an authoritative utterance on this subject, Mr. Hars, ther Lated states semetary of state, pointed out that the tru" "riteria for determining what constituted contraband wow warlike maturs, 1 and and destimation: that these ariteria had been ardived at hy the common eonsinn of rivilized nations after centuriss of struggle: and that the lemical results of the Russian doctrine woukd be to destroy completely all neutral commeree sity of blockades, and to obliterate all distinction between commerce in contraband and nom-contraband goods (l . Hence it "as contended that tedegraphis, forphonic, and milway material were not confiseah) meres berause destined to the commercial ports of a bulliownent; and that artirle- suth as coal, coton, and provisions Wrer not -uliject to capture and confiscation unless shown to be actually dostined for the military or naral foress uf a betliownent. Sor conld this substantive principhe be allowert to be werriden he any technical rule of the Priz Courts that the owners of the cargo mut prove that no part of it would ceminally come into the hand of the enmy fores ( \(m\) ).
}

In di w of thee remonsirances, and also of certain pronomenm nts which had m"anwhile be made by th supreme Prize Connt as to the necesity of recognizing a distincion betwern ahoolut and edative eontraband \(n\), the liussian (iovernment aqued to reconsi fer thwe quastions, and ultimately refered them for report 10 a Commiwion prested over by Profesor Martens (o). Is the result of this rement fresh instruetions were issund to the Rasian Priz. Cumets and naval commanders. By the the various articles mentioned in Article 6, sub-sicet. 10, of the Rogulations proviousty refered tor \(p\), induding rich and provisions \(q\). wron

\footnotetext{
1.,i,.1. 1. 4:3.

Hershery, 179 it an \(/\)

 "onsishmorl.
(.,1) In the natan of \(T\) he lintion and
}
 ibheles doner, (commere in War. (IN)

(4) B'an not horses and boants or burden.
by Russia．The effect of the new Regulations，after they had been subjected to some revision，was to exclude such articles from the category of contraband，unless consigned to the belligerent． Government or its administration，or to its armed forces，for－ tresses，or naval ports．When consigued to individuals，they were not to be treated as contraband，except on proof by the captor that the consignees were really agents or contractors for the naval or military authorities．Nor were vessels carrring contraband to be liable to condemnation unless more then half the carco wan contraband（ \(r\) ．Notwithstanding thesemitigations，howerer，coal was still retained as absolute contraband；nor was it found pos－ sibhe to obtain any redres or satisfaction on this point，berond a general assurance that the Russian requations in this regard would be construed liberally（s）．

This controvers serves to iflustrate the conflicting views that pre－ vailed with respect to contraband，under the customary law，and the incidental difficulties and dangers．Owing to the lack of any settled rule．Siates were wont，on the outbreak of war，to issue an announce－ ment as to what articles they proposed to treat as contraband．Russia， acting on this principle，included in her list of contraband－without regard to any distinction between abolute and conditional contra－ hand a rarinty of ar icles which，under the British and American practice，would only have been liable to seizure and condemmation when on a military destination．The effer of this was pratieally 10 interdict neatrals from car ving on trade in a mumber of important articles with the non－rombatant puphation of Japan．Hences the Britioh and tmerian protesto．The matn points of the Briti－h （romention were：1）That here was an fistablishend distintion hetween aboolnte and emditional eontrahand which conded mit be ienomeal at the diandion at a helligenem：（2）that in any of mations．Dea treated a comtraband exept on prome oi ditect． was at the－ame time on（xasmatial fon the larew parmens of rivil （on simila from？of dowation for militay or maval neolt；and 4）that the dmeminne of helligerent Prize（＇ourts in surh matenes mus．in order to he himbine on mentral states．he in aceordance

\footnotetext{
（f）I＇，V．sumiか，Nix．Us 30，39．（t）Sir C．Mardinge to Count （＊）This was in atr vitrlior de－patch 1．amarlorfi．9th OCt． of the 21st S゙ゃpt．
}
with recornized principles of imornational lan The Thited State (iovernmemt took up a similar position with respect to roal and contom; poiming onn ( 1 ) that ancotding to the Rassian fontemion, every article of human use might be declared contmband merely because they might ultimately and in some degree become uselul to a bellizerent for military purposes; and (2) that the treatment of coal and raw cotton as absolute contraband might ultimately lead to the tutal inhihition of the sale by neutrals to the people of belhigerent states of all articles which could be finally converted to military uses (u).

The applicalion in prasice, moreover, of the Russian regulations 10 neutral shipring gate rise to much dissatisfaction. In June, 1904. the Illamon, a Brimh stemer, which had arried Welsh coal io Japan on her sutwad vorage, was captured ou her return rovage hy a Rusian sumanm in the strats of horea whilst carrying Japanse coal from Mhroran to Singapore. Both ship and cargo were condemmed by the Prize Comt at Vadirostock, on the groumd that the ship had carried montraband on the ontwam voyage and that a combination of facts served also to show that at the time of capture she was really on a hostite destination. (If the e it may be said that the former allegation, although true in fact, afforded no !round for condemmation, both because the vorage had been commenced hefme coal had been dedared contraband, and becanse in any gase the deporit of contrahand terminates the liability of the revel (ar): whitst the latter conthrion was not borne out by the "ridence. The decrea oi mondemation was, indeed, subsequently merersen on appeat th the Ahmiralty Cimncil at St. Petersbure, athouch aron that count held the seizne 10 lave heen justitiable (y). lla Juls. I! ! ! , tha kinight rommunder, a liritish steamer then on a mage fron Now lork whotand Yodnana with a mixed cargo,

 -remm that sha wa carvinge comtrahand. and that the captore were mathe. Sy imator of her pmimi.y then aneme pent and lack of

(r) Nor wat there : my whene of the u*⿻ of falan parare. whinh mader the former liritivh patarom womblame justitied "apturn and wombemation on

(2) Sise lihedey lones. (ommeres in II:ar. il. Whow the jemtement is -1: 191 \(\because\) I Wata for onnmernation hy the british lionommont wat rejowtid ats revards the interests of the owners of the wescel, but admited at porards the intersets of owners of immorent carto on board.
were intended for the use of the Japanese (ioremment, provoked a -imilar remonstrance from the United Stater (rovermment: and in the result both vescol and (argo, were released by the higher ('ourt (a). In thr case of the Calchus, a Pritish steamer, with a (argo consithen largely of Anerican flowr. raw cotton, timber and machinery, consigned in part to Japmese ports. buth ship and cargo nere seised and onl), equenty condenmed lis the rane Cont: hut ont appeal to the higher Court the ship herent wa- released. although comly arom long letention, whilst rariou- portions of her cargo, including the cotton, were condemned \((b)\).

Japanh. wh the wher land. both in the regulations issued by the Naval Deparment respectinge entraband (c) and in the decisions of her Prise Courts. adhered in the main to the British and Ameri(ann practicend). In the ease of the Aphrodite: Cordifí coal. of a kind rares used in the Ear except for naval purpors and consjom to lladiontock. a naval an well in a conmmerial port, was that the embire carev, wat contraband and that a fable do-tination

 -how that the latter wa- intente! for the military foree of the -nemy: the ship aloo being (ondemner on the gromit that the whole cargo com-sisted of contralmal ant that the maston wa- suilty of combivare (f). In the care of the Toromes a careo of salt heef monigned to the Rusw-(hinera Bank at Mativorows. that bank hang in intimato comertion with the enemy (iovemment wan orndemued: the wasel sharing the same tate oht the aromal if ammioance and the u-f of a faher deatilation (g).

 of contralatme probably bears hust hardy on noutrals. And yet it labking in iertainty and unitomity Apart from monention. thar only print- wh whirh there wat athy general doreement Wras that the property in order to warsant its conffication as rom nathand mut he of a kind likely to a-ist the enems in war. and exerpt that athirle of imme liate we in war were alware liable

(1) See 1Im:her. 17 \%
b, Th. judement in thi- raw whinh is -it one in Ithertay homes.
 is untewortly as emborlyiner a derision in :t reculation innilar in its thrms \(\mathrm{t}_{2}\) a- (1) whim, ore If if? ; fir,

\footnotetext{
() Thuw are "ontained in :nn ()rdar hathi. 191, © \(\quad\).
(d) Althourb with ame variations. . \(\%\).. at recard tha liability of the hip, in the went of a metain propur. tion of the caren boine" (antaband
(N) Takahashi. (tish.
(i) 1 ri,ir. 691.
a) Ibin, 701
}

 where atticles there was a great latk of uniformity, not merely in the pratere followed hy dilterm state or groups of statne, hom also in the pratice tolhowed by thr same States at diflorent times, this

 at. Larions times and ak helwern particular states to detine contra-natmere of hostife mathlostors amd were mot comsiventy athered to doctrime and pradiee with raport 10 (antraband was. imbed.

 times: silh the r-whl that it dinally herame ovident that retiof from and com-s,

 ii. 2lt at soy.

 ditimal contralmand. alon provinusis

Wat mald by the lipitivh dedegates.

 Dnelaration of lamdon: sar p. flot. \(\because 1,1\), (1) 1rtan O! O
perseribe- with -ume minutenes the enditions of liability as regards hoth clases of (omiraband ( \(m\) ): in further delines the effect of the ratriage of contaband on both the vessel and the non-contraband (argo ( \(n\) ) : and, finally, it sanctions certain mitigating practices an regarle the penalty for contraband (o). In thic, as in o her matters. the text is accompanied by a Report containing an explanator? comment. which will probably be accepted as authoritative.
(i.) Absolute Contruband: (1) Objects.-The term "contraband of war" fonnotes, as we have seen, two elements, one of which tum: on the matne of the object, and the other on it- destination. The distinction between "absolute" and "conditional" contraband. asain. involves difterences both as regards the mature of the objects insluded in the e categories and the rules that govem their de-timation. As reqards objects, under the Declaration of London the litlowing articles may. without motice on the part of a belligerent ( \(p\) ). he treated as "absolnte contraland": (1) Amm of all kinde. including arms for sporting purpases. and their distinetive fomponent parts: (2) projectiles. charges. and artridere of all kind- and their distinctive component parts: (:3) powler and explowise sperially prepared for use in war: (t) gun mounting limber boxe limhers military wagons. fied forgen.
 of a distinctly military shamater: (6) all kints of hamess of a diatinctly military character: ( \(\overline{\text { a }}\) ) salde. dratught, and patk animals suitable for use in war: ( 8 ) artide of camp equipment and their divinetive compment parte; 19, armour plates: (10) warships. inGhtine lowne and their distinctive component parts of ouch a nature that ther can only he used on ar resel of was: and (11) implements and aprammedrioned exelu-ively for the manufacture of munitions of wat, of for the mandacture or repair of ame or war matreal for we on land on sea (g). This list, it will he reen, inchulen waty

 In view. momeser, of posible mew dismorife and inventime. it is providod that artioles exclusively med for war mat he added to this tion innt he notifiel in the other Powers ur their mpresontatime or, if made after the ontheak of hostilitios then on mental chathoned either he diplomatio methoms. on heme the Inermatimat

\[
\begin{aligned}
& \text {..4 1rt. 29-36. 34. } \\
& \text { (") Arts. 37-42. } \\ & \text { 0) irts. } 43.14 . \\
& \text { 'l', In putaid Rivit. }
\end{aligned}
\]
（2）Inestimation and I＇roof．Ln the matter of destination，absolute contrahamd is liah to captore it destined either whervory belong－

 Which is decisive，but that of the goods．Even if the vessel herself is semanely lomad for an mutal port and the goots are th be dis－ whamed there，the later will be liable it the captor can show that they are ultimately destined for the enemy comtry；the transpor heingre resurded as a whole．This，it will be seen，imports into the law of contraband，althongh only so far as relates to absoluts contrabant．the＂doctrine of contimone rovares＂desmathed here－ after \(\left(r^{r}\right)\) ．The omm of prof as regath deatimation will lie on the captor．But suth pront will be demed to be fortheming and even ronderise if it is shown（1）that the grode ate dommenter for dis－ （2）that the resert is to eall at enemy ports only，or to touch at which are susepmithe of use in war as well as in prace．may withont min or hallom，paper moner（o）：（5）whilde nt all kinds avatahle for use in war．and the ir omponent parte：（6）wesels，craft，and medion with hafone and frine machines； 9 mel amb lubricants： （10）powder amb explases not epecially prepared low we in war： （11 harbed wire and implemems for fixing and cuttome the same：

\footnotetext{
（1）Irt． 30 ．
 （11）（br one oreupiod hy him．
（z）Sen Srt．Sl：and as to the．

（w）SM，mi．i． 27.5
（1）Int．\(\because\)
}
 5心．5心の

 hills of rexhatere or eherpacs． （ ）Indmbiner baibre anl (14) fielú glasses, telescopes, chronometers, and all kinds of nautical instrumonts \((y)\). Articles susceptible of use in war, and not included in either list, may also be added to this list by declaration and motion \(h\) ), whils articler mow included in it may, at the discretion of a belfigerent. De exchoded, sulject the the like conditions: (i)
(2) Ihestimention and I'roof. (onditional contraland is only liable if shown to be destined either (1) for the armed forese of the enems: of \({ }^{2}\) ) a (iovermment deparment of the enemy State (i) the groum of liability in the latter case being that such articles may readily be applied to military mese and will in any case sorm to incmase the immoliate reshures of the enemy state. But local and momicipal hotiow will not rank for this purpore as departmento of state. Even whore conditional contraband, moneorer, is destined for a Gorarmem deparment, the pesmuption of militars use may Der retmod loy poof that it camot really le used for the purposes an ememy colony: athongh mosurh dicpmot in atmissible in the cane contrahand whuld mel usmally ba comsioned directly to the military authorition or in (insmmont departmoms of the mamy. it in provided that sum a dastimation shatl he prewmed if the articles in article of thi kiml whe themy (11): (19 (3) to a fortifent plame belonging wh the onemy, of to any other phan that serves as a base will tany such presumpion ariee as regards a merchant ressel bound to any surle place in the rawt where it is songht to prove that she herself is commaband. In all other cases there will be a presumptom of inmorenh destimation. which it will rest with the captor to di-prove: whilst seizure will afford gromed for indemmity undes there was reasonalde canse for surpicion (p). As regarde the effect of arising ont of the terme neerl. the ey do not differ substantially from

```

(!f) Mrt. 2.t.
(h) Irt. 2.;: and J. 110. N/","
;i) Irt. 26: athd T. 110. sumpor.
(/i) Irt. B,3
(l) Irl S.3. and lieport. *口, Hearma JHgrems. 5xT.

```

```

iv "utmrilise "...."mins.
(.1) Tli, (miteinal rum= than: ",

```

```

fommit i& l"mummmi Ilose whjets wt matra-

```

```

Gata, if rocat in thre lichla of the \rta.

```

\footnotetext{
33 and \(3 t\) and of the Report omly ber interperted as mombine "emomy Erovernment" amal not "enemy in-

 5月, n. : and lor a like inferpmetation of the seme torm by ther Ru-sian
 p. 138. 1. (h), *"turn.
(o) The torm wed in the orisinal formes armerios romemirs.
 H. (h).
}
 of the fialitis！of combinomal comtaband；and presume this frem amb de－tination to the cam？（iovermment，or to a plan：nf naval on military equipment（g）．Some anhignty，honever，is sad in attach 10，the term＂＂ftem！＂a－wed in the expression－＂a contrator who notorigu！smpplen artinden of thin kind the themy ；although for the reasons already ment \((r)\) it is scatenly conervalde that this ＂and be interpreted an meaning anghe whe that the＂enemy（iovern－
 the term＂phate serving ats a base of operatiom＂（s）．Thim，although prohahb meant to stand for at plate ot maval or military erqup－ ment where amed forde of either limb are antlowed，prepared． and drapatched．might－and by a belligerent probably would－． be interpreted as meaning a＂base of supply＂in which case it would core all pordo amd dites from which shphens wew ehtained for the we of milhary of naval foren（t）．The risk imedemt the thin ambiguity migh，howerer．le adoded，if it wope posible to arrive at a common understanding on this paint prior th matiantion． Finally．the Dedamann provides that（omblional comtraband shall not be liahbe to laptme except when found on board a ressel bound for tertions helonging th arenpied lay the enemy．or for the armed fores of the enemy；and even then not if it is to be dismarged at an imervening nentral port：the ship＇s papers being emclusive on both points．cxeopt where she is found clearly out of the conse indicated bey her papers and is mathe to aceount for this sativfactorily（e）． In the rase，however，where the enemy conntry has no sealoard \((x)\) ， articles inchoded under conditional contrabmad may be soized and condemmed anon thoush hom inmedianely for a neutal port，if shown to lor destinal for the use of the armed fore of a（iovermment deparmant of the enemy（！）But in any other mase＂the domprine of contimm－rovages＂is wholly exchded as regarde comblitional ferenee with mental vesels on this grome the shipis papers are to be takn a conducive preof of derthation．undere the fate show that aitrume to beratelel． out depogating liom the erenerality of thic rale the following

```

    (%)バル!い".1'. 127.
    ```

```

Lundur. 7:3.

```

```

that the praper- -talf. thr mostimation

```
 5s？
（a）I－int the（an（a）of the former Aouth Ifrican liepublat and（Irange Frees State． （！）Irtく．33．36．
（ \(\sim\) ）（1！Pi＂t．11．11） （í）Art．\(\because 7\) ． and yarns of the same; (2) vil, seeds and nuts, copra: (3) rubber. resins. gums and lars, hops: (t) yaw hider, horns, bones and ivory: (5) natural and artificial manures, including nitrates and phosplrates for agricultural puposes; (6) mesallic ores: (7) earths, clays, lime. chalk. stone, inchudine mathe bricks, slates and tiles; (s) chinaware and slass; (9) paper and paper making materials: 10 , soap. paint and contons: including artichs exeln-ively used in their manufacture and ramish: (11) hleaching powder, sida ash, caustic soda, sult calis. ammonia, sulphate of ammonia and sulphate of copper: (12) atricultural, mininge, textile and printing machinery; (13) precions and semi-precions stones, pearls, mother-of-pearl and coral: 11 chocks and watches, other than chronometers; (1.5) fashion and fancy eronds: (16) foathers of all kinds, hairs and bristles: (17) articles of houselold furniture and decoration. office furniture and requiste- \((b)\). To these are added, on gromme of humanity1. anticle- serving exch-isely to aid the -ivk and womded, incliding druss and medicines, although these, if they have an enemy deatination, may in vace of urgent military neressity be requisitioned for use subject the the payment of compensation (d); and (2) amides intended for the we of the reasel in which they are found. If for the use of her crew and pasengers buring the vorage ph. The articer includel in the li-t of non-rontraband include. it will be emen. the raw material of the mome important industries. It has also the adrantace of socuring heromd presilitity of di-pute resercen th the limpligemente of addinge the pherious li-tiot

The limits of 'ap,tere A now whirh is earrvinge contratrand mave he captured on the high seas. or in the territorial waters of either hellimenen. throushont the whole of her vovage, even thongh she is to tonch at a poet of call hefore reachine the hostile destination (a) an lone an there io a hostile destination of the kind required for the (lase of contratand amied, he. But a resel cannot be capthed on the gromed of havine previonsy carriel montratand. if the "ontratand ha* wne heen depoited (i). Thee prowion again are in acemanme with the present Pritish pradime (ti).

The tencstion of Motiee In genemal it may he said that in order to involve nentrats in liability there mus: be both monice of the war 7 . and notice of the fontraband whache of the sombermed Ls th the atimes amprisal in the lists previonsly mentioned. the racter: whilat as twany artide admed thene.n provision is mate as when sum. for the isue of a sperial dechation amb motifica-
```

    (1,) Art.2.2.
    (%) I: to hospital ships proper and
    ```

```

    (r) Irt. 29.
    ```

```

(!) Art. 37.
1,) <゙"!,", P1. 41], 412.
i) Irt. 3S: and P. 429. s"ma.

```

tion ( \(m\) ). To meet the ease where contraband is found on a vessel which is ionorant either of the outheak of hostilities of of some - wecial delaration adding to or altering the existing lisis \((n)\), or which on becoming aware of the ee facts had no opportmity of disWhreing the comtrabamb it is provided that in such a case the conwaband part of the cargo shall not be condemmed except on payment of compensaion, the resel and the remaining cargo being not only rxempt from confiscation hat free from ans liability to costs and expenses that might otherwise be impund (o). This gives the hedligernit, as regards such pari of the cargo as may prove to he contrabind, a right of pre-emption, which would presumably be rexerised on the same lines as those olserved under the (.]ann to be unaware of the existence of the war if she left a neutral port aftur the fact of war had been notified to the termitorial Power, provided the notification wan made in sullicient time: or if she left an enemy por afier hostilitios had actually hequm ( \(q\) ). Nor can she clailn to be unaware of any special declaration of contraband \((r)\) if she left a neutral port alter its notification to the territorial L'ower, proviled again the notification was made in suffieient time ( \(s\) ).

The Penalty for corrying Contrabond. . The eontraband itself is. of conrse, liable to condemnation ( \(t\) ). With respect to the effect of the "arriage of contraband on the ship, and on imocent cargo. the Declaration provides: (1) That the vessel hereelf shatl be liable to condommation if the contraland on borat amounts to more than one-half of the (arew, this whether reekoned by value, weight, volume, or freipht (u) : such a proportion of contraland being reqarded as proot wi ihe ship's momplicitr in the contramma renture (2) That in any wher "ase the ship shall ero fee ahbomeh with a view to dis(ontadere contrabam traflic she may, in whlition to the losi incident 10 : lmontion and delay. he condemmed tow bay the eusts and expenses inmured hy the raptor in reepert of the proceding- in the national all eronds heloneine to the owner of the matraband aven thongh imolses a matorial altoration in tho British amb Amorian prartion hant. the amount of whim is mot sueh a- in insolve the resed her-

\footnotetext{
(1) Irt. &.).
(1) Irt. 39.
(if) Irt. tio.
(.) Mrt. 41.
(i) Irt. 12.
(zi) sirpoll. J. 431
}
solt．She may．if circumstances permit he allowed to continue her vovage on hanling over the contraband to the belligerent，together with all releant papero：such delivery being entered in the log－book of the wand stoperat：and the raptor being at liberty to dostroy the wntraband if he thinks fit（ a）．Such a proceeding，it was thought． although wot＂arranted beprior usage might prove mutually advan－ tagesus where the contraband was small in vathe ant anomt：but it is voluntary on either side，and in any case the soizme of the contrahaml must he pased upon ley the Prize Court of the captor（ \(b\) ）．

The Eirport of Contratand．The export of contraband，even though in the way of trade，has sometimes been made a subject of complaint on the part of belligerents as against a neutral State． Sorluring the rivil war，the Enited states complained of the refusal of the British（rovernment to put a stop to contraband traffie between British ports and those of the Southern Confederacy（ 6 ）．In 1859 ． Prnssia also complained of the action of the British Government in allowing the sale and export by English firms of arms and ammu－ nition to France（d）．In 1904，aqain，Rossia appears to have ques－ tioned the lerenlity of british trade in sontraband with Japan es．It is than that most States．inchating（reat Britain，warn their sub－ jects of the penalties incidemt to contralame tratfic（f）：that some State＂ry so so far a－io prohibit the expont of eontrahand from theis territery（！）：and．fisally．that－rme writre arm of onimion that a duty should bo impered on neutral（invernments of preventing the rexprt of contraband by their subjecotorn．But so far there js，as we haverem（i）no duty on the past of montal stateo to restratin con－
 the preparation of an inctromentality of wat in．or a dirent pratici－ pation in orme sparific opreation of wat（m）．It was on the latter gromed，no drubt，that the Britith（formmment in 1870．Whist re－ prohilited it expert from Britith ports in the Fromeln flem in the

```

    (a) Art. 44.
    (b) SMrr linport. I'earer lliggrins.
    59:.
(r) Noore. Int. Arb. i. 619.
(1/) Hall, 655.
(') IIrrabicy, 18:3 nt so%.
1) &゙%ри%, 1), 37%.
(f) Joazil atud the Nothrrlands, for

```

```

    (h) Foor a sumgerestorl s.hmome of mon-fa| "ontrol (Nom montmatmamal 1raffir.

```

```

    *"川"!. f. \41.
    ```

```

1:3 wf 1!007: 204 Irt. 7. am|l p. 2!9%.

```
" \(111 \cdot \%\).
（l）If wharer an armed veserl is dropaterled with intrant to rugate in 1）．34．3．
（in）Is where roal is exported for ther man of a bulligeront flat ofprating in adjoinine waters．
（ic）Sur Mlall，bis！：and as to thar Briti－h amomderd rexulations on this ablopert in l！att．J．：37．
 fleqef would al－d rember that shipりwe liable to bre promeded asaimst matary st． 8 and 30：whilat a mont：al help fhatered in tran－portine mal womlal he liabla to ratitare and eondemmation by tion oflari helligement as for un－ madem. to amother kimd of illogatity. whirh is governed hy separane athd indepemdent mates (o).

\author{
 \\  1ERNONS.
}

THE "OROZEMBO."
1 1807: \(6 \mathrm{c}^{\circ}\). Roh. 430.1
Case. In 180T. during war betwen (ireat Britan and Holland, the "Orozembo," an . Tmerican shij, was chartered by a merchant at Lislon, ostensibly, to proced in ballast to Macao and thence 10 take a cargo to America. Aftoprards, by direction of the chateres, thren military olfiers of distinction and also two persons imployed in the civil departments of the (iorernment of Bataria who had come from llodand to take passage 10. Bataria he direction of the Dutch (Formement-were received on board, fog ther with their attendants, the vesst hawing been rpeciall! fitted for their reception. In the conse of her royage she was captured by the British and sent in for adjudication. Condemnation of the ressel was prayed kor, on the ground that dow had heren moplosen at the time of capture in the servien of the (menter and for the purpose of transorting military persons 10 (nemes territory. ()n behalf of the owner, it was enntended that the master wan jemorent of the surver in which he was emgated. and that in mede to warant comdemmation there mast be the vesul was romdemmen as havine hern lad ont in the servion of the Dateh (iovemument.

\footnotetext{

 "xport of watlike matorial: sm the

 of selfoprotoction.
}
(o) 'The forms of unmentral servien here deswribed arre somotimes treated amalowe is mot sory ulat, the lmstile alabriation broing in somme lates more. atm in othore (alsis lese, elose thath that involved in contraband ('arriage.

Judgment. Sir W. Soutt, in his judgment, after referring to the lacts, said that it had already been held that a vessel hired by the emmy for the converance of military persons was to be considered as a transport and as subject to condemnation. It might be dillicult to detine precisely the number of military persons required to involve a ressel in guilt. But on the whole he agred with what had been said in argument, that in riew of the prineple on which the law was built up number alone Was not material. It might, for instance, bo of much more assistance to one belligerent, and mucd more noxious to the , ther, to carrs a few persons of higher quality than a much ereater number of lower condition; and it was the conserquences ,f" such assistance that the brlligerent was entitled to prevent and punish. In the present cass there were three military persons. as well as two civil oflicers. Whother the same principh applied to the latter he was not then called upon to determine; bat on principle it appeared reasomable that wherever it was of anlicient importance to the enemy that such persons should be sont out on the publie semvice at the public expense it shonld afford eromed of forfeiture aganst the vessel led for a purpore so intimately comeneded with hostiln operations. Is to the contention that there must ber some proof of knowledge on delingurnct on the pare of the master in orter to involve the essel, that wan not essential. It was sullicimt if theme was an injur? arising fomm: amb it the seevien was injurions. it arase the bedligement a rizht to prewnt the thing from boing done, or at least repeatmat. by enforcing the peralty of contivation. Nomeowe the kemwfodere or privity of the owner or thase employed to ate for hime would be jut as offeedme as that of the master: and. in tha present case, the evidence appearel to justify the supposition that the owners. or those actines for hime knew of the mature of the transemtern. It the same time. the prinemple on which her deredted the case was that the carvine of military persons to a colons of the meme, there to exereme the it military functions.
 mimetel the momber of percons so carrion : and that the ignome

Acoteding to the British practice (b), a mentral ressel, which is emplowd by one belligerent to catry combatants or intembing combatants for purpores comeneted with the wats is liahber to and this whether the momber eareded comprises only a lew individnats, memt (d). Nor will it make any dillerence that the master was ignorath of the true chatactor of such emplorment, so long as it wats an actual smotgenment in the enems service, whother exclusive or parial (e); or even that the employment orisimated in athe of volence or dames on the part of the othore belligernat (f). And the same: rule would probably apply where a nentral wesel was emplosed to cary even di il others, it they were dospatehed on the would mot, it semms, attath where the persoms in question even thoneh hasing a military character, were merely travelling in the ordinary way and ab private pasempers at their own expense (i). The pratice of the ['nimed states on these points appears to be substantially the same at the British ( \(\ell^{\circ}\) ). Similar rules were enfored alio hy Japan dming the Rosco-Japanese war, 190t-s. So, in the catco of the Nigretia-a British vessel captured by the Japanese in blont whits on a voyate from Shanghai to Vladivostock hoth ship and came were rondemmed on the weund that the ressed hat on hoard wo Russiall oflicers who had reeently been released from China un parole. but who were then pronemding to a nasal port wi the enemy, and trawhling with the emmivance of the chaterers under ferioned names and mater pretenes of beime in the service of jol hownery, it was hed he the Prixy ('mumil in asuit on a policy polis, for the reason that contrathand in its natmal rence, aml in ine to al wider meanimo--mbly appliod to goond and mot to persons.

\footnotetext{
(/.) Sine the British Memorandum: 1. !

 hatl berd employed to ratry betrle to Fromih nativ, w:

}
天"
i) Šer the Briti-h Memoramdam.

 xッ!.
...) Trakatha-hi. 1i3!!. IV 1:1 thar

(ii) THETRAN心MASSONOF INTELLIGENCE.

\author{
(a) DESPATCHES.
}

\section*{THE "ATALANTA."}

1sus: © (… Rob. 440.1
Case. In 18ta, during war between (ireat Britain and France, the "- Italanta." a nemtal ship, was captured whilst on a rovage trom Bataria to Bremen. It appered that at the Iste of France. a French posession at which the ressel had previonsly call ed. a packet containing despatches from the local authorities to thu French Minister of Marine had been taken on board. Thwo despatches were subsequently discorered by the captors concealed in a tea chest. Which was itself deposited in atrme belonging to the second supercaroo. In these circumstancer both whip and cargo were condemmed. on the eround that the carrvinge of dospathoe for a belligerm be a noutral ship placem the whip in the sexvien of the tormer.

Judgment. Sir II. Ficot, in his judgmont. whereded that hr of a smple tramsmission of depatelns. for the wason that the

 the other belligement. And this was so. werl thongh sumb dathat wre: civil operations migh have an important bearity on the isale wh the wart. The eonserpence of the carriage wf wont manal. line in them the mighe be convered the antion plan meseary to resort to further mestures, which could be no other than the rontiseation of the-hip. With respect to the liability of the caroon, it appeated in the prosent gas. that the offence was as much the act of those who were the agents of the cargo as of the master of the ressel; and for this reason tha deree of condemmation must also extend to the cargo.

 of enemy de pather relating directly or indirenty to the operations of war, either with the privity of the master of other persons reponsible for the ation of the ressel or mider circmastanes of frat or concealnem, render the vescel liable to comemmatom: and this penalty the same ownere, of whe there fse evidence of amplicity on the part of ho chmers or their agems, Bat the prably will ant attach despathone are neeseary in the interests of the nentral and camot the presumed to have a belligeremt ohject. Nom, fimally, wond any ndinary way of post: po-tal enerepondence. whother fond on burd Comentim. Xor. 11 af 1990 (p).

\section*{}

\section*{THE CASE OF THE " HAIMUN."}

1.N. \aval Cullam.
employed, within the area of belligerent operations, for the purpose of procuring and forwarding information with respect to the war. This information was sont from the ressel by wireless telegraphs to a receiving station at Wer-ha-wni, and th nece telegraphed to The Times of London and The Veen Lork Times over neutral cables. The correspondent in quention was accredited to the Japanese headquarters and subject to all consequent restrictions. The "Haimun" was at different times visited and searched by the warships of each of the belligarents, and in particular by the Russian cruiser "Bayan," which appears to have made a careful examination of the apparatus on board. The apparatu: usel was capable not only of sending messager, but also of interepting mesages sent by eithn belligerent: and, even though such mesagus would ordinarily be in cipher, the information so obtained might. if impropoly used, have matrially influmened the conduct of hortilities \(a_{1}\). In these circumstaners, on the 1.jth of April, an official note was atdressed he the Russian (ioverument boils to Great Britain, the Cnitel States, and other Powers, containing the following intimation:-"In case neutral ressls, haring on bourd correspondents. who may communicat. new to thr chemy by mean of improved apparatus not ret prorided for by the existing eonventions, should be arrested of Kwantung, or within the zone of operations of the Ru-sian Heet, such correspondents shatl be regarded as spies, and the rosels provided with such apparatus shall be selzed as lawful 1rize." Both (ireat Britain and the Enited states howern. refused to accept thin declaration as being in conformity with 1ho wisting law: and made a formal remeration of therir rights.
 resstle srized maler this derlaration. In the realt. no further andon was maken in the matom by Rusiat. But Japan thoth tion he tahon fon than-mi-sion of wireless mesages from the high scas to nentral termiory and thene by ordinary channels to some other neutral dextmation; alhongh in fume naval wars the transmission of such messages trom any point within the area of belligerent operations may conceivably be subjected to restrictions akin to those imposed in war on land (c). But it it had been shown that information gained by the intereption of messages had been commmicated by those on board the Itamun diredty to the enemy, this would have been a hostile act, which would have justified the condemnation of both resed ant her appamans (d). So, during the same war. the Industric(e), a (ierman wesel, was captured and condemned by the Japanese, on the ground that, although purporting. to be engaged in collecting war new for anew-paper at Chefoo, she was really employed in watching the morements of the Japanese fleet and convering military information in the interest of the enemy. The rarions questions that may arise. in war, in connection with the use of wireless teleoraphy will be convidered hereater ( \(f\) ).

(iii ENLSTMENT LN THE ENEXY SFRVICE.

\section*{THE CASE OF THE "QUANG-NAM."}
[1905: 'Takuha-hi, Caver, 735.]
Case. Lr 190.j, during the Russo-tapanese war, the "Quang' nam," a steamship, belonging to a French company, shipped, at Naigon, a cargo of spirits, which she subsequently delivered to the Russian syuadron lying at Kamranh Bay. Ifter leaving the latter plaw she promeded nominatly on a rogage to Manilla, without cargo, but in fact shaped her conser hefwern Formosa and the Precalores. after whid she san into Hatio Channel, where she was captumed he a dapanese cmisur, and sont in for adjudication. It appeared that the come pursued by the ressel was surh in womld mahlo these on board whatan information Judgment. It was held hy tha Nantur l'aze Court, aml afterwand the the (ome of Appeal, that then facts went to show

\footnotetext{
(c) L, 1, 1\% 1. 160.

(.) Tukahashi, 732.
() \(/\), fín. \} 1.99.
}
that the ressel had been chartered by the Russian coremment, and that she had been employed in the enemy service, both in carrying supplies to his fleet and in recomnoitring on his behalf, all of which, according to the rules of intornational law. justified her condemmation.

According to the British practice, which was here followed by the Japanese Couts, where a neutral vessel in chartered or exclusively employed by the enemy Government for service connected with the war. as for carrying eval or stores to its fleet. or is under the orders or control of that dovermment or its officers, both ressel and cargo will le tiable to condemnation (a) Such a vessel will also remain liable to condemnation, even though the service on which she was immediately cmployed has come to an end, so long as it is shown that she still remains subservient to the purposes of the belligerent (b). A neutral vessel which is in the service of the belligerent and under his orders and control, may. if found taking part in any military operations or in the immediate vicinity of the enemy fleet, he sunk ( \(c\) )
```

THE sELZURE OF ENE\U PHRN()N゙N(ON NEUTRAL VESSELS

```

\section*{THE CASE OF THE "TRENT."}
| 1862 : Parl. Papers, vol. 1xii.: Wheaton (Dana), 644 at seq. \(\mid\)
Case. In 1861, during the American eivil war, the "Trent." a British mail steamer, was on a vovage from Havanna to Nassau with mats and passengens. Amonest the passengers were ilessers. Masen and slidell, who were proceding as envors from the Southern C'onfederace to (ireat Britain and France. When about nine mile from the eoas of (intar. the "Tremt" was boarded bes the Enited States warship, "San Jacinto": amt, notwithatandiner and their suite werw takens ont of the "Trent" and varime wh the

(a) See the Britich Wemoramdum.

 1. 2nis.
fach－hamme kaown，the British（rovemment made a permptory which（ipeat Britain hat the surpert of other Powers＇（t，the United states（ionemment mudertook at onere to releme the prisums．who wow soon alter phand by arrangement on board mation．

Controversy．In the correpundeme which ensurd on this whinet．the United states（ioxemment repmiated at the outse any clam of right to take noxions persoms，whether rebels，erimi－ nats．Or enemies，as such．from a moutal wewe on the high soms． and on the same footing as haval and military peroons＇ 7 ，and that this bering so．and the（aptain of the＂xan Jacinto＂ havinge arempaned in the coursh of risit and seatech that the ＂Trent＂was farreing contrablath，it was his rioht and dute to make the wate prizn and sond hom in for adjudiation．atthough the Pate of persons on board would reagire to be setted bes dijplomatir methot－\(r\) ．It the samm time it was admitted that the captain of the＂sian Jacinto．＂in mencine the vesed，whether of fome to brime in both rosels ot had makn a sop which made the detention of Meser．Masm and xlitad monetitiable．and

 Prumaia．Italy，and lu＊－ia． （h）Th－ajpent of this siow ration अロッツ W：mad．tw Vattol．Whar allow． that ：brolliweront may hinder has to which aw ini，．．P．1．8k，w．1）． that if that promme in yuntion has rally bexel on the foming of contra－ bami．Ha Courte womld have had a riwht th deal with them which．ad－ mittedly．W：as mot tha nam． （1）：The latter was apporently the true rearoll the（：1ptain and wew of asciat in working the veculd if map－ \(t\) mand． （1．Ifter ther roluace．but in order （1）Erand againe being suppend tor

contraband, for the reason that neutral riates had admittedts a right to mainain friendly relations in time of war with both ledligerents: and that, in riew of the recognition of the belligereney of the Confederacy neutrals must be deemed to have similar interest in the maintenance of commonication with that bods. and a consequent right to carre its public agents, not having a military character, without any breach of nentrality ( \(f\) : and. lurther. that no authority could be found giving countenance to the proposition that persons and despatches, when in a nentral ressel and on a rogage to a nemtral port, could ever be seized as contraband ' \(g\) g

Alike in its rindication of the right of nentrals 10 mantain communcation with and men to canty the public agente of an acknowledged helligerent: and in its contention that the carriage ly a nentral resel even of enemy persons or deypatches on a genvine nentral destination conld not be treated as a carrage of contraband ( \(h\) ), the British statement aprears to aceurd with the exi-ting law (i). It was further recognized be hoth parties, that. mader the law as it then olitained, a publie vewel hat no right to seize and remore noxions peroms. whether memies or rolols. found on boad a neutral ressel: ahthoug at the present time the seizure and remoral from nentral resels of persons bolonging to the amed fores of the enemy is, as we thall see mudny erptain ciremostance sanctioned by Convention (l). maton of Lomfon. 1909, rases of umentral service are divided into 1 wo (hases. accomber to the gravity of the acts charged. These, fin the purpores of distinction. We may conveniontly de-ignate as mmentral" and "hostile" servien respetively (mi). The first fently with other empheyment of an innocent character. In such casco the rowel in question is to he treated in the same mamer as

\footnotetext{
(i) It wat ako pointed out that. the tixtom of sir 11 . Sentt in The bad mar raforener to the (ane of an ambancodor to a montral stata on batid a mentral (worel: and that the was altorether diatinct at der was virthally foum to have bom enguged as an "nemy transport.
}
 195.
h) Ther "ontention in then (asen of the Triwh that the whene of the miswon rendered the destination hostike was, on the fare of it, matemabl.
(i) Sier Mall, 645.

(iil) Althourfi the Deedaration itself includme both under "Mo.sista, int howite.

 justifis the detrobtion of a neutral perize and with the like con－ whit with the completion of the servief．The second rowner caso ＂hent the employment or engatement in the amemy serfe is com－

 hable to（mmdemmation wh pont wi grilt．hut her flag will no longer be deremed wo doter the goods on bate which will be peremmed to case，the besed will so far retain her mental qualits as to entitle who ：am merel petmone to the rmemy comitry for the purpose of

```

    1% Som 11. (`.. No. 12 wf 1!907.
    Art-.3.4: alud N"...N F. I!mi.
(r) Irt. t.).
(*) バ"ハいい. 1%. 1.oti.
(+) Irt. 1.5

```
        i", sur leport. Pearm hiresine,
        i) 11 .
                            (i) Irt. t5.

541.

        i!.).
to the same owners．whilst the enemy persoms may also be detained a－privoners of war \((b)\) ．But here，as in other cases of partial rervice．the liahilitr of the ressel will rease when the serrice has resel is encomotered at sea whikt still matware of the ontbreak of hostilitis：or if after learning this the master had no opportunty of diombarking his passengers．But ignorance of the war cannot lee set mp，if the ressel left an enemy port sulbequently to the mut－ break withotilites．of if she left a neutral port－ubsequently to their notification th the termitorial Power．provided that this was marle in sufficien time for the resel to reaedre it 4 d）． （ii．Ihsstile service．－A neutral resel will be deemed to be gruitry of＂hostike rervice．in the sense and with the consequencen above dremiterd e＇．in the following cases：1）If she takes any direct part in hostilities．in which case she will be subject to all incinontal risks，and also to condemmation as enems property if caponed． （2）If she is muler the orders or control of an agent placed on hoard by the enemy（iovermment．this being deemed to mark hes subservioncy to enemy purposen．（3）If she is in the exclusive em－ florment of the ememy（rovermment，as where she is chartered for carringe coal to the enemy fleet．it If she is at the time of cap－ ture，exdusirely deroted to ial the tram－port of enemy troops：or in looth of which cases whe will continue liable as long as the relation lasts．evon thomoh mot artually frowerd in sheh servier at the time of captaroref Proof of suilt will here asain entail bot whty the condemmation of the ressel．hont also that of any carou mon bord belonging wo the same owners h h \(^{\text {and }}\)

The reizure on Seutral Tessels of I＇eisons belondin！to the trimed Forces of the Encmy．－According to the Briti－h view of the ans－ whary law．Which appear in the Trent corre－pondence bo have heor ermally admitted hy the United States．a belligeremt Warship hat mo fight to demose enemy perwons found on hoard a mentral vereel the the high sea．hut only a dieht，in case of rearomahle－ropicion．to rend the resel in for adjudication．And tha－mas now pmobahy he nental hropital shipe or merehant shipe \(i\) ．The remond is romtained in the Derdatation of London．1909．whifh providesthat any individual

```

(h) Sern Repont. Ehi,
(0) S心% Ruport. ifill, 591.
(i) Ier. 1.).
, \therefore%"m", 1. 1.5%.

```

```

(7) Sum Roport. Parer Higwin*

```
596.
（h）Int． 46 ．
Srt．12：althmowh（irat Britain has ratified the（onsontion wrater turpedt to．p．I 2 ？，w＂，
there be no erommel for the (apture of thr sessel (he). This right.

 Nererthehes it comstitmes a serions encroachment on the British posiof primeple and convenioner. From the formor standpoint it mas perhaps le justified on the oround that surh persons are physically in the power of the belligerent amb more nuxion to him than contraband: and, from the later, on the groumd that it will save nentral sereels. and doperially barge pasemger stemmers. Whioh maty hate on board int taken hofore a Prize ('ome and there detamed perhaps for a long But it wond manifosty ine an intermational delinguency of at sorion kime for a bodigerent to axpren the right except on ( lear proot of the military character of the person seized \((m)\). In Janmary. 1912. dmrmer the Tmo-halian war. dhe Manomba, a Ferench mail steamer, was seized hy ant lalian (quiser, whilet on a byage from Marsoille to Tomis. amb remt into (agliati. she had on buaki at the time a momber of Tomkish passengros. Who damert 10 he in the serviee of the Red ('reseent hut wree alleged be of war. Hathe reath, and on the protest of the French (iovermment, the beses wan reloived and the pasemoer in question handed "ser to the Frention onsul. on the underatanting that intuiry shonld be made into their true fhateder and that if fomm to be exmbatants Tripuli. while the que-tion of emmpernation for the soizme of the (flnestions atrixinn in cannertion with the I se of llibeless Telegreth!! ' Thai insention. Like that of atrial natrogationto). has somm wi "haith still remain masherd (or). Therer inslade: (1) The qua-tion of the riohlt of a holligerent forer and lase an in-

```

    \: tak+!u up ill the Y',t,!t mon
    ```

```

    1!+1)!% 1%.3%.
    (1.) /h,il. (%).
    (a) I, te) whith >(1) but. i. Joti.
    11.(i).
((1,⿱) 1- to) the rules tommulatmal wn thi, subjeret in l!mi b,w thre |r-timte of fmtrrmational Lam. -&゙. !..... i.. xxi, 327.

```

```

11. (1).
q) S(% \ri- :3. t
, N.!.... [. &.jl.
```
it han ahraty been pointed out that the dainn wo treat the sending of meseages by war correppondents to nemial countries for public information as epionage is alfogether unwamamable (o). (8) Thas question of the liability incorred ly the intereption at sea of wirelese messages sent hy one belligerent and their commmencation to the other ( \(f\) ), or hy the framsmission of false messatres. Such acts if done by the enemy would, of 'omrse be quite legitimate; and, if done openly, rould not lawfully he treated as espionage (u). If done on a neutral private vessel ther would mmomet to "mmentral" or "hostile" service, acording to the nature of the emplogment. and wonld then involve the penalties attarhing to hose forms of service resper tively \((r)\). If done on a nentral warship. they wonde eonstitute a breach of neutral dnty, for which reparation and the punishment of thar offenders might be demanded. (t) The question of the use of wireles telography by a nemtal ressel for the purpuse of commmatating with a blockaded port in a mattor aftecifog the operations of was. Such a proceding wonld appear to ronstitute either a violation of the blorkmer, or an act of " muncuttal" servier, and wond in any ease lo a lawful ground for combemmation (x). (5) Finally, there is the question of the right of helligerents to prevent nentral private ressels, on the high seas but within the sphere of helligerent operations, fiom using such apparatus for the convering of general news. As to this, no such right is so far established (!), but the imposing of restrietions similar tho those attaching to war eorerespondence on land would apperar to be warrantable hoth by reason of the neressities of the case and in the light of existing analogies (z). In eflect. this would mosan at dighto exclude surh ressels fom an areato ho delined, although mapable of rariation by the dirertion and control of the brelligerent granting the licenco.

\section*{
}

THE "IMMANUEL."

 the " hmmamot." " Hamhore ship. was eapumed by the British
(s) Sor H. R. :3! : and fr 1.52. supra.
(t) Fow doppite the was of wipher mov damacring information maty ho sained.

\(\therefore\) (hid.
(y) Nthoush in fiat exernisal by Japan in the rater of the Itrimuni:

 amd Fhillipsom. Situties in Intornational Law. 10.3 -t sッサ.

Whilst oit a voyage from Hamburg to St. Domingo. She had, howerer, tonched in her voyage at Bordeaux, where she sold part of the groods hrought from Hamburg and took on board a quantity of other goods for st. Domingo. Coudemnation of honth ship and cargo was songht by the captor's on the ground that the ressel was in lact carrying on a trude between Franc: and one of her colonise. Varions questions were raised in tha comse of the case, but the main issu wat whether the engaging he neutrals in a direct trade bewern the enemy country and it colonies was to be regarded as illegal and as a ground for contiseation. In the result the cargo taken in at Bordeanx was condumed; but the vessel, in view of the considerations referred 10 in the judgment, was restored. alihough subject to loss of freight and expenses.

Judgment. Sir W. S'oott, in his judgment, stated. in dfeet, that on the breaking ont of war neutrals had a right to carry on their aceustomed trade, except trade to blockaded places or in contratmand articles, and subject to visit and search. But it was a bere different thing for the noutral to engage in a trade not perionsl: upen to him, to which he had no title in time of peace, and which in fact he coutd obtain in war by no other title than 1hes -ueseso of ond helligerem against the other and at the former's ('xpense. Then eolonial trath was ol' such a character, it brine in semmal eontined to the mother commen to which the eotons bedonged: thas affording wo the mother country at once a market fow her own rommontitis ant as suphe of those larnished ber tha contons. The other hetligement, momerer, had a right to possese himsif of snch colonice if ho could, and a superiorite at sea and thr cutting off of outride supplies helped him areatly to this end. fombe such viremetances what rioht had a mentral. who had no "Wisting: intmest in such trand. 10 stop in amd proment the oxe-lished eomnection would still have the effect of preserving it for a lonse time io the mother country. It was upon these and other grounds that an instruction had bern issued for the purpose of preventine the eommamiantion of neutrals with the enlonies of the enemy: ant this was, no doubt. intended to be carried into cifect on the same footing as the prohibition enfored in the war of \(17 . j 6\). The importation by a neutral of the manufactures of the enemy into his own country and their sulsequent export to an enemy -olone, or the convers of this as regards colonial products rested atter all on a different footing; for in either of such cases the woods became a part of the stock of the neutral country, and only rached the enemy subject to proportionable disadrantage. It was true that rariations of commercial polict often occured in sime of peace. but such measures dilfered from the present as not being undertaken in rediof of pressure resulting from the war. Hence in the prosent case. the goods shipped at Bordeans, even though mpatral propertr. mu-t be treated as subjeet to contisation, as being engeged in a direct tratle betwen the memy (rountry and its colons. Nor was there any distinction between an ontward and a menmerace. But as regards the ship, this, "wen though it bulomerel to the same owners as tbe cargo. would. in view of the fact that the case was one where a nentral mient more asity misapperemed the extent of his rights and had to wht, moreorer. without notice of former decisions one the subjet. he restornd subject to a forfaiture of frejoht and wapmon of .

 - heme ate dher form whestriotion that need on he notised: it The

 - wh bilith matitims smerionity to mamain her trade with her

\footnotetext{

 frosa Pritrhard" - Amarialty
}

\footnotetext{
Jheret will be foumd in Plall. iii. :3n.). and an atmly-is of thom in !!allork. ii. 30t. 11 .

Dhlomarh ramally whar.
}

```

-11i

```

```

('. liol), 2(96).

```

and by carring on in lact for one belligeren a trade which he can of war and the identily themselves with him in interest \(i\) ). Within these limit- ant so long as confined to a direct colonial trade or a genuine coating tradelo), the rute has thar approval of a "onsiderable fody of juristie opinion (l). At the same time, eren within these limit- if international ralidity is not monestioned: whilst eren mader the British practice it is not invariably enfored (m). So far as relale for the colonial trate indeed. the question has lost much of its importane her reason of the fact that the commal trade has now bern largely, although not miversally ( \(n\) ) opened up to foreigners hes State haring colonial possessions. But so far as relates to the roastime trade this, although now opened up ly (ireat Britain (o). is still mamtained as an exdusive made be other states ( \(p\) ): and here the chestion of the international validity of the rule may still present itself for derisim. Its extemion by the "doctrine of contimons vorages" will be dealt with heremfer (q).
(3) Finally it needs to be remarked that. for a short time \((r)\). similar restrictions were applied by (ireat Britain to the carrying on by neatrals of a trade betwern their own comntry and an enems colony, and also of a trade between different poits of the enemy conntre eyen thongh with a cargo brought from a noutral country \((s)\). But surh restrictions are now admitand to have heen irregular, and are not likely to be revived (l).
(iexbral Notr--The Right of Jeutruls to engage in "Trade closed to them in Peace.- The question of the general ralidity of
(i) But see Westhke, ii. 2.5t.
( \(i_{i}\) ) That is, a carrying of belligerent eroods betwerd belligerent ports, as distinct from a carrying ot nevaral wook to two or more betlierrerent ports in sucecsion.
(l) Jouh British and American, and to at smaller extent Continental, see Hall, 63t, n. Wheaton (b) (1ma), 666. apherars to oppose any extension bryond the ariginal limita. The uninion iff story, J.. in its fiavour is rited in Hallorek. ii. Bns. On the question of

m) The liriti-h Manual of Sézval that the muld poohibitine remtral vesels ferm rngatine in a tratle (.)

 wand bo interfored with by Irt. "2 of the ibsclaration of Paris a which ser infior p. 46.
(iv) So, trade between the I nited stater and her over-sea dependencies is confined to national ressels: whilat it similar poservation is made by Framon as regards trade between Fremeh and Algerian ports; and by Russia as regrards trade between her Baltie ports and Yladivostock.
(o) \(1 \%\) is 18 Vict. e. 5 : and now 39 ( 40 Vict. c. \(3 t\), ss. \(1+10.1+1\).
( 1 ) I- hy the Linited states.
 infite. P. liti.
(i) liy instructions i-sued somb attom the comincomernent of the wat of 17.93. but afterwatde relaxed by the instrations of \(179 t\) and \(1798:\) sere llallowh. ii. 30:3 , 18 w enemy goms hetwern enemy jorts.

the mble which prechudes nentrals from enorwine in a trade closed to them in peace lat opened to them on or alter the outheak of war． maty atill alix with rexpert to the eatioge tradr，which is ason now

 Art．ㅡ．of the Derdaration of Parisert；for，if the rald is otherwise momethe before the outheak ol war，should be liable wo be treated as on ble subject，and in the result the question of liability in such casme was expresty dedared to be comside the seope of the provisions themetore rematme an＂hen one（On the one hand．the validity ill aid of that hediererpll．（1）at athy lato an inmoporation of the bowols an（msagend in the merantile marine of the belligerenta： belligerent in fimn of war leaver them in no worer porition：and that the rule itarlf，althengh yuestioned breme，has the support of a latoo bondy of juristic opinion（b）and tho sathetion of a prepotent

（1）N＂＂，＂＂．11．161．
Althourh this is sometimes（oon－

（：2）Ins mofen thas it womlal mataml

 11all．31）
＂1）Int．it ：and fo－litio，init．
（h）lmoklimen that of lat：al siii． （．）7．ミ．111．Wh．＂limit－th．．．montral
```

rioht to a montimmamor of thrir m&-

```

```

*"ノ变".
(-). I- a rult Lunge enforemd los fireat loritaim. aml at prosent ammapterl by threa temdingr matritimm

```

```

    () H;all. (i,)l: Winflake. ii. 25%.
    ```

Neanwhile, and matil it is otherwise determined by Consention or hy the International Prize Court, it will be open to States, such as (ireat Britain, to comimue to enforce this rule within the limits and sulject to the restrictions previonsly indicated \((f)\); whilst it would, it is conceised, also be open to such States to ratify the Declaration of London under reservation of the right to athere to their own rules of this smbject mbes and motil altered by common agreemente (g).

\section*{THE "IOOTRLNE OF CONTINUOIS VOYAGEs" (a. (i) LS IPPLIEF TO PROHHBITEO TR LDE THE "WILLIAM."}
[1806; 5 C. Rob. 385.]
Case. In 1800, during war between Great Britain and Spain, the "William," a neutral ressel under the American flag, shipmed 1t La Cuayra (b a cargo of cocoa, the property of her awners, which was carricel to Marblelead in the United States. There the cargo was landed, entered at the customs house, and a bond given for the parment of duties, whilst some shoghtrepais were al-o effected. Thereafter the vessel took on board the ereater part. of her former caroo, with some additions, and sailed for Bilbaro, in spain. In the couse of the royage she was captured by the British, and sent in for adjudiation on the sroumd of being engaged in a direct trade betweon spain and hereotonis. in viotation of the rule of war of 17.56 (c. In the Court below the ship and some part of the emreo were restored. lat the careo which had heen brought from La (ruayra was (d condemmed. On appeal this decree wasconfirmed by the Lend- © ©mminsioner of tpparal in Prize Càes.

Judgment. Sir W. (irant, in delivering the judgment of the Court of Appeal, observed that the question for decision was

(1) ドor althomeh the Wertaration ammet be eigned under reservation of particular grovivons. Irt. at menely dedares the rule to be outeidle ite

(i, Thi 'is the twom mommonly used in the text hook- atthengh the British Momorandum speake perhaps shore appopriately, of " the doetrine of the contimunes royage."

(1, Then a spanish colonial port.

(r) Ifter further prome on the question of genmine importation.
whother the cargo shipped at La (imaya was to be eomsidered as proceeding directly from that port to spain, within the meaning of the Instructions, which prohibited a direct trado between a hostile colony and its mother country (e). The mere touching at a neutral port and the moloating of the eargo there, con though accompanied by the parment of duties, did not necessarily amomt to the temination of one royage and the commencement of" another: for such a proceeding might be wholly unconnected with any purpose of importation into the place where it occurred. It might, indeed, be done for the very purpose of making it appear that the royage had begun at some other place than that of the original loading. [n such a ease the real vorage would still be from the place of the oriwinal shipment, notwithetanding the attempt to give it an apparance of having begun from a different place. The real teat was whether there wa- a genume importation into the nentral comntre. In the proent case it appeared that, although a smm of \($ 1,239\) had been paid or secured as duties of customs, a refund of \($ 1,211\) had been obtained on rehipment: and also that thr owners had neither tried nor meant to sell the eargo in question in the Ameriem market. Nor would the eontinuity of the rovage have been broken even if there had been, as was alloged, an original intention to sell at Marblehead, if this purpose had in fact been subsequently abandoned: for an intention to import wa- far from being eymivalent to an importation. In mamination of the cams ( \(f\) somed to show that the parment of dutios had newer been adopeted as an absolate test of genaine importation : and that the parment of a slight dutr. as in the prescont case, woukd not tend to establish the bona fides of an importation in the same Herree as the parment of a heary luty. For these reasons the -antenee of condemnation must be affirmed.

The doctrine of matimmon ravages" "omsist in treating an Whentur whish involve the carriace of geots in the first instanen wont of duty as a tost of homit fint, am! Therrerport.

\footnotetext{

}
with all the consequences that would attach if the neutral port had not been interposed \((g)\). This doctrine was first applied by the British Court to cases of prohibited trade, and esperially to trade promibited under the rule of the war of 1756 . The effect of the whemy colnies and mother country, neutrals sought to evade this pestriction he tomehing at a neutral port and there landing cargo and pasing or purporting to pay ducs, sulseguently reshippine the orginal carso, often with some additions, and thereafer procseding th some detination in the enems country. In such cirmanstances, however, the British fonsts held that the royage must lor treated as a rontinuon-one, only colourably interrupted, and that the penalty would take effect. But this was not held to apply where it could be shown that there had been a genuine importation of the goods into the neutral country, even though a part of the same goods might have been carried by the ship on her subsequent royage (i). In sucl) cases, 1 lierefore the crucial question was whether there had lemen a cemuine submission of the goods to the neutral market. It is material to notioe, howerer. that aceorling to the carlier decisions the dortrine was only held to apply wher the second stage of the fonmey had been entered on, and where the carriage was contimed by the same ship( \(j\) ): (enditions not oherered in the later applirations of this doctrine.

The same dontrine was also applied to case of trading with the enemy. Fo, in the cate of the Jonge Pieter (t C. Rob. 79), it was held. under the rule prohibiting trade with the enemx. that British goode comsignom immediandy to a mentral port hat intended to bor forwarded thenes to an enoms pors were liahle to (andomation. surh mading being equally illogal wen thath enenitns. This. it will heren, involve an extension of the cmigimal mone. in on fat as it wath applied to a mase where prash means of transportation wememponal. that riving rise to the

 was. while on a myag fom New Yonk to varime sumth driman pons, indodine the nentral pent of Belago bay, and comemmation benth of the wesal and mertain parte of the carge wat songht on the eromot of trathe with the enems: it heine allered. as was indere tho

```

1. % &.
(%) Thon-6 mopromed 10) int the prin-
```

```

|!:', ,",

```

```

H/,rict (5 (%. lioh. 3,3j)

```

```

"&|w.17:.whorw if wa* lom| that a tran-portation of erood= forms onf. farmy port to another. in rontravention of an ()rder in ( 0 ouncil of 1 sito. was mot brokern br a -ald amd transhipment. which was in fact rollusive at a matral port.

```

 2.97 ).
remalt the wesel was releasd on the gromud that the condure of those reaponsible for her hiad heen surt as to exempt her from liability ( \(m\) ) : but as to the grooks, it was hold that the semdinge of British gronds to a neutal pert with intent that ther shouth aftorwards be sent ons. owen hy land rransport, to the enemy conntry, clearly fell within the mio against tratho with the enemy, and hence that all cargo consioned to persons domixiled there must be condemned \((n)\).

\section*{(ii) As APPLIEI) TO BREA(HOF OLOCK.JDE.}

\section*{THE "SPRINGB0K."}
| 1863: 5 Wall. 1: 1871; Moure, 1nt. Arb. iv. 392s.|
Case. During the Imerican "ivil war, the "Springbok," a British vessel, was on a royage from London to Nassan, with a cargo of goods consisting partly of contrahand. Before arriving at Nasan sho was (aptured by a Laited states cruiser and sent in for adjulication, on the ground of having intended a violation of \({ }^{*}\) the blockade of the coasts of the Confederacy. In the District (ond both ressel and cargo were condenmed; but on appeal to the Supreme Court the decree of condemnation wat reversed as to the vessel, although confirmed as to the cargo.

Judgment. The judgment of the supreme Court was delivered by the Chief Justice. With respect to the ship, it was ohserved that the Court had already laid down in the case of the Bermuda (3 Wall, 51t, that where goods ultimately destined for a belligernt port were being convered betwen two neutral perts: by a neutral ship, moder a charter made in good faith for that vovage, and withent any frandulent comection of the owner-

\footnotetext{
(ivi) 'That is, in makine full dis-- Wence to the athorities: the implication from the majorite juldement hemen that the hip would othowise haw bern lable: whilet. in the opinim of hawrence. J.. the was liable in any

 326. In fict. howerer, it would appear that subl wookl were already liable as enemy property, irrespective of the grestion of destination, for the reason that property found on the seat and bot cowereat by the meatral flate is liable, whether procededing to or from the comy country, so long as it is shown to be vested in the enemy; a fant which is touched on in the judgment of De Villiers, C. J.
}
with the ulterior dexination of the goods, the ship, although liable to seizure with a view to the eonfiscation of the gomis. Wan not heredf liable to combemmation. In the opinion of the (onert the case of thr"springbok" fairty "ame within this rute: her papere beine requar and gentine. and the owners noutral and having no interes in the cargo or provel knowledge of the destination of the groods. With respect to the cargo, however, it apperred that no consignes were mamel and that it was made diliverahle to order. Moreover, the nature of the content- of more than two-thisds of the package, on board had been concealed. I small part of the cargo consisted of arms and muntions of war: another part of articles useful alike in peace or war: whils the rest. althongh imocent, belonged to the same owners. But whether contrabmed or not it was liable if destined for a blockaded port. It was crident from the wip's paper: and other docunentary evidene. that the cargo was not intended for Nassau. hut was intended to be transhipped there: whilst. in riew of the evidence, the Court entertained no donbt that the caroo wa- intendod to be carred on in violation of the blockade of the port- of the rebel states, and that it had been shipped with that intention. The royage was therefore both in law and according to the intent of the parties, but one rorage- from London to the blockaded port.-- and the cargo was liable to be captured during any part of that royage. For the-e reasons the condemnation would be reversed with respect to the ship. although without costs or damages: but affirmed with respect to the caron.

Award of Commission. This decision, although not the suhjert of any oflicial protest a). gave rise to much diseatisfaction: provokins. indond, a remarkable expreserion of miticiomand protest

(a) Inderd, it was afterwards stated in answer to a petition of the cargo-owner- that 1]. V. (rovernment would not he ju-titiod in makinar any ulam in Kıu thas (1ر,inion of thr Maritima Prize Commajoion monnimated ly the In-titute of latermational latw.

 the "pinion of Bluntechli. ifort. 733.
(c) Appointed momer the Troaty of regeted: ahhough a daim for losees arising out of the det ention of tho ship, winh costr and "xpenses, was allowed, and an anard of -i,otis) made in reperat thereol do.

 the "doctrine of amtinnolis vorage" (e) that of the ripringhok ham probahly heen must widely dincused and eritimed (f). And althogh the derision itaedf camm, having regard to the eiremmstances muder which it wat qiven!g and its latk of predieness (h), be said to have any daim to allthorisy and athergh the " doetrine of comtinmons whages" in scarcety bikely to be applied in the future 10 sale of borkate. get it rerve to illnatate the extreme point to which hat doctrine wat one carried and ite relatien position mater the existing lan.

Durine the Amerimat eivil way a comsidemable patlie. both in Theme wevels sated in the firs intance for Xiasatu, or some othe: nemtral fure in the virinit? of the masts of the romethern port. or ohe trambipped their eargoen with a view th their being at any rate during the wage from the pert of shipment to the nombal pert. It was in thee diemmanase that the tinited states ('omte applied the dertrine in yne-tion in tares of blockade and commanam: hodding that if grombe of any kind were intended to bor carried on 10 a litorkaded port. Whether by the rame or bo any oher resel. or if gotso of a comtraband character were intanded in be sent on to the rethel tertions. Whether by the same and 'omblemation: amd that fombmmation wond. moreovel. "xtrml presumed on the pari of the whersik) some appliatione of this

(f) Ifparcatly in perpaty of the detention of the "e-ast from the time of tha derer of the l)iatrial (ourt to her linal diadharer.

(i) For a summary of miticisme. - Momer Dignt. vii. : 10n
(a) It wa- the dowinn of a latro majority and asainst the opinion of the members of the (',net whe wew most skillad in this hamen of fla law.
(h) It doer not. for instanter. exn dexignate the port where blockade was to be violated.

(有) The primeigat rat- ar" The

 \(\because 1\)
11 I. War. indend. Rater admitlo.l:
 qumond by llall. fity, ofor

In these decivions questions of bockade－ruming and contraband arriage are largely intermingled．The decision in the stringbob： ＂as，as we have seen，generally reprobated，and－apart altogether from the prorisions now embodied in the Declaration of London（ m ． would not be folluwed by the British Courts（ \(n\) ）or，seemingly，even by those of the Cnited States（o）．Hence we may take it that in cases of blockade，even under the customary law no ship on a genuine destination to a neutral or open port would now be condemened under the＂doctrine of continuous voyages＂；and． further，that no cargo on board her would now be held liable under the＂doctrine of contimous transport，＂for the reason that blockade is sisentially a question of the ship，and not of the cargo except as connected with the ship（p）．Nevertheless，it would still be open to a captor to show that the ostensible destination of a vessel to a neutral or open port was not gemnine，and that her artual destination was to a blockaded port（q）．

\section*{（iii）As APPLIED TO CONTRABAND．}

\section*{THE＂PETERHOFF．＂}
［1866：Supial p．420；Moore．Digest of Thternational Law．wol．vii．§1260．］
Wuring the American civil war，the＂doctrine of continuons rorages－or，as it is sometimes termed in this connection，the ＂doctrine of contimone tran－pert＂at was applied aloo to the cartare of contrahand．In the case of the stephen Hart is Wall． ans）a British wesel carrving contraband but bound for the nentral port of Cardenas．war combemed，tugether with her （arsu．wh the eround that the contraband was intended to be carried （hin to chems terxitory either be the same or he some other wesel． for Xissau with contraband was similarly treated（b）．But the most aumbun exposition of the doctrine is probaldy that contaned in the alse of the Petertoff．This，as we have seen，proceeded solely

\footnotetext{
（＂1）Sur Irt．9：p．477．i，ifior．
（m）There is some authority in Eng－ lis！late to thee refferet that where a woul immediately destined for an口⿰亻⿱丶⿻工二十⿴⿱冂一⿰丨丨丁口内 dnatimel for a blow kaded port．she will inn throushont that rovalere mandes tut therer is mo diremt doedi＝ion to this bewn oftiovally repurliated：sere tha fritish Momorandum．fo．A．
}
（0）Sec Moore，Jigest．，ii．T29．
（p）See The Joinge Pieta， 4 （＇．Run）．

（（y）Sife Manual of Naval l＇rize Latw． Irt．134．
（if）Ser（）ppenheim．ii．St）
（b）In both these eases，Jowerom． the Court proceeded also on ther ground of the erooti being enemy pro－ perty and on the crround of a jre－ sumed intention to break bleskands． Hat soonle in the mature of contraband, whether "absolute" or "con"litional," peon though immediately bound for a neutral port, were -nhjee to ratmo amd comdemmation if it cond be shown, in the fomer (ase, that they were intended to be arried on, ben though ly a difierent method of tansport or overland, to the enemy territory; or, in the latter, that they were to be so trausported on an uttimate deatimation for naval or military use ( \(d\) ).

Ln the British Courts there is no reported case in which the "doctrine of "ontimons royages" is applied in specitic terms to the mariage of contraband. In Hobbes. Henning (34 L. J. ( C P. 117, -an action on a police of imsurance on a part of the (argen of the Peterhofl, in which the iswe was whether such (atgon was to bee and in derogation of the periey it was hed in effece that goods (onsigned to a mentral funt, event thong of a warater likely to be of we in war, and aren thongh the owner minht have expeded that thes would be sent on tw helligerent termiory be), rond not. on an allegation of mental process onls, be reqarded as contraband. But in the vubsequent case of semmoner. The London and Prorincial Marine

-which was also an ateron on a police of insurance on a part of the cargo of the Petertolf, althongh in this ase the policy was whbee to an expmes warranty agane eontrahand it was held that in the circmatances of the eawe the gools must be regarded as rontrahand, and the fuliey a- invalinated by their mipment. With applimano to contraband was unt recomized by the Admiralty Mamal of Saval Prize Law (f). But ar aganst this, we fact that no proted was mate be the British Government against the Ameriam decisions. and the atfitmde subeymently taken up by it in the heen ofticiall? arropted!g

\section*{CONTROVERSY BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND GERMANY WITH RESPECT TO THE "BUNDESRATH "AND OTHER VESSELS.}

\author{
 Law vii. S126‥|
}

Case. In December, 1899, durine thw sonth Ifriwn war, the Bundorath," a (iemma mail stemore. whilst mo a royage to ( \(\rho\) ) So lomer as loe was not a party to any actaal armatomonts for that par-

\footnotetext{
pose: the question of liability in this aan beine loft opron.
 (f) \(11, i \boldsymbol{1}\).
}

Lorenzo Marques, in Delagoa Bay, was arrested by a British cruiser, and brought into Durban on suspicion of earrving contraband ultimately destined for the enemy territory. She also had on board a number of Dutch, German, and Austrian passengers who were believed to be officers and intending combatants. On application to the Prize Court her mails were released and sent on by another ressel. After search no contraband was found, and hoth ressel and cargo were discharged after a detention of some twentrone dars. In January, 1900, the "Herzog," another (ierman steaner, bound for the same port, was arrested and brought into Durban on a similar charge. She, too, had amonost her passengers a number of Dutch and Cremman medical and other officer: and nurses. The British Govermment, howerer, ordered her to be peleased unless it was found that she had on board guns: or ammunition or provisions: "destined for the enemy Gorermment and intended for or specially adapted for the use of troops." In the result the vessel was released after three days" detention. Abont the same time the " (reneral," another German stemer. was detained at Aden on a similar charoes; but, after an axhastive search, involving the remoral of a laree part of her carge, this mesel also was rehased. aft wix days detention.

Controversy. \({ }^{-}\)The (reman Govermment had memwhile entered its protest against theor seizures: besing this in part on the assurance that no contraband was carriod \(a\). and in part on freedom of trade between neutrats \(b\). L'pon the retemse of the vescel: the British (roverment. after exprosing its momet for what had oecurred. admitted in principle it ohbigation to make compensation. and offered to submit the yreation to arhitration thould an agrement by other means be found impractioabla. It also issued instructions to prevent the stopping and somplainer of reseche at dden or at any point equally or more distant from the seat of war. Foinally, it arreod provisiomally, and until other not hre -earehed "on :n-picion onl!."
 rath.

In the discussion that ensued with reference to the legality of these prowedings. the (iemman (iovermment contended, in offeet, that the errest of the reseds was altogether unju-tilablen for the reason that, me mather what might have bern on board, "there conld be no cutstion of contrabamb of war," since, according to recognized principle of international bw, there sannot be contraband of war in trad betwern nentral ports. It was added that this had been rewognzed be the Britioh (ooverment itself in its protest against the decision in the ease of the "springbok," and was also recognized in the Admiralty Manual of Naval Prize Law (e. In reply, the British Government pointed out that the "Springhok" decision had not been the subject of ans. official protest on its part ( \(d\); that the directions contained in the Manual, although sufficient for wars waged in the past, were quite inapplicable to thr war then procededine with an inland state whose only commmication with the sea was over a few miles of railway to a neutral port: that the regulation refered to viz.. "that tha dastination of the ressel is condusive as to the destination of the grools on board". .could not apply 10 contrahand of war, if such contraband was at the time of serizure iatemded to be dedivered to an agent of the ememe all at anemal port, we was in fact destined for the enemes comery and finally. that the true view was beliesed to be as stated be Profereme Bluntechli. that "if ship or aroods are sent to the deetination of a moutral pert onds the better 10 come to the aid of the enems. there will be contraband of war, and conliveation will be compensation paid for the detention of the resads ' \(f\)

 Britain. and to illuspate the cenllies of opminn and practiow that

```

    SM& Irt. Fこ.
    ※","". P. F\1. and 11. (".
    ```

```

18:1.813.

```
    (f) Soe alio I. (l. R. xuii, IL: xvii
193 (!1) Bexeent an it mattor of errame or arrangenment.
of a belligerent to make compensation for arrests made without reasonable canse \((h)\). On the main issue, the British contention as regards the application of the doctrine in question to absolute contraband generalty, and to conditional contraband in the special circumstances of the war. appears to be borne out by the agreement which was subsequently arrived at on this subject by the Naval Comference of 1908-9 (i).

The "doctrine of continnons rovages," although commonly reprobated by European publicists, is nevertheless approved, in its application to contraband, by some Continental writers of autlority ( \(k\) ): whilst it has on some occasions also been applied in practice. So, in 18.5t, during war between France and Rusia, the Fron Ann Homeina, a Hanoverian ship, which had honn captured he a French eruiser whilst on a rovage from Lishon to Hamburg with a cargo of saltpetre, was condemned by the French Courts, on the ground that the cargo was contraband and was really intended to be transported to Russian territory (7). The doctrine was, again. judicially adopted by the Italian Prize Courts in the case of the Doeluych, a Dutch ressel captured by an Italian aruser in 1896, during war betreen Italy and Abyssinia, and sent in for adjudication on the ground of carrying contraband. It appeared that the ressel hat on board at the time a cargo of arms and ammunition, which although immediately proceeding to Djiboutil, a neutral port. was really intended to be carried thence into Alresinia for the use of the armed forces of the enemy. In these circumstances the Italian Court pronounced hoth vessel and carco to be liahle to condemnation: although it retrained from pasing that sentrnce on the grom that peace had meanwhite been restorm ( \(\mathrm{m} / \mathrm{I}\) ). Duriug the Rusin-Japanese war no decision appears on have been given muder this doctrine ( \(n\) ). Such appears to have heen the position occupied by this doctrine under the customary law prior to the Declaration of London.

Gifabrai. Notes, - The "Ioctrine of Contimous Voynges": (i.) Is upplied to rises of I'rohibited Trade. - Whthongh the "dnetrine of whtimmen rovagre" has now boen aftirmed in certain mane bex
(h) IIthourh in two of the cases, at any rate, there semm to hare been matsonahle tronnd for suspicion. As of the rrowing power of neutral States in restraint of helliterent interference witla their trate: see Barelay. Probloms, 107 .

11) (alvo, ith ed. p. 2767. Amonest the farte relied on was the proof of an "xten-ive 1 rade in contraband between Hamburg and Risa.
(m) This beine, however: only as of er ratere and not as of right: see Oppunhomim, ii. 55te. In Pu!s v. The lion (1597. 2 (2. J. 135) it was lueld, in an action on a poliey of insurance on this vesom, whibli eovered war risks. that the releaze of the versel aftor ation brouerht did not disentitle the assured to remover as for a tutal lose on a prior notiee of abandonment.
(ii) Ithourh ritied. somewhat in-the Dectaration of london, its application in other cases is still left io the operation of the earlier law. There were, as we have sent. Three dases of eases in which it was previously applied of montabmat. Winh raspect to caves ol prohilnted trade, the validids of the rule. which exchales nentrals from participating in war in a bato chosed tor them in time of peace, still remains open fo question (o): hut if, as has heen sugereted, that rule is to be regarded as valid and wnlsisting", then it woukl seem that the "doctrine of contimnOns voyages " must alsu be deemed to apply, although subject prolably to the limitations which attarhed to it under the original Britinh practicent). It wonkt appear also to be equally applicable to violafions of the rule asainst frading with the racme, which. abthough a rule of mmmajal law, may under the British ami American practice affect fomioners who are domiciled within belligerent territory.
(ii.) Cuses of Blockiade. With respect to breach of blockade, thes Declaration of london now provides that whatever may be the ulterior destination of a ressel or of her caroro, she cammot be cap)fored if at the moment she is on her way to a non-l)lockaded port (g). As lerwem the -ignatories. therefore. and when a breach of bockade is in question, it is the immediate lestination of the vessel alone, and not any ultrior destination of the cargo, that must be looked to. And althomeh it would still her open to a captor \((r\) ) to prove that the alleged do-fination of a vessel to a montral or open port wat merefy rimmbated \(s\) ), ver moler the Declaration of Lombon such a
 On : purnuit commened therefrom ( \(f\) ).
(iii.) ('uses of ('ontrabumd.-With respect to contraband, the Hedanation proside- that "absulate comtaband" shall be biahle w (apumer if it is shmon to low destimed to twmitory belonging to or in this (and whether the camiage of the wods is direct, or entails

(1) ぶ, 1.1.16.1.

(9) 114. 19: 11. 119. .". 11

 sur!".
(N) súe lipport. Learme Mirrsins. isi.

(iv) . Irt. 39.
(.\%) Ša Report. Poaren IVirerins. 586: and as to the criteria of destination. Srt. 31. and p. 411. supmor paken a- ounclucive promit of the rovage on which she is engaged, yot this in. as we hate reen. subjont to exeption in a case where the fact- diow the pajeers to be fake (y) . But "conditional contraband " is not tw be liable th capture exerpt when fomen on board a rowel which is itself homed either for territory belongting to or oromiorl be the enemy or for hi- armed forces. and when it is not tw he dishareed at an intervening noutral port (z), and subjert in any gase to proof of an intonded military use (a). And here again, the ships papers are to be taken as conflusive both as to the rovage of the resoch, and the place of disWhares of the gronlo milese the fact- show them to le false (b). The only exception to this general immunity of "conditional contaband" when on a pembine neutral de-tination-and the only intance. therefore, in which the "doctrine of continuous transport " remains applicable under the Derlaration, as regards conditional contraband-occurs in the cave where the country of the enemy has 111) sealoard (c): an exception which is no doubt founded on the example of the Boer Republics in the South African war. In January, 1912. during the Turco-Italian war, the C'arthage. a French mail steamer, them on a vorase from Maresillos to Thnis. was ented by an Italian cruser and cent imo ('agliari. on at harge of (arrying

 ouly conditional contraboud which eonld not be wized when on a netural de-thations. the rewer was releared: the prestion of comfranation for the eizure heing reservel for sulaphumetrement

\section*{}

\section*{THE " MARIA."}

Case. During war botwern Grat Britain and France a How of S゙wedi-h merchantment under consor of a swedish frimate. wa- encombered off the comst of Encland he a Briti-h aybadron. Ther flest included the " Maria" and tive other rasels, homed for cre Irt. 3.5.

\footnotetext{

That i- a doctivtiont for thro or suor Irt. 3f: and Parl. P'apera. Mist. No. 1 (1909) . S18, aistinge of haval storsí". The british squadron having propowd to exmerise a right of visit and sareh over the masel- mader convor, the romberine ressl interporal, with the result that the -uch resi-tance ond mbimatoly wemme by the superion fore of the Briti-h. (On this eromud both the "Maria" 'mud the other bescels wern arized and sont in for adjudieation. It -ubsernently appeared also that these ressels had salled under sonvor for the appeso purpose of ardine British seareh: and that the convoying to the shipe and theireareors.

}

Judgment. Sir W. Scott, in hi judgrnent, hid down: (1 That the right of visiting and searching merchant ships on the high seas, whaterer the ships, whatere the cargocs, and whatwer the destination, wats an incontestable right of the lawfully rommissioned cruisers of either belligerent. It was, in fact, only by the exmerise of this right that it was possible to ascertain whether there was just amse of eqpume The right mast be "xeroised with as litto rexation to the neutrel as pos-ibhe but forese \(\quad \sim\) That such a right could not be legelly varied by the forcible interposition of the nentral rovereign. Two Sovereigns might inded agree, as in some instances they had agreed, that the presence of an armed vosol with their merchant ships should be mutaally muderstood to imply that nothing was to be found in the vessels under emwoy ingmsistent with amity or mentrality.
 forer. The only anmity kmwn to the law of nation which a bultigerent poseseal, indmembatly of sud agremment, was the rioht of risitation and stareh. ' 3 That the penalt for my violent contravention of thi- right wat the contisemtion of the promety a withhed from visitation and remech. That this was -1) :"peraced to be arident. both on fair principles of rearon. on the anthority of Vattol, and from a considematon of the institutes of all erant moritime conntrim.

Nor were there any special circumstance in the present case． whether arising under treaty or otherwise，which would serve to take it out of the general rule．Cases might，inded，occur in which a ship would be authorized br the natural right of self－ preservation to defend itself against extreme violence threatened by a cruiser grossly abusing her commission：but when the utmont infury threatened was the being earried into the nearest port for cnquiry，subject to a responsibility on the part of the captor for costs and damages if he acted vexationsly：a merchant vessel had no right to take the law into her own hand．For these reasons a decree of condemmation must be pronounced both on ship and carso＇7，

This rave deciden in difert－－1）that the right of risit and seareh wer merchant resels on the high sea is a neres－ary incident of the rich of matime eapture：and（2）that it camot he displaced by the intervention of the nomral sumerom，or by the fack of the resed being under conver．Lncidentally it tonches also on the pomedy arailable in caven where a captor exercises his rights mwartatally or rexationsly（e）．

Winl respect to visit and search．the eneneral mature of this right and the mondinme of ite experise have alpedy heen deseribed（d）． Whilst a mentral vesel je bomd to subnif to risit and seateh be a qualition belligement，a mere attempt to evade it．as ly flight． materompanied ha arthal rewistane will mot suftere to wartant her condemation．ahthongh it would justify the belligerent in using all necesiaty fore the prevent her from exaping（e） Even formble resistane．moneover．might as is pointed out pate of thaptw if In any other case．howerer．it will involve hoh ship and aren in a momm（ondemmation（gi）．But revisi－
 mas be on bearl．for the reason that rewisane is alwas jutifiable as between enemine：ahthoug arending to the Briti－h praction this will not appls where neutral gends ace shipped on board an armed vasel of the phemy（h）On all thew peints．save the last（ \(i\) ），and now on the question of eonvon \(\left(T_{i}\right)\) ．the American practice agrees

\footnotetext{
（b）This juderment was suhsequently affirmed on both point－by the C＇ourt 1115：

}
lutely necessary to the semurity of the captors．＂

```

(!.) The Mrntor (Edw. 207).
i) ぶ"mir.
(!) T%,: 1:7, %, (.) (`. Rob, 17.3)

```

```

    i) [l,i,l.
    li) I!ím, %.1くこ.
    ```
 incidems，is eqnally meognized althomg with a reservation of the right of emong muter the（＇ontinemtal practiee（m）．

With rexpect to the strealled＂right of convors．＂this appears to hate had it origin in treation mate berwern pationar stater，under muder comone of at matimal waship．were exemp！from vicit and moderstond to athord at watanter that the were not engaged in any general on miform th mak ab obligators．Hence（ereat britain contimed．an we haw seren．thasery and onfore the newa！righ： prevent the visit and mard of west mader her comony：athough ill the pealt the rowel was restored be arrangement with Den－ makne．The rioh of comme was one of the chame included in only ly sinte of Conventions concluded with particular states in return for conemions（ \(q\) ）and even then subjert io rea－onable sate－ resula that deat Britain reverted wholly to the eartier practice． For some dime after 1815．howewer．there was hat linle occation

 Saval Fowno

\footnotetext{

1．／I comprombisat－tatement of snl jom will low fommd in Ma！lanli．ii． \(\because \because\).

 mainty on Ho．Mat of the lialtin： らねat＂．
 がり！いい。こう！。
}

（f）Thew are moteworthy ：－hatriner fowhaly laid the fommation of thw riatht as now pernanized by Convon－ in 11 ar．3：3
！s Owiner to the diflem！ty that， wonld otlarmi－6 have ex－tad in main－ Franne．by whom tho right of this Wanual is now withdrawn．

The view of the Ameriean Courts and writers on this point agrees in substance with the British view (u). In practice, however, this Was lareely qualified by treaties made by the United States Government with uther l'owers, under which the right of convoy was recognized. suhject to certain safeguards; whilst more recently it has been adopted as a settled rule and in this form embodied in the Naval War Corle of \(1900(x)\). By most European Powers, also, the right of convoy has long been recognized. Indeed, an examination of the Memoranda presented by the various Powers that took part in the Naval Conference, 1908, shows it to have been accepted by all the leading maritime States with the exception of Creat Britain (y). By the great majority of jurists, moreover, other than the British and American, the "right of consoy" is accepted as a settled principle (yy).

In view of this general recognition, and having regard to the diminished importance of her own rule owing to the changes wrought by the Declaration of Paris ( \(z\) ), Great Britain: on the occasion of the Naval Conference, 1908, expressed her willingness to recognize the "right of convoy" \((a)\) : with the result that rules adopting and regulating it are now embodied in the Declaration of London. Nor, eren apart from that Declaration, is it probable that Great Britain would now revert to the earlier practice. Nevertheless, "the right of convoy" is at bottom one of questionable expediener, by reason of the difficulty of guarding against frand and the consequent danger of its leading to friction between belligerents and neutrals. It is. however, regarded by some as unlikely to be largely taken advantage of in practice \((b)\).

Another question which has arisen in connection with convoyalthough in this case the convoy is belligerent and not neutralis as to the liability incured by neutral ressels that make use of enfmy convoy: a question resy smilar in its nature to that raised by the shipping of neutral gomb on board an armed ressel of the enemy \((c)\). In 1810 a controversy arose on this subject between the Únited states and Demmark. "During the war then prevailing betreen Great Britain and Demmark, France being at the time in alliance with the latter, a mumber of American vessels bound for Russian ports made use of British comvors, with the object of escaping visit and seareh on the part of crui-er- lelonging to the ou her belligerenti. In March, 1810 , the Damish Gormoment issued Instruetions decharing all versels which hard made nse of British conroy (u) See The N゙ancy (27 C. C. 99; 369: shott, sis9): Whaton (Jama), 1592, 11.
(r) Sue Art. 30), whereby a decharation of the commander of the emase ing werll bared on athrourh examinations. is anompted in linn of search.

Japan it is subject to exception in cirfumstancers of grave susjicion.
(!!) In 188.0 it was :odnpted also by the lnstitute of laternanional Latw.

(in) See Parl. P. Mise. No. 4 (1904). 2.5.
(1) Sion p. 4nio. infire.

either in the Athantic or the Baltis to be erood prize. Under these Instructions a momber of American mosels that had made use of britiah comboy were soizent, and somm rightern of then con-active resistane to visit and seardh. The linited stathe dovernment protested against this proceding: contenting that so long as the aranciation of the nemtal veser with the ememy ronvor was not accompanied hy any attomp at ancoatment or deceit. or by any patimpation in the resistance of the conroying force. she did not town her neutral character. To this Dennater repliod that the use of belligerent eonvor showed a settled intention to resist vicit and search, and that a nentral thereby ranged himself on the side of the enemy and renounced the adrantages of the friendly or nentral character. In the result, and after negotiations extending over twenty years, an indemnity was paid by Denmark, although sulject to a proviso that this should not be drawn into a precedent ( \(d\) ). The contention put forward be the American (iovermment in this case agrens with the doctrine of the Amerian Courts (e) Judging this question in the light of general principles, it. would seem that the fact of a noutral resel having mate ne of enemy. convor would in itelf be a seod eromed for detention amd monuiry: and that the fact of such a vescel having been arrested whilst moder enemy eonser, and after resestanee on the part of the latter, would afford just gromed for condemmation, both as evincing an intention to resist visit and seath and on the ground of hostile association. And this appears to aceord with the British pradice of and alon with the riews of the leading Britioh and Amerian writers (g).

Gexerne Notrs.-The liaght of lisit and search.-The existence of this right is so unversally recognized as to need no affirmation for resisting it, the Dechation of Loudun now provides that forcible resistance to the legitimate exerciee of the right of stoppage, search. and capture, shall involve in all cases the condemation of the vessel: that the caren on board shall he liable to the same treatment. as cargo fomm on luad an enemy resel ( h) ; and that goods belonging to the mastor or owne of the rasel shall be treated as enemy

 Indor the bedamion. fin instane. (menty goods would still be

\footnotetext{
(,7) Sere Wheaton Danar (is9) et sey.; and Houre, Wianot. vii. 151.) itt selt.

 sea alos the di-antins julamomt of

}

\footnotetext{
et serg.
(f) Sed Manaml of Naval Prize Law, Irt. 1.50 which meites that vesuls under enemy romsoy are from that rixfumstames alone liable to dotention.
(9) Including Kient, 1)ana, and Wimbley: surollall, 736, n.

Irt. ti.).
}
condemmed. for the rearn that the protection of the neutral flag can no lomger be clamme a would also grood belonging to the master and orwer of the resel, eren though neutral: but neutral goods. not leing contraband. would now go free. subject only to proof of their neutal character the As under the cutomary law, a mere attempt to escape. although expowing the resel and those on board to the ri-k of hatile meateres. will mot in itaelf be a ground of condemanation ( 7 ).

The Riyht of Comoy.- On this subject the Declaration of London proviles that neutral resele under the consoy of waship of their uwn natimatity shall he exempt from search'm): the theory heing that the nentral (eoverment blacing the vewele under ansoy as-rume sexponsibitity and quarantee that they are not moged in any renture whieli is inconsistent with their nentrality. If encombered hy a belligerent miver, the commander of the onmoring vesel must wive in writing all infomation that cond be obtainad be In the event of the helligerent suspecting that the contidence of the neural commanter ha- leen abmed to the must make known his su-picion- and ask for further investiqution. In this case it will pest with the commander of the convor alone to make such investigation' \(p\) ' althomphe max. if he thinks fit. allow an ofticer of the belligerent waship, to be present at the inverigation (f): but in ally cas the rewht of the inve-tigation mast he emborlied in a written report and atope hamded to the latter (r). In the erent of any differente of opinion-as might conceirally ocour in relation to what constituto "conditional contraband" - the belligerent officer can do monore than enter his protect having the matter to be settlod he diplomatio means © But if. in the opinion of the commander of the ronvor, the rewals of the invertigation are such ar woth justify the capture of ans rewel moder his ranmen then the protection of the conson mast be withrawn. and the belligerent mast be allowed to subjed to combition- that are dowioned the afomand bolligerent rionits. The initial provivion. embetmed in the light of the otlicial mander of the eomvoring ressel, is intouded at onto to emphasize this responsibilis, and forevent any ambionity or misunderstamding. It sill remains fo he seent howerer, how hat thest sato-it the "right of "omsos" shomld he fimally areepted, it is thomght to be mblikely that it will be largely mentod to in pradice. owing to the ('ompensatione. The Dectaration ol Lomden alsa makes provision with respere to the compensation of nemtral owners in cases where thise the Decharatom itsedf merely provithes hat if the rapture of the released without any decision beinse given. then the parties interested shall he entitad to compensatiom, mates it van be shown that bhere tive attion, and if in such at case the mational (ourts hate iof jurisprize swam have ahealy horn masilomed (1).

 Zatr. [nder the enstomary law, emony resels taken as prize are, as we have seen. liable to he destrosed in cast of necesity or emer-

 10 nentral resson. acending to the british pratice, the primary is dombthal. mast. if airemmstanes prowent their being hrought (.\% Sm Mall. 730 .

(!) Irt. Bl.
(zi) Is mador the British syotem, where the fourts have so far mo powne to award damages exerpt as incident for a prize suit, athoush sum at jurivice tion will probably be eriven in the event of the Derliantion of London beiner adopted: sea the Naval Prize Hill, 1!1]. -. 21.
(") Síe Report, Pearre Higroms. fill.
(b) Sire Roport, ilid? 611

(10) Sioe Mamal of lax゙al Prize Law, Irt. 303: The Temmete (Spinks. 217).
le linked an ancillary rule，which legalizes，or at any rate con－ templates．de－truction in cases of grave importance or honest error \((f)\) ： －ubject，however，to an obligation on the part of the captor（g）to make full restitution in ralue to the owners of both ressel and （argo（h）．This view proceeds on the principle that the neutral title is only divered by condemnation，prior to which the captor has no right berond that of sending the ressel in for adjudication．And with this the practice of certain other countries，such as Holland and Japan， appears to agree（i）．But according to the practice of most other State－including France．Germany，Russia and the［＇nited Statesik） －the right of a captor to destroy his prize extends also to neutral ressels，if the circumstances are such that the prize cannot be brought in for adjudication without risk to the captor（l）．And this riew is naturally upheld by Powers not possessing orer－sea ports or stations， for the reason that a prohibition to destroy nentral prizes would， unless neutral ports were opened up for their reception，place such Powers at a great disadrantage in maritime war．The question same under discuswion at the Hague Conference of 1907，hat no agreement wa arrived at．The exerciee of this right by Russia during the Rusoo－Japanese war（in）．provoked much disatisfaction． At the Naval Conference of London the question again came up fur diectroinh and on this oreasion and agrement was come to on the basis of（ireat britain conceding a right of destruction in cases of exceptional mersity．sulbect to the imponition of rematn sateruards agains abue．The results of this agrement are now entodied in the Dedaration of London， 1909 ．
ii．Ender the Declurution of Lomdon．－The Declaration first lays it down as a general rule that a neutral vessel which has been cap－ fured must not under ordinary circumstances be de－troyed．but must be bronght in for adjudiation（o）．By way of exteption．however， it is provided that a nentral prize maty he destroyed if the captor can prove－－that she wonld in fart have been liahn to womdemation if she had heen hromeht in（pi）and also that she could not be （i）Siet Th，Aetron 2 louds．4 \({ }^{\circ}\) ）．
（ \(刀\) ）Nare of conrse．in cases where the destruction was due to some fault or connivance on the part of those responsible for the artion ot the ressel．
（ん）S゙心e Ther folieit！（ 2 1）ods．381）： ancl p．17T．A＂p＂．＂．
（i）Sorr P＇arl．l＇apers：Mise．No．is 1！（10）9）．T．101：hatt sore also tho
 Takalıa－hi．Tッs．

 Naval War（＇orle．Irt．Sil：althomgh tle viow of Imeriann writers appears to areorm with that of the British Prize（＇ourte：＇「arlos．T心．

1）＇Jlome comblition vary somm－ what，but include renerally the un－ navirability of the prize the risk of rapture，and inability to spare a prize erew：
（11）Is in the rases of Ther finight

 Mritislı．The Tl＝，Vierman），and which see Lawrence．Wiar and leu－ trality．250 ft anq． （o）Lier Mrt．44：and as to how far neutrai jerte may be used for this 23：and p．36：3．A＂ルッ＂。
（／1）I：would be the wase where more than half her eareo was contra－ band． lrought in for :aljudication withont endangering the safety of the saptor or the sumers of his uperatimes at the time (y): the sman of proof, as requmb each of these conditions, resting on the captor, and the detemination resting with the national Prize Court, sulbject in a right of appeal to the International Court \((r)\). In any rase, moreower, before the prize is destrosed all persons on hoard must be placed in safety, and all the ship's papers and other relerant doruments be aken on bard the warship \((s)\). All nentral goods of an imocent character which are involved in the destruction of the vessel must ber paid for (t). In their prastical application these rules appear to work out as follows:-(1) It the (aptor fails to show that the destrnction was forced on him by exceptional neenssity, then the owners of both vessel and cargo, even though these may prove to have been liable tu condemmation, will be entitled to compensation (u). There is no definition of "exceptional necessity" other than the provision sontained in Art \(49\left(x^{2}\right)\), it having been thonght better to leave the determination of this question to the discretion of the Prize Court, with the usual right of appeal. (2) Exen if the rapter shemed in proving "ex"eptional necessity:" he will still be bound to make compensation, maless he can alio show that the ressel woull have been subject to condemmation (!/). (3) In any case, the captor will have to pay compensation for any neutral goods of an imocent character that were involved in the destruction \((z)\). These peovisions were thonght tu provide an adequate safegumed against the reckless dextration of nentral prize he helligerems: sme Powers inded regarding them an orerstringent, and as anomang vitually to a remumbiation of the risht of destruction an it obfained under the Continmal pration. Nowethefor. asmming these rules to be xemeralls aremped. it sill remains th be seom how far the will prove efferthal in practies; whist, even if the comditions as regards compensation are fully nheremb. it need to be remembered that in the conditions of modern traks a legal right to compensation (a) is rarely an equivalem for the bese of either ship or carge.

The Inestrextion of ('ontrubund 'argo.- The Deelaration of London furder provides that if aneutral ve-el is found carring goods liable to comdemation in eiremmetanes where the resed herselt woukl mon be liabla to mombmation (b), and the aptor is prevented from hringing her in for adjuliwhom her wes smilar to thone

\footnotetext{
(1) Art. 44.
(i) Irt il: sere Ropurt. Paree Higrilus. 59s.
(8) Ait. SII.
1) \(\mathrm{A}: 1 \mathrm{t}\), is?

Higrins. is?
(x) That is. the "xistman of cir-safety of the captor or the success of his operations.
(!1) \(1+t\). 59.
(z) Ant 53.
(il) A- prowided by Art. Js.
(1) . . where she carries contraband amountine to less than half her cargo.

} cumstancer whalated on endancer the making contry thereof in the log-hook and taking certified copies of all releraint papers, after which the ressel is to be allowed to contime her rovaqe. But this proceding is subject to the same conditions as regard proof before the Prize comp both of the captores imability to hring in the ressel and of the lianility of the property to condemmation as those whid attach to the destruction of nentral prizes (d). These provisions are entirely nosed. hat were thonght to be the logical onteome of ertain antecedent proxisions. Thus he Art. 4t, it will be remembered a captor mays in cases of contraland carriage and when the veseel heredf is not liable to condemmation, asept the momemore of the contraband as an ahemation to sonding the ressel in for adjudiration, if this is muthally agred to fel: whilst hy Art 49 he may: in a "ase where the veseel is herself liable to condemation and he is prevented from sending leer in for adjudication her reasom of exeptional neresity, dextros both ressel and cargo( \(f\) ). It may happen, howeyer that iontraband is fomen on a resed in lese proportion than one-half of the total carco: an amount which would not warrant either the condemation of the resed if she were bronght in for adjudiation or her destruction in a wase where necessity prevented the raptor firm ending her in. In such a ease it wa thonght reasomable that the eapor shouk at any rate have the right of destroving the mexions goods. subject to proper attestation of the fact and to the mater heing subser quently adjudicated on by the Prize (omut (g).
(d) .1rt. 54. 51. 52: ser Ruport.

Pearce Iliggins, 599.

(9) Ser Parl. Pipper- 1thag). Jise. No. 1. 1F, 53. 97.

\section*{APPENIDUES.}

No. I.

\section*{
}

 matum with at entitional declatration of war.
-2. The existence of at state of war most be netified ow the neutad Powers without delas. and shall bot be held to aflect them umble after the receipt of a motifation, whith may. honerer. he given by telegrapla. Neverthelas. montal Powers may mot rely on the absence of motideation if it he extahbished heromid doum that they were ju fat atware of the exintere of a state of wat.
3. Article 1 of the prosemt (omsomion shall hake offer in case ('onsention and nential Powers whintare also parties to the ('onrontion.

\footnotetext{
(er) In the eas hoth of this amd other (omsention the formal part are omitted: as atm also the provisions relating to ratification, adhesion, denunciations and their resperetise dates of uperation, and mode of registration. for The tramsation is based on, but ty mu means identical with, that everen in Parliamentary Papers, Xise. No. fi 1908s), and Xo. 1 1909). at to which - er rol. i, 349 12. i").
}

\section*{No. II.}

\section*{HAGLE CONTENTION CONCERNING THE LAWS AND CLSTONS OF WAR ON LAND, No. 4 of 1907 (a).}
1. The Contracting Powers shall issue instructions to their armed land forces which shall be in coutornity with the Regulations respecting the Laws and Customs of War on Land, annexed to the present Conrention.
2. The prorisions contained in the Regulations referred to in Article 1. as well as in the present Convention, do not apply excent between Contracting Powers, and then only if all the belligerents are parties to the Convention.
3. A belligerent party which violates the provisions of the sail Regulations shall, if the case demauds, be liable to pay compensation. It slall be responsible for all acts committed by persons forming part of its armed forces.
4. The present Convention, duly ratified, shall replace, as between the Contracting Powers. the Convention of the 29th July, 1899, respecting the Laws and Customs of War on Land. The Convention of 1859 remains in force as between the Powers which signed it, hut which do not ratify the present Convention.

Requhtions respecting the Laus and Costornas of Whar on Land.
shetion 1. Of Bfflighalexts.

1. The lawn, righte: and duties of war apply not only to the arms but alser to militia and whatece corps fulfillinge all the following conditions:- 1, They must be commanded lex a peron e-ponsible for his subordinater: io They mnst have a fixed di-tinctive fign recomizahle at a distance: (3) They must rarly arms openly; and (4) They munt condert their operations in areondance with the laws and chitmo of war. In conntries where militia or rolunteer corps constitute the army, of form part of it. they are included under the denomination "army:"
2. The inhahiante of a territory not mader occmpation, who, on the apperarlh of the enemy. opontanernsly take up arms to revist the invaling troops withon having had time to organos themselve

\footnotetext{

}
in accordance with Artick 1. shall be regaved as helligerents if they carry arms openly and it they respert the laws and customs of war.
3. The armed fores of the belligerents may (onsist of (combatantw and non-combatants. In the case of capture ly the enemy. buth have the right to be treated as prisomers of war.

\section*{}
4. I'risoners of war are in the power of the hostite Govermment, but not of the individuals or corps who capture them. 'They must be hmmanely treated. All their personal belongings, except arms, horses, and military papers, remain theis property.
5. Prisoners of war may be interned in a town, fortress, camp, or other place, and are bound not to go beyond certain fixed limits; but they cannot be placed in confinement except as an indispensable meastre of satety and only white the circumstantes which necessitate the measure continue to exist.
6. The state may employ the labour of prisoners of war, other than offeress, according to their rank and capareity. The work shall not lie excessive and shall have no connection with the operations of the war. l'rioners may be anthorized to work for the public service, for private persons. or on their own account. Work done for the state is paid for at rates proportional the work of a simitar kind executed by soldiers of the national arms, or, if there are nu such rates in foree, at rates proportional to the work executed. When the work is for other branches of the public service or for private persons the conditions are etfled in ardenment with the military authorities. The wages of the prisomers shall go towards improving their position. and the batance shath he path them on their release. deductions on arcomit of the cost of maintenance exrepterl.
7. The (iovormment into whose hands misoners of war hare fallen is charoed with their maintename. [n defant of special agreement between the belligerents. prioners of war shall be treated as regards rations: quarters. and clothing on the sime footing as the troopes of tho Govermment which captwred them.
8. Prisoners of war shall be subjeet to the law- rewulatinns. and orders in foree in the army of the sitate in the powre wif which they are. Iny ary of insubordination jusifies the adoption towarlan them of such meatures of sererity as may he mmsidered neeseary. Esaped prisonels who are retaken hefore beine able to wain their own arms or hefore leavine the ierritnry seropiod hy the army which

6. Every priormer of war i- homm to erive. if yonatinned on the lailed

10. Prisoners of war may be set at liberty wharole if the bas of their commtry atlow it. and, in such cave-, they arw bound. on their personal houour, sompulonsly to fulfil, hoth wowats their own Govemment ath the (foremment hy wheh they were made prisoners, the engagenent: they may have contracted. In sueh cases their won Coremment is bond neither to require of nor accept from them any ofriee inconpratible with the patrole givern.
11. A prisoner of war canmot be rompelled to atceprthis liberty On parole: smilaty the hostile (iovermment is not ohlieded to afeade to the requen of a prisoner to be set at liberty on parnle le. Primones of war liherated on parole and recaphurod heading arme asamst the (ioremment 10 which they had pledeed their homomr: or against the allies of that (rovernment: fofeit their rioht (omits.
18. Sudividuals following an army withont directly belonging 10 tractor- whe lall into the encms shande amd whom the latter thinks provided they are in posescion of a eremitiate from the military athothotion of the ams which hers were acompansing 14. A burean for information mative 10 prionsor of war is init to make out and keef wh to date an individual wathe for tach order and police whish they may hate to isone，be admittod wo the

 to the haltincy places of tepatriated prisomers． tomad for frisumes of wat．of di－pathod hy them．shath be exempt well at in the combtries they pase blamoth．Presento and relief in kind for prisoner：of war shall he atmitted free of all import os other daties．as woll as any parment for earlate by state malwas． ofteres of eoresponding rank in the combtry where thes are detamed：

 （hated．on the male emblition that they emply with the pedien same way as for soldies of the mational arms．Thes satme rules shatl be followed as regards certilicates of thath and also ass to the burial－ of pricomer of war，due regard being paid to their sade and rank．

20．Ifter the romblasion of peace．The repatriation of frisoner－ of wat－hall he armied out as quirkly an posible．

\section*{}

\section*{semtion 11 （）Hustiemtim} リリ：リー
 ：

 hal－－

war; (h) to declare extinguished, suspended, or unenforceable in law, the rights and rights of action of enemy subjects. A belligerent is likerise forbidden to compel enemy subjects to take part in the operations of war directed against their own country, even if they were in the service of the belligerent before the commencement of the war.
24. Ruses of war and the employment of measures necessary for obtaining information about the enemy and the country are considered permissible.
2.). The attack or bombardment, by any means whatever, of undefonded towns. villages, dwellings, or buildings, is forbidden.

2t. 'The offieer in command of an attacking force must do all in his power to warn the authorities before commencing a bombardment. except in cares of assault.
27. In sieges and bombardments all necesrary steps must be taken to spare, as far as possible, buildings dedicated to public worship, art, science. or charitable purposes, historic monuments, hospitals, and places where the sick and wounded are collected, provided they are not being used at the time for military purposes. It is the duty of the besieged to indicate such buildings or places by distinctive and visible signs, which shall be notified to the enemy beforehand.
28. The giving over to pillage of a town or place. even when taken by assault. is forbidden.

\section*{CH.IPTER II. - SPはE,}
29. A person can only be considered a spy when, acting chandestinely or on lake pretences. le obtains or endearours to obtain information in the zone of operations of a belligerent. With the intention of commmancating it to the hostile party. Accordingry, soldiens not waning a dicure who have penctrated into the zone of operations of the hostile army. for the purpore of obtaining information. are not romsidered spies. 大imilarly. the following are not considered -pies:-soldiers and civilians intrusted with the delisery of de-pathos intended either for thatir own army or for the onemy̌s army and carring out their mission openly. To this clase likewise herong persons sent in ballons tor the purpore of carring de-pablow and. gemerally of maintaining communications between the diberent prate of an army or a territory.
? 3 . A spr taken in the act shall not be punished without previnus trial.
:31. A mpy who. after rejoining the army to which he belongs, is smberpently captured br the enemy is treated as a prisoner of rIIAPTER HIL- HLAG OF TRICE.

with the other, and who presents himself under a white flag. Ho is entitled to inviolability, as also the trumpeter, bugler or drummer, the flag-bearer and the interpreter who may accompany him.

33 . The commander to whom a flag of truce is sent is not obliged in every case to receise it. He may take all steps necossary in order to prevent the envoy from taking advantage of his mission to obtain information. In case of abuse, he has the right temporarily to detain the envoy.

34 . The envoy loses his rights of inviolability it it is proved in a positive and incontestable mamer that he has taken advantage of his privilegred position to provoke or commit an act of treachery.

\section*{Chapter IV.-CAPITULATIONS.}
35. Capitulations agreed upon between the contracting parties must take into account the rules of military honour. Unce settled, they must be serupulously observed by both parties.

\section*{CHAPTER V.-ARMISTICES.}
36. An armistice suspends military operations by mutual agreement between the belligerent parties. It its duration is not defined, the belligerent parties may resume operations at any time, provided always that the enemy is warned within the time agreed upon, in accordauce with the terms of the armistice.
37. An armistice may be general or local. The first suspends the entire military operations of the belligerent states; the second between certain portions of the belligerent armies only and within a fixed zone.
38. In armistice must be notified officially and in good time to the competent authorities and to the troops. Hostilities are suspended immediately atter the notification, or at the time fixed.

39 . It rests with the contracting parties to settle, in the terms of the armistice, what relations may be had by them, within the theatre of war, with the ciril population and with each other.
40. Any verious violation of the armistice by one of the parties gives the other party the right of denounciug it, and even, in cases of urgency, of recommencing hostilities immediately.
41. A violation of the terms of the armistice by individuals acting on their own initiative only entitles the injured party to demand the puni-hment of the offenders and, if necessary, compensation for the losies sustained.
 Howite Stite:

 (1) How tratmy where stoh authority har heen established and cain be aselcied.

4i3. The authority of the legitimate Power having passed in fact into the hands of the occupant, the latter shall do all in his power to re-establi-l and ensure. as far as posible. public order and rafetr. resecting at the same time. unles abwolutely prevented. the latw in force in the country
44. A belligerent is forbidden to (4)mel the inhabitants of terxitore orempied by him to furnish information about the army of the other belligerent. or about his nieans of defence.
4.). It is forlidden to compel the inhabitant of occupient terdory tuswear allewianee to the hostile lower.
46. Family homome and rioht, imdividual life and private property. an weli as religious convictions and worship. mons be respected. Private propertr mar not be confincated.
47. P’llage is expresely forbicklen.
ts. If. in the teritory orouried, the owopant collento the taxes, duce and tolle payable to the thate he shall du so as tar as is pesilde. in areordane with the lule of asesoment and listrifution in foren at the time and whall in comeduence be homet to defray the experne of the administration of the oeropied territory on the same scale as the national Covermment was bound.
4.9. It. In addition to the taxte mentioner in the above Article, the worpant leries other money contributions in the occupied territory. this mon only he for the needs of the army or the administration of the terditory in quedion.
so. Ne mbledite jenaltr. pecmaiary we utherwise shall be inflicted umon the population on amonnt of the acto of individuals for whid it cannot le regarded a coblectively reponsible.
\(\therefore 1\). Surontribution blall hembered except maler a watten wrler, and on the reppon-ibility of a seremal in command. The contrihntion whall he fevied as far at posible. in aceortance with the rules as to the a-m-anent and incilenee of tase in fore at the time. For every contribution a receipt shall be given to the contributories.

ㅇ. Reduinitoms in kimd and serviees shall not be demanded from oempatime Ther thatl he in proportion to tle resonrecs of the the ritication of taking part in military operations ackinot theise
 (1) the antlmity of the commamber in the locality orempied. sinpplion in kind -hall as far as is posible le paid for in waty momer:
 -hatl lew matlo a- -omu an prowihle

the air. depots of arms, and, in general, all kinds of war material may be seized, even though they belong to private indivituals, lmt they must be restored, and the indemmities for them regulated, on the con husion of peace.
it. Submarine cables romecting an occupied territory with a nentral tempory whall not the serized of destroved exeept in the case of absolute necessity. They alson mast be restored and indemmities paid for them on the conclusion of peace.

5is. The oreupring state whall be regorded omly andministrator and meufroctuary of public bildines. tanded property. forests, and agrimultural midertakings belonging th the hotile State. and situated in the ofenpied comutry. It musi safeguard the capital of such properties, and administer them in accordane with the rules of w-ufruct.
jas. The property of local anthorities. as well as that of institutions dedicated to public worship, charity, education, and to science and ari, even when state property, shall be treated as private property. Any seizure or deatuction of or wilful damage to, institutions of this character. historic monmments and works of science and art, is forbidden, and whold he made the subject of legal proceeding.:

\section*{No． 111.}

\section*{1月AGEE CONVENTION REふPECTLN゙ THE RIGHTふ AND DUTLES OF NECTRAL POWERs AND PERSONS IN W゙AR ON LAND，No．jof 190 （a）．} （HIAPTER I．－TIIE RIGIITS AND DCTIES OF NEUTRAL POWERS．
1．The territory of neutral powers is inviolable．
\(\because\) ．Belligerents are forbidden to move troops or conroys，whether of munitions of war or of supplies，across the territory of a neutral Power．

3．Belligerents are likewise forbidden to：－（a）erect on the terri－ tory of a neutral Power a wireless telegraphy station or any ＂pparatur for the purpore of communicating with belligerent forces on lantl or vea：（b）use any installation of this kind e－tablished by them for purely military purpose on the territory of a neutral Power hefore the war，and hot previon－ly opened for the service of public messitues．

4．（orpo of combatant－must not be formed，hol recruiting arencies openel，on the temitury of a neutral Power，on behalf of the helligerents． \(\therefore\) A neutral Power must not allow any of the acto raterred to in Articles 2 to \(&\) to occur on its territory．It is mot bound to committed on its own territory．
（6．A nentral Power will not incor reaponsihility meroly from the tart that persons cross the frontier indivilually in order op pace themselves at the serviee of ond of the belliserent．
－A neatral Power is not bonmd to prevent the export or transit． wh hehalf of either belligerent，of arms，muntions of war．or．in genmal，of anything which conld be of use to an army or fleet． hohalf of helligerents of telewhah or tolephone rables．of of wirelas

（1）S＇ee n．（11），p．459，supru． owners of telegraph or telephone cables or wireless telegraphy apparatus.
10. The fact that a hembal Power rejelling, even by foree, attempts 10 violate its neutrality camot be regrarded as a hostile act.

\section*{CHADTER 11.-HNTERNMENT OF BLLLIGERENTS AND CARE OF THE WOUNDED [N゙ NEUTRA], TERRITORY.}
11. A nentral I'ower which receives on its territory troops belonging to the belligerent armies shall intern them, as far as possible at a distance from the theatre of war. It may keep them in camps and may even confine then in fortresses or in places set apart for the purpose. It should decide whether oflicers may be left free on giving their patrole not to leave the neutral termitory without permission.
12. In defanlo of special agrement, the mentral Power shall supply the interned with the food, chothing, and rolief which the dictates of humanity prescribe. At the romelusion of peace the expenses calsed by the infermment shall be mate good.
13. A neuthal Power which reorives escaporl prisoners of war shall leave them at liberty. If it allows them to remain in its territory it may asion them a place of residene. The same rule applies to prisoners of war brought by moops taking refuge in the territory of a neutal Power.

1f. I nentral Power may anthomize the paswane info its territory of the sirk and wommed belonging to the helligerent armies. on "ondition that the trame or other methots of transport hey whiche they are conveyed shall carry neither combatants nor war material. In sheh a care, the mential Pown is homm to take whaterer measures nf'sufely and control are nesessary for the purpose. The siek and wounded of one belligerent hrousht mbler thase conditions into neutral termitory by the other helligerent must he so guarded by the neutal Power as for mbur their taking no forther part in the military operations. The same dher shall devolve on the nentral Power with regard to the sidk and wounded of the other army who may be committed to its care i.: Tho Geneva ('murnion applies of the sick and wounded who atw interned in nentral territors.

\section*{CHIPTER HI.-NELTR IL, PERNONS.}

11i. The sulyjectio of eitions of a state which is not taking part fit the wat are demmed hentrals 17. A mentral Ganme dame the bomelit of his nentrality: (a) If in the ramke of the armed form of ane ni the parties. Th surh ar sate.

 teatmet whom he has ahmolmmen his nentrality than at subject or - itizen of the othor hedionemt siato could be for the same act.

18．The following shall not be considered as acts committed in farour of one belligerent within the meaning of Article 17（b）： （a）The furnishing of supplies or the making of loans to one of the belligerentr．provided that the person so doing neither lives in the ferritory of the other party nor in territory orempied by it，and that the smplies do not come from such territory：（b）Ser－ rices remdered in matters of police or civil administration．

\section*{CHAPTER ぶーR．JILWAX M．ATERIAL}

19．Railway material coming from the teritory of neutral Powers． whether it be the property of the said l＇owers or of companies or private persons，and recognizable as such．shall not be requisitioned （or utilized by a belligerent except in so far as is absolutely neces－ sary．It shall be sent back as som as posible to the country of origin．A nentral Power may likewise in case of necessity，retain and utilize to a corresponding extent railway material coming from the territory of the belligerent Power．Compensation shall be paid on either side in proportion to the material used and to the period of usage．

\section*{CHAPTER V．－FINAL PROVIMONO．}

20．The provisions of the present Consention do not apply except between Contracting Powers，and then only if all the belligerents are parties to the Convention．

\section*{No．IV．}

\section*{HA（iLE CONVENTION RELATIVE TO THE STATUS OF ENEMY MERCHAN＇Y ぶllP AT THE OUTBREAK OF HOs゙MLLITlES，No 6 or 1907 （a）．}

1．WImex a merchant ship belonging to one of the belligerent Powers is at the rommencement of hostilities in an enemy port，it is desirable that it should be allowed to depart freely，either imme－ diately，or after a reasomable momber of days of grace，and to pro－ ced，after being fimmished with a pass，direct to its port of desti－ nation or any other port indicated to it．The same principle applies in the case of a ship which has left its last port of departure before the emmmencment，of the war and has entered a port belonging to the enemy while still ignorant that hostilities had broken out．

2 ．A merchant ship which，owing to circomstances beyond its （ontrol，may have been mable 10 leave the enemy port within the period contomplated in the preceding Article．or which was not allowed to leave．may mot he confineated．The belligerent may merely detan it，on condition of restoring it after the war，without payment of compensation．or he may requisition it on eondition of paying compensation．

3．Enemy merchant whips which left their last port of departure before the commencemont of the war，and are encomented on the hioh seas while still ionomant of the outbreak of hostilities may not he conflisated．Ther are merely liable to be detained on condition that they are restered after the war without payment of compen－ sation：or to he reguisitumed，on even destroyed．on payment of Fatoty of the peraols on batal as well as the preservation of the ships papers．Altar tourhing at a port in their own enontry or at．a neatral pott．－Heh whips are subject to the laws and rustoms of naval war． and \(\because\) is likewine liable whe detamed and restored after the war without parment of（x）mpensation，or to be requisitioned on par－ ment of enmprazaton，with of whont the ship．The same prin－ in Artirle？
\(\therefore\) The present（onmbation dees mot redor to merehant shipe which show br thrir hatal that her are intemed for momersion into war Nhips．
（i．The provisions wh the present（＇onsention do not apply exeept between（＇ontratine Powers，and then only it all the belligerents are parmes（o the（＇onvention．

\section*{No. V.}

HAGUE CONVENTION RELATIVE TO THE CONVERSION OF MERCHANT SHIPS INTO WAR SHIPs, No. 7 of 1907 (a).
1. No merchavt ship converted into a war ship shall have the rights and duties appertaining to vessels having that status unless it is placed under the direct authority, immediate control, and reronsibility of the Power, the flag of which it flies.
2. Merchant ships converted into war ships must bear the external marks which distinguish the war ships of their nationality.
3. The commander must be in the service of the State and duly commissioned by the proper authorities. His name must figure on the list of the officers of the fighting fleet.

4 . The crew must be subject to military discipline.
5. Every merchant ship converted into a war ship is bound to observe in its operations the laws and customs of war.
6. A belligerent who converts a merchant ship, into a war ship must, as soon as possible, announce such conversion in the list of its war ships.
7. The provisions of the present Convention do not apply except between Contracting Powers, and then only if all the belligerents are parties to the Convention.
(a) See n. (a), p. 489, supra.

\section*{No. VI.}

HAGUE CONVENTHON RELATLVE TO THE LAYING OF ALTOMATIC SEBMARLNE CONTACT MINEA⿵, No. o of 1907 (a)。
1. It is iorbidden:- (1) To lay manchored automatic contact mines, unless they be so constructed as to become harmless one hond at most atter the person who laid them has ceased to control them: ( 2 ) To lay anchored antomatic contact mines which do not become harmles as som as they have broken loose from their moorings: ( 3 ) Tho use torpedoes which do not hecome hammess when they have miseed their mark.
". The laying of antomatic contat mines ofl the coast and ports ol the cnemy with the sole object of intercepting commercial shipping, is forbidden.
3. When anchored automatic contact mines are employed. every Fossihle preatution must be taken for the security of peaceful shipping. The bebligerents undertake to do their utmost to render these mines harmless after a limited time has elapsed, and, should the mines cease fo be under observation, to notify the danger zones as soon as military exigences permit. by a notice to mariners. which most alio be commonioated to the (iovernments through the diplomatic channel.
t. Nentral Powern which lay antomatic fontact mines off their coasts must obereve the same tules and take the same precautions as are imposed on belligerents. 'The neutral Power must give notice to matiners in advane of the plates where antomatic contact mines have heen laid. This notiee mmst be rommmaisated at onte to the Govermments thromgh the diplomatic thamel.
5. At the elowe of the war, the ('ont atrame Powers madertake to do their momest to memose the mines which they have laid. each Power removins its own minos. Is rewarde anchored antomatic (e)ntact mines lad by ons of das hetligerents wif the conast of the wther. their position mast be motited to the sther paty by the Power which laid them. aml ard Power mus proved with the least possihle dela! to remore the mines in its own waters.
6. The ('ontrating Powers whith do non at present own perfected mines of the derriphion contemplated in the present ('on-the sule latd down in frtides 1 and 8 . umdertake fo monert the muteriel of their mines as soon as possible, so as to bring it into conformity with the foregoing requirements.
7. The provisions of the present Convention do not apply except between Contracting Powers, and then only if all the belligerents are parties to the Convention.
11. The present Convention shall remain in force for seven years, dating from the sixtieth day after the date of the first deposit of ratifications. Unless denounced, it shall contime in force after the axpiry of this period. The denunciation shall be notified in writing to the Netherland Govermment. Which shall immediately communicate a duly certified copy of the notification to all the Powers, informing them of the date on which it was received. The denunchation shall only operate in respect of the denouncing Power, and only on the expiry of six months atter the notification has reached the Netherland Gorernment.

1:. The Contracting Powers agree to reopen the question of the employment of automatic contact mines six monthe before the expiry of the period contemplated in the first paragraph of the precedingetrticle, in the erent of the question not haring been already taken up and rettled hy the Third Peace Conference. If the Contracting Powers conclude itresh Convention relative to the employment of mines, the present Conrention shall cease to be applicable from the moment when it comes into force.

\section*{No. VII.}

\author{

}

1. The: bombardment by maval fores of mofended forts, towns, villages. fwellings, or buidings is fordidden. A place may not be hombarded wolely on the gromm that atomatie submarine contact mines am athered off the harbomr.
2. Military works. military or naval extablishmems, depots of arms or war material, worlsthops or plant which eould be malized for the mede of the hostile flee or army, and ships of wat in the hathoms. are nut. however. induded in this prohibition. The commamder of a maval force may destroy them with artillery alter a smmmom followed by a reasomable interval of time. if all other selvestermored them whthen the time lived. The eommander incuss no re-pmobibility for any matrodiable damage which may he eamsed immodiate atolon is neerssare aml no delay (an be allowed to the paragraph. and that the fommantor shall take all due measmes in oreme dhat the town mas suttor at litte harm as possible.

 menced. if tho lowal amtomitios. on a formal smmmoms beine made (1) them. deetime to amply with reguisitions for prosisions or reanmees of the place. Ther shall only lee demanded in the name pusible. he paid for in ready moner: if not. reespits whall he given.

4. The bombardment of madofonded ports, fowns, villages, dwellinos. or huidding-, on aerount of failure to pay money contributions. is forbidden.

\section*{CHAPTER II.-GENERAL PROVISIONS.}
5. In bombardments by naval forces all necessary steps must be taken by the commander to spare as far as possible buildings dedicated to public worship, art, science, or charitable purposes, historic monmments, hospitals, and places where the sick or womded are collected. provided that ther are not used at the time for military purposes. It is the duty of the inhabitants to indicate such monuments, edifices, or places by visible signs, which shall consist of large stifl rectangular panels divided diagonally into two paimed triangular portions. the upper portion black. the lower portion white.
6. Unless military exigencies render it impossible, the oflicer in command of an attacking naval force must. before commencing the bombardment, do all in his power to warn the authorities.
7. The giving over to pillage of a town or place. even when taken by assault, is forbidden.

\section*{CHIPTER III.-FINAL PROVISIONS.}
8. The provisions of the present Convention do not apply eseput between Contracting Powers and then only if all the beligerents are parties to the Convention.

\section*{No. VIII.}

HAGUE CONVENTION FOR TIE ADAPTATION OF THE PRLNCIPLES OF TIIE GENEVA CONVENTION TO MARITLME W゙AR. No. 10 or 190 (a).

The material parts of this Convention, as well a- of the (ieneva Convention, 1906, have already beeu set forth (
(a) Sex n. (ic), p. 489, supio.
(b) See pp. 10.t. 121. supsa. For the text of the (ieneva Convention, 1906.
 of 1900 . ihnit. 361 it scif.

\author{
No. IX.
}

\section*{hague conlention relatile TO certain restrricTIONS ON THE EAERCISE OF THE RIGHT OF CAPTURE IA MARITIME WAR, No. 11 of 1907 (a).}

CHAPTER I.--POSTAL CORRESDONDENCE.
1. The pustal correspondence of neutrals or belligerents, whatever its official or prisate character, found on board a neutral or enemy ship on the high seas is inviotable. If the ship is detained, the correspondence is forwarded by the eaptor with the least possible delay. The provisions of the preceding paragraph do not, in case of violation of hlockade, apply to correspondente proceeding to or trom a blockaded port.

2 . The inviolability of postal correspondence does not exempt a neutral mail ship trom the laws and customs of naval war respecting neutral merchant ships in general. The ship, however, may not be searched except when absolutely necessary, and then only with as much consifleration and expedition as possible.

\section*{CHAITHR II- EXEMPTION FROM CAPTURE OF CERTAIN VESSELS.}
3. Venels employed exclusively in coast fisheries, or small boats emploved in local trade. towether with their appliances, rigging, tackle. and margo are exempt from capture. This exemption ceases from the moment that they bake any part whatever in hontilitios. The Contracting Powers bind themselves not to take advantage of the harmbess charater of the said ressets in order to use them for military purpose while preserver their peaceflul appearance.
4. Vessels emplorad on religions. scientific. of phitanthropie miswions ate likwise exempt fron capture.

万. When an enemy merthat ship is aptured by a herligerent, made prisoners of war. The same rule applies in the ase of the captain and officers. likewise subjects and citizens of a neutral State, if they give a formal undertaking in writing not to serve on an enemy ship while the war lasts.
6. The captain, ofticers, and members of the crew, if subjects or citizens of the enemy State, are not made prisoners of war, provided that they undertake, on the faith of a formal written promise, not to engage, while hostilities last, in any service conuected with the operations of the war.
7. The names of the persons retaining their liberty under the conditions laid down in Article .), paragraph 2, and in Article 6, are notified by the belligerent captor to the other belligerent. The latter is forbidden knowingly to employ the said persons.

8 . The provisions of the three preceding Articles do not apply to ships taking part in hostilities.

CHAPTER N.-FLN゙ML PROVISION゙S.
9. The provisions of the present Convention do not apply except between Contracting Powers, and then ouly if all the belligerents are parties to the Convention.

\section*{No. X.}

\begin{abstract}
HAGUE CONVENTION RELATLVE TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF AN INTERNATIONAL 1RL/E COURT, No. 1上 of 1907 (a).
\end{abstract}

\section*{Part I. (beximal Provisions}
1. Thes validity of the capture of a morehant ship or its carcor, when neutral or enemy property is involved, is decided before Brize Court- in accordance with the present Convention.
2. Jurisdiction in maters of mize is exercied in the first instance by the l'rize Courts of the belligerent captor. The judgments of these Courts are pronounced in public or are ollicially notified a parties concerned who are nentrals or enemies.
3. The judgments of mational Prize ('outs may be bought before the Intemational Prize Court (b):-(1) When the judgment of the national Prize Courts affects the property of a neutral Power or individual: ( 2 ) When the judgment allects enemy property and relates to- (a) eareo on board a neutral ship; (b) an enemy ship captured in the territoriad water ol a neutral Power, when that Power has not made the capture the subject of a diplomatic clam: (c) a daim based upon the allesation that the seizure has been effected in violation. cither of a eonventional stipulation in force between the belligerent Powers, of ot an ematoment iswed by the belligerent raptor. The appeal aquinst the judement of the national Court "an be based on the gromud that the judement was wromg either in taret or in law.
4. An appeal may be brought (1) By a nentral Power, if the judernent of the mational tribmals alfecte its property on the pro-wi all enemy voserl in aldered to have taken place in the ferritorial if the judement of the mational ('ond atherto his property (Article : (1). subject. howerer. to the receration that the Power to which

h) By an additional Protorol, sipned on the 19th september, 1910, by 1:) Powers includine Come Dritatn, France and the United State of America. it is provided that sirmatory or athering Powers which are dobarpor by difticulties of a somblitutional kind from aremptine this (onsention in ite prowent within the juriadiction of their matman conver. reeourse to the laternational Prize Court shall moly he had in the form of an antion of indemnity for the injury (ansed by the (apture Art. 1). ()thar Irticles provide for (omorpuent

he belongs may forbid him to bring the case before the Court, or may itwelf undertake the proceedings in his place; (3) By an individual subject or citizen of an enemy Power, if the judgment of the national court affects his property in the caves refereed to in Article 3 ( 2 ), except that mentioned in paragraph (b).
5. An appeal may also be brought on the same conditions as in the preceding Article, by persons belonging either to neutral States or to the encmy, deriving their rights from and entitled to represent an individual qualified to appeal, and who have taken part in the proceedings hefore the national Court. Persons so entitled may appeal separately to the extent of their interest. The same rule applies in the case of persons belonging either to neutral States or to the enemy, who derive their rights from and are entitled to represent a neutral Power the property of which was the subject of the decision.
6. When, in accordance with the above Article 3, the International Court has jurisdiction, the national Courts cannot deal with a case in more than two instances. The municipal law of the belligerent captor shall decide whether the case may be brought before the International Court after juldment ha- been given in first instance or only after an appeal. If the national Courts fail to give final judgment within two vears from the date of capture. the case may be carried direct to the Iniemational court.
7. If a question of law to be decided is covered be a Treaty in force between the belligerent raptor and a Power which is itself, or the sulject or citizen of which is: a party to the proceedings. the Court is goterned be the provisions of the said Treaty. In the absence of such prorisions. the Court shall apply the rules of international law. If no gencrally recomized rule exists, the Court shall give judoment in acondance with the general principles of jurice and equity. The ahowe provisions apply equally to questions relating to the order and mole of pront. If. in accordance with Article: in ion the eromen of appeal is the violation of an phactment isment he the helligerent captor, the Court shall enforce the conatment. The Comer may disteqaid failure to comply with the permentue latil down in the lesidation of the belligerent captor when it is of opinion that its consequences are unjust and inequitable.
8 . If the Court promomes the capture of the ressel or carce wh beatil. ther shall be dispored of in acentance with the laws of the belligerent captor. If it pronomes the capture to be mull. the (tomet shall ond restitution of the resel or careo. and shall fix. if there is oceasion. the amount of the damaces. If the resed of caren have been sold of destrovet. the C'ourt shall determine the waymmation to be geren to the owner on this acoment. If the natimal l'rize (enut promomom the capture to he mull. the Fompt

(1) The fontmang Parime undertake to submit in erome faith it the dowinns of the [utermatinal Prize Court and to martv them "II with the beast powible dolay

\section*{Part II. (onsmtethon of the Intervational Prize Cocrt.}
10. The Intermatinal Prize Cont is composed of judges and deputy julger, who will be appointed by the Contracting Powers, and most all be jurists of known proficieney in questions of international maritme lan, and of the highest moral reputation. The appointment of thes jodges and deputy judges shall be made within six monthe after the ratification of the present Convention.
11. The jouges and deputy judges are appointed for a period of six years, retkoned from the date on which the notitication of their appointment is receired by the Administrative Cuncil established by the Comention for the Pacifie Settement of International Disputes of the 296 h July, 1899. Their appointments can be renewed. should one of the julges or deputy julges die or resign, the same procedure in followed in filling the vacancy as was followed in appointing him. In this case, the appointment is made for a fre h period of six years.
12. The juiges of the International Prize Court are all equal in rank and have precedence according to the date on which the notification the the appointment war ree eived (Article 11, paragraph 1), and it they sit her rota (Artiche 15, paragraph 2), accordinge to the date on which they entered upm their duties. IV hen the date is the same, the senior in age take precedence. The deputy judgee wholl anting an in the same prosition as the judges. They rank. howewr, after them.

1:3. The jntges enfin diplomatic privileges and immmities in the perfomanow of their daties and when outide their own country. Before takime their seat, the jutger mum take an oath, or make a solem allinnation before the Administrative Council, to discharge their duties impartially and conscientionsly.

1t. The Cont is compused of filteen judges; nine judges constitute a dumem. L judge who is absent or prevented from siting is replaced by the deputy julde.
1.5. The fuldex alminted by the following Contracting Powers:
 (ireat Britain. Itals. Japan, and Rosian are always summoned to sit. The julders and domps julows appontel he the other (ontraming Powers sit be tota as chown in the Table (a) annexed to the fresent (bmsention: their dution may be performed sncressively hy the same person. The rame judge may be appointed by reveral of the sait Powns.
16. If a helligerem Power lata aronding to the inter no judee atting in the connt, it may ask that the judere appointed bey it -hand take part in the rettoment of all mase ari-ng fom the war. Lats andl then ho drawn as to which of the judere entinded te sit Awordinge to tho matall withtraw. Thi armorement foes not athert the julan apmentad ha the other belligerent
17. No judge may sit who has been a parys in any way whatever, to the semtence promonnced by the national Courts, or has taken part in the cata as comber or arlvocate lor one of the parties. No jukere or doputy judge may, dming his tenme of ofliee appear as agent or adrocate before the lnternational Prize Court. not act for one of the paties in any eapacity whatever.
18. The belligerem caphor is entitled to appoint a naval officer of high mank to sit as aseseor. hut with no roice in the decesion. A neutral Power. which is a party 10 the procedings or the subject or reti\%en of which is a parys. han the same light of apporintment: if in applrimg this las provision mone than one Power is roncerned. they mast agree among themselres. if neresaly by lut. on the ollicer to be appointed.
19. Whe Court elect- its Problent and Viee-President by an abenlute majority of the votex ("a-t. After fwo hallotr. the election is mate by a bare majority. amb. in ano the rotes are equal. by lot.
20. The judges of the lnternational Prize Court are entitled to travelling allowances in areordance with the requlations in foree in their own romtry and in addition receive. while the Coupt is - itting or while the are calrying ont duties confermer upon them by the Comt. a smm of 100 Netherland florin- per diem. These parmento are included in the general expenses of the court deatt otablished hy the Convention of the eath July. 1899 . The judgen may not vereive from their wwn (rosermment or from that of any sther Power any remmeration in theis capacity of mombers of the Court.
21. The International Prize Court sits at The Hague and may not, except in circumstances bevond its eontrol, be transerned elsiwhere withont the consent of the belligerents.
22. The Administrative (ouncil fultil- the same functions with regard to the International Prize (ome as with regard to the P're
 ing Powers shall be members of it Prize Comet amb shall place its offires and stall at the disposal of the Compt. It has the erwotory of the atehiven and carries ont the administrative work. The secretary-(ieneral of the Internatiomal Burean acts as registrar. The necestary secretaries to a-sist the peristrar, translatom and shorthand whiters are appointed and wworn in be the Conet.

2.5. Powers whill are eoneremed in a cave maty appoint eperial

 andintorrot
26. A private prown eonornma in a ase will le represented before the Court by an athormer, who must be cither an arlvotate qualified to plead before a Court of Appeal or a High Court of one of the Contracting states, or a lawrer prattining before a similar Court. or lantly, a profensor of haw at one of the higher teaching eentres of those conntries.
27. Fow the sectice of all notices. in partorular on the parties, witnessen, on experts. the Comt may aply direct to the Government of the state on the temitom of which the rervire is to be carried out. The sume rule applos in the abe of stope being taken to procure evidener. Reguests for this purjose are to be execotad so far as the means at the disposal of the Power appled to under it-mmuicipal law allow. They amot be rejected unless the l'ower in question consiters then malculated to impair it sorereign righte or its satety. If therergent is romplied with. the foes charged most only emmprise the expermes admally incomed. The (omet is equally intithed to act throngh whe Power within the tomitory of which it is monting. Nomien to be given to partios in the place where

\section*{Part 1ll. Proctidre.}

\section*{Phat ハl. Finme Provimona}
51. The present Convention does not apply as of right except when the belligerent Powers are all parties to the Convention. It is furn her meterstood that an appeal to the Internationad Prize Court can only he bronght by a Contraramer Power or the suly joct or atizen of a Contrading Power. An appeal is only admitted under Article \(\overline{5}\) when both the ownor and the person entitled to frpment him are equally ('ontractimg Powers or tho subjects of eitizens of Contracting Powers
52. The prosent ('onsention shall he ratitiod and the ratituations *hatl be deposited at The llague ds som as all the Power- mentioned in Amide 1.5 and in the Table ammed ame in aterition wo do so. The deporit of the mationtome shall mate plare. in ant care on constitute a Cout. If mot, the deposit shall he postponed until this condition is fulfilled. It minute of tho deposit of the ratitiotions in the first paragraple.

 are matiad to *ion the preand ('msembinn wh the date of the

in writing to the Netherland Goverument, transmitting to it at the same time the act of accession, which shall be deposited in the archives of the said Government. The latter shall send, through the diplomatic channel, a certilied copy of the notification and of the act of accession to all the Powers referred to in the preceding paragraph, informing then of the date on which it has received the notification.
54. The present Convention shall come into force six months from the deposit of the ratifications conterplated in Article 52, paragraphs 1 and ㄹ. The accessions shall take elfect sixty days after the notification of such accession has been reccived by the Netherland ciovermment, or as soon as possible on the expiry of the period contemplated in the preceding paragraph. The International Court shall, however, have jurisdiction to deal with prize cases decided by the National Courts at any time after the deposit of the ratifications or of the receipt of the notification of the accessions. In such cases, the period fixed in Article 28, paragraph 2, shall only be reckoned from the date when the Convention cones into force as regards a Power which has ratified or acceded.
5.5 . The present Conrention shall endure for twelve years from the date at which it comes into iorce, as determined by Article 54, paragraph 1, even for the Powers acceding to it sulsequently. It shall be renewed tacitly for successive periods of six years unless denounced. Denunciation must be notified in writing, one year at least before the expiry of each of the periods nentioned in the two preceding paragraphs, to the Netherland Govemment, which will inform all the other Contracting Powers. The denunciation shall only operate in respect of the notifying Power. The Convention whall remain in force in the case of the other Contracting Powers, provided that their share in the appointment of judges be still suflicient to allow the work of the coourt to be discharged by nine judges and nine deputy judges.
56. In case the present Convention is not in operation as regards all the Powers referred to in Article 15 and the annexed Table, the Administrative Council shall draw up a list on the lines of that Article and Table of the judges and deputy judges through whom the Contracting Powers are to share in the composition of the Court. The times allotted by the said Tahle to jurges who are summoned to sit in rota shall be redistributed between the different years of the sixyear period in surh a way that, as far as posible, the mmber of the judere of the Const in wath yar shall he the same. If the number of doputy juders is greater than that of the juldes, the mumber of the latter can loe mompeted by deputy juderes choven by lot among those Ponera which do not nominate a judere. The list drawn up in thit way be the Gdminitrative Commeil shall he notified to the

 The dame rombine fom an aromesion is mot made motil the 1 st Jannary atter the date on which the ancession takes effect, unless the accediner Powre is a helligerent Power, in which case it c"an demand to be at one represtented in the Comp, the provision of Article 16 heing, moreover', applicable if necessary. When the total number of judes is less than pleven, seven judges form a prorum.
57. 'Two years hefore the expiry of each period referved to in paragraphs 1 and ㅡㅡ of Article \(\therefore\) or, any Contrating Power may demand a modification of the provisions of Aricle 15 and of the annexed Table. as regarts its partiopation in the composition "t the Could. The demand shall be addeesed to the Administrative Council, which will examine it and sulmit to all the Powers proposals as to the measures to be adopted. The Powers shall intor'm the Administrative Council of their derisiou with the least possible delay. The result shall be communicated at once, and one year and thirty days at least before the expiry of the said period of two years, to the Power which made the demand. In such circumstances, the modifications adopted by the Powers shall come into fore from the commencement of the fresh period.

\section*{No. XI.}

HAGUE CONVENTION RESPEOTLNG THE RLGHTS AND DUTIES OF NECTRAL POWERS IN MARITHME WAR, No. 18 of \(190{ }^{7}\) (i) .
1. Belfigmests are bound to respect the suvereign rights of neutral Powers and to abstain, in nentral teritory or neutral waters, from any act which would. if knowingly permitted by any Power, constitute a violation of neutrality.
‥ Ans act of hostility, includins therein capture and the exercise of the right of search, committed by belligerent warships in the territorial waters of a neutral Purer, constitutes a riolation of nentrakity and is strictly forbidden.
3. When a ship has been captured in the territorial waters of a neutial Power, such Power must, if the prize is still within ito jurisdiction, employ the means at its disposal to release the prize with its officers and wew, and to intern the prize crew. If the prize is not within the jurisdiction of the neutral Power, the captor Government, on the demand uf the neutral Power; must liberate the prize with its officers and crew.
t. A Prize Cont cannot be established by a belligerent on neutral territory or on a rescel in nentral waters.
5. Bellioerents are forbidden to use neutral ports and waters an a base of naval operations agoinst their adrersarie-; and in particular they may not erect wireles telegraphystations or any apparatus ior the puriose of communicating with the belligerent forces on land or sea.
6. The supply. in any manner directhy or indieretly, of wamhips, supplies. or war material of any kiml whatever. hy a nentral Power to a belligerent Power, is forbidden.
7. A neutral Power i- not bomad to prevont the export of transit, on belalf of either bolligerent. wi arm-. numition of war. wr. in creneral, of anything which conld be of use to an army or fleet.
8. A neutnal (iovemment in hombl to puploy the means at its disposal to prosent tho fitting ont or arming of any vessel within its jurisdiefion which it has reasun th betiere is intended to eruise, or enerage in lomite uperations. againat a Power with which that figrilaner to provent the feparture from its jurialietion of any reasel intended 10 emine, or angage in hostile oprations: which has been adapted entrely or partly whin the raid jursdiction for wee in was.
9. I nemtal Power most apply to the 1 wo belligerents impartially. the comditions, restrictions, of prohitsitions issues by it in regard to the almission into its ports, roadstads, on territorial watere of belligerent waships or of their prizes. Nevertheless, a nental Power may forhd any partioular belligernt vesw which has fated to conform th the orders and regulations made by it. or which has violatefi modrality, to anter its ports or roadstmas.
(11). The mentrality of a Power is not alfincted by the mere passage through its toritorial waters of warshipe or prize belonging to belligemomis.
11. A nental Power may allow bedtixerom wawhipe to employ its liemand pilotis.
12. In defand of aperial provisions to the contraty in the legislation of a nentral Power, belligerent warships are not permitted to remain in the porto, poalsteado, or territorial waters of the said Power for more than twemt-four homs. oxept in the mase eovered by the preent Comention.

1:3. If a Power which has reested motien of the ontheak of hostilities leams that a belligerent waship is in one of its ports or roadsteals, or in its remitorial water, it must notify the raid shin, to depart within twent-fom hours or within the fime preseriberl by the lomal law.
14. A befligerent waskip may not prolong ite stay in a nentral port hesond the time permitted except on account of damage or stres of weather. [t mast depart ase som as the cane of the delar is at an ond. Tho regulations as to the lengeth of time whim surk resisels may rematin in uental ports. roadsteads, or waters, do not philantheronie purposes.
15. In defand of special provions to the contrary in the legislation of a nemtal Power. the maximmm mmber of wathips belonging to a belligerent which may he in one of the ports or roadsterads of that Power simutaments? whall be thee
16. When war-hips befonging 10 both belligerente are present simulianenoly in a mentral port or romband a period uf not less than fwentr-fom hom: must nape hetween the departme of the ship helonging th ome helligerent anst the departure of the ship belonging in the other. The omder of departure in determined by the order of armal. mbess the ship whin arrived first is so cireumsfaned that an exmoinn at stay is pomisible. A belligerent warship may mol leare a motral pert or rombtead until twent-four hours after the departure of a merchant ship flyerg the flag of its adverary
17. In neutral purtw and madeade holligerent warships may only seawnthe and may mot add in ans manuer whaterer to their fighting repairs are necessary, and these must be carried out with the least fusisible delay.

18. Belligerent warships may not make use of neutral ports, roadseads, or teritorial waters for replenishing or increasing their -upplies of war material or their armament, or for completing their rews.
19. Belligerent waships may only revictual in neutral ports or radsteads to bring up their supplies to the peace standard. Similarly these ressels may only ship sufficient fuel to enable them to reach the nearest port in their own country. They may, on the wher hand, fill up their bunkers built to carry fuel, in neutral countries which have adopted this method of determining the amount of fuel to be supplied. If, in accordance with the law of the neutral Power, the ships are not supplied with coal within twenty-four hours of their armival, the duration of their permitted stay is extended by twenty-four hours.
20. Jelligerent warships which have shipped fuel in a port belonging to a neutral Power may not within the succeeding three months replenish their supply in a port of tho same Power.
21. A prize may only lee brought into a neutral port on account of unseaworthiness, stres of weather, or want of fuel or provisions. It mut leave as soon as the circumstance, which justified it* entry are at an end. If it does not, the neutral Power must order it to leave at once; shoukt it fail to obey, the noutral l'ower must employ the means at its disjosal to releare it with its officers and rew and to intern the prize crew.
22. A neutral lower most, similarly. release a prize brought into one of its ports under circumstances of her than the referverl to in Article 21.
23. A neutral Power may allow prizes to enter its ports and roadsteads, whether under convoy or not: when they are brought there to be sequetrane pending the decivion of a Jrize Con't. It may have the prize taken to another of its prots. If the prize is conwed by a warship, the prize arew may go board the eonvoying ship. If the prize is not moder comion, the prize crew are left at liberty.
24. If, notwithstanding the notification of the neutral Power, a belligerent ship, of war doe not leave a port where it is not entitled 10. remain. the noutral Prowes is entintod th take und meatures as it ormsiders neressaty to rember the ship incapable of jutting to sea so long an the war laste, and the eommanding offiee of the ship must facilitate the exemtinn of surh measures. When a behligerent ship in detained by a montal Power. The offerers and crew are likewise dotained. The offiem and rrew so detained may be left in the ship of kept rither on another vessel or on land. and may be subjected (n) such restriations at it may appear nemerary to impose upon them. I sufficient mmoner of men mnst. however. ie alway beft on board for looking after the veson. The riflioms may be left at liberty miscion.
25. A nentral Power is bound to exerciso such vigilance as the means at its disposal permit to prevent any violation of the provisions of the above Articles occurving in its ports or roadsteads or in its waters.
26. The exercise by a neutral Power of the rights laid down in the present Convention can under no circumstances be considered as an unfriendly act by one or other belligerent who has accepterl the Articles relating thereto.
27. The Contracting Powers shall communicate to each other in due course all statutes, orders, and other enactments defining in their respective countries the situation of belligerent warships in their ports and waters, by means of a communication addressed to the Gorernment of the Netherlands, and forwarded immediately by that Government to the other Contracting Powers.
28. The provisions of the present Convention do not apply excopt to the Contracting Powers, and then only if all the belligerents are parties to the Convention.

\section*{No. XII.}

HAGUE DECLARATION PROHIBLTING TIE DISCIAARGE OF PROJ ECTILES AND EXPLONLY EN FROM BALLOONS, No. 1 of 1907 (a).

The Contracting Powers agree to prohibit, for a period extending to the close of the Third Peace Conference, the discharge of projectiles and explosives from balloons or by other new methods of a similar nature.

The present Declaration is only binding on the Contracting Powers in case of war between two or more of them.

It shall cease to be binding from the moment when, in a war between the Contracting Powers, one of the belligerents is joined by a non-Contracting. Power.

In the event of one of the High Contracting Parties denouncing the present Declaration, such denumeiation shall only operate on the expiry of one year after the motification made in writing to the Netherland Covermment, and forthwith commmenated by it to all the other Contracting Powers.

This denunciation shall only operate in respect of the denouncing Power.
\[
\text { (a) Sre n. ( ( } 1 \text { ), p. } 189, \text { x"pot. }
\]

\section*{No. XIII.}

\section*{THE HEOLARATHOX OK LOXION, 1909.}

\section*{
}

 cognized principles of intermational haw.

\section*{(H.APTER 1.- 1;1.OCK.LDE I. IIUE OF W.JR.}
1. A blockade must mot extend beyomd the porte amd aroata belonging to ur dxupied by the enemy.
\(\xrightarrow{2}\). In ar"ordane with the Declaraton of l'arin of 18.56 , a bloclade, maintained by a foree sufticiont mally to prevent acotes to the enemy lial.

1. i honkatd in 1001 rexamded an mised if the blonkadine force

 nations
6. The emmamaler ol a harkating fore may exive perminsion to a Was: hip fornter, amd suhseguratly do leare, a blorkaded port.

 nor shijpted ally (alsor there.
s. A hFokade in wrem th he himding, mas ho derdamd in accord-and lli.
9. I deedaration of blockade is mado eithor her the hotokading Power of ber the maval athorities artang in its mame. [t sperifies(1) the date when the blockarle begins: (2) the exographimal limits be-atels maty eome mits.
10. It the operatioms af the blockating Power. wr of the naval athorities actiner in it- namo, do mot tally with the partieulars, in the deckaration of blockade，the declaration is roid，and a new dectaration is necessury in order to make the blockade operative．

11．A declaration of blockade is notified－（1）to neutral Powers， ly the blockading．Power by means of a communication addressed 10 the Govermments dinect，or to their representatives accredited to it；（ \(\because\) ）to the local authorities，by the officer commanding the blockad－ ing force．The local authorities will，in turn，inform the foreign consular officers at the port or on the coasthine under blockade as soon as possible．

12．The rule - as 10 declaration and notification of blockade apply to ca－es where the limits of a blockade are extended，or where a hockade is re－cstablished after having been raised．

13．The vohntary raising of a blockade，as also any restriction in the limito of a blockade，must be notified in the manner pre－ －cribed by Article 11.

14．The liability of a neutral vessel to capture for breach of hlockade is continerent on her knowledge，actual or presmmptive，of the blockade．

1．）Failing proof to the contraty，knowledge of the blockade is presumed if the ressel left a mentral port subseruently to the noti－ fication of the blockade to the Power to which such port helongs， provided that such notification wan mate in sullicient tino．

16．It a resel approaching a blockaded purt has no knowledge， actual or pre－umptive，of the blockate，the notification mu－t be made to the resel itwelf ly an officer of one of the ships of the blockuding． foref．This notideation shoukd be entered in the reseel＇s lugbook， and mus！state the day and homr，and the ereostaphimal persition of the rewde at the time．If through the negtigence of the oflieer com－ manding the blockating force no deckation of hlowdade has been notified to the loral anthorities：or＇，if in the derlaration，as untified， no period has heen montioned within whid neutral vosels may ：Howed to pars liee．

17．Sempal vewels may not be（apptured for lureah of lidorkade except within hle arear of opemations of the warahips dwailed to －Oといこった。

 momentr．She is on her wat to atom－hlomkided pont．

 le －flumpord．

at the time of the -hipment of the arod- the shipper neither knew nor conk have known of the immonton the heak the horkate.

\section*{}
22. The following artiden may, withon motioe, be treated as conthactive (omponent parto. (2) Projectiles, chargen, and cartridges of all kinds, amb their distinctive romponent pats. (3) P'owder and explones sperially prepared for ure in war. (f) (immomentings, limber hoxes. limber, mititars wagems, fiod forger, and their distinctive compenent parts. (a) ('lotheng ant compment of a distincdively military tharatere. (i) All kimd of hamese of a distenctively military chamatar. ( \(\overline{\text { a }}\) ) Sddle, draught, and pack animaks suitahle for use in war. (8) Artiches of camp "quipmem, and theif distinctive conponent parts. (:9) Amom phates. (10) Wimship. inclading boats. and their distinction component parto of such a nature that they (ant onls he 1 end on a versel wi war. (11) Implements and apparatue drioned exdusively for the mandatme of munitions of war. for the manuadme or repair of arms, or war material for ure on land or sea.

2:3. Articter exchusidely hand for war may be added to the list of absolute contraband be a derlaration, whim must he notitied. such motification must be admesed to the (iovernments of other Powers. or to their reprementatives ancredited to the Power making the dechation. A notification made after the untmeak of hostilities is addressed only to noutral Powers 21. The following articto. susceptible of the in wat an well as of war, under the mame of amditional montahand: (1) Foombufis.

 -perially proparal fon wor in war. 11 , Bathed wire and imploments fッ tixime :

must be notitied in the mamer provided for in the second paragraph of Article 23 .
26. If a Power waives, so far as it is comerned, the right to tweat as contraband of war an article comprised in any of the elases enumerated in Articles 22 and 24, such intention shall be announced by a declaration, which must be notified in the manner provided for in the second paragraph of Article 23.
27. Artidew which are not susceptible of use in war may not be declared contraband of war.
28. The following may noi be derlaned contraband of war:(1) Raw cotton, wool, silk, jute, flax, hemp, and other raw materials of the textile industries, and yarns of the rame. (2) Oil reeds and muts; coprat. (3) Rubber, resins. groms, and las: hops. (t) Raw hides and homs, bones, and ivory (i) Natmal and artificial manures inchuting nitrates and phosphates for agricultural purposes. (6) Metallic ores. (7) Earths, chays lime. chalk, stone, including marble, bricks, slates, and tiles. (8) Chima ware and glass. (9) Paper and paper-making materials. (10) soap, paint and colours. including articles exclusively used in their manufacture, and varnish. (11) Bleaching powder, soda ash. canstic soda, salt cake ammonia, sulphate of ammonia and sulphate of copper. (12) Agricultural mining. textike and printing machinery. (13) Precions and semi-precions stones. pearts. mother-of-pearl, and coral. (14) (Jocti- and watelec, other than chronometers. (1.5) Fashion and fancy gond. ilf Foathers of all kind, hairs and bristlen. (17) Artides of homedold limuiture and decoration: office fimmiture and requisites.
29. Likewise the foltowing mar not les treated as contaband of war: (1) Articles serving explusively to aid the sidk and womded. They an, howner, in ma of menent military neressity and subject to the payment of compernsation, be requisitioned. it their destimation is that sperified in Article 30. (2) Articles intended for the use wif the reson in whid they are fomm as well an those intended tor the usw of hom wew and pasengers during the royage
30. Absolute contraband is liable to capture it it is shown to be destined to territory betonging to or ocenpiet by the enemy. or 10 the armed forens of the enemy. It is immaterial whether the earriage of the groms is dipect on entait tramshipment or a subsequent trampert hy lame.
31. Pront of the dentimation aperified in Anticle :30 is romplete in the following "asps: 1) When the gends are dommented ion dischares in an cheme port, of for delivery to the armed fores of the eneme. (2) Whent the vesel is to all at cheme perts onty, or when she is to tounh at an conemy pert on met the arment enteres of the enems bofore reading the mentral port for which the eroode in ghestion : ate dondmented.

she is found cleaty out of the course indicated by her papers and

:3:3. Comblitimal contrahamd is liahbe to capture if it is shown to be destmen for the use of the armed forese of of a goverment depart-show that the grods cammet in fact be bed for the purpoes of the ment coming mader Artiche of (t)
34. The destimation meremb to in Article :3:3 is presumed to exist if the goods are consigned to enemy anhorities, or to a contractor entablished in the enemy comby who, at matter of common kowledge, supplies anticles of this kind to the enemy. A simitar presumption arines if the good are sonsigned to a fortified place belonging to the encmy, or or her phace serving as a base for the armed forcen of the cmmy. No such presmuption, howerer, arises in the cave of a merchant resed bemed for one of then phatern if it is sought to prove that whe herelf is contrabamb. In wate where the above pre-mmptions don mot ares the destination is fresmed to be innocent The presumptions an up the this Artiole may he rephoted.
35. Conditional contraband is not liable to capture, except whent found on board a ressel bound for teritory belonging to or occupiod by the enemys or for the armed fores of the enemy, and when it is not to be discharged in an intervening nental port. The shiph's papers are conclusive prowi both as to the vogage on which the vesiel is engaged and as to the port of discharge of the goods, tuless she is found clearly on of the course indicated ley her papers and mathle to give adoquater mone to justify surde deriation.

 bearal
 ditmal commatami may be captured on the high seas or in the wemental water of the belligeremte themghot the whole of her hatile de-timatom.

 puin. of lama an emb

 mond ham hati har carcou

 natimal Prion (omm and the matoly of the ship and argo dmine

42. (ionds which helong to the owner of the contraband and are on boari the same versel are liable to condemmation.
43. Ii a vesel is encountered at sea while unaware of the outbreak of hastilitien of the declaration of contraband which applies to her (argo, the commaband camot le comdemned exept on payment of compensation; the ressel herself and the remainder of the cargo are not liable to condemnation or to the costs and expenses referred to in Article 41 . The same rute applies il the master, after becoming aware of the couthreak of hostilities, or of the declamation of contraband. ha- had no opportunity of discharging the contraband. A remel is deemed to be aware of the existence of a state of war, or of a declatation of contraband, if she left a moutral port subsequently to the notification to the Power to which such port belongs oi the outhreak of hostilities or of the declaration of contraband respectively, provided that such notification was made in sufficient time. A vessel is also deemed to be aware of the existence of a state of war if she left an enemy port after the outbreak of hostilities.
44. A ressel which has been stopped on the ground that she is carrying contraband, and which is not liable to condemnation on account of the proportion of contraband on board, may, when the circumstance permit. be allowed to continue her wyage if the master is willing to hand over the contraband to the belligerent waship. The delivery of the contraband must be entered by the captor on the loghonk of the vecsel stopped, and the master must. give the captor duly entifiod ropies of all relevant papers. The captor is at liberty to destroy the contraband that has heen handed over to him under these conditions

\section*{CIIPTER ILI.- INNECTRAL SERVLCE.}
45. A nentral vessel will be condemmed and will, in a general way, receire the same treatment as a neutral ressel liablo to :ondemmation for carriage of "ontraland:-i1) If whe is on a moge specially undertaken with a viow to the trancuond of individual pascenger's who are embexied in the armed forese of the choms, or with a viow In the transmiswion of inmeligenee in the interest of the enemy.
 mater, she is thatortime a military detachment of the enems. on one ow mone persons wh, in the anmer of the wage, divertly "an- int the operations of the romeny. In the cases specified under likeni*e liable of complamation. The persisions of the present.

 Aware of the outhrak of hatilitios. has hat mo mpertomity of dis-

to the outbreak of hostibites, or a neutral port subsequenty to the notitication of the onthere of hostilities to the lower to which such port belongs, provided that such notitiation was made in sutliciant time
16. A mentral bescel will be condemmed and, in a general way, receive the same tratment an wouk be applicable to her if she were an enemy merchant ressel-(1) if she takes a direct part in the hostilities; ( 2 ) if she is under the urders or control of an agent phaced on boad by the enomy (iosermoment (3) if alot is in the exclusive employment of the enemy (iovermment: (f) if she is exclusivoly engaged at the fime either in the tran-port of enemy troops or in the transmission of intelligence in the interest of the enemy. In the cases covered by the present dride, goods belonging to the owner of the vessel are likrwise liable to rondemnation.
17. Any individual emborlied in the armed fores of the enemy who is fonnd on board a nentral merohant ressel, may be made a prisoner of war, even though there be no oround tor the capture of the ressel.

48. A neutmal resen which has been caphured may not bo destroyed by the captor; she mut be taken into such purt as is proper for the detemmation there of all quesions concerning the ralidity of the capture.
49. As an exception, a neutral vesel which has benn captured by a belligerent waship, and which would be liable to ondemnation, may be destroved it the observane of drtich 48 wonld involve daterer to the satety oi the warkip or to the sucoces of the eperafous in which sho is enserem at the time
so. Bofore the pesed is destrosed all persoms om hoard mast be placed in safety, and all the ship's papers and ofther documents which the partios interested consider mevant for the purpose of deciding on the valdity of the captum must he talken on hoard the was:hip.
51. A capton who has destroyed a neutral ressel mast, prior to any derisinn repecring the validity of the prize, establish that he pernata the partios interestad aml no examination shall be mate of the quetion whether the atpore was ralid on not.

 -alifled

54. The captor has the right to demand the handing over, or to proced himself to the destruction of, any goods liable to condemnation found on board a ressel not herself liable to condemnation, prorided that the circumstances are such as would, under Article 49. justity the destruction of a vesel herself liable to condemnation. The captor must enter the goors sumendered or destroyed in the logbook of the ressel stopped, and most oltain duly certitied copies of all relevant papers. When the goods have been handed over or destroved, and the formalities duly carried out. the master must be allowed to comtinne his royage. The provisions of Articles 51 and 52 respecting the obligations of a captor who has destroved a neutral ressel are applicable.

\section*{CHAPTER V.-TRANSFER TO A NEUTRAL FLAG.}

5j. The transfer of an enemy ressel to a neutral flag: effected before the outhreak of hostilities, is valid, unless it is proved that such transfer was made in order to evade the comsequences to which an conemy ressel, as such, is expored. There is, however, a presumption, if the bill of sale is not on board a resset which has lost her belligerent nationality less than sinty days before the outhreak of hostilities, that the transfer is roid. This presumption may be rebutted. Where the transfer was effected more than thirty days before the outbreak of hostilities, there is an absolute presmoption that it is valid if it is unconditional, complete, and in conformits with the laws of the comitries concerned, and it its effect is such that neither the control of, nor the protits arising from the employment of the vessel remain in the same hands as before the transer. If however, the ressel lost her belligerent nationality less than sixte days before the outbreak of hostilities and if the bill'of sale is not on board, the capture of the resel gives no right to damages.
26. The transer of an enemy verel to a neutral flag, effected after the outbreak of hostilities. is soid unless it is proved that such transfer was not made in order to evale the consequences to which an enemy ressel, as such, is exposed. There howerer, is an aboolute presmmption that a transfer is roid:-1) If the transfer hav heen mate during a rovage or in a bockaded port. (2) It a right to repurchans or remen the resel is reserved to the rendor. (3) If the requirements of the municipal law grevening the right of fly the flag under which the vesel is sailinge have not leen fulfithet.

CHAPLER VL.- ENEMS CHARUCTER.
57. Subjer to the provinions respertins tramsier to another flag, the nemtail or enemer chatarder of a rescel is determined hy the flaco the senple wh: and i- in mu wi-0 atherted hy. this rule.

encmy vessel is determined by the nentral menemy character of the awner.
s9. In the absence of proof of the neutal character of goods fombd on board an ementy fersel, they are presmmed to be enemy groods whatefr matil they reath their dealnation. Wotwithotanding any transier effected after the outheats of hostilities while the goods are heing forwarded. If. howerer, prior to the (atptore a former noutral owner exerfises, on the hankrupter of an existing enemy wwer, a recomnized legal risht to recover the goods. they reqain their nentral ehatacter.

\section*{(I).1JIFR VII. (ONVO)}

6i . Nentral remels monder national comsoy are exempt from seareh. The commander of a convoy giver, in writing, at the request of the 'ommander of a belligerent warship', all information as to the eharater of the ressels and their caroes, whoh could be obtained by search.
tie. If the commantar of the helligerent, warship has reason to smapect that the confeteme of the emmmander of the sonvoy has matter. He most recore the rewalt of surh invotigation in a report, of wheh a cop! in hambed to the offieer of the warship. If, in the "pinion of the commatader of the eombos the farts shown in the repoct, fustily the aptme of one or mome vesiols, the protection

\section*{}

 owod are preated as chenty oronk.

\section*{}

\section*{}

ance of the rules contained in the present Declaration in any war in which all the belligerents are parties thereto. They will therefore issue the necessary instructions to their authorities and to their armed lorces, and will take such measures as may be required in order to insure that it will be applied by their courts, and more particulary hy their Prize Courts.
15. The prement Declaration thall be ratified as soon as poosible. The atifications shall be deposited in London. The tirst deposit of ratifications , hall be recorded in a Protocol signed by the Repre--cntatives of the Powers taking part therein, and by His Britamic Majery: Principal sermary of rate for Foreign Affars. The subeeguent deponits of ratifications shall be made by means of a "ritem notifiation addresed to the British Goverment, and accompanied by the instrument of ratifation. A duly certified copy of the Protocn relating to the first deposit of ratifications, and of the notification- mentioned in the preseding paragraph as well as of the instruments of ratification which accompany them, shall be immediately sent by the British Govermment, through the diplomatic channel, to the signatory Powers. The said (iovermment shall, in the cases contemplated in the preceding paragraph, finform them at the same time of the date on which it received the notification.

6i8. The present Declaration shall tathe effect, in the case of the Powers which were parties to the first deposit of ratifications, sisty days after the date of the Protocol recording such depusit, and, in the cave of the Powers whirh shall ratify suberquently, sixty days after the notification of the tatifiration shall have been received by the Briti-h Govermment.
69. Ln the event of one of the Signatory Powers wishing to denonnce the present Declaration, such demmetiation ran only Den made on take effect at the chel of a perion of twelve year- herimings sixty dass after the first deposit of ratifications, and, alter that time, at the end of succesive periods of sis reats, of which the first will begin at the end of the period of tweho reas. Such dennemation must be notified in writiog, at leat one vear in advance, (1) the British (iovernment, which shall infom all the oflem Powers. It will ouly operate in reapect of the denonnciner P'ower.
71). The Power depmented at the Lonton Naval ('onference atach partindar importane to the senemal remgntion of the whe which they hase arlopted, and thereme expren the lope that the Powers whim were not repment there will areate to the prombt Declaration, acceding Powers shall be on the same footing as the Signatory Powers.

71. The present Declaration, whith bears the date of the 26 th Fobruary, 1909, may be signed in Loudon up till the 30th June, 1909, by the Plenipotentiaries of the Powers represented at the Naval Conference. In faith whereof the Plenipotentiaries have signed the present. Declaration, and have thereto affixed their seals. Done at Loudon, the twenty-sixth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and nine, in a single original, which shall remain deposited in the archives of the British Government, and of which duly certified copies shall be sent throngh the diplomatic channel to the Powers represented at the Naval Conference.

四代

\section*{RENERVATIONN.}

Note. For Reservations made on Signature, see vol. i.. App. II., pp, 3.54 et we.

Convertion. Pumers. Reservations on Ratification on Adhesion.
1. America "That the United stater approves this Convention with the understanding that recourse to the Permanent Court for the settlement of differences can be had only b, agreement thereto through general or special treaties of arhitration heretofore or hereafter eoncluded between the parties in dispute; and the United States now exercises the option contained in Ait. \(5: 3\) of the said Convention to exclude the formulation of the compromis by the Permanent Court, and hereher excludes from the competence of the Pemanent Court the power to frame the compromis rectuired by general os -pecial treation of arbitration enncluder or leereafter to be concluded by the Tiited Ntates: and further expressly declares that the compromis required by any treaty of arhitration to which the Cnited states may lee a party shall be outtled muly hy agreement between the enntracting parties, munss such treaty shall expressly provide otherwise."
Japan Reservations on signature maintained in Act of Ratification.
Toumania Reservations on signature maintained in Aet of Ratification.
Switzerland Rescrations on signature maintaned in Ast of Ratification.
II. America That thr Conited states appowes this Convention with the understanding that remourse to the f'emmanent Court for the - ottlement of the differnces referren to in the said C'onvention can he had meny. by agrement thereto through general or "perial treation of arkitration heretofore or hereafteremeluded herwecen the partiin dispute.

\section*{RENERVATION゙ amtimed.}
Convention. Powera. Fermatimen Ratification or Adhesion.
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|c|}
\hline & (inatemala & Resirrations an signature maintained in A.t uf Ratification. \\ \hline & Nicaragua & By Act of dithesion-- As recrards delots arising ont of ortinary antracts hetwern the suhjeets of one state and a foreign (resermment recourse shall not be had to arlitration axept in the sperific "ase of a denial of justice her the 'ourts of the comintry of ther contrict, which ought first to be reserted to. © l'ublic loans, with insue of hombs, constituting national duth ramot monder any eircumstances justify military ageresion or the effective occupation of the torritory of American states. \\
\hline & salvardor & Reservation on signature maintained in Act of latification. \\
\hline I \({ }^{\prime}\). & Qermany & Reservation on signature maintained in Ant ul Ratification. \\
\hline & Austria11mesary & leservation on sionature maintaned in Act of Ratificatiom. \\
\hline & Ja1:all & Reservation on signaturs maintained in Aet of laatitication. \\
\hline & liussia & lieservations on sigmature maintained in Aot of Ratification. \\
\hline V1. & Germany & Reservation on sinaturn maintained in Aet of latification. \\
\hline & liusia & lisservations on signature maintained in A.t of hatification. \\ \hline V[I] & (iermany & lonsuration on signature mantained in A.t of Ratitioation. \\
\hline & Fianc. & Fawmation on signature maintaneal in Are of latitimation. \\
\hline & Great liritain &  Ant of latification. \\
\hline & Siam & Roweration on simature mantained in A.t of Ratitication. \\ \hline 15. & ( ielmatiy & lawaration wh signaturn mantainea in A.9 wi latitication. \\
\hline & Fratuc & Rewreation on -imature manatainen in A.t of Ratitimation. \\ \hline & (imat limam & Latarvation on signature maintatines in Art uf Ratitication. \\ \hline
\end{tabular}

\section*{RESERVATIONS-continued.}
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|c|}
\hline ('onvention. & Powers. & Reservations on Ratification or Adhesion. \\
\hline & Japan & Reservation on signature maintained in Act of Ratitication. \\
\hline X. & China & Reservation on signature maintained in Act of Patification. \\
\hline \multirow[t]{5}{*}{XIII.} & Germany & Reservations on signature maintained in Act of Ratification. \\
\hline & America & By Act of Adhesion-That the United States adheres to the said Convention, subject to the reservation and exclusion of Art. 23 ; and with the understanding that the last clause of Art. 3 thereof implies the duty of a neutral Power to make the demand therein mentioned for the return of a ship captured within the neutral jurisdiction and no longer within that juristiction. \\
\hline & C'hina & By Act of Adhesion-With the reservation of Art. 17, 1.ar. 2 ; Art. 19, par. 3; and of Art. 27 . \\
\hline & Japan & Resprvations on signature maintained in Act of Ratification. \\
\hline & Siam & Reservation on signature maintained in Act of Ratification. \\
\hline
\end{tabular}

\section*{INDEX．}

Insmratity jurisiliction，190－1， 201
Iffreightment，affect of war on，\(\overline{-2}-1\), \(\stackrel{\wedge}{7}-8\)
Iremey，effect of war on，ss－！， 152 n m）
Dlabana Claims，320 ot sey．
Alinn enemies，21，24，58－60
expuision of，2l，6t1
right to remain， \(59-60\) rigrlat of withdrawal， 8 － 9 suits by，s0 n it，sij h h），！0
Ambas－adors，withdrawal of．dmring strained relations， 4.8
American Civil W：ar，1861，
commereial blockade during．40：3－4 doctrine of the continnous woyare applierl，46！it ang． prizes．destruction of ，during． 156
Audré，Major，cave oft．9！＂b，
Ansary，200－1，2lが名
Ammexation，こ31－2t
Arlitrations，internatiomal．Nor Inter－ national arhitration－
Armed nentrality，1780．．．391：1800．．

A－ylum，to lamel forera，204，31．4－1．5 to natul forter，：3．5．）－7 to privarners， \(31+-15\)
†！Wヵmuldel aml sick．：3l．

Bataoonv，pujortilo from，！ 4 ，！ 4 ， 94

Bate of oluratiom－31s，319， 413 in lathe watiare，：3／s in maval wartare，Bl！ mader Dewlaration of landum，4－4：3 neutral territury an．©，Seatral tलritury －＂ \begin{tabular}{rl}
\\
\hline \end{tabular}
in land wartart，！n！－7
 forces．resular，！！； irverular furmas at levis．

Belligereront－cumfoumd． in lamd warfatu－remtinumat． risinges in oecmpied territory， 97， 110 sat vare troops， 97 in maritime warfare， 127 et \(* \neq\) naval forces，reqular， 128 private vemels，enlintment of， \(129-1: 2\) privaterm，125－9
luans to，by mentral states．30．i hy nentral subjerts， 306 ， \(366-7\)
now－hostile relations of loo－g ＂apitukations and swrenders， 101 （attels，100．107，170－1，173 hostager， \(101-2\)
pas－uprits and safe enmacts， \(1(0)\)
－n－ 100－101
Berlin，Tre：aty of 187か．．227
Berlin（ingress，1×78．．．207
Berlin Derree，180ti．．Ins＂a ，ts breatell uf．10：4－12
by exirss．111－12
by ingras．410－11
（a） liability of（＇ar世o，112－－14， 419 limits of（＂apture， \(1111-1 \%\) ， \(115-19\)

（0）mmereial，t1：3
 to， \(411,11!\) 19 military， 10.3

werribsition of howkinted port，effect ut， \(3: 3-4,4115\) patific．10：

 pert． 111.111 ＂m use of－thbuarint mine in， 121
verorl－extmpted from，tle

Bombardment．99， 114 （k），117－19 of undefended towns． \(94,118-19\) ， 2 2if \(n\)（1） to entorce naval requisitions， 118 Booty of watr，fif，201，209－10，290
carriad intornatral temitory， 290 title to，201，210
Bomnty．prizt， \(17 \mathrm{~F}_{1} 1\) ，184， 201
Bullets，expandive amd＂xplosive，93－4． 48

Cables，mbmarine．Som Telegraph－
（＇apitulations aum survend + －, lul Capture．Si，Bonty：Maritime apture： Prize： Cartels．100，107．170－3
thips axempt from capture，170－3
Cersion，229，थ．51，2． 45,247
Charter party．心ッチ Alfrughtment
Civil war， 11
Claims based ore war，25ti et sed． by nem－readent mentrals（angary）， 260）－1，245－4

by subjerts．2す！－：3
by suligects of compucred territory， 2こ： \(3-1\) for had and derruxtion of mbles， 262－3．269－70 national inkemmity for war losses， 270－4 residment montrals，fompernation \(\because\)

Coral，supplies ly nentrals to belliorerents， \(30!, 3502,362,373-1,352\) as contraband．No．Contraband
Culomrad troops．s： Commereial intercomme dmang war， 62 et st 1 ． between rmomy whjects，rule of exentions：thereto，\(-x-8\) ） exntrants botwerm enfonies nost divided ly the lin of war， 78－80 particular tranactions．affraght－ mutht．7－ intorats in conporations and Comnereial intercourse，\＆e．－contimued． partieular transactions－contimurd． suits by alion enwmies， 90 Which susperded，fie－f which abrogaterl，if 74 rentraints on mentral trade． \(28: 3-4\) ． \(\therefore \because \because-7,446\)

under cuntomary law，385－6
as modified by convention． \(386-7\) prosition of parties affecter as regards，24：3－4，38：3－4，146 Conquest，efferts of \(3: 3,231\) ct seq． on persons，24：－1
on private rights and laws． 24 on property and obligations， \(2: 34-42\) sucererion in the of， 2 qu－s temportary or partial， \(\left.10{ }^{-}, .25\right)^{-}-6\) operation of pontliminium， 25．） 6 test－of eompleted，\(\because \frac{1}{4} 5\)

Contimunes transport，doctrime of， 14 ， \(165-3,173.475,477-4\) applied tw eontrabanl，11：3， \(46 x-9\). 477．\(\frac{175}{6}\) during south Afriman Witr， \(40 \times-9\) 478
Contimums vosage，locetrim of \($ 11\) ， 41！9，fl2！， 460 ot sim． appliw to blakkare，111，119，4159－ 72，47 applied to montraband， 129 ，443， 472－6，177－4 applied to prolibited tradr． \(460-9\). 47 6 －7
Contraband，analogras of．wion Un－ neutral s．lviow Contrabind of war， 120 ，arf
abocolute，42：3，111－2
Declanation of Lomdon as to， 441－2 \(4: 3!\)
combiton of lialility for car－ riace of \(42: 3-4,426,427\) ， \(4 \because 5-9,112-:\) Dembaration of Jomman an to． \(4+1\) ； lowtile de－tination at neopsary ele．1ur－ut，123－1，129 ，427－9， 412－3

 trinte of： 489
 dustanction uf， 4 S．-s

 （xpent of．positions of noutrall stat

Contraband of war rometiment． limits of（apture for，4e！．\＆\＆ nom－contraband under Dowlaration of London，443－4 ocenpation of port oi destination， effert of，33． 3 ． penalty for carriage of，1：30－1，445
Ruswian list of，1904．．432－3，4：35－6 voluntary surrender of，145－1； when liability for carriage ceases， 429,437 when neutral ship confiverable for carringe of，430－1，4：30，445
Contracts，effect of wirn on，62z－74， \(82-90\) ．
ふっ，＂lan Commercial interconrse Contributions ：and reguisitions，111－12， 117－18．250， \(274 / 11\) during Francu－ticman War， 112 \(n(\mathrm{x}), 2 \underline{29} n(\mathrm{a}\) during South African War，229， \(247 \boldsymbol{n}(\mathbf{f}), 27+\) in sea warfaro，117－11s proposed excmption of nentrals from，27．266－7 whether anduemor liable for those of concured state，247 Convention of Lemdon，1s41．．12．5 \(n\)（d）
Convention of Veremiginer，1902．． 226 ， \(\because 46,273,2 \overline{2} 4 \times\) x）
Convor，riphlt of tris－8：3
Derlaration of London ons，48：， 484 Corporations，tradingr．domicile of ，ob， （6．）\(/\)（ \((\mathrm{c})\) effere of wall on intercet：in，89－90
 176，4s1
Crimes，war， 111
Crumern qualiticu，1 \(24-7,129-1 \%\)

privat．．interest onn，stj－7 Whather（ondtivathle，is），．j6－8 puhlic．Whether contionalle ，4t－i） in wernjict territury． 110 of Berer remmbliss．a－omed ly （6）mbutucot Jialihtry for，217 treaty，\(]-3\) t．lireat livitain and 1 nited statio．\(\quad\) ememernils． 12．＂リ．11＂11

 1ヶふ．147．14．

 403,161 ＂ \(110,1 \rightarrow 1,422\)

Doclaration of st．l＇etersburg＇，186s．．
92，93－4，！\(n\) ！ 1 ，116
Declaration of watr，whether necessary， 6－7．17－19
Hatur．（＇onvention！as to， 1 s Ras＊－－Japamese War dispate，l－7 unilatoral sufficirnt to erante sate of war， \(7,9,10\)
Desertion，Iersman nemotiatingr，99， 111 Despatchas，carriatre of，99， \(150-1\)
by nothtal ships，150－1
by pest， 451
dolivery by ballom，not espionare． ！9！
Devastation，limits of \(99,111 n(k)\)
Domicile， \(2.2-4,2-2-30,152,162-3\) （n）mmerainl，2：3－1
de yomir，24＂a and mationality，an tents of enemy （haratctor，ごージ－30，152，162－3 of trulling eorporations， 26

Enemy \(\cdot\) haracter，19－30，152－3 of pervons． 19 at sery． of property，1．2－2－3，16：
I Cerlaration of London as to， \(160-4,386-7\) conb）arked in privileced trade， \(\because 1,1.52,153-5,162-6\) paminer lotween neutrals and encmies，153，155，l57－h transferred in timensitu，15s－60， 1 （i：3 masold produce of watate in facmy montry，1．5．5－6 of torritury，low affected by ocen－ 19ation，：32－8， 105 wh reseels．110－3 permanent amb temporary，21

matimmlity， \(1!9-2:\)－
Why domit ile preferable，29－30 （＇r14－mico
in w－utmal－hiph，whon seizable． \(363.3=, 4.51-13.154-!1\) 111,13 in \(_{1} 1\)
debts，i．5，jti－4，di dev：にtation，limit－of，！9
extmption from matitime catpture．

attimate of limat Britain， 1 Bと 13：4
Whothor Itairalle from Britioh

Whether expaliont foom inter－

Enemy properts，private－continued． in neutral ships，152，17．2，390－3 neutral liens on，160－气．163－4 of suvereign，whether confiscable on concuest，249．253
pillage，99，105，107，111， 119
transterred to nentral＊in tronsitu， 15ヶ－60．163 within occupied territory，111， 137 n b） within territory of other belligerent， 52－s． \(100-2\) Enemy preperty．public．60，99，110－11， 254－， within occupied territory 110－11． 254－5 exceptions to right of seizure， 111 within territory of other belligerent， 44－5．） 60 debits，44－5． 60

Enemy territory，what constitutes，34－5 neutral within，proposed exemption from incidents of war． \(2^{-7}, 266-7\)
when home or friondly territory becomes，33－4，3．5 Sie ulsu Enemy character：Enemy property：Neutrals：Occupation， military Exterritoriality，33b，347－4

Fishing boats，eoastal，169．172－3
Flag，98．104，101， 119 false，how far permissible in naval warfare， 119 misure vf， 98 of truce． 100
white，not proper token of sur－ render． \(101,201 n^{\prime} z\)
Furces，land and sea．©is Belligerents
Eoreign Enlistment Act，1－19．．343．371， 83：
Foreign Enlistment Ict，14－0．．2si \(/ 1\)（a）． 291 ／位， \(371-3,440\) и Francu－（tirmal Wrar，16－7）． matributions and requisitions， 112 1 x ，2！！\(n\)（a indemnity to Germany，2！2
pasare if trows and wounded orer neatral turritury forbiddm， 313 prisoners of war detained after рен＂＇． \(10 \begin{gathered}7 \\ \pi\end{gathered}\) treation onfirmen hy peacetreaty． 41 Frankfort．Treaty of，41，214＂ 1 e
＂Frerships．treec gemls，＂principle of， \(3: 2\)
Froisht．captor＇－right to．for carriage

Geneva Conference，1863．．102
Genera Conrention，1864．．92．93， 103
Geneva Convention，1868．． 103
Geneva Convention，1905．． 43 n c）， 93. \(104-5,300\)
Gifts by ueutrals on behalf of sick and wounded． 368
Goods．enemy．Sce Enemy property ： Maritime capture：Prizes：Vessels Goods，neutral．Nie Contraband：Enemy character：Maritime capture：Prizes： Neutrals：Vessels
Gutrilla furces． 97
Guides，compulsory employment of enemy subjects as， 108 ＂（h）

Hagre Conference，1599．．92，93．103， 135－6
Hague Conference， \(1907 . .27,136,138\) ， \(266-\overline{-}, 439\) conditional contraband．proposed abolition of doctrine of． 439 neutrals in belligerent territory， proposed exemption irom reguisi－ tions and contribations． \(27,266-7\) prize mones，albolition of，proposed， 135 ／／i proposed exemption of prisate pro－ perty from maritime＂apture，136， 13 suggested sequestration instead of capture of private properts， 138
Hague Convention，1904，on hoppital ships，117，124 Hague Conventions， 1899 and 1907，as to， adaptation of principles of Geneva Convention to maritime war．116． 121 antumatie submarine contact mines， 116，119－121 bombardment ler naval furers． 116 capture in maritime war，rentrictions On，117，118．17．2－4 conversion of merchant ships．11f， 131－2
International Prize Court． 117. 191－－
Lawn and Customs of Wiar on Land， 43：son．ふir Harue Recrula－ tions neutral rights and dutice，24，：299－ 301．30．i－6，314，314－20，31：3－9， 351，301－2． 380 operning of hostilities，14，18－19． 2ッ4 pacitic suttlement of dieputer．17－18
righte and dutice of neutral Power： in maritime war，＂St． 361

Hag＇ue Conventions contimued． rights and duties of neutral Powers and persons in wat on land，93， 254， 299 status of enemy morchant－ships on outbreak of war， 167 Hagur Declarations，as to use of awphyxiating ganes，94， 98 bullets，expansive or explosive， \(9 \cdot 1\) ， 98 projectiles from balloms，94， 98
Hague Requlations H．C．No． 4 （of 1907），
Art． 23 （h），meaning of，sin－6 balloonists，seonting or carrying despatches． 99 belligerent qualifications，96－7 bombardment， 99
eapitulations and surrenders， 101 effect and value of，95－6 of German doctrine of military neressity on．95－6 irregular troops， 97 occupied territory，eontrol of，8．5－6， \(107-112\) pillatre，99， 111
prixoner：105－7
prohilited methods of warfare，98－9 spies， 99
subm：rine cables，destruction of， 264 suspensions of ：trms and truces， 100 101 violations of． 113
Howpital hips， \(117,120-1,171-2,173\)
exmotion from capture，171－2， 173 freadom from port dues． \(116,1 \geqslant 4\) und for military purpone 171，172
［10－7itals，49．103，109
110ntares，1111－2，110，112
（12）trajn－ 110
（1）Cnfome montributions，1いミ，1I2
 fin refine of private manery in （wempisel territery． 111

latitut＂of luternational Law，rules antumati－－ubmarine mine－121 \(\boldsymbol{n}^{\prime}\) 11711

hathas amp fitting in warship in Hout mal waturs．：31 1：1．1．．5 k

Insurance，（ffect of war on，62－5，67－8， 71， 77.88 life，71，is marine，fiz－5，65－s， 77
Interest，effect of war on，86－7，89－96 on debontures held by chemy sul）－ jects，89－90 on debts，8（5－7
Tnternational arbitrations，34．231－2， 255－4，261，320
International commissions，34，231，259， 350，40\％， 170 International Irize Curt，why needed， 29，192， 191 constitution， \(1: \overline{7}-8\) jurisdiction，195－6
law applicalle， \(196-7\) purties， 194 procedure， 198

Jus ungurize．Bee Angary
Jus prostimimi．Siee Postliminium

Korea，dispute as to neutrality of， 1904 ．．271－50
amexed by Tapan，205 \(\quad\)（u）

Lavi war．growth and sources of law （1）． \(91-\) ．） base of cperations in， 318 belligerent（pualifications，：6－7
bombardment． 99
devantation，limits of ： 99 prohilited methods，9s－9
a－amoination，！s，11：3，116 bombardmont of undefended ちハットに，！ 9 bullete，expandins．94，as bulkets，\(\times x\) plosive，93－4，：9 entmy unitom，misne of，ats Hate of trum，athon of ： pilla， \(99.11 \%\) ． 114 ， 111 puism，！as prejoction diflu－ing acplyxiat－ quartor．Mflaial of．！s rell rons．mi－n＊e of，？ rume．9n －bien． 99

valur atul eftom of Hasun Rownla－ tions，95 trime of military menenty． 1．j－1i
 military

Law，kinds of，applied in war， 49 martial．as applied by an invader， 48－56 distingrisheed from military， 49 in the home atate，4i－s． 50
Laws and da－toms of war，is．See miso Belligerents：Land war：Maritim． war：Nentradity：Nentral．

Lodis tu belligurents， 3 か－41．44－5， 305 ， 3196.36 .5 － th state，effecet of war on，21－， hy nentral states， 30.5
by wentral subjects，306，365－8 public iswee，prevention of．possible etfeet on war． 365 during Crimean War， 3 bit during Franco－fierman War， 367
during Russo－Japanese War， 357
Lomilon．Cunvention of， \(1811 \ldots 1250\)（d）
Lominon．Declaration of．Se Declara－ tion of Limbion
London．Treaty of，1si1．．125 \(\boldsymbol{u}^{\prime}\) d

Mamidn，Treaty of，190ㄹ．． 41
Magna Charta，on treatment of resident cnemy whberts．\(\because 17\) n 1 ，
Manifetoes， \(7 \boldsymbol{\prime}\) Taritime（apture．property liable 132－i）
Inties and reaponsibilitien of captor， \(17-157\)
Hemy verel on land for repairs． 132－4 in nentral waters．241．294－5．340． 319 re－capture Dor Prizes 2entriamson，161－7．5
（atrtel ships．170－1．173
matal fishing brate， 1 B！，15：－3 rew：of wemy private vereth： 173－1 themy property，wit contra－ hatil，on mentral ships，lita， 172． \(3: 3\) hovpital－hipッ．171－ご

 ：3＇1－1

 wた！16it！
．and nement in religime． －inntitir on philanthempin ni－～ions．141，16\％，17：

Maritime capture－rontimued． suggested exemption of private property from，135－14n attiturle of Great Britain，13S－40 whether dexirable from British －tandpoint，13s－40 whether expedient from inter－ bational－tandpoint．136－S valid capture，conditions of，175－7
So aloo Convor：Prize Conrts：
Prizes：Vi－it and－eareh Maritine warfare，114－1＂t belligerents，qualifications of，12T－ \(1 \% 2\)
bombardment，117－19
contributions and refuisitions， 117－15 false flags． 119
laws of derelopment and sumrees， 11．5－17
ruses and deceit． 119
－cone of，114－15
－ubmarine mines，1its，11：－121 thprdoes，120
woundenl，treatment of，11t，121－4 catture：Prize Courts：Prizes； Vewencot war：Ti－it and eearch Martial law：45－．51
an applin？by au invaler．45，50－1 in the lome state，47－8， 50

Military law．distinguished from martial law， 49
Military nemesity， \(95 \times 2 \times 29,111,137\). 266,265
Gorman dontrine of，95－\｛i，1：37

Military ocmation．Nom Oompation． military Mixen，－nすmarine．116．119－121

Nationatity，a teat of enemy character． 19－2
＂．mpared with lennicile，：ニ－3＂
 1912．195，：3ヶ4．105． 439,465
 1941 u i

Naval war．Naritime war

Soutral tatos．riahte and intion of \(\therefore\) Noutmal temertory：Nidatrality Nentral abiferta furition of axylmm in，300，：311－1．5，：3．5n－7，3．5？ chnstraction and＂quiphont of war－ ships in， \(308,8: 30,1 \times \%, 848-8\)

くt ※゙タ。 anlistment of forres aml isome of commissions withitr，2！9），：304－9 howtild expeditions from，310－1：3 it＜inviolability，2ss et ay． its immmaty from hostilities． 290 exeptions to． self－1t fence，29－2．2．－91
self－realress，2！ 0.298 passag of troops wor．：ilB－14
Prize Courts，in，192，2（15－7，30） prizes in，adiulioation on， 1 ！日－3， \(\because 0.5 .207 .359\)
reception of ，：35）：3（6；

violationsof，anl remenlies therefor， －2！ \(1,294-\overline{5}, 301-\stackrel{3}{2}, 364\) warships in neutral ports，34s it sery．
Wommiol and sick，neyhtu in， 300 ． 315

Noutrality，penmal primeiplen of，2s（o，
\[
2 \times 1: 24 .
\]

dutite of hentral states．2nごる \(292-5.30-13\)
ia to loans， 30.0
はく to military aid，302－， 3
as to sule if thip and war 14atérinl，Bo：1，：305 impartiality，\(\therefore 11\) ，3nti （AMd－いf，－－（1．．l

 \(\therefore\) ： \(5+3\)

mela＊inn tor the intomatiomat l：aw，：ンム1\％－1

 ＋ i

Nentral persons，in le lligerent forees，26 in belligerent territory，pustion as a rewarls torritorial \(\mathrm{l}^{\text {wwer }}\) ， \(2.5!2,267\) \＆ Cham for war luser，25f5－！ \(\because 2 \cdot 3\) propmail to exempt from won－ fributions amd rerquisitions， \(\because 7.2615-7\) supply of amm or momitions of War to helligerent－by，299． 305 in chemy servioe，206－7．2n7 on boarl enemy merchantmen， 21 ， \(\because 7\) prizas，deatrution of，17f－s0，1stj。 ：349．394．48．5－7 moperty embarked in privileged tradi．21， 143 и（a，1．53－．）， \(162-6\), as in wemp ships，dentrosed on （：apturt， 140,389 in enemy ships，amed， 3 s． 9 ， まら行 in heratral ships．destroyed on in wernjuml territury， 111 revaptured，que－tion uf stlyage． こ！－－－い 111，2ri（）1，2tis！

wowneral wizure of，compens：－ tiontior．18ㅇ．187， 485 4it madar chatmuary law，3ム．j－1； as monlitial liy ronvention． ：3いが－ porition of partic－an regardo． treatmont uf，！！i

 111．1

 1… \(\because=\)
（antral ot inlablitant－14．！－10

Occupation，military－continued． scope of，34－5
seizure and une of property，enemy， and meutral．110－11，255 taxes，collection of，111，255
Occupation．permanent．Sor Conquest

Panama C＇anal，349，351， 359
Paris，Treaty of，18．56．．41， \(43 n\)（e）
Paris，Trenty of．1495．．41，229
Partnership，effect of war in，69－71，49
Pasiports． 100
Peace，Treaty uf．226－9
amnesty \({ }^{\circ}\) tlause，227．224 authority to make， 227 effects of．22－－9 on engagements of States and subjects，228 on lostile acts done in ignor－ ance of 209－34 on territory and property，in de fault of express．apulation， 228 indemnity， 229 making of，22（6－7
prelimintrie of peace， 206
u－ual－tipulations，는
Pillage，45．105．10
Pilot．，emplownent of neutral． 301

property re－taken from．215
Paison in wartare，！s． 116
Portamunth．Treaty uf．1905．．41，223－5． 227
Postal correspond mee，immunity from （apture，174－5．4．）4，475 deop：itche of helliserent， 451

definitinn， 12.2
in international law，25
＂peration on property，204－s （1n temitnry ind suvereignts． 255－5 Prisoner of war，105－7 asylum in relutral territory，314－15 exchange of ，107，170－1 hustaticis．102

reppotriation of，-2.
whmilut and cink as．101．122

Prize Comet natare amblumbions．

intarational Prike（inurt．IVA－A， s．．．．

Prize Courts－continued． Japanese． \(191 u(t\) local sitnation of，192．207， 301 local situation of prize，192－3 status in international law，188－90， 192
United States， 191 ／（ t ．
Prize Courts Act．1894．．190－1
Prize of war．201．209 et seq．
Prizes，adjudication，need to submit for， \(17 \pi-80,185-6\)
British practice．141，187，190－1． \(194 n+\) captor＂powers and duties，17ヶ－157 capture in neutral waters，290－1． \(294-5,300,319\) destruction of，17彳－80．186，394， 485－7 in neutral ports，adjudication on， 192－3，20．5，207， 359
reception of，359， 363
neutral，wrongly seized，compensa－ tion for．141，185． 455 ransom of． \(81-5,187\)
re－capture，212－21．And see Salvage title of captor，when complete，214， 207．210－14，216．219 by tranfer from captor，205－7． 211－12 in relation to neutral states， 204 и＇ g ，207－9 of owner when divested， \(210-12\) primarily in the Crown，199－2n1 valid cayture，ewentials of，175－7 verels of war not prize． 14 4－201 who may capture，lot
So，ulow Maritime capture：I＇rize Court：
Property，enemy．Sie Buoty：Encmy prowrty private：Euemy property． publi＂：I’rzes
Properts，neutral．Si，Neutrals：Vervel－
Provininus，whplien by neutrals to lemlio gerent warthip，352－3． 36

Quarter，refural of，路，113， 116

Ramway matéricl，nutral．hee by bedi．

Recotyture，matitime．No Irise
 121 ＂a Repair to：wardipm in nemtral ponto ：351－5． \(3:\) liequicitions and matributions， 110 ． 111－12．117 114，25\％ in Franmontemman W：rr，112＂x． 2 290 \(n\) a insonth Afriman Wrar，2e9，217 2.4

liability fin thone of conturemer sate，217 propesed exemption of moutmal． from．27，2645－7

as extemend in 179：3．．H63－1 and， 46
Rusex，！s，Ily
 murnt of．1－i，s
（ontrahaml．Ruswian list of，［2．l， 4：3－1
Japau＊eparaco recrardinw，434
expulain of Tapanese subjerts． 15011 （t）
Karen．li－putn as to montrality of 271－40
nemality rewnlations．Brition． 23：3－1
French and Dutch， 341
prisompra harem of information for． 1015 ．／－ mot detained after war．107 \(\quad 1 / 1\).
Ruwian－ubjerte allowed tor romain in Japam．tioy t termination of，：2ำ－， treatment of enemy versels at ont－ break of thet war．，16if． 167 war－hine interneal in nentral port 351）－1．3．54．3555－7． 364 4；＂）e）

Siste conductor，Iot

（ivil， 224

for remptur of limith promer \(21 \because-1.5\)

 nemima，1！！－，2l！

 Bill．12：3＂＂1 ant

Shigh．Xor Voms

Sumb Afrian Wist 1499，in thal termu－ nation of，eve ahome．expmbion of，be Rritinh， 26 ： （ii）＂）t

motrabaml，area of ward for，t2！ \(4 . i\) （onatribution to Poor war lowns．

 2－：

 － 16 bjents．27：
to expelled ahens．2tal 15 to prutemend burghers，274 tw revilunte of（ape Colons． ジいーア －panioh－Smericati War，1sus． antilatry erniwn under haval law． 1：31 enemy merchantmen at onthreak wit the war．tratment of．19：1－6，145
Philippions，imbunty for cession of，：2e！ Privatuers not med，fer
Spanibl whbot－allowed to remain in［．A．，（60）\(n+\)
Spins，9！，111，11：3，459－64
bearern of ha－platchen ly ballom mot －100－9！ intereption of wirelese monater by belliwemt mot expinatre，bion

 14nts，mot mpionare．1．5：3． 4.59 －64

Stuppare in tromerth，151，16ill，1ti3－1 riarht af mutrat contimun to exam－

suhnaritu mins，11：t－1 21 ．． \(24!\)
 211，241－4
supply uf ford ：mat raw material in war time，Rey．Com，13n－！
samendos．101，folaz

 tory 111.20

 （311．）． \(1.51-3\) ，1．51－6，11

Tiderapha－cometmeth chatien of nentral states remarding， 299！，305 land 26 6
－nbmarine．nan ay dastruction by belligrevit．26：－：2 269－70 wirelese，crection on wotral tervi－ thy ley lelligerent，299，：301， 4.5 （fhemtions regrarding．459－60 hee liy war－correxpondents， \(4.51-2,1.960\)
Territorial wathrs，limitn of．2！0
Territory，Sia Dinemy toritory：Neutral tervitory Tompeduci 120
Trade，livemes to，so－
Tramsaal C＇ouressions C＇munisnion， \(234-\) 42，215
Treathery．1s，！ss．114， 119
Treasu，war， 114 ／＂
Tratien，offert of war on，s．i－4t
Treaty of Frombont．1571 ．．24t \(n\)（c
Traty of Lamlon，18 11 ．125／2（ \(d\) ）
Teraty of Madrid，1902．．． 41
Treaty of Paris，1siki．．41，43；e，129 14！－． 41 シーシ
Treaty of san Stefank，1nis．．．227

Treaty of Zarivll， 11
Trume，得，（101） 1
Tarmolitalian W゙ar，1911．．11，12，1ヶ＂ k，1！1．1：3＂（x ． 1.59
arral of luntilitice．at firrt，limited， 11 innefit of the rapitulations，with－ Trawn fimm Italians．4：3 \(x\)

wizure of Fumeh mail－hat carry． ing Turks， 1.5
T＇wnty－finu homs interval，34－リ， 3.51 ， \(338,3,3\)

```

        -ルハリ, 117-!!
    ```

```

        -1, -, 1.:%-1
    ```

```

        &+mpit. 1.5l *
    ```

```

        12-4 wi, &:!! fill
    ```

Thmemigixa，Comvention of，1902．．．226， \(\because 46,273,274 \mathrm{c}(\mathrm{x})\)
Yescels，Britinh． 143
lartel，170－1，173
mastal fi－hing，159，172－3
＂maversion of，into warships， 117 ， 121－7．12！－31
Declaration of Lomdou as to charace 1．世 of，143 momy．liens by meutmals on，160－2， 163－4 noutral eroods in．：3s－－9，：391－4 putting inte pont of other belli－ gerent，in dintroc，17：3 －emure of，hy land forme． \(111 n\)（p） －tatus of，at outbreak of war， 164－3 transferred to wentral Hag， 1．14－4 （1nemy chatracter of \(110-\)－ philanthropic mis－ions，111，169， \(17: 3\) huspitul， \(117,122.123,121,171-2\). \(17: 3\) 4：3才，445，4n6－\(\overline{7}\)

mali－thd in emeny servion，45：3－4 in privilequed trade， \(21,1+: n_{n}\) ut， 1．5：－5． 4 （iv－
－inkiner of．duringe Franeo－ （imman Wiar． 3601 －inking of R Mange lanou－ Japanow War，1si whern contivealle for arriage of （wntralamel． \(430-1,4350,445\) whmaded amd sick on loarl， 123
 tion for，141，157，fill，Inij Imblic． 124
 domideat in encmy comeny，is： レㅆ．．ella of war． －t iry． a－ylum．：．，．5 i whmentatim of fioch in． 3 扣－ \(351-2.3 ;\) peraltiontom infrimens mutmatity recmata－

repair－，3：1－5， 3 ；

```

    bylligeqent, supplits of coal and
                                    MrOvisi|ns, 309,
                                3.5-:3, 362, :373-4
            time ant] ortlel wi' dtpartmer, 34&-9, 36%.
                37:3
    Mapturad, met pri/r., 1N1, 20)
    ```

```

    *On-truction and eq|ui]mment of, in
    ```

```

        34:3-8
    ```

```

        1ツ.2-3
    illucally fitterd ont, low affected lyg (%)Mminoi"), 29%), B17-h
    1a~*age thromght nentratl Water=,
        2(10, 301
    tram-frr ley belliweront to mentrals during War, 1.1%
    ```

```

        4%-45
    ```

```

        in Susco-Japanese Wiar, 420 is south Atrican War, fla!, 17.5
    attempts tor evale, fisl
    ```

```

        Fendaration of Jondon as to.
            4.84-j)
    re-istammertr, 4NO
    W`:1%, :tuthurizalion of. 1%

```

```

        1:%
    ```

```

        dat!...t゙, -- ) ッルットいいい!. \ (i)il. 1i
    *imm- 111
    ```

```

            14,17-1!!
    ```

```

                -1:&!. いf. 7. !. I|
    h.finitin|, 11
    ```

```

        tWatyot Vat1,?, 1.j
    ```

IV：ar－cont（mumd． international litw in melation to， 13 ， 11 kindい いf，11－12
l：w ：4plied in，1！9－5！

－（0） \(\mathrm{H}_{\mathrm{M}}\) of， 14 violation of，amd remedies therefor，112 114 leral attert－of，！ 11 ，：3，jet stig． Bate frome whirh they acerue， ！ 1 －11 on fommeraial relations，bit th ver． whe demy fifyons within belli－ arerent territury，iv－t； on financial vigragements of Matess．14－．j （H）Treaties，4\％－4
basers，clatims lyy reaton of whe （＇laims based on war

phare in interwational relations， lo－\(^{-}\) 13 －trjヶ－lant of， 19
tormination いf，2．21－！ thre mode－－2．2）is A：Itrof cadino of hostilities，226， 232 atot－lane after．in iommance ot

Se ulas l＇eatere，Treaty of Waj lresecs，vompernsition for She （ \({ }^{(1 a i m}\) barcel on war

Wimhips．A．，Varel－uf wate
 \(\therefore 11,: 36,: 37\)
 \(116,121-4,244+3011,31+1.5\)

in land warfame ath，laz－ 5 in maritime warfart． \(116,121-4\) lusate，12：3
 ：\(\because 111.314\)

DUE on the last date stamper \(1-{ }^{-}\)

SOUTHERN GRANCH, IVL.Sily or CAlIFOKNIA, IBRARY, IO: जVGEL ; CRLIF.```

[^0]:

[^1]:    This rendy afterare to have beron dispatchod on the ith Fonpmary but Ruscian Ministom at Tohair. motil the obatanea liovernment that the lattor had maliofomaly dolased tha deliver.e of 1lai- dapatah. in ordar that it mioht justify its raptume of diplumatior rat tion: on the ermatid of dulay. This

[^2]:    （t）S゙ッ tha Franmo－tirman wal of 1570 and tha Raso－Torkish war of 1ST were eath precoded by atombal decharations altham，in the lattor atar the Rusiatme apperar to hatre orowed war of tsys，and the south dirican wat of bs99，Were tach preeded hy an ultimatum which hasd the efferet if ： eonditional dexdaration．But in the Chimo－J：apanme war，1s 1 ，althomerh it declaration！of wat was isamod by eath

[^3]:    uf the bebligermats，hotilities really

    For a revew both of peaction and＂pinion on this paint prior to 1907，ser llall，3T0 et stor．；and as to ther iscue of manifestons lunsoly spoken ol ac derlarationc ol war，ibid．37t． aud＇raylor，totit and as to notice of

    （a）Wratlak，ii．只） （！！Mer－lier，bs．

[^4]:

     1心.

[^5]:    (r) Wthomoh it wia .a :reatud in (hashi, j)!l.

[^6]:    （m）Including the Declaration of l．omlon．

    ，＇lohat is，if we moke date allow－ anme for tha changes that have since taken place in the ronmeption of sown－ redenty：as to whidf，ser wol．i．su，〒．

[^7]:    (f) S゙arh mitigations are latly attributable to a variety of rallos. at ine of matmere and the derelophatot in national aml international lifa. Ou heilla, ii. (ill of sert.

    * so. Hmdor that Briti-h ('om-tith('rawn, althonely atotually in the ('abis nert: under the l nited States Constitution. in ( n , Cosntiturion, in the Pre-ident with the previous ascont of the two ( hamburs: and undme the dierman Constitution, in the Emperup with the consent of than liamberath, exocent in casat's of attark.

    (1) I $=$ to notice to neutrals. Sne

[^8]:     359．In the Turn－Italian war of 1911
     ＊ither by Italy or by other Powers to comply with or lake alvantage of ihate prowi－ionss． wia proumed hut mot awornta！by the [^9]:    is well marked in (1.Morty 1. Wris.". (I ('amp. 4s2).

[^10]:    for such purpose at tiability to loral taxation or the juriselition wi the N. s. II. St. R. 2.57.

    (if) (ireat Butain has. hownory tirned this Conwontion under reserration of this Artiche : lif amd 1 s .

[^11]:     - Irt Irti. In J and 17 (b). and 1). 2!9!3. i, i,

    ```
    (a) Sico Irt. Is (a).
    ```

    ```
    will. *.).
    ```

[^12]:    goons：see Parl．Papers Mise．No．is， 1909，117， 118.
    （h）Takahashi， 778.
    （i）Other t！atn Spain and LIOMand．
    （ $\mathrm{l}_{\mathrm{i}}$ ）Sere Nys．Ie Jroit International．

[^13]:

     11. ( & 4. 4 (1).

[^14]:

[^15]:     66:3).

[^16]:    （1）S tor the biriti－h jrianlent of by her to the I nitud statm；sm lomd－ well． $1: 7$ ．

    ```
    T:aどが, 112. ふた。
    ```

[^17]:

[^18]:    (18) In J1:日4

[^19]:     vii. 313.

[^20]:

     726: Atmonom. ("mm, ii. 12.

     \i, tiahい, ii. 1!. n. ?
    $l$, ". 1 . .i

[^21]:    Sig 7/, 18, ….... 11 Yon.
     1, 1, 1. 1 1 2

[^22]:    the emont of war. of the montrary wiew

[^23]:

    $$
    \begin{aligned}
    & \text { is 1, th the efteret of this in muni }
    \end{aligned}
    $$

[^24]:    1/1 Su P. !3. ini:".
    ( $\therefore$ Sr ] Latifi, 49 ret or $i$.

     $4 \%$

[^25]:    1) (ba the quastion of authority, l.ion (.) W:ill. 1330).

[^26]:

[^27]:

     İッ！ 1 （

[^28]:    （11．Sir．IIheaton（l）anal）．Sols．n． K゙ッ口1，（om，i．․ 10．）．
    （，siee llatl，45）， n ．
    （f Site＊．t．）．the provisions of which are reprodued in the Naval 1＇riza 13ill of 1911.

[^29]:    wi existing opportumitios of obtaining roliol in respert of private ramm-

[^30]:    mon meutral property it womld not lar liable to rondemmation whaterer it- fastimations: but that if it still pemalmed ememy progerty. nutwithvambine that it was shiphed from a neat:ad port . . . it would ber condommed. whatever its destination; whilst if it were british property or shiphed at liritish risk, it would bo (w) helomned should it prove to be really "hosared in trade with the omemy: The rifmet of the Grder in (ouncil of the: lint Ipril. 1sijl. Was to allow tradm with the rammer lone a it was vatriad wn thmond la modion of the

[^31]:    $11 . i$

     1..1!日. $\because$
    $1 . \quad \therefore 11 \because$

[^32]:    ly twenty-seven Powers. incliding ligeat liritain, the Luited states, and Austria-Huncary. lut not hy (iopmany, France, Italy, bapan, and Rusia. It has sinco been rantiond by lipeat britain. Is to other ratifieatime, ace Tuble. Tpro, xiv.
     uf 1907 . Iri.s.
    (i) Hhil. Irt. .? dumat• of draftinge Mollamt. War on l.and. 1.
    (\%) 今ッ. mot. i. ti. Fion al live of prompations. be Talile. Ipor viv. Thid anmerally in restation to [^33]:    (h) Hatlerk, ii, 323: Hall, ia3!

    (i) luder the liritioh abll Imeri(:at prantion me di-tinction in draw brotwor! there.
    (li) Hallerek. ii. 311: Hall. . Ito.
     $510,515$.
    (ior) surlt anthority but lofine impliow.

[^34]:    does nost appear to exdede labour on roads, brideres, amb ralways, even thomph it mas relamo to militia゙y operations: spe Wrathab, ii. 101.
    (h) 11. R. S2.

[^35]:    (d) These provisions would appear in minciploto bo mpally applicabla to to the (condmet of war: m及 llollamd, iliar on land. 19.

    I= in the ease whate ond bellion thoul of watriare.
    sum as that math hy latixiz

[^36]:    1- in (an- rif illaral brmbardmant on shavatation: -an Holland. liar an fannl. (ill.

    1 !all. H11: 'laylur. Jis. (Ophenis sometimes u-at to eoser acts of [^37]:    39 it snt.

    ()n the subject generally, see Wirstakr, ii. 120 at seq.

[^38]:    (g) From tha sixtioth day aftor the first deposit of ratifications.
    (i) Irt. 11.
    (*) Mrt. İ. In tor signatorios and matiliation, ane "Table, Tpy. xiv.
    (1) /hirl.
    (11) S゙心N 11 (11).

[^39]:    Thic Mri. alvo appoare to worn-

     "An!" hloekade: i, i, F. P. 10:3.
    ${ }^{()_{0}}$ that ambers of the perimonine if well-. Their aompleto prohibition and formed part of the briti-h ant 3.3 .
    "!! bamelay. I'roblams, bio.

[^40]:

     -if 1907.

     di-puatul. W R mot al party on the (ini-[^41]:    a) Ir, i, If 13. 130 .

    The (onsontion ot Landun.

     !amdon, 1471.

[^42]:

    of ('mmmons, on the exth duly.

[^43]:    h Sien The Timex. Brd lug. 190 t . (i) See vol. i. 1 t 9.

[^44]:    if In the rasse, that is, nf staters hating a eonsiderable trazle: in other for that extont the (xile comblainml of womld he eorre-pombling dimindshed.

     14. A.s. This annclusion is alon lmonn wit hy the fpinion of masal pxperts. - !!- •. as Mhmiral Maham.
     W" have -man. altorathere amerato to -palk of private property on land as [^45]: 1,11. siii.. i.

     vidud that if a besel is trathefermed

[^46]:

[^47]:     Honlant.

[^48]:
    (c) Inforr. P. L.s.

[^49]:     obviorurd ise a metamal t.1 all wholly

[^50]:    (1) Fullor. ("..l., and (iray and Ul"lienna, J.J., dišentiur.
    (f) Tha P'uniか (1 spinks, 306)

[^51]:    Turker, alan. Watived har risht of -rixiner lin*-ian wouls in Turkivk 1"rts.

[^52]:    1 I Itt. 1.
    11". Irt. 2.
    (1.) Irt. 3.

     h,11+ *थ. 11 .

    Art. $)^{-}$Thit (ommention has hy all tha lowwr promeronted at [^53]:    thr (onforenere in fant. exerpet the with rearvations. It has also beren ratitiod he (imat Pritain. Sere Table. Apr. xiv.

    in: That in. ac rexatods ans mentral "arese on homard.

[^54]:    Ulthomeh Srt. 1 dow- mot alpurar (1) aarry at rieht of sapmostation an $\because$ Mrta ? alm 1, par. ?

[^55]:     at 15s).

    (in) Now replaced by No. 10 of 1907: see Art. ?
    (h) In the sense, that is. of persons taken from neutral prizu.

[^56]:    14.t. infor, are somewhat stricter, and are dibected rather to the reward of persual ervies than favorable situation. in virtur of which clams based on the rule of sight or mere association are for the most part rejeeted: sen
     ( 1 Domla. 136).
    (m) Mannal of Naval Jrize Lamw, Arta 2.59, 260.
    (..) Xaval Prize Ant. IMit. A. 3.).

[^57]:    (w. Ciranterl by the liritish Vinister an () Mader in (tommoil of lin12. (1) But सu* intion. 1'. Lsti.

[^58]:    (1) Lideremate wat mand. fo The

    (1) Tlue lin+.! 1 (. Li, ! ! : :

    (t) by the instruetions isured to the comanamiers of 11 . .d. shifs.
    (! Varion mimor point- are aloo dealt with.

[^59]:    (i) 'Tha' amomat of rert amd

     nisnt.
    (i) Ithmand the lattor que-tion is [^60]:    (c) Manmal of Navai Prize Law, Irt. 200.

    (t? 'This is the pradiow followed hy (imeat lipitain and most other marinuaster of the merefant rasiel to moncoml with the ship, papers om lowtat

    (1) /, i, ". 1). 1si.

[^61]:

     Jritioh ('ulmui- to be in at -tate of Hmbadr. and larl intormbian all [^62]:    lrt. 51.

    T, Irts. 15, 52 - 5t.
    Irt. 5s: ascuming, that is, that =uthedent aldurent remain.
    i: Irt. . $\mathrm{S}^{7}$.
    (1) Thie is dated thu 17tり stopt..

[^63]:    （i）See The Tieo $F$ riends（1（＇． liob．2711：Limata v．Rumboy（2 lirmon（f（＇．Rally，38t）．
    （a）In so fiar，of romrse，ak surh property is locrally susceptible of

    （it）Siee the Naval Prize Iet，18fi， $\therefore$ ．5\％
    ，Sue Mamual of Nava］Priza

    （／）心㇒．10， 41.
    h）Sen Commorträe verountios rase $11^{\circ}$（ ．．43：Soott．910）：and，actotho [^64]:    parties should be determined as though the policy had been on the ship.

[^65]:    That i二, acoordiner 1 , the doerrime of the British Prize (ourts: but sen 1. f4.), infra.

[^66]:    (c) Tall. 451-2.
    (d) Ind this even thmuth the property may have hean font or dostroyed:

[^67]:     (:ase of abmadonmment. J. 204.

    (t) [nder the linelisls syeten it will

[^68]:    sovert even atter condemmation unless the wescel has boon titted out as ars armed rescel: ini,", p. 211.
    (11) Rution 1) 220.
    (iv) 1.5 lieo. 111. ©. 72.

[^69]:

     F'rane and anal Enernan?

[^70]:

    Tha ammant of -aldame. In do-

[^71]:
    Jond. e9se: and Mammal wi Namal promel. imperd. there alme tran of at 1110

[^72]:     may he aw:arded it loth vervier air 317

    Thi atjulion aumatly in coturs

[^73]:    1) 以-timatod then at lionm one to rwo hundmod millions strerline.
    (r) Tlun satiner lin*ia's stratrurir. position bes retainimer tha morthern part.
[^74]:    (d) This was concluded on the 12th dugust, 1905. By hrt. & the alliance was to endure for ten years certain, and thereafter until denomened by either party hey twolle montha previous notice. hat subject to a proviso that if either party were mogard in war at the date fixact for its expiration, the allianme showd continum until parace was concluted. On the 13thisuly, 1911, this was mopland by a bew arrement, following gencrally on the lines

[^75]:    alratily rowered to. the ind penderner atalfond hy . lathat.

[^76]:    (a) Thin tonk flaw (on the 1ith (t) Art. 2.

    Fifl... 1.1.5.

[^77]:    (1) Sian on thr quw-tion of int terest. whind wat retermal to the umpire and ultimatyly allumed.

    - '.) S"picl. 1. 230.

[^78]:

     the derere is not apperalod froms.

[^79]:    （om）Is to the apparnt indoncis telly betwera thic Artulle and those [^80]:     alon) II wrlake: ii. -2lij.

[^81]:    porte and colliers which had berome splatated from the Rassian Hoet and hat taken relture at 11 orsomas. both rowals and erews being detained throughont the rest of the war: sue Takaliathi, 43.5 at er'q.
    (h) Su lot. t2 : and p. Bel. inifo.

[^82]:    h, see Westake, ii. 210: 'laylor. 1990

    I, i, ". P. 3tio.

    1) . Whough hoth in this and the previous case the internment wats mot probably a disadrantage to the weaker behigerent. dapan appears to have been satisfied with this and not to have presed for disarmament: se Takahashi, 452.
    (.1) Soor 1rt. 17: and p. 363, infion.
[^83]:    に. 1

[^84]:    （i）Sec Westlake，ii．21s：Wharton． 1hir．iii．1＇． 50 s ．
    （1ヶ）See Do $H^{\prime}$ 屰た v．Hendrictis（？

     1p叩。！30．
    （1）S＂ノル＂．p．30．i．
    （i）Sira Bhantiohli，Tfs：（＇alun． צ 1060：Phillimome，iii．＂2t ：Hallmek． ii．Itis．

    1，Suhjewt．of romere to the risk

[^85]:

[^86]:

[^87]:

     it was applied to the grords of subjects

[^88]:    of the catptor State in circumstaneers fremine them from the taint of illegal frath: amd Ther fur formorn (1 (iall. $\because 7!$

[^89]:    (d Sit. :'.
     ( ${ }^{2}$ Rol. 232.

     38s): Story, f.. inderd, dissented; but in Ther . Iturnem (:) Whent. font the derivion in The Ve, in, w: renfirmed.

